Commencement.– Following is the text of Federal Government's SRO 381(I)/2002, dated June 15, 2002:–

"In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (3) of section 1 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 (XLIX of 2001), the Federal Government is pleased to appoint the first day of July, 2002, to be the date on which the said Ordinance shall come into force."

Incorporation of various Ordinances into the Income Tax Ordinance through the Finance Act, 2021.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No 2 of 2021 dated 1 July 2021:-

"Law already provides for prosecution mechanism under sections 201 to 203A of the Ordinance whereby prosecution can be carried out for offences enumerated in sections 191 to 200.

Under the Finance Act, 2021 a new mechanism has been introduced whereby the concealment of income has been made cognizable offence by introduction of sections 203B to 230I. In order to attract new mechanism the amount of concealed tax should be Rs. 100 million or above in case of filer and Rs. 25 million or above in case of non-filers. Moreover, this concealment should be established through an assessment or amended assessment under section 121 or 122 of the Ordinance consequent upon third party audit under section 177 or 214C of the Ordinance. The accused can be arrested, only after the written approval of committee consisting of Finance Minister, Chairman and senior most Member of the Board. The post arrest procedure to be followed has been laid down in newly inserted sections 203B to 203I. This procedure is harmonized with the procedure laid down in Sales Tax Act, 1990.

In order to streamline actions referred above, the act of concealment has been defined under newly inserted clause (l3AA) in section 2 of the Ordinance. In order for an act to constitute concealment, it must be willful. Mere disallowance of an expense or rejection of an exemption claim cannot be construed as concealment if the taxpayer has taken a reasonably arguable position.

Furthermore, where notice for amendment of assessment has been issued confronting taxpayer regarding concealment of income, no separate notice will be required to be issued under section 111(5) of the Ordinance, as statute does not provide for any such notice."

S. 2(19)(f)–Taxation of Branch Profit as dividend.–Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 3 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Through Finance Act, 2008 remittances of after tax profit by a branch of foreign company operating in Pakistan were taxed as dividend income @ 10%. However, due to absence of word "remittance" in the newly inserted sub-section 2(19)(f), a mistaken view could have been taken to the effect that merely showing of accumulated profits of a branch are taxable as dividend income, whereas the intention of the legislature was to deem the remittance of after tax profit, by a branch to its head office, outside Pakistan, as dividend income. In order to remove this ambiguity amendment has been made in the said clause by virtue of which the "remittance of after tax profit" would be treated as dividend income.

1.1 Apart from above, petroleum exploration and production (E&P) companies operating in Pakistan also became liable to pay tax on such remittances treated as 'dividend' whereas their rate of tax was frozen by Petroleum Concession Agreements signed between the Government of Pakistan and E&P Companies. In view of this international commitment, such companies have been excluded from the purview of aforesaid clause a new sub-clause (iv) in Clause (f) of sub-section (19) of section 2 of the Ordinance has been inserted by virtue of which the remittances of after tax profit by a branch of non-resident Petroleum Exploration and Production Company operating in Pakistan has been excluded from the ambit of the dividend.

1.2 Consequential amendment has also been made in subsection (1) of section 5, which imposes a tax on dividend income."

Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 5 of 2008, dated July 05, 2008:-

"A non-resident can form a Pakistani company for operation in Pakistan or conduct business activity through its branch in Pakistan. After tax profits, in the case of a foreign controlled resident company are distributed through payment of dividend which attracts 10% income tax whereas, such profits in the case of a branch of a non-resident company are remitted outside Pakistan without payment of any tax. This had created disparity of taxation between the said two situations.

1.1 After tax profits so transferred by a branch of a foreign company out of Pakistan has been treated as dividend income, under sub-clause (f) of clause (19) of section 2 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 (hereinafter to be referred as "Ordinance") and chargeable to tax @ 10% of gross amount, vide the Finance Act, 2008. It will be in line with the international best practices prevalent in European Countries, USA, and Canada. It will also check outflow of foreign exchange and provide level playing field to non-residents operating by incorporating a Pakistani company or through branch of a foreign company."

Bonus shares in the hands of a shareholder, express exclusion from the term "income".– The concluding words of clause (24) expressly exclude, in the case of a shareholder, the face-value of any bonus shares issued by a company. Need for this provision arose due to a judgement of the Lahore High Court, as has been elaborated in Letter No. SG/15/524, dated May 28, 1976 from M/s. S. A. Salam & Co., CAs, addressed to the Member (Taxes), CBR, Islamabad.

S.2(41)- Permanent Establishment, "Fixed" place of business.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 2 of 2023 dated July 26, 2023 clarifying the deletion of word "Fixed":-

"In order to enlarge the scope of definition of "Permanent Establishment" (PE), Finance Act has made amendment in section 2(41) of the Ordinance by removing word "fixed" wherever appearing in the definition. In the existing definition the word "fixed" preceded the word "place". Hence, in the existing definition scope was limited to fixed place of business. In the present world non-residents also carry out business in other countries or territories through virtual presence or non-fixed presence, hence; the amendment is made to cater to new reality. Consequently, the second amendment is also made in the definition by enlarging the scope of PE to "virtual business presence". The new clause (bb) has been inserted after the clause (ba) to define the virtual business presence in Pakistan as any business where transactions are conducted through internet or any other electronic medium, with or without physical presence. Further, a third amendment has also been made in clause (d) of sub-section (41) of section 2 of the Ordinance. This clause includes the furnishing of services, including consultancy services, by any person through employees or other personnel engaged by the person for such purpose in the definition of PE. In the clause word 'entity' has been inserted after the word personnel. Therefore, furnishing of services including consultancy services through an entity in Pakistan is now covered under the definition of PE. The definition of PE as amended shall apply for determination of status of the non-residents in Pakistan as regards existence of PE, however; the definition shall be applied based on facts of each case and in accordance with relevant provisions of applicable Agreement for Prevention and Avoidance of Double Taxation between Pakistan and the country/state of the non-resident person."

An extract from CBR's Circular No. 15 of 1957, dated July 15, 1957, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1922, is as under:–

"Taxation under the Act is the rule and exemption the exception. All income from whatever source derived must, therefore, be chargeable to income tax and the burden of proving that a particular class of income is not chargeable must necessarily be on the person claiming exemption from the liability to pay income-tax". This dictum of Sir Iqbal Ahmad in Lala Inder Sen, in re. 1940-ITR-187, has never been doubted so far. The Act does not define the expression 'income'. Clause 6(c) of Section 2, creates a synthetic class of income, and thereby something which is not income, in the ordinary concept of the term, is deemed to be income for the purpose of levy of income-tax. But there is nothing in the Act, to contract or reduce the normal breadth of the meaning of the expression. On the other hand the charging sections 3 and 4(1) make it clear that "all income, profits and gains from whatever source derived" are liable to income tax. The combined effects of absence of any definition of the term 'income' and use of the expression "from whatever source derived" is that in the context of the Income-tax Act, the word "income" not only denotes something larger than "profits and gains" but also "denotes whatever be properly described as income in the ordinary parlance of language unless expressly exempted from the charge of tax by the Act itself". To put the matter very briefly, "income" is a word of the broadest connotation" (Per Lord Wright in 1943-ITR-513)."

S. 4C.- Rationalizing Super Tax.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 2 of 2023 dated July 26, 2023, explaining the amendment made by the F. Act, 2023, pl. also see S.37 & 100B:-

"Super Tax on high earning persons was introduced through Finance Act, 2022 providing for graduated tax rates ranging from 1% to 4% on income slabs starting from Rs. 150(m) to Rs. 300(m) and above. Certain specified business sectors were required to pay Super Tax at higher rate of 10% where income exceeded Rs. 300 (m). In order to broaden the scope of Super Tax as well as to bring progressivity and uniformity in Super Tax rates structure, additional income slabs of Rs. 350(m) to Rs. 400(m), Rs. 400(m) to Rs. 500(m) and Rs. 500(m) and above providing for Super Tax rates of 6%, 8% and 10% respectively have been enacted through Finance Act, 2023. These Super Tax rates will apply on all persons across the board for Tax Year 2023 and onwards. However, under the second proviso to Division IIB of Part I of the First Schedule, for Tax year 2023, a banking company will be required to pay Super Tax at the rate of 10% if income as defined under section 4C exceeds Rs. 300(M).

Furthermore, an ambiguity persisted regarding payment of Super Tax as to whether Super Tax payable under section 4C of the Ordinance will only be discharged as lump sum amount at the time of filing of income tax return or Super Tax has to be paid along with monthly / quarterly installments of advance tax payable under section 147 of the Ordinance. In order to remove this ambiguity and to bring more clarity, Finance Act, 2023 has introduced a new sub-section (5A) in section 4C of the Ordinance whereby Super Tax liability computed by a person under the said section will be paid along with monthly/ quarterly installments, as the case may be, of advance tax payable under section 147 of the Ordinance. Corresponding amendments have also been made in section 147 of the Ordinance."

S. 4C-Super tax on High Earning Persons.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 15 of 2022, dated 21 July, 2022, explaining the amendment:-

"A new section 4C has been introduced through Finance Act, 2022 and this section will apply for tax year 2022 and onwards. Except for the persons whose income as envisaged in this section is below Rs. 150 million, all other persons including those assessed under Fourth, Fifth and Seventh Schedules to the Ordinance are liable to pay super tax on graduated rates ranging from 1% to 4% based on graduated income slabs provided in Division JIB of Part I of First Schedule given as under:

4-04-2024-8

(iii) imputable income as defined in clause (28A) of section 2 excluding amounts specified in clause (i); and

(iv) income computed, other than brought forward depreciation, brought forward amortization and brought forward business losses under Fourth, Fifth [1][, Seventh and Eighth] Schedules.

(3) The tax payable under sub-section (1) shall be paid, collected and deposited on the date and in the manner as specified in sub-section (1) of section 137 and all provisions of Chapter X of the Ordinance shall apply.

(4) Where the tax is not paid by a person liable to pay it, the Commissioner shall by an order in writing, determine the tax payable, and shall serve upon the person, a notice of demand specifying the tax payable and within the time specified under section 137 of the Ordinance.

(5) Where the tax is not paid by a person liable to pay it, the Commissioner shall recover the tax payable under sub-section (1) and the provisions of Part IV, X, XI and XII of Chapter X and Part I of Chapter XI of the Ordinance shall, so far as may be, apply to the collection of tax as these apply to the collection of tax under the Ordinance.

"Fees for technical services payable to non-resident consultants were taxed at the rate of 20% of the gross receipts. It was observed that recipient consultants were inclined to disguise such payments as business profits which are subject to concessional tax regime, particularly under bilateral tax treaties. Section 80AA has, therefore, been amended to reduce the rate to 15%. First Schedule has also been amended to proportionately reduce the rate of withholding tax under section 50(3A)." The 15% tax withheld from payments on account of royalties would constitute full and final discharge of tax liability in respect of such income of a non-resident. However, in case of a Treaty for Avoidance of Double Taxation, which Pakistan has with another country, the tax would be withheld at any lower rate specified in such Treaty." "The undersigned is directed to say that a clarification has been sought as to how in case of a non-resident shipping company where unabsorbed depreciation or losses existed before the change in the basis of assessment under Section 80 would be treated. Sub-section (7) of Section 80 has been substituted by the Finance Ordinance, 1980, which lays down now that the tax paid under Section 80 shall be deemed to be a final discharge of the tax liability. S. 7F.- Tax on Builders and Developers. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2024-25, dated July 29, 2024:-

"Section 7F has been introduced regarding taxation of builders and developers. The taxable profit shall be 10 percent of the gross receipts from activities of construction and sale of residential, commercial or other buildings, 15 percent of the gross receipts from activities of development and sale of residential, commercial or other plots and 12 percent of the gross receipts in case both the activities above are involved. Tax shall be imposed on the taxable profit as per rates specified in Division I or Division II, as the case may be, for such persons.

Through an explanation, it has been clarified that the provisions of section 7F shall only apply to activities from construction and sale of residential commercial or other buildings and activities from development and sale of residential, commercial or other plots. Any other head of income or income from any other source is excluded from the purview of this section.

Such builders and developers while explaining the nature and source of any amount credited or investment made, money or valuable article owned or funds from which the expenditure was made, shall be allowed to take credit up to the amount of taxable profit under this section. Credit of amount in excess of taxable profit can only be taken if taxable income under section 9 is more than the taxable profit and tax has been paid on such taxable income at the rate specified in Division I or II of Part I of the First Schedule.

Builders and developers established by an Act of the Parliament or a Provincial Assembly or by a Presidential Order for benefit of their employees or specific housing projects are excluded from the purview of section 7F.

As per sub-section (1) of section 147, persons deriving incomes subject to tax under sections 5, 6 and 7, salary income subject to deduction of tax at source and incomes subject to final tax are not liable to pay advance tax. Section 7F has not been mentioned in exclusions from payment of advance tax in sub-section (1) of section 147. Therefore, builders and developers falling under the purview of section 7F shall discharge their advance tax liability on taxable profit for a tax year in four quarterly advance tax instalments. As the advance tax liability for the tax year 2025 is likely to be more than the advance tax liability computed under sub-section (4), builders and developers shall estimate their advance tax liability as per provisions of sub-section (4A) of section 147. The advance tax for a quarter will be computed by applying the rates specified in Division I or II of Part-I of the First Schedule to quarterly taxable profit computed as a percentage of gross receipts i.e., 10 % of the gross receipts from activities of construction and sale of residential, commercial or other buildings, 15 % of the gross receipts from activities of development and sale of residential, commercial or other plots and 12% of the gross receipts in case both the activities above are involved. The due dates for payment of qua11erly advance tax for individuals and AOPs/companies will be same as specified in sub-sections (5) and (5A) of section 147 of the Ordinance respectively. Moreover, provisions of sub-sections (7) to (10) of section 147 will apply mutatis mutandis on quarterly advance tax payable under this section.

A statement of computation will be submitted by a builder or a developer on each due date for the quarters specifying computation of advance tax on the basis of taxable profit for each quarter, gross amount of receipts either in cash or deposited in bank and business bank accounts detail duly certified by a Chartered Accountant or a Cost and Management Accountant."

S. 7F.- Clarification Regarding Applicability of Withholding Tax under Section 236C in Respect of Persons Covered under Section 7F. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 08 of 2025-26, dated April 15, 2026:-

"In supersession of Circular No. 7 of 2025-26 IR-Policy dated 31st March 2026 and in order to further clarify the concerns which have been raised regarding the applicability of withholding tax under section 236C of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 ("the Ordinance") to persons engaged in construction and development activities who are subject to tax under the special regime introduced through section 7F of the Ordinance.

2. Under section 7F, a special tax regime has been prescribed for certain categories of builders and developers, whereby their income is determined as a fixed percentage of gross receipts. It has been represented that tax under section 236C is generally adjustable against capital gains arising from such sales. However, in the case of such builders and developers, profits and gains are chargeable under the head "Income from Business" through the special procedure described in section 7F. Consequently, any deduction under section 236C creates an additional liquidity burden on such taxpayers, especially in cases where the taxpayer does not have any other taxable income during the tax year.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), the amount liable to tax shall be the gross amount of payout reduced by aggregate amount of premiums or contributions paid by the policy holder or participant.

(3) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall not apply where the payout or benefit is made:-

(a) on account of death of the insured or participant;

3. The matter has been examined, and it is hereby clarified that persons who have discharged their tax liability under section 7F of the Ordinance, and who do not have any other income chargeable to tax under the Ordinance (against which such tax collection can be adjusted), may seek exemption from the collection of advance tax under section 236C.

4. Such persons may apply to the concerned Commissioner Inland Revenue under section 159 of the Ordinance for the issuance of an exemption certificate authorizing the non-collection of tax under section 236C on their transactions involving the sale of immovable property.

5. Commissioners Inland Revenue are directed to examine such applications on a case-to-case basis, ensuring that the applicant fulfills all conditions precedent to such exemption, and to decide the matter in accordance with the law.

6. The prescribed timelines for the Commissioner and Chief Commissioner regarding the issuance of exemption certificates shall apply ipso facto. Provided that an applicant files an application after fulfilling all the condition precedent to such exemption and the Commissioner fails to take any action within seven working days of filing of such application, such exemption certificate shall be automatically processed and issued by IRIS."

S. 7G.- Tax on Certain Payments by Life Insurance Business [Sections 7G, 151B and Division IC of Part III of the First Schedule].- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 2 of 2026 dated September 08, 2026, explaining the amendment:-

The amount liable to tax is the gross payout reduced by the aggregate premiums or contributions paid by the policyholder or participant. The tax does not apply where the payout is made on account of the death or disability of the insured or participant, or after completion of four years from the date of issuance of the policy, certificate or plan, and the tax so charged is treated as final tax."

S. 12-14-Salary Changes 2012.-Following are extracts from Circular No. 2 of 2012 dated July 27, 2012:-

"Salary Rate Structure.

Tax in the case of a salaried taxpayer shall be computed in accordance with sections 12, 13 and 14 of Income Tax Ordinance 2001, read with rules 3, 4, and 5 of Income Tax Rules 2002. A salaried taxpayer means where salary constitutes more than 50% of the total income. All perquisites, allowances or benefits, [excepting those covered under Part-I of the Second Schedule to the Ordinance], are to be included in the salary and rate of tax prescribed in Part-I of the First Schedule shall be applied for the tax year 2013. For withholding purposes, these shall apply to salary paid on or after 1st day of July, 2012. The taxation of salaried taxpayer is explained as under:

(A) Increase In Basic Threshold.

The basic exemption for tax year 2012 is rupees 3,50,000/-. This has been enhanced to Rs. 400,000/- for the tax year 2013.

(B) Revision In Tax Slabs.

The tax slabs have also been revised through Finance Act, 2012. The existing tax rate slabs have been reduced from 17 to 6. These slabs shall be applicable for tax year 2013. For withholding purposes, these shall apply to salary paid on or after 1st day of July, 2012. The revised slabs are as under:-"please see 1st Sch for slabs"

8-115-10-07-15

(b) any perquisite, whether convertible to money or not;

(c) the amount of any allowance provided by an employer to an employee including a cost of living, subsistence, rent, utilities, education, entertainment or travel allowance, but shall not include any allowance solely expended in the performance of the employee's duties of employment;

[1][Explanation.- For removal of doubt, it is clarified that the allowance solely expended in the performance of employee's duty does not include-

(i) allowance which is paid in monthly salary on fixed basis or percentage of salary; or

(ii) allowance which is not wholly, exclusively, necessarily or actually spent on behalf of the employer;]

[1]Explanation inserted by Finance Act, 2021 dated June 30, 2021.

"(c) Computation.

Computation of tax on salary shall be as per above table. Instead of applying tax rate on gross amount of salary, computation of tax is to be made through progressive tax rates. However, maximum relief has been provided to low salary income and the relief gradually decreases with the increase in salary. For taxpayers in highest tax rate slab only basic exemption of Rs. 400,000 is provided and the benefit of lower rates of the intermediate slabs has not been passed on to taxpayers in this slab. This is apparent from the fact that for this slab, the rate is 20% plus Rs. 420,000 (instead of Rs. 255,000 which would have been the case if benefit of lower rate of previous slabs was provided to taxpayers in this slab). Similarly, relief in other slabs also decreases with increase in salary. In slab (5), tax rate is 17.5% plus 175,000 (instead of 167,500) and in slab (4), the rate is 15% plus 95,000 (instead of 92,500). Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 1(41)IT-J/94 dated November 28, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to state that the Honorable High Court has held that under section 12(1) of the Income Tax Ordinance the salaries received by government employees who are working/posted in tribal areas are liable to tax irrespective of the fact whether the Income Tax Ordinance is applicable in that area or not. It has been held that "once Government employee is receiving his salary from state exchequer, he automatically becomes liable to pay tax on his income, without any barrier of locality, place of service or nature of duties unless specially exempted".

Advance salary, un-received salary.– The insertion of the words "or advances" in corresponding provision of the repealed Act has been explained in Circular No. 7 of 1981, dated July 6, 1981 an extract wherefrom is as follows: –

"The words "or advances" have been inserted to cover the situation where advance salary is paid. However, the arrears and advance salary shall be charged to tax in the manner provided in Section 98 of the Ordinance."

It may be noted that previously salary receivable, arrears and advance salary were taxable, now salary "received" is taxable, this would included arrears and advance salary but does not include salary due but not received."

Compensation on termination of services u/s 12(2)(e)(iii).– The compensation received by an employee on termination of his services was included in the definition of 'profits in lieu of salary' by the Finance Act, 1965, a relief was however made available which may be deemed to continue as the provisions of this Clause are similar to that of Explanation 2 of Section 7(1) of the repealed Act. The said relief has been given vide CBR's Circular No. 1 of 1965, dated July 1, 1965, an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"The amendment made in this provision clarifies that where any compensation is paid to an employee at, or in connection with the termination of his employment or the modification of the terms and conditions of his employment, such compensation will be treated as the income of the recipient. Such income should, however, be taxed as a separate item of income at the average rate of tax applicable to the recipient during the three preceding years. Where the recipient has been in the employment of the same employer for less than the preceding three years, the average rate applicable to him for the years during which he was in such employment should be adopted. Where the termination or the modification of the terms and conditions of service, as the case may be, takes place in the year of employment itself, the compensation should be added to the other income of the recipient and taxed accordingly."

Payments under the Golden Handshake Scheme.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 15 of 1997 dated 6th November, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Recently a number of banks and other organizations have announced golden handshake schemes for their employees, offering a variety of compensation packages to them. It has been represented to the Board that a portion of this compensation amount would be deducted by way of income tax and, therefore, the actual amount that a terminated/retired employee would actually received would get reduced.

2. Payment made under the golden handshake scheme is primarily a "compensation in connection with termination of employment" and is taxable under the head "salary" under section 16(2)(c) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979. The compensation forms part of an employee's income for the year in which it is received. This treatment obviously results in taxation at a rate higher than that which would normally be applicable to a terminated employee. Realizing this hardship, the CBR issued circular No. 1 of 1965 dated July 1, 1965, whereby a terminated employee was granted the concession of getting this compensation taxed as a 'separate block' at his three preceding year's average tax rate.

3. In response to the queries referred to the Board in this regard it has been confirmed that this concession is still available.

4. The Board has received representations that in view of the fact that the rates of tax have been substantially reduced from the assessment year 1998-99 onwards, the employees who have been allowed golden handshake would not be able to benefit from this reduction if they are taxed at the previous three years average.

5. The matter has been considered by the Board and it has been decided that the terminated/retired employees if they so opt, can get the amount of termination compensation taxed at the reduced rates applicable to assessment year 1998-99. However, if an employee considers that the three years average tax method is more beneficial to him, he can opt for it. These concessions are obviously in addition to the exemptions already available to private sector employees in respect of payments from Recognised Provident/Gratuity Funds."

(ii) the pension of an individual who continues to work for former employer or its associate shall be charged to tax at the rates specified under clause (1) or (2) of Division I of Part I to First Schedule as the case may be.]

(3) Where an employer agrees to pay the tax chargeable on an employee's salary, the amount of the employee's income chargeable under the head "Salary" shall be grossed up by the amount of tax payable by the employer.

(4) No deduction shall be allowed for any expenditure incurred by an employee in deriving amounts chargeable to tax under the head "Salary".

Comments: This Circular was declared to be unlawful and of no legal effect by the Honourable Lahore High Court (1998) 78 Tax 1 (H.C. Lah.) = 1998 PCTLR 1382. The Honourable High Court directed that the adjudicating officer shall proceed to decide independently of the Circular as to whether the amounts received in the case of such employees tantamount to salaries or not and are taxable. The Honourable Court also directed that "the amounts, if any, withheld by the Banks and the amounts disbursed to the Department under the impugned Circular, shall be refunded." Thereafter the Lahore High Court reversed this view and the matter is before Supreme Court of Pakistan which has granted leave to appeal. The Supreme Court of AJ&K has, however, held that the golden handshake amount is taxable.

Anyhow the express provision to tax golden handshake and separation payments clarifies the position of taxability w.e.f. 1st July, 2002.

S. 12(3)–Computation of "tax on tax".– Following is the text of undivided Indian Board's Circular No. 34 of 1940, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1922:–

"A point has been raised about the calculation of the correct gross salary in a case where the tax on the salary of an employee is paid or payable by the employer.

The principle is to add together the actual receipt of "salary" proper by the employee to the tax paid by the employer to get at the gross salary. It will be a question of fact in each case to determine whether the extra tax, being the difference of the tax paid by the employer and that calculated on the gross salary, is recovered or recoverable by the employee from his employer. If it is not so recoverable the matter is simple, as the gross income of the employee in that case will consist of the salary proper plus the amount paid by the employer as tax, and will be assessed in the hands of the employee, the extra tax, if any, being borne by the employee himself. But if the extra tax is recoverable from the employer the gross and the rate applicable have to be worked out by making calculations some two or three or four steps as shown below:

		Rs.
Net Salary		4,800-00
Tax on Rs. 4,800/- @ 6.19 pies per rupee		154-11	(a)
		4,954-11
Tax on 4,954-11 @ 6.27 pies per rupee	161-15
Less (a) above	154-11
		7-4	(b)
		4,961-15
Tax on Rs. 4,961-15 @ 6.28 pies per rupee	162-5
Less (a) plus (b)	161-15	0-6

Ordinarily it will not be necessary to carry calculations beyond three steps as above."

PART III

HEAD OF INCOME: INCOME FROM PROPERTY

15. Income from property*.– (1) The rent received or receivable by a person [1][for] a tax year, other than rent exempt from tax under this Ordinance, shall be chargeable to tax in that year under the head "Income from Property".

(2) Subject to sub-section (3), "rent" means any amount received or receivable by the owner of land or a building as consideration for the use or occupation of, or the right to use or occupy, the land or building, and includes any forfeited deposit paid under a contract for the sale of land or a building.

(3) This section shall not apply to any rent received or receivable by any person in respect of the lease of a building together with plant and machinery and such rent shall be chargeable to tax under the head "Income from Other Sources".

[1]Substituted for "in" by Finance Act, 2003, dated June 17, 2003.

*consequent to amendment in section 11, it should have been substituted by "Property" i.e. starting with a capital.

S. 15(1)–Income from Property, advance rent.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003, dated July 11, 2003:–

"The text of sub-section (1) of section 15 of Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 would imply that advance received by a taxpayer would be chargeable to tax in the year of receipt. Sub-section (1) has been amended to remove the anomaly whereby income from property including advance receipt would be charged to tax in the tax year to which the income pertain."

Owner of building where land is owned by another.– The position has been clarified in elaborate detail in Circular No. 14 of 1959, dated August 10, 1959, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"A person may be the owner of the property without being the owner of the land on which the property is built. It is wrong to think that if the land on which the property has been built belongs to one person but the building on it has been constructed by another person, the person owning the land is automatically the owner of the building for the purposes of Section 9 of the Income Tax Act. The owner of the building is the person who has financed the construction of the building and it is he who will be liable to tax in respect of the bonafide annual value of that building. In C.I.T. Madras v. Madras Cricket Club 1934 ITR 209 a Full Bench decision of the Madras High Court, Beasley (C.J.) remarked "I am not at all clear as to what is meant by the description full owners. So far as I understand it what is contended for in connection with the description is that in order to come within the provision of this section, the person who owns the building must also be the owner of the land upon which it stands and possibly the land surrounding it. I see nothing to warrant any such contention."

House occupied by a salaried person u/s 15(2).– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 10 of 1996 dated 16th July, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Sub-section (3) of section 19 excludes from the application of section 19 cases where property is in the occupation of the owner for purposes of his own residence. The phrase "purposes of own residence" has been elaborated by the insertion of an explanation to the effect that a house given on rent, in whatever manner shall not be considered to be self-occupied. This is to set at rest the controversy and consequent litigation on the point. The clarification is deemed to have always been there."

Check of "fair market rent" is not applicable in above situation by virtue of section 15(5).

"Income from property derived by an individual or an association of persons is separately taxed on the gross amount of rent at rates specified in Division VIA of Part I of the First Schedule. Deductions in computing income under the head, "Income from property" were not allowed to individuals and associations of persons. The rate of tax on the gross amount of rent was as under:-

S #	Gross amount of rent	Rate of tax
1.	Where gross rent does not exceed Rs.200,000	Nil
2.	Where the gross amount of rent exceeds Rs.200,000 but does not exceed Rs.600,000	5% of the gross amount exceeding Rs.200,000
3.	Where the gross amount of rent exceeds Rs.600,000 but does not exceed Rs.1,000,000	Rs.20,000 plus 10% of amount exceeding Rs.600,000
4.	Where the gross amount of rent exceeds Rs.1,000,000 but does not exceed Rs.2,000,000	Rs.60,000 plus 15% of gross amount exceeding Rs.1,000,000

16. Non-adjustable amounts received in relation to buildings.– (1) Where the owner of a building receives from a tenant an amount which is not adjustable against the rent payable by the tenant, the amount shall be treated as rent chargeable to tax under the head "Income from Property" in the tax year in which it was received and the following nine tax years in equal proportion.

(2) Where an amount (hereinafter referred to as the "earlier amount") referred to in sub-section (1) is refunded by the owner to the tenant on termination of the tenancy before the expiry of ten years, no portion of the amount shall be allocated to the tax year in which it is refunded or to any subsequent tax year except as provided for in sub-section (3).

S #	Gross amount of rent	Rate of tax

5.	Where the gross amount of rent exceeds Rs.2,000,000 but does not exceed Rs.4,000,000	Rs.210,000 plus 20% of amount exceeding Rs.2,000,000
6.	Where the gross amount of rent exceeds Rs.4,000,000 but does not exceed Rs.6,000,000.	Rs.610,000 plus 25 per cent of the gross amount exceeding Rs.4,000,000
7.	Where the gross amount of rent exceeds Rs.6,000,000 but does not exceed Rs.8,000,000	Rs.1,110,000 plus 30 per cent of the gross amount exceeding Rs.6,000,000
8.	Where the gross amount of rent exceeds Rs.8,000,000	Rs.1,710,000 plus 35 percent of the gross amount exceeding Rs.8,000,000

However, individuals and AOPs deriving gross rent exceeding Rs.4 million will have the option to pay tax at the rates provided in Division I of Part I of the First Schedule on their income from house property. Persons availing this option can claim deductions in computing income from house property mentioned in section 15A.

The rates of deduction of tax from the gross amount of rent have also been increased similar to serial numbers 6, 7 & 8 of the table given above with three new rates at 25%, 30% and 35%."

(3) Where the circumstances specified in sub-section (2) occur and the owner lets out the building or part thereof to another person (hereinafter referred to as the "succeeding tenant") and receives from the succeeding tenant any amount (hereinafter referred to as the "succeeding amount") which is not adjustable against the rent payable by the succeeding tenant, the succeeding amount as reduced by such portion of the earlier amount as was charged to tax shall be treated as rent chargeable to tax under the head "Income from Property" as specified in sub-section (1).

S. 16–Un-adjustable advance rent under sub-sections (1), (2) and (3).– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 15 of 1980, dated June, 26, 1980, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"(a) Any advance received by the owner of any immovable property from a tenant which though returnable on vacation of premises is yet not adjustable against future rent payable by tenant or any pugree or any amount received by such owner from the tenant for delivery of possession of the premises has been deemed to be income of the recipient owner and 10% of such amount has been made taxable as income from property chargeable under Section 20 in the year of receipt and for the nine subsequent income years.

(b) If before the expiry of the said 10 years the tenant vacates the premises and the advance is returned to him, and the owner does not let it out thereafter, no notional income shall be added to his income for that year and any year thereafter.

(c) Where after vacation of property by one tenant it is let out to another tenant and after returning the advance to the previous tenant, another similar advance is taken from the succeeding tenant, the amount of succeeding advance as reduced by the amount of previous advance charged to tax shall be deemed to be income and spread over 10 years and assessed in the same manner as provided in (a) above.

(d) Where any such advance was obtained during the past 10 years, the amount shall be similarly spread over 10 years, and the amount allocable to assessment year 1980-81 or any year thereafter shall be similarly assessed. S. 18.-Income from Business.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 7 of 2011 dated July 01, 2011:-

"Although under section 18 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, the fair market value of any benefit or perquisite, whether convertible into money or not, is chargeable to tax. In order to clarify the situation regarding taxability of such benefit or perquisite the word 'benefit' has been elaborated through an explanation to include explicitly any benefit derived by way of waiver of profit on debt or the debt itself under the State Bank of Pakistan, Banking Policy Department's, Circular No. 29 of 2002 dated 15th October, 2002 or in any other scheme issued by the State Bank of Pakistan."

In order to curb this practice, explicit provision has been added to the Ordinance for giving clarification on interpretation of law in the context of doctrine of mutuality. Necessary changes have been introduced in section 18 of the Ordinance."

The scope of this explanation regarding tax on income on account of sale of goods or rendering of services by cooperative societies to its members has been expanded to say that it shall mutatis mutandis apply to recreational clubs involved in similar kind of transactions with its members.

The corresponding amendment has been made in clause (36) of section 2 of the Ordinance wherein those recreational clubs have been excluded from the definition of non-profit organizations which charge membership fee exceeding rupees one million for any class of new members as joining fee."

S. 20–Deductions, expenditure on visits of foreign countries.– It has been clarified in CBR's Circular No. 20 ITP of 1950, dated October 10, 1950 that expenditure incurred on visits to foreign countries is an admissible deduction whether or not such visits result immediately in earning of profits. Following is an extract from the Circular:–

"If profits of any such foreign business are assessable in Pakistan the expenditure would be an admissible deduction against such profits. When once it is established that an expenditure of a revenue nature is incurred wholly and exclusively in the interest of the business liable to tax in Pakistan, it should be allowed in the assessment without being too meticulous."

S. 20(1A)-Deductions in Computer Business Income.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 dated July 17, 2009:–

"A new sub-section (1A) has been inserted in section 20 to allow deduction to a person using animals for the purpose of the business or profession otherwise than as stock-in-trade where such animals have died or become permanently useless for such purposes. The amount of deduction to be allowed is not to exceed the difference between the actual cost of the animals and the amount, if any, realized in respect of the carcasses of animals. The amendment has been made to encourage dairy farming businesses which has become very attractive venture for the corporate sectors and will help in boosting foreign direct investment in the country."

Redrafting for business expenses deductions.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 17, dated July 17, 2004:–

"Apprehension was expressed through various queries that language of law is ambiguous and its interpretation may restrict admissibility of business expenditure. In order to remove doubt regarding admissibility of expenditure against income under the head "Income from Business", sub-section (1) of section 20 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 has been amended to clarify that an expenditure wholly and exclusively incurred for the purpose of business would be allowed as business expense."

Deduction of sales tax when not separately charged.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 2 ITP of 1950, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The Board has decided that where a dealer does not make a separate charge for sales tax, the amount of sales tax paid by him should be allowed as a deduction in computing his income for income tax purposes. This would apply only where the dealer's trading account is accepted. Where, however, his accounts are rejected and profit is estimated on the basis of flat rate on the sales, the sales tax paid should be taken to have been covered by the flat rate adopted."

Cost of one cash register machine allowable as deduction.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 6 of 1987 dated July 5, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A new clause (xx) has been added in Sub-Section (1) of Section 23 of the Ordinance under which the cost of one cash register machine purchased by an assessee for recording and printing cash sales made by him during the regular course of his business shall be allowed as deduction in equal instalments in two years i.e. half of the cost in the income year in which the said machine was purchased and the balance in the next following income year."

Following is an extract from Circular No. 20 of 1988 dated October 8, 1988, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The said clause has been amended to provide that such expenditure will be allowable only in respect of such machine which has permanent sealed memory system. Also, the entire purchase price will be allowable, as deduction, in the income year in which such machine was purchased. However, initial depreciation shall not be allowable in respect of such machine, by virtue of an amendment in sub-rule (2) of rule 5 of the Third Schedule to the Ordinance."

S. 21–Deductions not allowed, non-deduction of tax from salaries.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1995 dated July 9, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Salary paid without withholding the tax is an inadmissible deduction against business income. In order to improve compliance of tax withholding provisions, section 24 (c) has been amended so that where any payments are made on account of commission, brokerage, rents, interest or services rendered and tax has not been deducted at the prescribed rates, such payments shall be treated as inadmissible deduction against income."

Section 21(b) provides for disallowance of salary if the employer fails to deduct and pay tax u/s 50. A situation arises where an assessee fails to deduct such tax at the time of paying salaries but subsequently deposits the same at any time before his assessment is completed. This has been clarified in Circular Letter C. No. 4(131)-T-3/71, dated July 22, 1971, explaining corresponding provisions of the repealed Act, 1922, and repealed Ordinance, 1979, an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"Recourse to Section 10(4)(a) may be taken in cases where the employer has not paid the tax on salaries before the completion of assessment. This clause may not be invoked merely on the ground that the tax was not deducted or paid during the course of the relevant previous year."

S. 21.-Disallowance of Certain Expenditure.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2025-26 dated August 02, 2025:- [sections 21 & 22]

"As explained below, new clauses have been inserted to make disallowance for expenditure under certain specific circumstances:

(i) Through Finance Act, 2025, a new clause (q) has been inserted in Section 21 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 whereby ten percent expenditure attributable to purchases from persons who are not NTN holder will be liable to disallowed. It aims to enable formal sector to capture more market share as compared to that of informal sector. This provision will not apply on agriculture produce unless it is sold by middle men. This provision also authorizes the board to exempt any class of persons subject to conditions and limitations as it deems appropriate.

(ii) Through Finance Act 2025, a new clause(s) has been inserted in Section 21 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, which envisages that where a person makes

i) a sale of Rs.200,000 or above on a single invoice and

ii) and payment is not received through banking channel or digital means

50 % of the proportionate business expenditure attributable to such sales shall be disallowed. For the purposes of section 21(s), it is clarified that when a person, whether an NTN holder or otherwise, deposits the cash against invoices in the bank account of the seller, the payment shall be treated as having taken place through banking channel and no disallowance of the expenditure will be made in this regard under this clause.

(iii) Through Finance Act, 2025, in section 22 of the Ordinance, the depreciation expense of any capital asset shall be inadmissible if the capital asset has been acquired without discharging the withholding obligation on the payments made under sections 152 or 153 of the Ordinance as the case may be. The said amount paid to a supplier of capital assets on which tax was not withheld and deposited will not become part of the cost of asset for the purpose of computation of tax depreciation for the tax year in which the acquisition is made."

The restriction on admissibility of full expense on account of perquisites and allowances paid to an employee in the hands of the employer, has been removed by omitting clause (k) of section 21. This amendment will be applicable where expense is incurred on July 1, 2006 and onward."

Pre-2006 position

S. 21(k)–Excess perquisites.– Any expenditure incurred by an assessee on the provision of perquisites, allowances or other benefits to an employee in excess of 50% of his salary, excluding such perquisites, allowances or other benefits, is not an allowable deduction. No such provision existed before assessment year 1963-64. The Finance Act, 1963 amended the Income Tax Act, 1922 by adding a new Clause (d) to Section 10(4). Following is an extract from Circular No. 4 of 1963, dated November 19, 1963, explaining the corresponding provisions of repealed Act, 1922:–

"The new clause restricts the deduction to be allowed on account of expenditure incurred by a company on the provision of perquisites or other benefits to a director or employee exceeding 75 per cent of his salary, or Rs. 30,000 whichever is the less."

The Finance Ordinance, 1971 amended Clause (d). Circular No. 12 of 1971, dated September 8, 1971 explained the amendment, relevant extracts wherefrom are as follows:–

"As a result of the amendment of this clause the amount admissible in the hands of the employers on account of perquisites and other benefits to the employees has been curtailed". "According to the amended clause deduction of such expenditure will be restricted up to a maximum of 30% of the employee's salary as defined in Explanation 1, without any further limit of amount.

Another important change made by the amendment of this clause is that while hitherto this clause was applicable only to companies, henceforth, the restriction imposed by this clause will apply to all employees both company and non-company."

The provisions of Section 10(4)(d) as it stood after amendment by the Finance Ordinance, 1971, were incorporated in the Ordinance as Section 24(i). But the restriction to 30% had become unjustifiable. It was represented to the CBR that this provision should be modified, in this connection following is the text of a letter from M/s S. A.. Salam & Co. CAs dated September 1, 1979 addressed to the Member (Income Tax) CBR, Islamabad:–

"40% of salary paid in cash as house rent allowance to employees is exempt from income tax in their hands. This is in conflict with Section 24(i) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, whereby the total amount of perquisites should not exceed 30% of the salary of an employee. Now this 30% has existed in the Income Tax Law for a long time and this limit has not been enhanced so far inspite of the fact that in the Rules the allowances have been gradually and progressively increased. In view of the fact that there are many other perquisites in addition to the house rent allowance, it is requested that the figure in section 24(i) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, may be amended to read "50%" instead of the present "30%". It is hoped that necessary steps would be taken to bring about the suggested amendment."

In response to representations, clause (i) was amended by Finance Ordinance, 1980, whereby this limit was raised to 50%, but was made applicable from the assessment year 1981-82.

Another amendment made by the Finance Ordinance, 1980 was the insertion of the words "allowances or other benefits". This amendment has been explained in Circular Letter C. No. 13(23)-IT-I/80, dated August 11, 1980, an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"(ii) Insertion of the word "allowances" has removed doubts, if there were any, regarding inclusion of cash allowances for purposes of Section 24(i) in respect of working cost of perquisites.

The Board has always held that the term "perquisites" in the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 includes within its ambit all benefits and allowances. The word "allowances or other benefits" now inserted through the Finance Ordinance, 1980 are only clarificatory in nature. the amount paid in lieu of foregoing the entitlement of leave and for performing duties The term perquisites includes all types of allowances and benefits including "cash allowances" and the provisions should be deemed to be effective from the assessment year 1979-80 i.e., after promulgation of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979."

Amounts hit by S. 21(k).– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 16 of 1990 dated December 4, 1990, explaining corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that amounts paid under the following heads are being treated as perquisites, allowances or other benefits within the purview of section 24(i) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

(a) Overtime.

(b) Leave encashment.

(c) Contributions towards social security under the Provincial Employees' Social Security Ordinance, 1965.

(d) Contribution towards employees old age benefits under the Employees' Old Age Benefit Act, 1976.

(e) Contribution towards education cess under the Worker's Children (Education) Ordinance, 1972 and Workers' Children (Education) Act 1988.

(f) Expenditure incurred on maintaining canteens under the West Pakistan Canteen Rules, 1959.

(g) Expenditure incurred on maintaining fair price shops under the Punjab Fair Prices Shops (Factories) Ordinance, 1971.

2. The matter has been considered in the Board and it is clarified that "over-time" and "leave encashment" fall within the ambit of "salary" being the remuneration or compensation for services rendered by an employee. Whereas overtime payment is made for the extra work done by an employee in addition to this normal duties, leave encashment is during the leave period. These two payments are, therefore, direct consideration or price for the job performed by an employee and, therefore, should not be considered inadmissible for the purposes of clause (i) of section 24 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

3. As regards compulsory contributions towards social security, employees old age benefits and education cess, it may be noted that such contributions made in pursuance of various statutes are mandatory for the employer. The employee receives no direct benefit from the employer who is also not in a position to regulate or adjust such payments to his advantage. Similarly, expenditure incurred on the maintenance of fair price shops and canteens cannot be treated as a perquisite or benefit if such facilities are made available to the employees in accordance with the mandatory provisions of labour laws."

"(l) any expenditure paid or payable under a single account head which, in aggregate, exceeds fifty thousand rupees made other than by a crossed bank cheque or crossed bank draft, except expenditures not exceeding [1][2]*/ten/* thousand rupees or on account of freight charges, travel fare, postage, utilities or payment of taxes, duties, [3][fee], fines or any other statutory obligation;"

[1]Substituted for "five hundred rupees or on account of postage or utility bills" by Finance Ordinance, 2002 dated June 15, 2002.
[2]Substituted for "five" by Finance Act, 2004, dated June 24, 2004, w.e.f. July 1, 2004.
[3]Substituted for "fees" by Finance Act, 2003, dated June 17, 2003.

Rationalization of provisions.–Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2006 dated July 1, 2006:–

"Any expenditure paid or payable under a single account head which, in aggregate, exceeds fifty thousand rupees made other than by a crossed bank cheque or crossed bank draft, except expenditures not exceeding ten thousand rupees or on account of freight charges, travel fare, postage, utilities or payment of taxes, duties, fee, fines or any other statutory obligation, was not be an allowable deduction upto tax year 2006.

This provision was originally introduced under section 24(ff) in the repealed Ordinance, 1979. It was clarified through CBR's Circular No.11 of 1998 dated July 25, 1998, stating that clause (ff) applies to expenditure normally chargeable to profit and loss account. The expenditure chargeable to trading and manufacturing accounts (like wages and freight or purchases debitable to the said accounts) fell out side the ambit of the said clause.

Now the language of the section 21(l) has appropriately been amended to include every expenditure whether debitable to trading or manufacturing accounts or profit and loss account will fall within the purview of said section. Further, the scope of banking transactions has also been expanded to include online transfer of payment from the business account of the payer to the business account of the payee and payment through credit cards subject to the condition that such transactions are verifiable from the bank statement of the respective payer and payee. This is an elaboration of the definition of banking transactions. It is explicitly clarified that any expenditure paid or payable under a single account head which, in aggregate, exceeds fifty thousand rupees made other than by a crossed bank draft, shall not be an allowable deduction w.e.f. July 1, 2006. The restriction under this provision will not apply (as before) in respect of expenditure which

(i) does not exceeding ten thousand rupees; or

(ii) is on account of freight charges, travel fare, postage, utilities or payment of taxes, duties, fee, fines or any other statutory obligation;

As a consequence, CBR's Circular No.11 of 1998 dated 25th July, 1998 being contrary to the provision of law is withdrawn, henceforth."

The provision has, therefore, been relaxed for allowing initial allowance."

S. 23A- Accelerated Depreciation to Alternate Energy Projects.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"A new section 23A has been inserted whereby First Year Allowance (FYA) at the rate of 90% of the cost of plant, machinery and equipment has been allowed. The plant, machinery and equipment has to be installed in Pakistan by a company set up for the purpose of alternate energy power generation. The FYA will be allowed in lieu of initial allowance allowed u/s 23 in respect of "eligible depreciation assets" put to use after July 01, 2009. This has been done to encourage investment in this sector both by residents and non-residents. The amendment has also been made in section 57 to allow carry forward of losses for indefinite period."

S. 23A- First Year Allowance for Industries in Specified Areas.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 5 of 2008 dated July 05, 2008:-

"Special incentive schemes i.e. tax holiday had been introduced in the past, to encourage industrial development with reference to rural areas, under-developed areas, industrial zones or for social reasons of promoting economic activity and generating employment opportunities. It also helped to some extent in spreading of industries across the country.

4.1 To encourage industrial investment in rural and under developed areas, instead of tax holiday, First Year Allowance @ 90% of the value of industrial assets has been allowed under section 23A to the industrial undertakings established in specified areas to be notified by the Federal Government."

S. 24.-Amortization of Intangibles.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2025-26 dated August 02, 2025:- [section 24]

"Earlier intangible assets which does not have a determinable useful life was allowed to be amortized for twenty-five years. Through an amendment vide Finance Act, 2025 this period has been reduced to fifteen years for any intangible assets having indeterminable useful life."

8-1083-15-09-2025

(3) Subject to sub-section (7), the amortization deduction of a person for a tax year shall be computed according to the following formula, namely:–

$$\frac{A}{B}$$

A is the cost of the intangible; and

B is the normal useful life of the intangible in whole years.

[1][(4) An intangible that does not have an ascertainable useful life shall be treated as if it had a normal useful life of [2][fifteen years].]

(5) Where an intangible is used in a tax year partly in deriving income from business chargeable to tax and partly for another use, the deduction allowed under this section for that year shall be restricted to the fair proportional part of the amount that would be allowed if the intangible were wholly used to derive income from business chargeable to tax.

[2]Substituted for "twenty-five years" by Finance Act, 2025 in force from July 1, 2025.

S. 24(4).–Substitution.- Before substitution by F. Act, 2019 it read as follows:–

"(4) An intangible–

(a) with a normal useful life of more than ten years; or

(b) that does not have an ascertainable useful life, shall be treated as if it had a normal useful life of ten years."

S. 24– Amortization of intangibles.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 9 of 2019 dated July 30, 2019:-

"Amortization deduction is allowed under section 24 for the cost of a person's intangibles that have a normal useful life exceeding one year and that are wholly or partly used by the person in the tax year in deriving income from business chargeable to tax. Amortization deduction for a tax year is computed by dividing the cost of the intangible over normal useful life of the intangible in whole years. Prior to the Finance Act, 2019, sub-section (4) of section 24 stated that where an intangible had a normal useful life of more than ten years or where its useful life was not ascertainable, it was treated to have a normal useful life of 10 years.

Through the Finance Act, 2019, sub-section (4) of section 24 has been substituted to the effect that an intangible shall now be amortized over its actual normal useful life which can extend beyond ten years also. Further, where the normal useful life is not ascertainable, the intangible shall be treated to have a normal useful life of 25 years. The term, "intangible" has been defined in sub-section (11) of section 24. Through the Finance Act, 2019, self-generated goodwill or any adjustment arising on account of accounting treatment as may be prescribed in rules has been excluded from the definition of "intangible"."

(6) Where an intangible is not used for the whole of the tax year in deriving income from business chargeable to tax, the deduction allowed under this section shall be computed according to the following formula, namely:–

where –

A is the amount of [1][amortization] computed under sub-section (3) or (5), as the case may be;

B is the number of days in the tax year the intangible is used in deriving income from business chargeable to tax; and

C is the number of days in the tax year.

(7) The total deductions allowed to a person under this section in the current tax year and all previous tax years in respect of an intangible shall not exceed the cost of the intangible.

(8) Where, in any tax year, a person disposes of an intangible, no amortisation deduction shall be allowed under this section for that year and–

(a) if the consideration received by the person exceeds the written down value of the intangible at the time of disposal, the excess shall be income of the person chargeable to tax in that year under the head "Income from Business"; or

(b) if the consideration received is less than the written down value of the intangible at the time of disposal, the difference shall be allowed as a deduction in computing the person's income chargeable under the head "Income from Business" in that year.

(9) For the purposes of sub-section (8)–

(a) the written down value of an intangible at the time of disposal shall be the cost of the intangible reduced by the total deductions allowed to the person under this section in respect of the intangible or, where the intangible is not wholly used to derive income chargeable to tax, the amount that would be allowed under this section if the intangible were wholly so used; and

(b) the consideration received on disposal of an intangible shall be determined in accordance with section 77.

(10) For the purposes of this section, an intangible that is available for use on a day (including a non-working day) is treated as used on that day.

assessee for use in his business or profession, shall be allowed as a business expense. This means that the entire lease rentals paid by the assessee to any of the above-mentioned category of lessors shall be allowable to him as business expense."

"Seeks to allow the lease rentals paid on leased assets used for business purposes against business income."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 1(1)TP-II/89, dated January 30, 1989, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Please refer to your letter No. RCIT-Jud(Gen)-7)/88/1855, dated January 07, 1989 on the above mentioned subject.

2. I am directed to say that in cases where lease money relating to the period from Ist July, 1985 and onwards was not allowed as a deduction in the original assessment, the provisions of section 156 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 should be invoked provided the claim was made by assessee/lessee but was not allowed. If the assessee, however, treated the same as a hire-purchase agreement and claimed only a part of the payment, no rectification is required. Simultaneously, it may also be necessary to verify the fact that the entire amount of lease rentals and any other amount (such as additional payment, interest for delayed payment of instalments, penalties, delivery charges and insurance charges, etc.) received and receivable on or after 1st July, 1985 has be taken as the deemed income of the lessor. The Income Tax Officer allowing the lease rentals, etc. as expenses should, therefore, send communication slip to the Income Tax Officer assessing the lessor/leasing company."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 26 of 1988, dated December 19, 1988, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Consequent upon the decision to eliminate interest from the economy, a number of financial arrangements have been introduced. Leasing is one of these. This business has been operating in Pakistan within the general framework of corporate law and no specific enactment has yet been made in this behalf.

2. Briefly speaking, under an ordinary leasing arrangement, ownership of the leased asset being financed continues to vest in the lessor. The right of use to the asset is vested in the lessee who enjoys unfettered use of assets for generation of income. In such cases, the leased asset appears in the balance sheet of the owner who is entitled to the depreciation allowance.

In the hands of the lessee, the amount of lease money is admissible as expenditure. The maintenance expenses are admissible in the hands of lessee or lessor whosoever is responsible for such expenses according to the lease agreement. Under such arrangement, ginning factories, oil mills, ice factories, cinemas etc have been traditionally leased out in our country and officers are well aware of the tax treatment in such cases. The Income Tax Ordinance recognises such arrangement as is reflected in sections 30(2)(d) and 31(1)(e).

3. The second type of such arrangement is the hire-purchase agreement. Although there is no provision in the Ordinance relating to such financial arrangements yet tax treatment for these transactions has been spelt out in the CBR's circular No.9/1943-R.Dis No. 27(4IT.43, dated 23.3.1943 (copy of this circular is enclosed for guidance). The basic principle underlying that circular is that according to the terms of the agreement if the ownership of the asset is transferred to the hirer (lessee) at the time of delivery, it is treated as outright sale and if the ownership is transferrable on the expiry of period of instalments and payment thereof, it shall be treated as hire-cum-purchase agreement. In the later case, the instalment is broken up into hire and purchase. The hire element is allowed as deductible expenditure and the "purchase" portion is capitalised and is eligible for depreciation.

4. The modern leasing industry has introduced a third type of lease known as "finance lease". A "finance lease", according to the International Accounting Standard 1982 (IAS 17) is a lease "which transfers substantially all the risks and rewards incident to the ownership of an asset. Title may or may not be eventually transferred". However the most important thing to remember in this behalf is that it is not the "form" but the "substance" which determines whether it is a finance or an operating lease.

28. Profit on debt, financial costs and lease payments.– (1) Subject to this Ordinance, a deduction shall be allowed for a tax year for –

(a) any profit on debt incurred by a person in the tax year to the extent that the proceeds or benefit of the debt have been used by the person [1][for the purposes of business];

(b) any lease rental incurred by a person in the tax year to a scheduled bank, financial institution, an approved modaraba, an approved leasing company or a Special Purpose Vehicle on behalf of the Originator for an asset used by the person [1][for the purposes of business] [2][:]

[3][Provided that for the purpose of determining the deduction on account of lease rentals the cost of a passenger transport vehicle not plying for hire to the extent of principal amount shall not exceed two and a half million rupees;]

(c) any amount incurred by a person in the tax year to a modaraba or a participation term certificate holder for any funds borrowed and used by the person [1][for the purposes of business];

5. The various factors relevant to the determination of the type of lease are as under–

(a) degree of risk and rewards relating to asset assumed by the lessee i.e. insurance maintenance, taxes etc,

(b) guarantees by the lessee of the residual values,

(c) cancellation provisions and penalties, and

(d) reward and purchase option etc.

6. The present Income tax law prescribes a treatment for all types of leases. Section 23(1)(via) introduced by Finance Ordinance, 1988 allows as deduction in the hand of the lessee, any sum paid to the lessor who may be an approved,

(a) scheduled bank or financial institution or

(b) an approved (for purposes of Third Schedule) leasing company or a modaraba.

7. The Third Schedule allows depreciation allowance to the lessor who is any entity described at (a) or (b) above. Neither provision makes any distinction between an operating or finance lease. However, if the lessor does not fall into the category of the 4 types of institutions mentioned in (a) & (b) above, these provisions are not applicable. In such cases, the treatment shall be depending on the nature of lease, the same as laid down in Circular No. 9/1943.

8. In the case of leases covered by section 23(1)(via) and the Third Schedule, the Ordinance does not provide for the treatment to be accorded to the transaction arising at the end of the lease period. In the case of an operating lease, there is no problem. The lessor takes back the asset and continues to get depreciation allowance on the WDV whether he uses the asset himself or leases it out again. In case of finance lease, if, at the end of the lease term, the asset is taken back by the lessor, the treatment shall be the same as in the case of operating lease. In case, however, the ownership of the lease passes to the lessee, it shall be treated as ordinary sale to the lessee by the lessor. In the hands of the seller, the treatment shall be as follows:–

Profit/loss on sale = Sale Price minus WDV.

The resultant gain or loss shall be treated in accordance with the provisions of Rule 7 of the Third Schedule. In the hands of the lessee, depreciation allowance shall be allowed on the amount paid as price of the asset at which it is transferred to him.

11. A number of companies have started the business of leasing expensive cars. Rule 8(8)(a) places a restriction on the WDV of motor cars by limiting the value to a maximum of Rs. 1,75,000 for purposes of depreciation. Car leases are so designed as to overcome this restriction. In the hands of the lessee, the entire amount paid as lease money is deductible whereas the lessor claims that the leased vehicle constitutes a vehicle plying for hire. Whereas the lessee is justified in claiming the amount paid as lease money, the lessor is not so justified unless the lease is an "operating lease" i.e. the vehicle is transferred back to the lessor at the end of the lease. But if it is ultimately transferred to the lessee or his nominee, it shall be treated as a vehicle not plying for hire. In such cases, the depreciation allowance shall be restricted in accordance with Rule 8(8)(a) of the Third Schedule."

Payment to Special Purpose Vehicles.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 5 of 2001, dated July 4, 2001, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"SPVs are companies formed under the Assets Backed Securitisation Rules, 1999, framed under the Companies Ordinance, 1984 for the purposes of securitisation of receivable. The following concessions have been allowed to SPVs:–

(i) Where payment is made to a SPV on behalf of the creditor (originator), it shall be treated as payment to the creditor and would be allowable as a deduction if it was admissible as an expenditure u/s 23.

(ii) The financial cost/discount of securitisation of receivables would be deductible as an expense by the person selling/getting discounted the receivables i.e. Originator . On the other hand total amount of receivables securitised would be recognised as an income of the year in which the securitisation takes place.

(iii) Tax would not be deductible under section 50(4) from payments made by SPVs to the Originator.

(iv) Credit for the tax deducted by a debtor from payments made on behalf of the creditor to SPV would be allowed to the creditor/originator."

S. 28(1)(c)–Following is an extract from Notes on Clauses to Finance Bill, 2004:–

"Seeks to allow any amount paid to a modaraba or a participation fund certificate holder for funds borrowed for business purposes against income from business."

Tax on income of Modaraba, distribution of profit through bonus shares.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. F4(6)ITP/94 dated 14th June, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Representations have been received in the Board from Modaraba Companies that exemption from income tax is being denied to them under sub-section (1A) of section 9 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 in the first three years of business as the distribution of profit was made through bonus shares instead of cash.

2. The matter has been considered in the Board and the opinion of law division has also been obtained. As a result, it is clarified that the proviso to sub-section (1A) of section 9 does not qualify distribution of profit to be in the form of cash. Thus it can be in the form of bonus shares as the real criteria would be the transfer of the profit to the Modaraba certificate holders. Therefore, distribution of profit in the form of bonus shares qualifies for distribution of profit for purpose of proviso to sub-section (1A) of section 9 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979."

Changes explained.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 14 of 1992 dated July 1, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"(b) Under the provisions of section 37 of the Modaraba Companies and Modarabas (Floatation and Control) Ordinance, 1980, the income of a modaraba was exempt from tax on the condition that at least ninety per cent of its profits in a year were distributed to the modaraba certificate holders. By over-riding these provisions and all other laws, charging section 9 of the Ordinance has been amended to tax the income of a modaraba from assessment year 1993-94. However, a modaraba will not be charged to tax for the first three assessment years after commencement of its business if not less than ninety per cent of its profits in a year are distributed to the modaraba certificate holders.

(c) Income of a modaraba will be charged to tax at concessional flat rate of 25% from assessment year 1993-94 for which amendment has been made in the First Schedule. However, modarabas having income year ending on 31st December, 1992 will not be charged to tax.

(d) The inclusion of 'modaraba' in the definition of company has imposed upon it all the obligations and responsibilities of a company (including the responsibility of withholding tax as a payer) with the following additional effects:–

(i) Distribution of profit amongst modaraba certificate holders shall be treated as dividend but exempted from tax for the assessment year 1993-94 and it will not be liable to withholding tax during the financial year 1992-93. Subsequently, such dividend income will be treated as a separate block of income and subjected to tax @ 10% like all other dividends.

(ii) Sale of modaraba certificates shall now be treated like sale of shares of a public company and enjoy exemption from tax on capital gains as per amendment made in clause (116) of Part-I of the Second Schedule to the Ordinance.

(iii) Companies receiving dividends from modaraba shall be taxed on such inter-corporate dividends at normal rates i.e. 5% for public companies, 15% for bodies corporate/foreign companies and 20% for others."

Following is the text of Section 37 of Modaraba Companies and Modarabas (Floatation and Control) Ordinance, 1980:–

"37. Exemption from tax.– The income of a modaraba shall be exempt from tax under the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 (XXXI of 1979), if not less than ninety per cent of its profits in a year is distributed to the holders of the Modaraba Certificates."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 24 dated July 30, 1992:–

"While explaining the important amendments made through the Finance Act, 1992, it was inter alia stated in paragraphs (1) and (19) of the Board's Circular No. 14 of 1992 dated the 1st July, 1992 that:–

(i) a modaraba will not be charged to tax for the first three assessment years after commencement of its business if not less than ninety per cent of its profits in a year are distributed to the modaraba certificate holders;

(ii) the inclusion of 'modaraba' in the definition of company has imposed upon it all the obligations and responsibilities of a company (including the responsibility of withholding tax as a payer); and

(iii) modarabas having been included in the definition of 'company' have also come within the ambit of section 80D.

2. The issues arising out of the implementation of the provisions relating to the modarabas have been examined in consultation with the Corporate Law Authority and the State Bank of Pakistan. Clarifications are accordingly issued as under:–

(i) According to State Bank Regulations, 20% of the profits of a modaraba are required to be transferred to reserves. Out of the remaining 80% profits, ninety per cent are to be distributed to the modaraba certificate holders under the Modaraba Companies and Modarabas (Floatation and Control) Ordinance, 1980. Therefore, for purposes of exemption from income tax, distribution of 72% of the total profits (including reserves) amongst the modaraba certificate holders will entitle the modarabas to avail the tax concession under the proviso to sub-section (1A) of section 9 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

(ii) Modarabas are under no legal obligation to collect or deduct tax at source under section 50 in respect of those financial transactions as are known by the name of "Morabaha" under the Islamic mode of financing. Therefore withholding tax shall not be applicable on "Morabaha" transactions.

(iii) Minimum tax on the income of modarabas is not payable under section 80D of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, inspite of their inclusion in the definition of company' through the Finance Act, 1992. Formal notification of exemption is being issued separately."

Tax deduction by modarabas.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 29 of 1992 dated September 14, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It had earlier been clarified by the Board vide C. No. ITJI-1(7)/84 Vol-II dated 27-3-1988 and C. No. 1(42) WHT/91 dated 19-2-92 that lease rentals were not liable to withholding but the payments made for the purchase of an asset (in buy and lease back arrangement or otherwise) were liable to deduction of tax under section 50(4).

2. Board's Circular No. 24 of 1992 dated 30 July 1992, while explaining the tax treatment of 'Modarabas' provided that Modarabas are under no legal obligation to collect or deduct Tax at source under section 50 in respect of those financial transactions as are known by the name of "Morabaha" under the Islamic mode of financing.

3. It is, therefore, necessary to explain a 'Morabaha'. A 'morabaha' transaction has two stages. First in which the morabaha company, being financer, purchases the asset for the financee or allows the financee to purchase the asset as an agent on its behalf. In the second stage the morabaha company sells the asset to the financee and gets the price in instalments or otherwise. The first stage of the transaction amounts to purchase by the company and the second stage is similar to lease rentals.

4. Tax shall therefore, be deducted under sub-section (4) of section 50 at first stage of morabaha transaction. Modarabas, if they undertake morabaha transactions, shall be likewise subject to the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 50.

5. It is also clarified that modarabas engaged in leasing business will be treated at par with leasing companies. The payments made by them for the purchase of an asset (in buy and lease back situation or otherwise) will be liable to deduction of tax u/s 50(4)."

Following is an extract from Circular No. 15 of 1980, dated June 26, 1980, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"With the introduction of Modaraba Law the institution of interest is intended to be gradually substituted by profit sharing on funds obtained for business purposes. In this behalf, two institutions have been created:

(a) Participation Term Certificates will replace the debentures. The certificates will be issued by the "borrower" to the lender but instead of interest, the "borrower" will share profits with the lender. The amount paid by borrower to a P.T. Certificate-holder shall be allowed as deduction.

(d) any amount incurred by a scheduled bank in the tax year to a person maintaining a profit or loss sharing account or a deposit with the bank as a distribution of profits by the bank in respect of the account or deposit;

(b) Alternately a borrower may establish a 'modaraba' and float its certificates which will be subscribed by the public. This 'modaraba' will pass on the funds to the assessee who will share profits with the said 'modaraba' and the 'modaraba' will distribute these profits to the certificate holders. The profits paid by the assessee to 'modaraba' for the funds obtained for business purposes have been allowed as deduction."

Concept of modaraba.– Following is an extract from CBR's Letter C. No. 4(78)TP-I/90 dated July 11, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A modaraba has been defined as a business in which one person participates with his money and another with his efforts or skills or both efforts and skills. All mutual funds and unit trusts by whatever name called are included in the definition of a "Modaraba". The Modarabas are governed by the provisions of Modaraba Companies (Floatation and Control) Ordinance, 1980 and the Modaraba Companies and Modaraba Rules, 1981. The income of a modaraba is exempt from tax under the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 if not less than 90% of its profits in a year is distributed to the holders of the modaraba certificates.

Existing Arrangements

A modaraba can only be floated after permission to such floatation has been allowed by the Registrar Modaraba. A joint stock company having floatation of a modaraba as one of its objects and registered with Registrar as a modaraba company can be permitted to float a modaraba. Corporations established by a Government do not require such registration. Every modaraba is floated by issuance of a prospectus for public subscription and is required to be quoted on a Stock Exchange for trading of its certificates. However, unlike other joint stock companies, a modaraba need not hold an annual general meeting nor its registers are open to inspection by certificate holders. The directors of the management company are treated as sponsors of the modaraba and are required to comply with the legal requirements regarding filing of returns and accounts of the Modaraba. A modaraba is a legal person distinct from the company that manages it as also from every other modaraba floated by the management company. A management company is entitled to a fixed percentage of the annual net profits of the modaraba not exceeding 10 per cent as remuneration.

2. Modarabas are engaged in all kinds of business activity which is approved by the Religious Board as being not repugnant to the injunctions of Islam. Most of the modarabas are, however, engaged solely, or primarily in leasing business or providing funds on musharika basis to industrial, commercial and trading concerns. While engaging in such kind of lending, their position is not different from that of banks or financial institutions. They evaluate the projects, business plans and feasibility reports of the intending applicants before entering into a lease or a musharika arrangement. The only difference between them and the banks and financial institutions being that they advance money on the basis of musharika agreement approved by the Religious Board. The modaraba are expressly prohibited to charge interest or even mark-up. In their business activities and their plans to allocate funds for particular fields or parties, modaraba are absolutely independent and no control is contemplated upon them under the modaraba ordinance or the rules. Leasing modarabas, however, do have some restrictions imposed upon them with respect to exposure to capital for a single group or the subsidiaries of the management companies. The office of the Registrar Modaraba satisfies itself about the management companies, their business and financial acumen as also their ability to manage a modaraba before allowing floatation of a modaraba.

Yardstick to be Applied for Examining of Deduction Claims

The Modarabas can and do lend money but only on the basis of musharika or modaraba. Both musharika and modaraba are Islamic modes of doing business i.e. the modaraba becomes a business partner to some extent with the concern or the entity to which it lends money. This partnership, however, is limited only to the extent of the activity in which the money supplied by the modaraba has actually been supplied. The Religious Board has approved a standard form for entering into musharika arrangements with the borrowers of money. Since every modaraba is obliged under the law to maintain true and fair account of all of its transactions, every claim from a person for deduction under sub-clause (viia) of section 23(1) of the Ordinance could be cross checked from the books of accounts of a modaraba. The details of borrowing terms could be verified from the agreement between the modaraba and assessee/claimant."

"With the introduction of interest-free banking, the banks would now distribute profits, instead of interest, among account holders maintaining profit and loss sharing accounts. Such payments being in the nature of profits are not allowable as a business expense. However, amendments have been made and these profits have been allowed as a business expense against the income of the banks."

S. 28(1)(e)–Share of State Bank in HBFC's income.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 8 of 1982, dated July 8, 1982, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"State Bank of Pakistan is providing finance to the House Building Finance Corporation on profit and loss sharing basis. For the purpose of making investment in house building on income sharing basis, such share of income paid to State Bank of Pakistan is not admissible to HBFC as an expenditure against its profits under the existing law. To place the financing on profit and loss sharing basis at par with financing through interest bearing loans the share payable to the State Bank has been made deductible in the hands of HBFC."

S. 28(1)(f)–Share of State Bank in NDLC's income.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 10 of 1985, dated August 18, 1985, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A new clause has been inserted in Section 23 according to which the share of profits paid by National Development Leasing Corporation Limited to the State Bank of Pakistan on its leasing operations financed out of a credit line provided by the Bank on a profit and loss sharing basis shall be allowed as a deduction in computing the "income from business or profession" of the corporation."

S. 28(1)(h)–Payments to a Bank under a 'musharika' scheme.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 7 of 1983, dated June 12, 1983, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In connection with the process of Islamisation of the economy business is being organised and conducted under scheme of musharika. Under this scheme the banks provide capital under an agreement of musharika with the customer. The starting point for calculating profit is the expected profit rate projected by the customer at the time of seeking finance. If the projections of the customer are achieved, the customer is given a good management bonus as agreed to at the time of signing musharika agreement. Profit left after the adjustment of bonus are divided between the bank and customer on daily product basis.

The law did not make provisions for deduction of share of income paid to a bank, by a customer out of profits of musharika which could adversely affect the customer as well as the scheme. To remove this handicap deduction in respect of payments made to a bank under the scheme of musharika, has been allowed by adding a new sub-clause in sub-section (1) of section 23."

Concept of musharika.– Following is an extract from CBR's Letter C. No. 4(78)TP-I/90 dated July 11, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The word "musharika" is a derivative of the Arabic word "Shirkat" meaning sharing. A musharika can be defined to be an arrangement of business or its financing based on the concept of profit loss sharing in which parties contribute their money or efforts or skills or a combination of these. Profits may be shared in prearranged proportions but the loss, if any, shall be borne by the capital alone in strict proportion to capital contribution by each party. A musharika may assume one out of many kinds depending upon the proportion of efforts or skills contributed or money supplied or guarantee offered or even the nature of capital raised. As far musharika as a mode of business, no specific law has so far been enacted in Pakistan to regulate musharika arrangements. There could not, therefore, be a precise or legal definition of the term. In general terms, it is an arrangement/partnership formed between a financer (usually a bank and an entrepreneur (a customer) engaged in trade/commerce/industry/agriculture etc. whereby both the financer and the customer agree to contribute mutually agreed share in the form of capital and labour of both and share profits in an agreed ratio and share loss according to the capital employed in the business. Musharika has been most favorite, or, to some extent, the only mode of short term financing by the banks and financial institutions after they were required to switch over to Islamic economy. While the banks and financial institutions have evolved various set forms of "Musharika investment agreement", the Religious Board constituted under section 10 of the Modaraba Ordinance, 1980 did not view any of them with favour. Their apprehension being that these agreements have provided a convenient mode of re- introduction of interest (riba) through its even crude form known as "mark-up". As pointed out earlier, a standard "musharika" form has been evolved by the Board for all the modarabas who would like to engage in such an arrangement with a customer.

Mode of Examining Deduction Claims

Every sum paid as profit to a bank/modaraba under the musharika mode of financing is treated as expense for reasons similar to that allowed to interest on borrowed money. That being so, all the methods employed for allowing deductions to the accounts paid as interest on borrowing would be applicable to those paid as profits under a musharika arrangement."

Deductibility of share paid as profit by Musharika.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 11 of 1998 dated July 25, 1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

A new provision has been introduced to allow deduction (from profits) of any amount paid to a Certificate holder by way of his share in profit of a musharika under a Musharika Scheme approved by the Corporate Law Authority and the Religious Board formed under the Modaraba Companies and Modarabas (Floatation and Control) Ordinance, 1980 (XXXI of 1980)."

S. 29–Bad debts provision for banks u/s 29 and 30.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. F. 13(26)IT-I/79, dated April 17, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

Clause (x) of subsection (1) of section 23 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 provides that in computing business income of a taxpayer, deduction is admissible in respect of bad debts which is determined by the Deputy Commissioner of Income Tax to be irrecoverable and which is actually written off.

2. In view of certain special circumstances, the Central Board of Revenue, vide Letter No. 1(48) IT-I/82, dated 8-8-1983, had given certain concessions to nationalized banks in respect of their loans that had turned bad. It is decided that in the cases of nationalized banks the assessing officers shall not insist on actual writing off of a bad debt for allowing such claim but would for the purpose rely on the findings in this regard given by the Stat Bank of Pakistan.

3. Vide C.B.R. Letter No. 13(26) IT-I/74, dated 21-9-1992, this facility was further extended to all those privatized, private and foreign banks which are legally subject to the regulatory framework of State Bank of Pakistan.

4. In the present changed circumstances the previous instructions have been reviewed and it has been decided that:

(i) The existing facility may be provided to only those banks which are wholly owned by the Government; and

(ii) The names of account holders and the amounts considered as bad debt in each case may be indicated in the certificate issued by the State Bank of Pakistan.

5. This decision has been conveyed to the Governor State Bank of Pakistan and Chairman, Pakistan Banking Council for necessary action. Copy of the letter is enclosed. The assessing officers may be directed to henceforth complete assessments of banks in the light of these instructions.

Following is the text of CBR's letter No. 13(26)/IT-1/79 dated February 4, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In supersession of Board's letter of even number dated 21st September, 1992 on the subject, I am directed to convey the following decisions for necessary compliance:–

i) The present procedure as prescribed by the CBR's Circular No. 1(48)IT-1/82 dated 8th August, 1983 should be continued and the verification of State Bank of Pakistan on the level of provision for bad debts by a bank should be taken as final; and

ii) The operation of CBR's Circular dated 8th August, 1983 should be extended to all those privatised, private and foreign banks which are legally subject to the regulatory framework of the State Bank of Pakistan.

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 13(26)IT-1/79 dated May 9, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to refer to your letter No. RCIT-Jud. (Misc)/94/2145 dated March 28, 1994 on the subject and to say that a uniform treatment be extended to all banks (including IDBP, which are covered by CBR's Circular No. 13(26)IT-1/79 dated February 4, 1993) in respect of "bad debts" only.

2. Consequently, the instructions contained in Circular C. No. 1(48)IT-1/82 dated August 8, 1993, would continue to apply. It may kindly be noted that the applicability of the said instructions was extended to all those privatization, private and foreign banks also, which are legally subject to the regulatory frame work of the State Bank of Pakistan, and that the extension of this treatment was to take effect prospectively i.e. w.e.f. September, 21, 1992.

3. The representation of IDBP may kindly be disposed of accordingly."

Bad debts, allowability in case of banks u/s 29 and 30.– Following is the text of CBR's letter C. No. 7(17)DT-14/92 dated May 19, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Central Board of Revenue that huge revenue is being lost for the reason that the criterion for specifying the claim of bad debts is different with the State Bank of Pakistan than what is laid down in section 23(1)(x) of the Income Tax Ordinance. The said section lays down the following two important conditions for allowing of the claim:–

(i) that the debt has become bad, and is

(ii) irrecoverable.

2. Taking cognizance of the above situation, the State Bank of Pakistan (Banking Inspection Department) has already issued a Circular No. 1/91 dated 6th April, 1991 to the banks for internal audit with special reference to the claim of bad debts.

3. I am, therefore, directed to request that instructions contained in State Bank of Pakistan's Circular No. 1/91 dated 6th April, 1991 may kindly be adhered to in respect of the current as well pending income tax assessments to avoid further loss of revenue."

Bad Debts of sick industries, write off by banks u/s 29 and 30.– Following is the text of Circular Letter No. 13 (29) IT-I/74, dated November 27, 1982, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

any amount in respect of that debt, the following rules shall apply, namely:–

(a) Where the amount received exceeds the difference between the whole of such bad debt and the amount previously allowed as a deduction under this section, the excess shall be included in the person's income under the head "Income from Business" for the tax year in which it was received; or

(b) where the amount received is less than the difference between the whole of such bad debt and the amount allowed as a deduction under this section, the shortfall shall be allowed as a bad debt deduction in computing the person's income under the head "Income from Business" for the tax year in which it was received.

"I am directed to refer to the above subject and to say that ordinarily the Income Tax Officers do not accept write offs of bad debts by financial institutions until all the remedies available to the creditors, including legal action, have been exhausted.

This practice has been considered in the context of liabilities of 'sick units' and it has been decided that in case of sick industries where the financial restructuring is done with the approval of Federal Government, and as a result of the decisions the financial institutions are required to write off part of the outstanding debts, the Income Tax Officers should accept such write-offs for the purpose of deduction from profits without raising any queries. A recovery at later date will of course be written back as income for tax purposes."

S. 29A-Provisions regarding consumer loans.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Prior to Finance Act 2009, a banking company or non-banking finance company or house building finance corporation were allowed deductions not exceeding 3% of the income for the tax year arising out of consumer loans for creation of a reserve to setoff bad debts arising out of such loans.

8.1 Since special provisions for computation of income of a banking company will be operative through Seventh Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, from tax year 2009, therefore, the banking companies have been excluded from section 29A. Such companies would not be entitled to any provision regarding consumer loans with effect from July 1, 2009. However, they would be entitled to make provisions in accordance with Rule 1(c) of the Seventh Schedule for total advances and off balance sheet items as provided therein."

Meaning of writing off.– Following is an extract from Circular Letter C. No. 13(26)-IT/74, dated July 2, 1975 explaining the corresponding provisions of the repealed Act, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

Bad debts allowed and recovered.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 7 of 1981, dated July 6, 1981, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Section 23(1)(x) provides for deduction of bad debts, actually written off, as an expense and section 25 stipulates taxation of the full amount of such bad debts as income of the year in which these are recovered, irrespective of the amount which may have been disallowed and taxed in the year of claim. This provision was unjust as it entailed double taxation of the amount of bad debts in cases where the amount subsequently recovered was more than the amount originally disallowed, and short allowance in cases where bad debts subsequently recovered were less than those originally disallowed.

Interest in suspense by DFIs. Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 5 of 2001, dated July 4, 2001, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A new clause (xxii) has been inserted in section 23(1) allowing as an expense the interest on non-performing loan credited to suspense account by development finance institutions in accordance with the Prudential Regulations for banks and such institutions by the SBP. This is applicable for assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of July, 2001."

The position has been remedied by adding clause (aa) in Section 25. Under the amended law, in case where the amount of bad debts recovered subsequently is greater than the difference between the whole of such bad debts and the amount of bad debts allowed as deduction, only the excess shall be subjected to tax.

31. Transfer to participatory reserve.– (1) Subject to this section, a company shall be allowed a deduction for a tax year for any amount transferred by the company in the year to a participatory reserve created under [1][section 66 of the Companies Act, 2017 (XIX of 2017)] in accordance with an agreement relating to participatory redeemable capital entered into between the company and a banking company as defined in the [2][Financial Institutions (Recovery of Finances) Ordinance, 2001 (XLVI of 2001)].

(2) The deduction allowed under subsection (1) for a tax year shall be limited to five per cent of the value of the company's participatory redeemable capital.

(3) No deduction shall be allowed under subsection (1) if the amount of the tax exempted accumulation in the participatory reserve exceeds ten per cent of the amount of the participatory redeemable capital.

(4) Where any amount accumulated in the participatory reserve of a company has been allowed as a deduction under this section is applied by the company towards any purpose other than payment of share of profit on the participatory redeemable capital or towards any purpose not allowable for deduction or exemption under this Ordinance the amount so applied shall be included in the income from business of the company in the tax year in which it is so applied.

"To encourage consumer banking, section 29A was inserted through Finance Act, 2003 whereby banks were allowed to set-apart 3% of the income from consumer banking for creation of a reserve out of which bad debts under consumer loans could be set-off. Section 29A has now been amended to allow the facility of creating similar reserve for bad debts on account of consumer loans to non-banking finance companies and House Building Finance Corporation like the one allowed to banking companies. Computation of profit or loss on construction contracts.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 2 of 1975, dated January 22, 1975, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Act, 1922:–

"In its Circular No. 17-D of 1946, the Central Board of Revenue (India) had issued certain instructions regarding assessments of contractors deriving income from contracts which took more than one year to complete. Briefly stated the instructions were that where a contractor maintained regular accounts and the final profit or loss on the completion of the contract was acceptable to the Assessing Officer, subject to any adjustment for the inadmissible expenses, the total profit or loss of the completed contract should be spread over the period of the contract in proportion to the payments received by the contractor on account for each year. It had also been provided in the Circular that if the profits so allocated to any year were found to be higher than the assessed profit for that year, action should be taken under section 34 of the Income Tax Act for assessing the full profit and where in any year the assessed profit was lower than the allocable profit, the assessment should be revised by the Commissioner under section 33A of the Act, irrespective of limitation.

2. Because of changes in the Income Tax Law in Pakistan and other factors it has become necessary to modify the instructions of 1946. Board desires that henceforth in making assessment of contractors the following procedure should be followed for computing profits of a contract which takes more than one year to complete:–

(i) Profits may be computed from year to year during the currency of the contract in the normal manner on the basis of actual receipts and accounts for each year.

(ii) When the contract is completed, the total profit of the contract should be computed. The profits already assessed in the earlier years for that contract should be deducted from the total profits and only the balance profit should be assessed in those years of the contract for which assessments have yet to be made.

(iii) Where the contract on completion results in loss or less profit than what has already been assessed in respect of that contract the loss or profit may be allocated to the years of the contract. The assessments for the pending years may be made on the amount allocated to each of those years. As for the assessments already completed for earlier years these may be revised by the Commissioner of Income Tax under Section 33A of the Act.

3. The allocation of profit or loss is to be made on the basis of receipts for each year.

4. These instructions, which supersede the instructions of 1946, apply only to those contractors who keep regular accounts and where the total profit of a contract on completion is acceptable, subject to such adjustment for inadmissible expenses, as may be necessary."

8-67-20-07-09

(5) If a person's method of accounting has changed, the person shall make adjustments to items of income, deduction, or credit, or to any other items affected by the change so that no item is omitted and no item is taken into account more than once.

Assessment of developers of housing schemes.– Following is the text of RCIT, Central Region's Letter No. 8052 dated April 5, 1988:–

"A large number of parties are buying residential plots and selling them after constructing residential houses thereon. For income tax purposes, they show sale of plot to the purchaser and thereafter they show as if they constructed the house thereon on contract from the purchaser.

The modus operandi is that though the houses are sold when these have been finally completed, yet sale is executed in respect of land only. Simultaneously, they executed a back dated agreement with the purchaser for the construction of the house.

Scrutiny of number of files shows that the Department has been unwillingly accepting this arrangement and the developers are escaping with minimum tax liability. In this behalf the following steps should be taken:–

1. The moment a scheme is advertised in the press or television/radio, the Income Tax Officer should pay personal visit to the project and make a report to his IAC about the stage of the project. If the houses are partly completed, he should address letter to the developer asking him specifically to furnish particulars of the persons to whom these partly completed houses have been sold. This preclude them from making back dated transactions.

2. Where the project was completed in an earlier year, the arrangement can be broken by examination of the Transfer Deed of the plot. Since the house is sold after it has been completed, the date of agreement of the construction of house is ante-dated which is not possible. Nobody would enter into an agreement prior to the purchase of plot.

3. In this behalf, the statement of the purchaser may also be recorded and electricity and gas bills may also be examined.

4. The Capital Gain Tax Authorities have never accepted this arrangement. They always assess the unit as if it has been sold after completion. This would support the department's case that it is only a fictitious arrangement and the house has been sold after completion.

Necessary instructions may be passed on to the Income Tax Officers."

Material supplied to contractors, application of flat rate.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 11 of 1961, dated September 14, 1961:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that some companies undertake to supply to their contractors part of the material to be utilised in a work contract and while making payment to them, there is no element of profit on the value of material so supplied. It has, therefore, been represented that while applying the flat rate for the purpose of arriving at the gross profit of the contractor, the cost of material supplied by the company should not be included in the amount of receipts.

The Board has examined the question and has decided that the principle enunciated in the Board's Circular No. 1 of 1950 in the case of assessments of P.W.D. and M.E.S. Contractors should be followed in the case of contractors who are engaged by the companies of repute provided that there is documentary evidence to the effect that the material was supplied by the company and no profit was allowed to the Contractors on the material so supplied.

These instructions will apply only to the pending assessments."

33. Cash-basis accounting.– A person accounting for income chargeable to tax under the head "Income from Business" on a cash basis shall derive income when it is received and shall incur expenditure when it is paid.

34. Accrual-basis accounting.– (1) A person accounting for income chargeable to tax under the head "Income from Business" on an accrual basis shall derive income when it is due to the person and shall incur expenditure when it is payable by the person.

(2) Subject to this Ordinance, an amount shall be due to a person when the person becomes entitled to receive it even if the time for discharge of the entitlement is postponed or the amount is payable by instalments.

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 1 of 1950, dated January 10, 1950, referred to above:–

"Reference is invited to Board's Circular No. 4 of 1944 dated the 18th February, 1944, in which it was said that in fixing rates per unit for the work to be carried out by contractors, the M.E.S. and P.P.W.D. authorities allow them a percentage also on the value of materials supplied to them free-of-cost by Government as an element of profit and as such should be taken into consideration for assessment.

2. The position has been re-examined in consultation with P.P.W.D. and Director General of Supplies and Development, and it has been ascertained that in valuing payments to be made to contractors, they are not allowed any profit on the material supply by Government.

The Board, therefore, directs that in case where assessment of P.P.W.D. and M.E.S. contractors have to be made by application of flat rate to their total receipts, the cost to the extent of material supplied by Government should not be included in the amount of receipts. The Board's Circular No. 4 dated the February 18, 1944 is hereby cancelled. Assessments already completed will not however be revised."

Rejection of books of account.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 13-ITP/1951, dated May 28, 1951 explaining corresponding provisions of the repealed Act:–

"Books of accounts should not be rejected on flimsy or trifling grounds. So far as practicable and depending upon the merits of each case the Income Tax Officers should also not reject accounts merely because a few vouchers are missing provided the amounts covered by such missing vouchers do not represent a substantial sum in relation to the total expenditure under that particular head. The appropriate remedy in such cases should be to add back an appropriate sum to the profits otherwise shown by the accounts."

Rejection of book version on account of low yield.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 23 of 1957, dated November 29, 1957 which relates to cotton ginners, but is of interest in other cases as well:–

"The Board is of the view that it is wrong to apply one single formula uniformly to all cases. Where the accounts are reliable and complete, the book version of profits should ordinarily be accepted. In cases, where the accounts are unreliable or incomplete and the book-version of the yield is materially below the yield declared by other cases of like nature, the Income Tax Officer is justified in raising the book-profit by adding to it the estimated value of the shortfall in the yield.

The Board likes to emphasis again that in every case where the rejection of book-version of profit on account of short-fall in yield or for some other reasons appears

S. 37(4A)–Capital gains, cost in case of inheritance etc.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003, dated July 11, 2003:–

"Sub-Section (4A) to section 37 has been inserted to determine the cost of capital assets acquired under a gift, bequest or will; by succession, inheritance or devolution; on distribution of assets on dissolution of association of persons; or distribution of assets on liquidation of a company to be taken as fair market value of the asset on the date of its transfer or acquisition by the person."

Streamlining certain transactions.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 02 of 2021 dated July 01, 2021:-

Law provides special mechanism for treatment of transfer of assets under certain transactions. The non-recognition rules provide that no gain or loss shall arise on disposal of assets under certain special arrangements enumerated in sub-section (1) of section 79. However, these rules did not apply if the recipient was a non-resident person. This was giving rise to anomalous situations in certain circumstances therefore, non-recognition rules have been extended in cases of disposal of assets between spouses under an agreement to live apart, inheritance and gift from a relative in case of non-residents.

Sub-section (4A) of section 37 provides valuation of assets received under certain transact ions. However, this was manipulated to avoid tax therefore a proviso has been inserted whereby the commissioner has been empowered to undo such tax avoidance scheme. Gifts received from certain persons were made taxable in the hands of recipients. The provision has been broadened to exclude gifts received from relatives from this taxation in line with other provisions. Necessary changes have been made in clause (la) of sub-section (1) of section 39 of the Ordinance."

Exchange Traded funds.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 02 of 2021 dated July 01, 2021:-

"Exchange traded funds (ETF) are an emerging product in capital market. In order to streamline its taxation, the units of ETF have been included in the definition of security. Moreover, tax credit has also been allowed for investment in ETF at par with investment in shares and insurance premium. Necessary changes have been introduced in section 37 and 62 of the Ordinance."

S. 37–Capital gain on immovable properties.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 9 of 2019 dated July 30, 2019:-

"Prior to the Finance Act, 2019, capital gain on immovable property was separately taxed on the basis of holding period of property, The gain was taxed @ of 10% if the holding period is up to one year, 7.5% if the holding period was more than or equal to one year but less than two years and @ 5% if the holding period was equal to or more than two years but less than three years. The rate of tax was zero where the holding period was more than three years. The gain was calculated by deducting the cost of the asset from the consideration received by the person on disposal of the asset.

Through the Finance Act, 2019, the holding period for taxation of capital gain of open plots has been increased to eight years and for constructed properties it has been increased to four years. Where the holding period does not exceed one year, the total amount of gain will be taxed. The gain will be calculated by deducting the cost from the consideration received. If the holding period is more than one year but does not exceed eight years in the case of open plot or four years in the case of constructed property, 75% of the gain will be taxed. It is further clarified that form of immoveable property, whether open plot or constructed, will be determined at the time of sale of immoveable property.

S. 37-Capital Gains on Immovable Property.-Following is an extract from Circular No. 2 of 2012 dated July 27, 2012:-

"Prior to the 18th Constitutional Amendments effective from 19th April 2010 Entry 50 of the Federal Legislative List contained in Part-I of the Fourth Schedule to the Constitution of Islamic Republic of Pakistan empowered the Federal Legislature to levy taxes on the capital value of the assets, not including taxes on capital gains on immoveable property. The words "on capital gains" were omitted by the 18th Constitutional amendment. The effect of omission of these words is that the Federal Legislature cannot impose taxes on capital value of immoveable property but can levy tax on capital gains on disposal of immoveable property.

In view of the aforesaid modified constitutional position exemption to capital gains on the disposal of immoveable property held for a period upto two years was withdrawn by making amendments in section 37 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 through the Finance Act, 2012. Simultaneously, a new Division was added in the First Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 giving the following rates of tax to be paid on capital gains from disposal of immoveable property:-

S. No	Period	Rate of Tax
1.	Where holding period of Immovable property is up to one year.	10%
2.	Where holding period of Immovable property is more than one year but not more than two years.	5%

To overcome the administrative problems in respect of collection of CGT on disposal of immoveable property and to keep a track of the transactions of immoveable property adjustable advance withholding tax @ 0.5% of the consideration received on sale/transfer of immoveable property was levied on sellers/transferors of immoveable property under section 236C of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001.

It is clarified that the advance tax to be collected under section 236C has been introduced for the purposes of providing a mechanism for collection of capital gain tax on disposal of immoveable property. The actual quantum of capital gain and tax payable thereon is to be computed at the time of filing of return of income. Section 236C is not an independent provision and does not operate in isolation. Since Capital Gain Tax has been imposed only on disposal of properties held for a period up to two years therefore, advance tax is also to be collected from sellers who held the immoveable properties for a period upto two years."

S. 37(5)(e)–Omission.– Clause (e) before omission by Finance Ordinance, 2002, read as follows:–

"(e) any modaraba certificate or any instrument of redeemable capital listed on any stock exchange or shares of a public company."

S. 37(5)–Valuation of bonus shares for determination of capital gains.– Following is an extract from CBR's Letter C. No. 1(13)IT-1/72 dated May 18, 1972, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The correct method to value the bonus shares would be to spread the cost of the old shares over the old shares plus the bonus shares taken together."

The above interpretation has been upheld by the Supreme Court of Pakistan vide its order dated April 26, 1992 in the case of Ebrahim Brothers Ltd. vs. CIT, reported as 66 Tax 6 (S.C. Pak.). This has disapproved the different interpretation given by the Lahore High Court in cases reported as CIT vs. Umar Saigol, 28 Tax 159 and Miss Shirin Ayub Khan vs. CIT, 33 Tax 227.

S. 37(6).- Introduction of tax from Capital Gains of non-listed companies.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 2 of 2023 dated July 26, 2023:-

"Through Finance (Supplementary) Act 2023 new sub-sections (6) to (10) have been inserted in section 37 providing for deduction of tax on sale of shares transactions other than covered under section 37A. New provisions inserted require the acquirer of the capital asset [being shares of the company, other than shares of companies listed on registered stock exchange traded on said stock exchange and settled by the NCCPL], to deduct advance adjustable tax at the rate of 10% from gross amount of the sale consideration at fair market value of shares. The fair market value of shares shall be determined without deduction of liabilities as envisaged in sub-section (4) of section 101A of the Ordinance. The person acquiring the shares may seek certificate of exemption or reduced rate certificate from the Commissioner holding the jurisdiction where the person considers the transaction of sale of shares is either exempt or subject to reduced rate of tax under any of the provisions of the Ordinance. A person disposing of the shares is required within 30 days to furnish to the Commissioner holding jurisdiction over the case, information or documents in a statement as may be prescribed. However, Commissioner can call for the said information or documents within less than 30 days by a notice in writing if necessitated. Moreover, proviso has been inserted in section 37A ousting shares of listed companies not traded on registered stock exchange and not settled through NCCPL from ambit of section 37A. In such cases provisions of section 37 shall apply with respect to collection and payment of taxes. This is done to capture off market transactions of shares of listed companies which are not traded through registered stock and not settled by NCCPL. In this regard relevant amendment in Income Tax Rules, 2002 has been made through SRO 776(I))/2023 dated 27th June, 2023.

The Finance Act, 2023 made further two amendments on account of capital gains on securities covered under section 37A of the Ordinance namely:-

i. Through the Finance (Supplementary) Act, 2023, capital gain arising on disposal of shares of a listed company which is made otherwise than through registered stock exchange and which are not settled through NCCPL, is taxed under section 37 of the Ordinance instead of section 37A of the Ordinance. The said amendment had resulted in unwarranted tax implications on public offerings of listed securities. Through an amendment made by the Finance Act 2023, disposal of shares through initial public offer during the listing process will remain subject to tax under section 37A of the Ordinance provided the detail of such disposal is furnished to NCCPL for the computation of Capital Gains and tax thereon has been collected and paid.

ii. Capital gains arising on disposal of securities that were acquired before July 1, 2013 were subject to tax at the rate of 12.5%. Through Finance Act 2023, capital gains arising on disposal of such securities will be subject to tax at 0%. Through the Finance Act 2022 the rate of 12.5% tax was applicable on capital gains arising on disposal where the securities were acquired on or before the 30th day of June, 2022 irrespective of holding period of such securities. Now the rate of 12.5% tax shall apply on capital gain arising on disposal where the securities are acquired on or after the first day of July, 2013 till the 30th day of June, 2022.

iii. Moreover, reduced rate based on holding period shall continue to apply on securities acquired on or after July 1, 2022."

(7) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 68, the value of shares, for the purpose of sub-section (6), shall be the fair market value, as prescribed for sub-section (4) of section 101A, without reduction of liabilities.

(8) The Commissioner may, on application made by the person acquiring of the shares, and after making such inquiry as the Commissioner thinks fit, allow to make the payment, without deduction of tax or deduction of tax at a reduced rate.

(9) The provisions of sections 161, 162, entry No. 15 of the Table in section 182, clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 191 and section 205 shall mutatis mutandis apply to the tax deductible and payable under this section.

(10) The person disposing of the capital asset, being shares of a company, shall furnish to the Commissioner within thirty days of the transaction of disposal, the prescribed information or documents, in a statement as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Commissioner may, by notice in writing, require the said person, to furnish information, documents and statement within a period of less than thirty days as specified in the notice.]

S. 37.- Amendment in Taxation of Capital gains. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2024-25, dated July 29, 2024:-

"Prior to the Finance Act, 2024, a person acquiring shares of a company was required to deduct tax at the rate of ten percent of the fair market value of shares from the gross amount paid. Through the Finance Act, 2024, the person acquiring the shares is required to deduct tax from the gross amount paid or payable at the time of payment or at the time of registration of shares, whichever is earlier. Hence, 10% of the fair market value of shares will be deposited by the acquirer even if payment for shares has not been made, if the shares stand registered in the name of the acquirer of shares."

S. 37.- Tax rates on capital gains from immovable property. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2024-25, dated July 29, 2024:-

"As per sub-section (1A) of section 37, gain arising on disposal of immovable property situated in Pakistan, to a person in a tax year shall be chargeable to tax under the head capital gains at the rates specified in Division VIII of Part I of the First Schedule. Prior to the Finance Act, 2024, the gain was taxed on the basis of holding period with maximum rate of 15% where holding period was less than a year for open plots, constructed properties and flats. The rate decreased as the holding period increased so that the rate was 0% for plots where holding period was more than six years, 0% for constructed properties where holding period was more than four years and 0% for flats where holding period was more than two years. Through the Finance Act, 2024, the concept of holding period has been done away with for properties acquired on or after the 1st day of July, 2024. The gain arising on disposal of properties which are acquired on or after the 1st day of July, 2024 will be taxed at the rate of 15% for persons appearing on the ATL on the date of disposal of property and at the rate specified in Division I of Part I of the First Schedule for individuals and AOPs not appearing on the ATL on the date of disposal of property and at the rate specified in Division II of Part I of the First Schedule for companies not appearing on the ATL on the date of disposal of property. However, for individuals and AOPs the rate shall not be less than 15% in any case.

For the properties acquired on or before the 30th day of June, 2024, the law as it existed prior to the Finance Act; 2024 will continue to apply i.e., gain on disposal of such properties will be taxed on the basis of holding period at the same rates as existed prior to commencement of the Finance Act, 2024."

A new proviso has been inserted under clause (103) Part-I of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001whereby exemption from CGT available to a collective investment scheme registered with SECP/mutual fund has been restricted only to the investment by such schemes/funds which are debt or money market funds. Thus CGT is now chargeable on the unit holders of such schemes/funds at the time of redemption of a security by the unit holder and a collective investment scheme/mutual fund shall be responsible to deduct tax (at the prescribed CGT rates as given below) on redemption of securities. Such tax shall be adjustable against the overall CGT liability, and tax so deducted shall be payable to the relevant Commissioner Inland Revenue within seven days of its deduction.

S. 39(1)(a)–Dividend income.– This is taxable on presumptive basis u/s 5 as also mentioned in section 39(5). The specific mention of "dividend" in section 39(1) as includible in "income from other sources" is misleading.

Interest on capital borrowed for acquiring shares. Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 10 of 1967, dated August 1, 1967, explaining corresponding provisions of the repealed Act, 1922:–

"The Tribunal has held that in cases where shares were acquired with borrowed capital and it was proved to the satisfaction of the Income Tax Authorities that the capital borrowed could be co-related to the specific investment, the interest paid on borrowed capital becomes an admissible expense under the provisions of section 12(2) of the Income Tax Act. By payment of this interest the cost of the investment is in no way increased. Interest paid cannot, therefore, be treated as a capital expense. If the capital is borrowed for investments and the specific investments thus acquired generate income in the shape of dividends, a liability of interest is to be met out of dividends. There is, therefore, an immediate connection between the earnings of the dividends and the payments of the interest.

In such circumstances the Board is also of the view that the interest paid on capital is an admissible expense and should be allowed to the assessees irrespective of the fact whether dividends were received or not in any year."

Cl. (cc)-Additional Payment For Delayed Refunds.-Following is an extract from Circular No. 2 of 2012 dated July 27, 2012:-

"A new clause has been inserted in Section 39 by which additional payments received on delayed issuance of refunds under any tax law have been included in the definition of "Income from other Source".

S. 39(1)(f)–Rental from factory.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Income from the hire of machinery, plant or furniture belonging to an assessee and also of building belonging to him if the letting of the building is inseparable from the letting of the said machinery, plant or furniture is chargeable to tax under the head "Income from other sources" [Section 30(2)(d)]. However, depreciation in respect of such building, machinery, plant or furniture is not a deductible expense under Section 31. Under the repealed Act, depreciation on such assets was a deductible expense. As a matter of concession, a notification under Section 167 is being issued by virtue of which such plant and machinery will be eligible for depreciation allowance in respect of assessment for assessment year 1979-80."

The above referred Notification No. SRO 751(I)/79, dated August 23, 1979 issued u/s 167 added a new clause (c) to sub-section (1). This amendment was later incorporated in the Finance Ordinance, 1980 with the effect that the allowance is available also for the assessment years subsequent to 1979-80.

S. 39(1)(h)–Prize winning in quiz and prizes relating to promotion of sales.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003, dated July 11, 2003:–

"Section 39(1)(h) has been amended to include prize on winning a quiz or prize offered for promotion of sales to be chargeable to tax under the head "Income from Other Sources". Where the prize is not paid in cash amendment has been made in section 68, by adding sub-section (3) providing for the determination of fair market value of the prize by the Commissioner. As per amended section 156 the tax withheld @ 10% on the amount of prize on winning a quiz or prize offered for promotion of sales or fair market value thereof as the case may, would constitute the final discharge of tax liability."

S. 39(1)(m)–Omission.– Before omission by Finance Act, 2018, it read as follows:-

"(m) income arising to the shareholder of a company, from the issuance of bonus shares."

S. 39(2)–Pugree received by a tenant.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 15 of 1980, dated June 26, 1980, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"(a) Similarly, any 'pugree' or any amount received by a tenant from an owner or a subsequent tenant for vacating the possession of a property as reduced by the amount of 'pugree' paid by him for obtaining the possession, shall be deemed to be income of the tenant chargeable under Section 30 in the year of receipt and the nine subsequent years in equal parts.

(b) Where any tenant received any pugree from succeeding tenant or the owner for vacating possession of a property during the past ten years, the amount of such pugree as reduced by the amount of any pugree paid by him for obtaining possession of such premises shall be similarly spread over 10 years. However, only the amounts falling in assessment year 1980-81 and the subsequent years, out of said 10 years shall be chargeable to tax."

S. 39–Taxation of gift.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 9 of 2019 dated July 30, 2019:-

"Data analysis of Income Tax Returns filed in previous years show that huge amount of non recurring receipts from un-related persons are transferred in the garb of gifts to avoid incidence of taxation. In order to discourage this practice of undisclosed receipts, section 39 has been amended through the Finance Act, 2019 to include any amount or fair market value of any property received without consideration or received as a gift in income under the head, "Income from other sources". However, gift received from grandparents, parents, spouse, brother, sister, son or a daughter shall not be included in such income. The new provision is subject to sub-section (3) of section 39 which states that an amount received by a person otherwise than by a cross cheque drawn on a bank or through a banking channel from a person holding a National Tax Number shall be treated as income chargeable to tax under the head "Income from other sources"' This means that gift received by a person is chargeable to tax if gift is not received from grandparents, parents, spouse, brother, sister, son or a daughter of the recipient. However, even if cash gift is received from the relations mentioned above but the same has not been received through cross cheque or banking channel, as the case may be, the amount of gift will still be added in income chargeable to tax under the head, "Income from other sources"."

S. 39(3)–Treatment of certain loans, advances and gifts as deemed income.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 11 of 1998 dated July 25, 1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Under sub-section (18) of section 12, any loan of Rs. 100,000 or more was deemed to be the income of recipient, if it was received otherwise than through a crossed cheque. This provision has been amended and now all loans, advances and gifts shall be deemed to be the income of an assessee if these are not transacted through a crossed cheque or a banking channel from a person holding a NTN.

This change in law, shall be applicable in respect of loans/advances and gifts which are made on or after 1st July, 1998."

Following is an extract from Circular No. 6 of 1987 dated July 5, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A new Sub-section (18) has been introduced in Section 12 which provides for treatment of certain loans as deemed income for tax purposes. It stipulates that in case an assessee claims, or shows, any amount as having been received by him as loan(s) during any income year commencing on or after the 1st July, 1987, from any person (other than a banking company, or a financial institution notified by the Central Board of Revenue for this purpose), the amount of such loan(s) shall be deemed to be income of the assessee for the said income year, if:–

(i) the total amount of loan or loans received in the income year exceeds Rs. 50,000; and

(ii) the said amount is not received through crossed bank cheque(s).

It may, however, be clarified that these provisions would apply only in respect of loans which are shown, or claimed, to have been received during any income year commencing on or after the 1st July, 1987.

The proviso to the said sub-section implies that if the assessee claims, or shows, the said loan(s) for explaining any asset, investment, expenditure etc. relating to an income year the assessment in respect of which stands completed, the deemed income under Sub-Section (18) of Section 12 shall be treated as income of the income year which relates to the assessment year in which such assets, investment, expenditure etc. was discovered."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 6 of 1990 dated July 15, 1990:–

"This sub-section which was initially inserted by the Finance Act, 1987 where the limit was Rs.50,000 was held in abeyance by virtue of clause (7) of Part IV of the Second Schedule to the Ordinance. The said clause (7) has also been amended so as to make the provisions of section 12(18) operative for cash loans received on or after July 1, 1990."

Relief to genuine transactions.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 3 of 1992 dated January 27, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the I. T. Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that genuine loans shown to have been received from identifiable persons through the banking channels are being deemed to be the income of the assessees under sub-section (18) of section 12 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, merely on the ground that the amount of such loans has not been received through crossed bank cheques.

2. The matter has been considered in the Board. Since the basic purpose of the aforesaid provision of law is to be check fictitious loans and to preclude back-dated introduction of creditors in the books of accounts, assessing officers should not invoke the provisions of section 12(18) in respect of genuine loans received by way of crossed cheques, pay orders, demand drafts or telegraphic transfers etc. through the banking channels.

3. In any case, where the nature and source of the amount of money is not satisfactorily explained, addition to the income of the assessee can still be made under section 13, notwithstanding the claim that any loan was received through crossed bank cheque, pay order, demand draft, telegraphic transfer or any other instrument."

Following is the text of Circular No. 11 of 1992 dated May 4, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been represented that genuine loans shown to have been received from identifiable persons through bearer cheques encashed by the borrowers from the banks on which these are drawn should not be deemed to be the income of the assessees under sub-section (18) of section 12 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

2. In view of the fact that encashment of the aforesaid bearer cheques clearly establish the date of the credit and the name of the borrower and genuineness of the loans can be verified, it has been decided that the provisions of section 12(18) shall not be invoked in respect of such loans received by way of bearer cheques for the current assessments which are pending for want of clarification on this issue.

3. This issues in continuation of Board's Circular No. 3 of 1992 dated the 27th January, 1992."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 12 of 1992, dated May 19, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been represented that cash deposits in the account books maintained in the names of directors of the company or partners of the firm, which are otherwise genuine and verifiable, should not be treated as deemed income of the assessee under sub-section (18) of section 12 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979. Similarly, cash transactions/cash flow between sister companies and firms having common directors and partners should not fall within the ambit of section 12(18) of the Ordinance because these amounts are for self-utilisation of funds already available in the possession of sister concerns.

2. The matter has been considered in the Board and it has been decided that although such amounts attract the provisions of section 12(18) yet in view of the general lack of awareness of this provision on the part of the tax payers, the provisions of section 12(18) shall not be invoked for the assessment year 1991-92 in respect of cash deposits and transactions referred to in paragraph 1 above.

3. It is also clarified that where any sum of loan is deemed to be the income of an assessee u/s 12(18), it is only the peak credit of the lender which is to be taken as deemed income of the assessee and not the aggregate of all sums of loan received during the relevant income year.

4. This issues in continuation of Board's Circular No. 11 of 1992, dated the 4th May, 1992."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 1 of 1993 dated January 11, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Circular No. 11 and 12 of 1992 (Income Tax) dated 4 May and 19 May, 1992 exempted from the provisions of section 12(18) for the assessment year 1991-92 the loans through bearer cheques, cash deposits by directors and partners in the books of the company and the firm respectively, and cash transactions between sister companies and firms.

2. It has been pointed out to the Board that persons having calendar year as their income year would not be able to benefit from this concession in respect of such loans in their books which were repaid prior to 30 June, 1991 as those would fall in their case in assessment year 1992-93.

3. The matter has been considered in the Board. It is clarified that the contents of Circulars 11 and 12 of 1992 shall be applicable in respect of transactions referred to in these circulars (No. 11 and 12) undertaken during the financial year ending on 30th June, 1991 irrespective of the assessment year of the tax payer."

Transactions with Finance Society.– Following is an extract from CBR's Letter No. 4(93)TP-1/90, Pt., dated February 12, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to say that 'finance society' is defined in Section 2(21A) to include a cooperative society which accepts money on deposit or otherwise for the purposes of advancing loans or making investments in the ordinary course of business. It is different from a banking company or a notified financial institution referred to in sub-section (18) of Section 12. Cash loans claimed to have been received from finance societies will therefore be hit by the provisions of Section 12(18). However, treatment of genuine loans will be in accordance with CBR's Circular No. 3 of 1992 dated 27th January, 1992."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 4(13)TP-I/92 dated September 13, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the knowledge of the Central Board of Revenue that the Income Tax Authorities have invoked the provisions of sub-section (18) of section 12 of the Income Tax Ordinance 1979, in case of loans from Finance Companies & Co-operative Societies, treating them as transactions through non-banking channels.

2. It has been contended that the Co-operative Societies/Finance Companies are identifiable persons maintaining regular record of all transactions, hence the loans received from them be considered as genuine and no action should be taken under section 12(18) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

3. The matter has been considered in the Board and it is clarified that provisions of section 12(18) of Income Tax Ordinance may not be invoked in case the Co-operative Societies/Finance Companies which are clearly identifiable, have regular accounts and the loans from them is received through normal banking channels."

S. 39(4A)–Accumulated profits on maturity of National Saving Certificates– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003, dated July 11, 2003:–

No clubbing of agricultural income for rate purposes.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter No. F.4(48)ITP/2002, dated September 20, 2002:–

"The undersigned is directed to refer to your letter dated nil on the above subject and to clarify that agricultural income of a person who has no other source of income except agriculture is exempt from Federal Taxation. The First Schedule of Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 is operative w.e.f. July 1, 2002, thereby separate tax rates have been provided for individual taxpayers who have income from business as well as agriculture, which is liable to tax under the laws of any province of Pakistan and such income exceeds Rs. 80,000/-. The objective was that such a taxpayer should not be entitled to double exemption of basic threshold i.e. Rs. 80,000 under provincial tax laws as well as federal income tax law. The provision[*] of clause (1) of Part I of Second Schedule of the repealed Ordinance are no more applicable w.e.f. July 1, 2002. Thus, agricultural income is not includible for rate purposes under any provision of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001."

Dairy Farms etc.– Income from dairy-farms, stud-farms, cattle-farms etc., is not agricultural income as explained in Circular No. 6 of 1958, dated April 28, 1958 an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"Income from all dairy-farms, cattle-farms, stud-farms and poultry farms which are run on commercial lines should be assessed to tax. No distinction should be made between the farms where animals and birds are stall-fed and farms where the animals and birds are fed on agricultural produce, raised or received by the person who carries on business of animal husbandry or dairy-farming."

Income from forests.– Taxability or otherwise of forests of spontaneous growth was controversially considered in CBR's Circulars No. 9-ITP of 1950 and 6 of 1958. However, finally, through Circular No. 2 of 1966, dated May 6, 1966, instructions were issued that income from all those forests should be taxed which "do not involve the application of human labour and skill in the shape of ploughing the soil, manuring it and planting the trees etc." as "they have a spontaneous growth even if weeding and care etc. of trees have been performed which do not constitute agricultural process."

Income which is partially agricultural.– Please see Rule 12 of the Income Tax Rules, 2002.

"Section 49 of the Ordinance, exempt income of Federal Government, Provincial Government and Local Authority from income tax. The term "Local Authority" was not defined in the Ordinance, due to which some organizations like National Highway Authority, Port Qasim Authority etc. tried to stretch the definition given in the General Clauses Act to avail exemption. The intention of the legislature was to provide exemption to a Municipal Committee, District and Tehsil Government etc. alongwith Federal Government, Provincial Government.

5.1 In order to bring clarity and avoid misinterpretation of the provision, the relevant provisions of the Ordinance have been amended, substituting the term "Local Authority" by the term "Local Government" so that, exemption is applicable as intended by the legislature. S. 54.–Withdrawal of Exemptions Available Under Other Statutes.– Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 5 of 2008 dated July 05, 2008:–

"Exemption from tax available through other statutes of the Government was withdrawn by virtue of overriding provision of section 54 of the Ordinance. Such exemptions included pension of a former President of Pakistan and his widow under President's Pension Act 1954, State Bank of Pakistan Act 1956, State Bank of Pakistan Banking Services Ordinance, 2001, RDFC, Pakistan Broadcasting Corporation, Small Business Finance Corporation, Federal Bank for Cooperative, ADBP, Pakistan Telecommunication Authority, National Telecommunication Corporation, Pakistan Telecommunication Employees Trust, PTCL, International Financial Corporation (IFC), etc. However, a proviso to section 54 was inserted through Finance Act 2003 to protect such exemptions provided under other statutes and not incorporated in Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001. The said protection apart from discriminatory had a revenue cost impacting tax to GDP ratio. The FBR has been reviewing exemptions under the Ordinance and 35 exemptions have been withdrawn through Finance Act, 2008. It was also not possible to know exact number of exemptions allowed under other statutes and review their retention.

6.2 The proviso to section 54 has, therefore, been omitted to do away with all such exemptions so as to improve tax to GDP ratio, improve taxation and enforce the overriding provisions of section 54. However, exemption to the pension of a former President of Pakistan and his widow under President's Pension Act 1974, State Bank of Pakistan Act, 1956 and State Bank of Pakistan Banking Services Ordinance, 2001 have been specifically provided vide sub-clauses (xix) and (xx) of clause (66) of Part I of the Second Schedule to the Ordinance, respectively."

"Provided that any exemption from income tax [1][or a reduction in the rate of tax or a reduction in tax liability of any person or an exemption from the operation of any provision of this Ordinance] provided in any other law and in force on the commencement of this Ordinance shall continue to be available unless withdrawn."

Earlier, only income exempt from income tax under other statutes and prior to enforcement of Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 were protected by inserting proviso to section 54. The overriding provision of section 3 shall, however, continue to be applicable with effect from enforcement of Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 on July 1, 2002."

Following is an extract from Notes on Clauses to Finance Bill, 2004, explaining the amendment:–

"Seeks to protect the provisions contained in other statutes regarding reduction in the rate of tax, a reduction in tax liability of any person or exemption from the operation of any provision of Income Tax Ordinance."

S. 55–Limitation of exemption, omission of sub-section (2).– Sub-section (2) before omission by Finance Act, 2003, read as follows:–

"(2) Where a person's income from business is exempt from tax under this Ordinance as a result of a tax concession, any loss sustained in the period of the exemption shall not be set off against the person's income chargeable to tax after the exemption expires."

Carry forward of losses in exempt period.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003, dated July 11, 2003:–

"Sub-section (2) of section 55 of the Income Tax Ordinance 2001 has been omitted. The business loss sustained during the exempt period has, therefore, been made adjustable against income of the post-exemption period of industrial undertakings. The limitation period for carry forward of loss as contained in section 57 would continue to be applicable."

Treatment of Dividend.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In the hands of the share-holders, the dividend income is assessed without reference to the income of the company from which dividends are distributed. Whatever the head of income under which the income of the company is assessed, the dividends distributed out of such income are assessed as dividend. Under the scheme of the repealed Act as well as the new Ordinance, dividends are treated as a separate source and type of income. However, in a judicial decision, it was held that if an income is exempt in the hands of a company, the dividends distributed out of such income shall also be exempt although it has not always been the intention of the law makers to grant exemption to the income of a company and not apply to the dividends distributed out of such exempted income. Despite these stipulations considerable litigation has gone on in the courts over this issue. The provisions of Section 151 conclusively settle the controversy by stipulating that where an exemption has been granted to an income, the exemption shall be confined to the original recipient of income and shall not extend to any other person receiving any payment out of such income."

A new section 56A has been added in the Income Tax Ordinance 2001, which provides set off of business loss arising to companies registered in Pakistan and operating hotels in AJ&K against business income arising in Pakistan."

S. 56 to 59–Set-off and carry forward of losses.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979:–

"The provisions relating to the set-off and carry forward of losses are more or less identical to those of the repealed Act. It should, however, be noted that no loss which has not been determined in pursuance of an order under Section 59, [*]62, 63 or 65 can be carried forward and set-off against future income and that the set-off of losses is not permissible against 'deemed' income in respect of loans and advances and bonus shares, etc., referred to in Section 12(7) and (9) respectively, such income being treated as the income of the assessee for certain purposes only e.g., discouraging tax evasion through diversion of income and facilitating recovery of tax.

Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill 2007':-

"Seeks to provide for set off of losses of companies operating hotels in Pakistan and AJ & K against their business income in Pakistan or AJ&K and vice versa."

As a result of the introduction of a liberal self-assessment scheme and substantial reduction in the number of pending assessments, it should be possible for the Income Tax Officers to finalise 'loss' cases within the assessment year itself, so that there would be no difficulty in the matter of the carry forward and set off of losses.

For the purpose of the payment of tax alongwith the return under Section 54, an assessee may adjust losses of earlier years, but while doing so, he will no doubt, in his own interest, keep in mind the provisions of Section 88.

It should be noted that there is no limit on the carry-forward of unabsorbed depreciation, which would be allowed to be carried forward indefinitely as before."

The holding company shall also submit a progress report to the said institution to satisfy that the steps have been taken as laid down in the approved plan for the revival of the subsidiary unit.

(g) The facility will be available irrespective of the date of acquisition of the subsidiary company as long as subsidiary company is owned by the holding company during the income years for which the set-off is claimed."

DEDUCTIBLE ALLOWANCES

60. Zakat.– (1) A person shall be entitled to a deductible allowance for the amount of any Zakat paid by the person in a tax year under the Zakat and Ushr Ordinance, 1980 (XVIII of 1980).

(2) Sub-section (1) does not apply to any Zakat taken into account under sub-section (2) of section 40.

(3) Any allowance or part of an allowance under this section for a tax year that is not able to be deducted under section 9 for the year shall not be refunded, carried forward to a subsequent tax year, or carried back to a preceding tax year.

S. 60A–WWF under Presumptive Tax Regime (PTR) Cases.– Following is the text of FBR's Circular No. 13 of 2008 dated October 23, 2008:–

"Vide clause 12 of the Finance Act, 2006, the definition of "total income" under the WWF Ordinance, 1971, was substituted and the persons, who were required to file the statement, the profit (before taxation or provision for taxation) as per accounts or 4% of the receipts as per the statement filed under section 115 of the Ordinance, whichever is higher, were made liable to WWF. However, corresponding changes in section 4 of WWF Ordinance, 1971, were not made. In view of this lacuna in law, the chargeability of the WWF in PTR cases, where only statements under section 115 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 were filed, was agitated by these taxpayers.

2. The FBR has taken up the matter with the Labour and Manpower Division (WWF Wing) and has pointed out the deficiency. The aforesaid Division has accordingly agreed that the status quo be maintained in PTR cases and demand of WWF for the tax years 2007 and 2008 may not be created, as it will not be maintainable by the appellate authorities.

3. The said lacuna, however, has been removed vide the Finance Act, 2008. In the wake of this amendment levy of WWF may be pressed, wherever exigible in Tax Year 2009."

WWF, allowability on basis of method of accounting.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2004, dated January 3, 2004:–

"Queries have been received in the Board as to whether the Worker Welfare Fund (WWF) would be an admissible allowance when it becomes payable or at the time when it is actually paid since section 60A of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 uses the word "payment" for allowing of Worker Welfare Fund (WWF) as a deductible allowance.

2. The issue has been examined. Under section 32, of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, a person's income chargeable to tax shall be computed in accordance with the method of accounting regularly employed by such person whereas it is mandatory for a company to account for income chargeable to tax under the head "income from business", on accrual basis, other persons may follow cash or accrual basis of accounting. It is, therefore, clarified that the allowability of Worker Welfare Fund as a deductible allowance would depend on the method of accounting being employed by the taxpayers in accordance with the provisions of income tax law."

(4) The Commissioner may approve an application under sub-section (2) or (3) only if the person has shown a compelling need to use a special year or to change the person's tax year and any approval shall be subject to such conditions as the Commissioner may prescribe.

(5) The Commissioner may, by notice in writing to a person, withdraw the permission to use a special year granted under sub-section (2) or (3).

[1][/(2A) The Central Board of Revenue,–

[1]Sub-section (2A) inserted by Finance Act, 2004, w.e.f. July 1, 2004.

(8) In this Ordinance, a reference to a particular financial year shall include a special year or a transitional year of a person commencing during the financial year.

(9) A person dissatisfied with a decision of the Commissioner under sub-section (2), (3) or (5) may challenge the decision only under the appeal procedure in Part III of Chapter X."

S. 74(2)–Specification of normal year for cases in 'special year' class.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 17 of 2004, dated July 17, 2004:–

"Sub-section (2) of section 74 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 has protected the "special tax year" in case of a class of persons which were assigned by the CBR under the repealed Ordinance. Sub-section (3) and sub-section (4) of the said section empowers the Commissioner to assign a "special tax year" or a "normal tax year" on case to case basis on application, in writing, by the taxpayer. In order to resolve the problem of a class of persons, section 74 has been amended to empower the CBR to assign "normal tax year" or "special tax year" and vice versa in respect of a class of persons."

Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill, 2004' explaining the amendment:–

"Seeks to authorize the Central Board of Revenue to change special tax year into normal tax year by a notification in official Gazette in the case of a class of person and vice-versa."

Income year, discontinuation of calendar year.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1995 dated July 19, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Taxpayers deriving income from business or profession had the option to declare income earned in a financial year, special year or a calendar year. In order to bring uniformity in tax matters and facilitate information matching through computers, section 2(26)(b) has been omitted to fix financial year as the accounting period for all taxpayers except where special income year has been prescribed by C.B.R. The special years prescribed for different classes of assessees will, however, continue as in the past." [Ref: 95 ITC 4, p 3.]

(5) The Commissioner shall grant permission under sub-section (3) or (4) only if the person has shown a compelling need to use special tax year or normal tax year, as the case may be, and the permission shall be subject to such conditions, if any, as the Commissioner may impose.

(6) An order under sub-section (3) or (4) shall be made after providing to the applicant an opportunity of being heard and where his application is rejected the Commissioner shall record in the order the reasons for rejection.

(7) The Commissioner may, after providing to the person concerned an opportunity of being heard, by an order, withdraw the permission granted under sub-section (3) or (4).

(8) An order under sub-section (3) or (4) shall take effect from such date, being the first day of the special tax year or the normal tax year, as the case may be, as may be specified in the order.

(9) Where the tax year of a person changes as a result of an order under sub-section (3) or sub-section (4), the period between the end of the last tax year prior to change and the date on which the changed tax year commences shall be treated as a separate tax year, to be known as the "transitional tax year".

(10) In this Ordinance, a reference to a particular financial year shall, unless the context otherwise requires, include a special tax year or a transitional tax year commencing during the financial year.

(11) A person dissatisfied with an order under sub-section (3), (4) or (7) may file a review application to the Central Board of Revenue, and the decision by the Central Board of Revenue on such application shall be final.]

Comments. The reason given by the CBR, for this drastic action, that uniformity in accounting periods would facilitate information matching through computers, appeared to be less thoughtful as the accounting years in case of a majority of the substantial businesses i.e. textiles, sugar, cotton ginning, rice, jute, oil, insurance and several multinationals etc., would remain different.

The change affected not only a large number of assessees but also in case of the hundreds of thousands of shareholders of quoted companies who recently held annual general meetings (mostly in June, 1995), one of the points being the position of payment of dividend.

Special tax years.– In respect of certain classes of assessees, the CBR has, u/s 2(26)(c) of the repealed Ordinance, 1979 and 2(11) of the repealed Act, 1922, specified the following 'special tax years', as modified by notifications issued u/s 74(2A) of the I.T.Ord., 2001:–

Classes of Assessees	Special tax year	SRO No. and date.
Companies manufacturing jute goods	1st July to 30th June	133(R)/68, July 31, 1968
Companies manufacturing sugar*	1st October to 30th September	*134(R)/68, July 31, 1968
All persons exporting rice	1st January to 31st December	367(I)/74, January 14, 1974
All persons carrying on business of rice husking†	1st September to 31st August.	1153(I)/79, Dec. 10, 1979
All persons carrying on business of oil milling	1st September to 31st August.	89(I)/80, January 21, 1980
All persons carrying on business of manufacturing and dealings in shawls	1st April to 31st March	505(I)/80, May 13, 1980
All insurance companies	1st January to 31st December	878(I)/95 August 30, 1995

Multiple sources of income, special years.– This has been clarified in Circular No. 7 of 1980, dated March 30, 1980 an extract wherefrom, explaining corresponding provisions of the repealed Ordinance, is as follows:–

"The assessees who have more than one source of income and the Board has fixed different special income years for these sources will close their accounts on the dates as mentioned above but will make up their returns of income on the basis of income year ending on a later date. For example, an assessee engaged in cotton ginning and manufacture of cotton textile will close account books on 31st August for cotton ginning and on 30th September for cotton textile and make up a combined return for the year ending 30th September each year."

ASSETS

75. Disposal and acquisition of assets.– (1) A person who holds an asset shall be treated as having made a disposal of the asset at the time the person parts with the ownership of the asset, including when the asset is–

(a) sold, exchanged, transferred or distributed; or

(b) cancelled, redeemed, relinquished, destroyed, lost, expired or surrendered.

(2) The transmission of an asset by succession or under a will shall be treated as a disposal of the asset by the deceased at the time asset is transmitted.

(3) The application of a business asset to personal use shall be treated as a disposal of the asset by the owner of the asset at the time the asset is so applied.

Allowing special years.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 10 of 1979, dated October 1, 1979, explaining corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Representations have been received that restriction of closing of accounts to only two dates causes inconvenience to such trades which are seasonal in nature and to industries whose major raw material is agricultural produce. Although it is not advisable to revert to the provisions of the repealed Act, yet the Board would sympathetically consider representations by any trade or industry for fixing of special previous year convenient to such trade or industry."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. C. No. 1(35)ITI/95.Pt. dated September 27, 1995, explaining corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to the subject noted above and to say that the following general criteria may be applied in this behalf:–

(i) In the cases of domestic companies and subsidiary companies incorporated in Pakistan, calendar year may not be allowed as a special year merely for the reason that books of accounts are closed on calendar year basis;

(ii) Cases of branches of foreign companies, if they are purely temporary (upto five years only) and they do not fall in presumptive tax regime, may be recommended alongwith the requisite information for obtaining Board's approval.

2. Letters of regrets may be sent to applicants falling in the category listed in para (i) above." [Ref: 95 ITL 35 p. 21]

Specification before first day of assessment year.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 13 of 1961, dated October 12, 1961, explaining corresponding provisions of the repealed Act, 1922:–

"The Supreme Court was, thus, of the view that the Board could not use the power given in Section 2(11)(b) of the Income-tax Act, after the 1st day of the assessment year in respect of which it was prescribing the previous year. The ruling specifically prohibits the retrospective utilisation of the power given in Section 2(11)(b) of the Income-tax Act. It does not debar the Board or the Commissioner of Income-tax to declare a period of more than 12 months as previous year for any assessment year, but it fixes the point of time when such orders can be passed in order to be operative."

"personal asset" means an asset held wholly for personal use.

S. 76(5)-Adjustment in cost of assets acquired through foreign currency loan.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Sub-Section (5) of section 76 of the Ordinance provide for determination of cost of assets purchased through Foreign Currency Loan. It has been noticed that the tax payers take undue benefit of the devaluation of Pakistani currency and claim initial as well as normal depreciation by upward revising the Written Down Value (WDV) which also leads to litigation in the matter. In order to rectify this ambiguous situation an Explanation has been added to the said sub section providing that for the purposes of depreciation, the difference if any on account of Foreign Currency fluctuation is now to be taken into account only in year of occurrence of such fluctuation and WDV adopted in previous year will not be altered."

Resident and Non-Resident Persons

81. Resident and non-resident persons.– (1) A person shall be a resident person for a tax year if the person is–

(a) a resident individual, resident company or resident association of persons for the year; or

(b) the Federal Government.

(2) A person shall be a non-resident person for a tax year if the person is not a resident person for that year.

82. Resident individual.– An individual shall be a resident individual for a tax year if the individual–

(a) is present in Pakistan for a period of, or periods amounting in aggregate to, one hundred and [1][eighty-three] days or more in the tax year; [2][or]

[1]Substituted for "eighty-two" by Finance Act, 2006 dated July 01, 2006.
[2]Word "or" inserted by Finance Act, 2022 dated June 30, 2022. Earlier it was omitted by Finance Act, 2019 dated June 30, 2019. Earlier it was inserted by Finance Act, 2005, dated June 29, 2005.
[3]Clause (ab) omitted by Finance Act, 2021 dated June 30, 2021. Earlier it was inserted by Finance Act, 2019 dated June 30, 2019.

S. 81(ab)–Omission.– Before omission it read as follows:–

"(ab) is present in Pakistan for a period of, or periods amounting in aggregate to, one hundred and twenty days or more in the tax year and, in the four years preceding the tax year, has been in Pakistan for a period of, or periods amounting in aggregate to, three hundred and sixty-five days or more; or"

S. 81–Residential status.– In Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979, explaining the relevant provision of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, it was claimed that:–

"There are now only two categories of assessees 'residents' and 'non-residents'. The third category of 'resident but not ordinarily resident' which enabled certain assessees to so arrange their stay in Pakistan that their entire foreign income escaped assessment. They, thus, derived the benefit normally available to a 'resident' as well as to a 'non-resident'."

Soon it was realised that the status 'resident but not ordinarily resident' was necessary, therefore through SRO 859(I)/79, dated September 24, 1979, an amendment u/s 14(2) [now 53(2)] was made whereby Clause (87) was added to the Second Schedule which restored the status "resident but not ordinarily resident". It was then admitted by the CBR in its Circular No. 10 of 1979, dated October 1, 1979 that:–

"The new provision relating to residential status abolishes the previous category of 'Resident but not Ordinarily Resident'. In order to save Pakistanis working abroad and foreigners staying in Pakistan for short periods from any hardship, a notification under Section 14(2) has been issued exempting the income of such persons as would have qualified as 'Residents but not Ordinarily Residents' under the repealed Act in respect of their foreign income except the income arising from the business controlled in Pakistan or a profession set up in Pakistan or unless it is brought into or received in Pakistan during such year. This notification restores the position available under the repealed Act in respect of the liability of the tax due to residential status."

Definition of resident individual.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 02 of 2021 dated July 01, 2021:-

"The provisions relating to the definition of resident individual have been modified. Now in order to become a resident, a person shall be required to be in Pakistan for a period in aggregate to 183 days or more in a tax year. The other conditions have been waived off by omitting clause (ab) of section 82 of the Ordinance."

S. 82(b)–Omission.– Before omission by Finance Act, 2003, clause (b) read as follows:–

"(b) is present in Pakistan for a period of, or periods amounting in aggregate to, ninety days or more in the tax year and who, in the four years preceding the tax year, has been in Pakistan for a period of, or periods amounting in aggregate to, three hundred and sixty-five days or more; or"

S. 82–Residential Status.– Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Act, 2006':–

"Seeks to improve the definition of resident individuals."

S. 82–Definition of resident individual.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 9 of 2019 dated July 30, 2019:-

"Prior to the Finance Act, 2019, an individual was treated as a "resident individual" for a tax year if the individual was present in Pakistan for a period, or for periods aggregating to 183 days or more in a tax year. Through the Finance Act, 2019, in addition to the existing definition, an individual shall also be treated as a resident individual if the individual is present in Pakistan for a period aggregating to 120 days or more in a tax year and who was also present in Pakistan for a period aggregating to 365 days or more in the four preceding tax years."

"The law provides a minimum period of 182 days to qualify as a resident. It has been opined that since a leap year consists of 366 days, an individual can be a resident of two countries at the same time which can create tax complications. For the removal of any distortion which may arise, the time period of 182 days has been changed to 183 days for the determination of residential status of an individual person."

Definition of resident individual.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003, dated July 11, 2003:–

"An individual was resident for a tax year if he was present in Pakistan for one hundred and eighty two days or more, in aggregate, in a tax year, or ninety days in a year and three hundred and sixty five days in aggregate in the four years preceding the tax year. For the purposes of determining the residential status of an individual, law has been simplified whereby the stay in Pakistan for one hundred and eighty days in aggregate only in the relevant tax year would be considered. Clause (b) of section 82 has therefore been omitted."

Residential status on basis of stay during the year.– The condition of stay for 90 days during the income year and 365 days during the preceding 4 years, has been done away with. Previously the criteria was 60 days as against 90 days. The change had been explained in Circular No. 7 of 1981, dated July 6, 1981, an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"Under the existing provision of law an individual becomes a resident in Pakistan if his stay in the country exceeds 60 days in the relevant income year and 365 days in the four preceding years and he thus becomes liable to tax on the basis of the world income. Keeping in view the fact that a large number of Pakistanis working abroad visit their families and normally stay for two to three months the condition of 60 days has been changed to 90 days."

(a) it is incorporated or formed by or under any law in force in Pakistan;

(b) the control and management of the affairs of the company is situated wholly [2][ ] in Pakistan at any time in the year; or

(c) it is a Provincial Government or [3][Local Government] in Pakistan.

84. Resident association of persons.– An association of persons shall be a resident association of persons for a tax year if the control and management of the affairs of the association is situated wholly or partly in Pakistan at any time in the year.

Joint venture with foreign companies.– Following is the text of Circular No. 4 of 1964, dated December 11, 1964, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Central Board of Revenue that Pakistani Companies entering into a 'Joint venture' arrangement with foreign companies are not quite clear about their liability to Pakistan Income-tax. The position is that in the case of a joint venture, each participant in such venture is liable to tax on its own share of profits and at the rates applicable to its total income. To avoid complications, when a Pakistani company desires to enter into a joint venture arrangement with a reputable and reliable foreign company, such arrangement may, if necessary, be got cleared before hand from the Central Board of Revenue."

Following is the text of Circular No. 8 of 1986 dated February 9, 1986, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"With the objective of attracting foreign capital and technical know-how and for the benefit of local investors willing to join hands with foreign companies, to undertake projects involving large investments, the Board vide its Circular No. 4 of 1964, allowed Pakistani and Foreign Companies undertaking 'joint ventures' to be taxed on the share income of 'Joint venture' separately.

2. References have been received as to whether the concession given in the above circular is applicable to 'joint ventures' between Pakistani Companies also.

3. It is clarified that Circular No. 4 of 1964 is applicable to only such 'joint ventures' which are between foreign companies and Pakistani Companies. Joint ventures between Pakistani companies, as these do not serve the purpose stated above, are not eligible for the concession.

4. Joint ventures may be between:–

1. Government and a local enterprise.
2. Government and a foreign enterprise.
3. Two or more foreign enterprises.
4. At least one foreign enterprise and one or more local enterprises.
5. Local enterprises.

Whereas joint ventures at serial 2 and 4 above will qualify for the benefit from this concession, others will not. In other words, one of partners in the 'Joint venture' should be a foreign enterprise.

5. Clarification issued vide CBR No. 3(7)IT-I/75, dated 3 June, 1975, being no longer applicable in view of the provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, stands rescinded."

Assessment as AOP if members assessed for their shares.– Following is the text of Circular No. 20(447)-IT-3/65, dated April 20, 1972, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The facts of the case are that M/s. Narayanganj Company Private limited, and two other persons entered into an agreement for a joint-venture. The joint venture remained in force for a period of 9 months. Out of the profits earned by the enterprise one half was retained by M/s. Narayanganj Company and the other half was shared in equal parts by the two other associates. All the three members of the association showed their respective shares of profits in their returns filed with Income Tax Department in their respective circles. The profit of the joint venture was taken into account in their respective assessments by the ITOs having jurisdiction over their cases. The income of the association as such was, however, not separately charged to tax.

After completion of the assessment, the ITO having jurisdiction over the company issued notice under Section 34 of the Income-tax Act, addressed jointly to the company and the said two associates, that he had reason to believe that their income assessable to income tax had escaped assessment and that he proposed to assess the said escaped income. The company objected to the notice on the ground that income of the AOP had already suffered tax in the hands of the members and therefore no income had escaped assessment. It did not file any return, instead it filed a writ in the High Court who granted it by agreeing with the assessee's plea. It was held that once members of an AOP had been individually charged to tax, it is not open to the Income tax Authorities to again assess the same income as income of the association. If, therefore, the income of the AOP were assessed separately it would amount to double taxation of the same income.

This judgment was contested by the Department before the Supreme Court. Now the Supreme Court has been pleased to hold that there is no doubt that the AOP was a separate entity. But it is the Income-tax Officers who are to blame for the escapement of the separate entity of the AOP from assessment. It was held that:

"As soon as they (the ITOs) came to know in each individual case that some income was derived by the assessee from a venture carried out jointly with others they should have excluded that income from the account year and issued notice to each associate under Section 34 directing them to file a return of income for the year ending 30th June, 1959, derived from the joint venture. Having failed to do so on account of their negligence they cannot be permitted to turn round and issue a fresh notice under Section 34 to the same assessees as members of an association in respect of the income which had already been charged to tax in their hands. It was also anomalous to maintain that an income which had already been taxed has 'escaped assessment' or has been taxed 'at too low a rate' etc. The position which emerges out therefore is that the income derived from the joint venture by the three associates having been charged to tax in their respective hands and no step taken for annulment of their assessment the same income could not be taxed again in their hands as income of a separate entity"."

Notice of demand to every partner.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 1 of 1958, dated February 24, 1958, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

When assessment is made after the dissolution of the firm or the association a notice of demand may be served on all persons who were partners of the discontinued firm and on all persons who were members of the dissolved association."

S. 100BA.- Special provisions relating to persons not appearing in active taxpayers' list. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2024-25, dated July 29, 2024:-

"Prior to the Finance Act, 2024, section 100BA provided for higher rates of withholding taxes as specified in the Tenth Schedule for persons not appearing in the active taxpayers' list. Through the Finance Act, 2024, section 100BA has been amended and scope of the Tenth Schedule has been broadened by including persons who although are appearing in the active taxpayers' list but have filed return after the due date specified in section 118 or by the due date as extended under section 119 or 214A. After this amendment in section 100BA and insertion of rule 1A in the Tenth Schedule, there are now two categories of higher rates: one for persons not appearing in the ATL at the time of transaction and the other for persons appearing in the ATL at the time of transaction but who have not filed return within the due date. Tax rates for persons appearing in ATL but have filed return after the due date have been explained in paragraph 38 of this Circular."

S. 100BA–Collection of tax, computation of income and tax payable of persons not appearing in the ATL.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 9 of 2019 dated July 30, 2019:-

"Prior to the Finance Act. 2019, a concept of non-filer existed in the Ordinance whereby higher tax rates of withholding were prescribed for persons who were non-filers. Such non-filers could claim adjustment of the higher tax collected at the time of filing of income tax returns. The aim was to compel the non-filers to file their returns of income. However, it was observed that the non-filers, even though subjected to higher withholding rates, still had a propensity not to file their returns. This proved detrimental to the exercise of expansion or tax base. This was due to the absence of an explicit provision specifying a standard procedure for action against such persons. Through the Finance Act, 2019, the concept of "Non-Filers" has been done away with and a new concept regarding persons not appearing in the active taxpayers' list has been introduced. This concept is a major paradigm shift from the erstwhile non-filer higher tax regime in that it not only penalizes those persons not appearing in the ATL but also introduces an effective mechanism for enforcing returns from such persons. In this regard, a new section 100BA has been introduced which provides that collection or deduction of advance income tax, computation of income and tax payable thereon shall be determined in accordance with the rules in the newly introduced "The Tenth Schedule" which envisages the entire path to be adopted by the Inland Revenue Department to enforce returns from persons who make financial transactions yet choose not to file their returns of income. The salient features of this scheme are as under:-

i. Persons whose names are not appearing in the ATL will be subjected to hundred percent increased rate of tax.

ii. Where a withholding agent is of the opinion that hundred percent increased tax is not required to be collected on the basis that the person was not required to file return, the withholding agent shall furnish a notice to the Commissioner having jurisdiction over withholding agent setting out-

   a. the name, CNIC or NTN and address of the person not appearing in the ATL;

   b. the nature and amount of the transaction on which tax is required to be collected or deducted; and

   c. reason on the basis of which it is considered that the person was not required to file return or statement, as the case may be.

iii. The Commissioner shall accept or reject the contention on the basis of existing law within thirty days. In case the Commissioner fails to respond within thirty days, permission shall be deemed to be granted not to deduct tax at hundred percent increased rate. Withholding agent shall however be responsible for any inaccurate furnishing of such information and penal action may be undertaken against diligent withholding agents.

iv. Where the person's tax has been deducted or collected at hundred percent increased rate and the person fails to file return of income for the year for which tax was deducted, the Commissioner shall make a Provisional Assessment within sixty days of the due date for filing of return by imputing income so that tax on imputed income is equal to the hundred percent increased tax deducted or collected from such person and the imputed income shall be treated as concealed income. However, the imputable income so calculated or concealed income so determined shall not absolve the person so assessed, from requirement of filing of wealth statement under sub-section (1) of section 116, the nature and source of amounts subject to deduction or collection of tax under section 111 selection of audit under section 177 or 214C or subsequent amendment of assessment as provided in rule 8 and all the provisions of the Ordinance shall apply.

v. The provisional assessment shall abate if the person files its return within forty five days of completion of provisional assessment. Where the return is not filed within forty five days of provisional assessment, it shall be treated as final assessment and the Commissioner shall initiate penalty proceedings for concealment of income."

Computerized National Identity Card (CNIC) and Filing of Income Tax Returns.– Following is the text of CBR Circular letter dated September 28, 2006:

"The Central Board of Revenue today clarified that mentioning of the new Computerized National Identity Card Number (CNIC) on all tax declarations as well as for making payment of tax is compulsory/mandatory and there has been no change in this regard.

The spokesperson emphasized that the reports appearing in a section of press that CBR has relaxed the mentioning of the CNIC Number on the tax declarations and tax payment deposit slip (challan) is not correct. The spokesperson further clarified mentioning of the CNIC on the tax declarations and filing of copy of CNIC with tax declarations are two different issues which have been mixed up in the press reports.

It was also clarified that filing copy of CNIC along with the tax declarations for the tax year 2006 was made obligatory to ensure the accuracy of the CNIC quoted in the relevant tax declarations and tax deposit slips.

Taxpayers, Bars and Chambers etc. approached CBR and highlighted the problems in filing copy of the CNIC with the tax declarations. In order to facilitate the taxpayers it has been decided that all returns without a copy of the CNIC will be accepted by all field offices and proper acknowledgment issued subject to mentioning of the CNIC Number on the tax declaration forms. Taxpayers are in their own interest advised to file the copy of the CNIC as early as possible, for proper identification of their declarations. To further facilitate the taxpayers the period of 3 days fixed earlier for filing of copy of CNIC has been extended to 15 days."

Proper filling-in of returns etc. Following is the text of CBR's Facilitation and Education Wing Circular Letter No. 11(1)-M(FATE), dated September 6, 2004:–

"The Central Board of Revenue appreciates your discharge of statutory and national obligation of filing the Return of Total Income, Employer' Certificate in lieu of return of total income or Statement of Final Taxation, for the Tax Year 2003.

Properly filled-in and supported with required documents return, certificate, or statement is the corner stone of the universal self assessment, one of the many benefits flowing from the introduction of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001.

The returns, certificates, or statements for the tax year 2003 (last year) were generally lacking in many respects (neither properly filled-in nor supported with required documents). Such returns though invalid were accepted in view of the first year of universal self assessment and the Government's resolve to create a tax culture where taxpayers understand their rights and obligations and make voluntary compliance.

Income Tax Forms for the Tax Year 2004 have been simplified and made taxpayer friendly with minimum possible information and documentation to facilitate the taxpayers and remove all those irritants that were hurdle in making voluntary compliance.

It is expected that you will continue to discharge your statutory and national obligation; make voluntary compliance by making your own faithful assessments under the universal self assessment or the simplified scheme of final tax for retailers and in -particular ensure completeness of the returns, certificates and statements in all respects.

Your continued support will help us to create a modern, progressive, effective, and credible tax administration enhancing the capability of the tax system for optimizing revenue by collecting due taxes through application of modern techniques, providing quality service and taxpayer assistance and promoting voluntary compliance with tax laws."

Income exempt from tax, filing and processing of returns.– Following is the text of Circular No. 21 of 1988 dated October 24, 1988, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"References have been received in the Board seeking clarification regarding the requirements of filing of returns, determination of taxability of income and income itself in case where exemption from income tax is available under the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

2. It is clarified that a person enjoying income exclusively from sources exempt from taxation under the Income Tax Ordinance are not obliged to file a return of income. For example, a person deriving income solely from agriculture, dividend income from listed companies, etc. is not required to file the return of income. Legally, if such a person files the return declaring exempt income, such return cannot be considered as a return of total income. Hence, no proceedings under the law can be initiated in respect of such return. The income tax authority, receiving such a return may inform the person furnishing the return that the said return, being invalid, has been filed. However, where such return declares an income which, ex-facie, cannot be reasonably attributed to the exempt source declared, it is obviously a case where taxable income (from business etc.) is being declared as exempt income. In such a case, it is the duty of the assessing authority to pass an order determining a reasonable proportion of the declared income to the exempt source and taxing the remaining portion u/s 13.

3. Further, Part-II of IT-11, requires declaration of exempt income. This provision has been specifically made in the form of return to ensure that an assessee having income both from non-exempt sources discloses the income from both such sources. In such cases, the income tax authority can determine whether or not the exemption claimed is in accordance with law and if so the income declared is reasonable considering the facts of the case. In case, the income declared from exempt source is unreasonably high the excess can be attributed to income from undisclosed sources taxable u/s 13.

4. The Income Tax Ordinance also provides for exemption of certain income contingent upon fulfillment of certain conditions. For example, claims of exemption under clauses (93) to (108) and (113) to (128) of Part I of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, are of the type where the issue is to be decided on yearly basis. In such cases, returns are to be called for u/s 56 if not filed voluntarily, and examined with reference to the conditions required to be fulfilled. An order must be passed in such cases.

Where the assessing authority is of the opinion that the income declared is in excess of what can be reasonably attributed to such exempt source, the excess should be taxed u/s 13 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979."

Seeking of information from new filers.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(1S)S.Asstt/97, dated June 24, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to Board's letter of even number dated 23-5-1997 on the above subject and to say that no official/officer of the department will contact the new assessees for collecting any sort of information as referred to in above mentioned letter.

2. Violation of these instruction will be seriously viewed and the defaulter will be proceeded against under Efficiency and Discipline Rules, 1973."

Requirements of return of income.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003 dated July 11, 2003:–

"An amendment in sub-section (2) of section 114 has been made to state that return is to be filed on prescribed form alongwith applicable prescribed statements/annexes and filling in all the relevant columns with declaration of maintenance of books of accounts. In case of complete returns only an assessment u/s 120 of the Income Tax Ordinance 2001 shall be taken to have been made. Where returns are not complete as provided in section 114(2), the taxpayers would be provided an opportunity through a notice by the Commissioner to remove the deficiencies specified in the notice. Non-compliance of the notice would render the return invalid, meaning thereby that a complete return shall be required to be filed. In case the requirements of the notice are met, the assessment in such return shall be taken to have been made on the date it was originally filed."

Notice for assessment years prior to 1979-80.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's Circular No. 178/JI/RC dated July 13, 1985, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to the above subject and to say that in a recent judgment of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal reported as (1984) 49 Tax 34 (Trib), it has been held that assessments made in consequence of proceedings initiated u/s 56 of the Ordinance prior to assessment year 1979-80 are ab-initio void. This judgment of a single bench of the Tribunal is being followed by other benches of the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal as well as by the appellate authorities in the Department.

The said judgment has not comprehensively settled the legal issues involved as its application is questionable at least in the following circumstances:–

(i) The validity of notice issued u/s 56 cannot be questioned after the return in response to such notice has been filed as envisaged u/s 154(6) of Income Tax Ordinance.

(ii) Once the return has been filed, section 166(2)(b) would be operative and the assessment of such persons can be made in accordance with the procedure specified under the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 (as has been held in the case reported as (1984) 50 Tax 55 (Trib).

In view of the above, you are requested to ensure that the appellate orders based on the said judgment of the Tribunal do not go un-challenged before the higher courts. The possibility of making a request to the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal to constitute a larger bench to consider this issue may also be examined and appropriate measures taken if necessary.

The letter may please be acknowledged."

S. 114C.-Restriction on Economic Transactions by Certain Persons.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2025-26 dated August 02, 2025:- [section 114C]

"Section 114C has been introduced through Finance Act, 2025. This provision introduces a concept of eligible and ineligible person based upon the financial capacity of a person to conduct an economic transaction in terms of cash or cash equivalent assets declared in the wealth statement filed for the latest tax year or an evidentiary source reflected in investment and expenditure statement filed as justification for availability of funding for conducting an economic transaction during the year.

To be qualified as an eligible person for carrying out specified economic transaction, sufficient resources must be available either in the wealth statement or in the financial statement for the tax year immediately preceding the year of transaction; or in a statement of source of investment and expenditure filed during the year of transaction showing sufficient resources.

Sufficient resources have been defined as one hundred and thirty percent of cash and cash equivalent assets comprising cash denominated in local or foreign currency, fair market value of gold, net realizable value of stocks, bonds, receivables; or any other cash equivalent asset as may be prescribed.

Moreover, an economic transaction involving exchange of already declared capital assets as consideration has been treated as part of cash and cash equivalent assets to the extent of the value mentioned in the transaction agreement.

In case of an individual, the term 'eligible person' includes his immediate family members i.e. parents, spouse and dependent children. Under this new regime, an ineligible person has been barred from:

a. purchase of motor vehicle with an invoice value exceeding seven million rupees,
b. acquisition or transfer of immoveable property having fair market value exceeding one hundred million rupees,
c. investment in securities, unit of mutual funds or similar investment having its cost of acquisition exceeding fifty million rupees subject to the condition that the investment up to fifty million rupees must be a new investment in any financial year excluding reinvestment out of liquidation or profit of already held investment.

It is highlighted that the sufficient resources declared in source of expenditure statement will not constitute as nature or sources of income for the purposes of section 111 of the Ordinance. Cash withdrawal from any of his bank account exceeding an amount one hundred million rupees is also prohibited under this section. The provision of this section will not apply on transactions made by a non-resident person or a public company except the transaction of withdrawal of cash. Moreover, the provisions of this section will come into force from such date as may be notified by the Federal Government through notification in the official Gazette."

(4) For the purposes of this section,-

(a) "eligible person" shall mean a person who has filed-

(i) a return of income for the tax year immediately preceding the year of transaction mentioned in sub-section (1) and has sufficient resources in the wealth statement in case of an individual, or financial statement in case of a company or an association of persons, as the case may be, for such transaction; or

(ii) sources of investment and expenditure statement declaring sufficient resources and furnishing explanation thereof for a particular purchase or investment transaction covered in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of sub-section (1):

Provided that in case of an individual, the eligible person shall include his immediate family members.;

Provided that where an asset mentioned in sub-section (1), other than clause (d) of this sub-section, has been purchased by way of exchange of capital assets already declared in the wealth statement, or financial statement, or sources of investment and expenditure statement, the disposal of such capital assets shall be treated to be part of cash equivalent assets to the extent of the value mentioned in the agreement.

S. 116(3)–Revision of wealth statement before assessment.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003 dated July 11, 2003:–

Similar provision was made in repealed Ordinance by insertion of sub-section (2) in section 58 by Finance Ordinance, 2001 but in the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, this had been ignored or overlooked.

S. 118(1)–Method of furnishing of return of total income.–Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 6 of 2013 dated July 19, 2013:-

"The following changes have been made in section 118 through Finance Act, 2013. The changes are:

(a) The concept of treatment of an 'employer's certificate or an Annual Statement of deduction of income tax from salary filed by the employer as a return on behalf of the taxpayer has been abolished to make it compulsory for the salaried individuals deriving salary income above rupees four hundred thousand to file return of income along with wealth statement and wealth reconciliation statement.

(b) Where salary income for the tax year is five hundred thousand rupees or more, the taxpayer is required to file return of income electronically in the prescribed form accompanied by the proof of deduction or payment of tax and wealth statement as required under section 116 along with wealth reconciliation statement.

(c) The date of electronic filing of returns by salaried persons, and a statement required under sub-section (4) of section 115 by persons falling in PTR is 31st day of August next following the end of the tax year to which the statement or return relates."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1995 dated July 9, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Section 55A envisages that return of income shall be furnished to an officer authorized by CBR for this purpose. This provision has been suitably amended to provide that the return is to be furnished to the:

i) officer holding jurisdiction over the case; or

ii) officer specified by the CIT for this purpose." *[ref: 95 ITC 4 p. 3]

Comments. Only one date has been fixed for filing of returns by all non-corporate taxpayers, special arrangements have to be made to receive the returns, making the job difficult. The amendment made would legally enable the CITs to specify officers, other than of the concerned circles, to receive returns and issue acknowledgment receipts.

"(i) Section 55A of the Ordinance has been substituted and now the said section prescribes the method of filing of return of total income. It provides that the return of total income shall be furnished by registered post with acknowledgement due, or delivered by hand, to such authorised officers....."

The provisions of the said original section 55A were explained in Circular No. 6 of 1987 dated July 5, 1987 an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"A new Section 55A has been introduced which makes it obligatory for the Income Tax Officer to issue an acknowledgement receipt, in the prescribed form, to every tax payer on receipt of return of his total income filed under Section 55. The tax payers are advised to obtain the acknowledgement receipt forms (in duplicate) from the Income Tax Offices, and after filling up the relevant columns of the acknowledgement receipt present it alongwith the returns of income. After checking the entries made therein, one copy of the acknowledgement receipt duly signed by the Income Tax Officer with stamp of his office affixed thereon will be returned to the tax payer and the office copy retained by the Income Tax Office."

S. 118(2)–Dates for filing return of total income.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1995 dated July 9, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The dates for filing of income tax returns were 31st July, 31st August, 30th September, and 31st December every year. The first two dates fell very early at the start of the year. It was felt that the time available for filing of returns will be very short in view of changes brought in the procedure of assessment, particularly the discontinuation of option to have calendar year as income year. The first two dates (i.e. 31 July and 31 August) have, therefore, been merged with the next date i.e. 30 September. Accordingly, the new dates of filing of return of income will be:

a) For companies with income year ending between 01 January to 30 June. = 31 December.

b) For other assessees. = 30 September.

The companies which have already closed their accounts on 31-12-1994 shall file returns for 12 months by 30-9-1995 subject to revision of returns for 18 months (upto 30-6-1995) to be filed by [*]1-12-1995. If audit has not been completed in such cases, provisional return can be filed. The return will not be treated as invalid on this account. Auditors' report can be furnished, on completion of audit, but not later than two months from the date of filing of return." *[ref: 95 ITC 4 p. 3]

Comments. As per CBR, companies with December year end had to file returns for the 12 months of calendar year 1994 by 30th September, 1995, and the return had to be revised by 31st December, 1995 to include the results for the subsequent six months ended 30th June, 1995 to cover the total 18 months period. This explanation did not find support from the amendments made and more particularly that the erroneous explanation was in respect of only the corporate assessees while the non-corporate assessee's had to file the 18 months return once and finally by 31st December, 1995. Necessary clarifications were, therefore, lacking. The reason behind the anxiety to receive provisional returns from corporate sector was possibly an attempt to receive the tax payable with the returns earlier by 3 months.

Following is the text of letter from M/s. S. A. Salam & Co., CAs, Lahore, No. SG/30/772 dated July 15, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Please refer to amendment made in sub-section (2) of Section 55 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 by Finance Act, 1995 whereby inter-alia the last date for filing of returns in all non-company cases has been fixed as 30th September. In this connection it is respectfully submitted that there has been a drafting error due to which an anomalous situation shall have to be faced in cases where the income year ends after 30th June but before 30th September. To elaborate, for instance the returns in cases of all ginners closing their accounts on 31st August, 1995 shall now have to file their returns 30th September 1995 i.e. within only one month and that too nine months before commencement of the relevant assessment year. Assessment year has been defined u/s 2(28) as "the period of twelve months beginning on the first day of July next the following the income year". As such for the assessment year 1996-97 the relevant income year would be the year ending on 31st August, 1995 and filing of returns for the said year ending 31 August, 1995 by 30th September, 1995 would be filing before the commencement of the related assessment year 1997-97. There is thus a definite anomaly in drafting of the provision. It is, therefore, requested that the matter may kindly be clarified at an early date."

Returns by ginners, rice huskers and oil millers. –Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. F.55(1)DTP-1/94 dated August 3, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No. SG/30/772 dated 15 July 1995 on the subject and to say that return for income year ending on 31st August, 1995 would be due by 30th September, 1996 and not 30th September, 1995."

(d) a wealth statement under section 116, may apply, in writing, to the Commissioner for an extension of time to furnish the return, [3][ ] or statement, as the case may be.

Where last date falls on a closed day.– Section 10(1) of the General Clauses Act, 1897 is as follows, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"10.-(1) Where, by any Central Act or Regulation made after the commencement of this Act, any act or proceeding is directed or allowed to be done or taken in any court or office on a certain day or within a prescribed period, then, if the court or office is closed on that day or the last day of the prescribed period, the act or proceeding shall be considered as done or taken in due time if it is done or taken on the next day afterwards on which the court or office is open".

S. 119–Extension in time.– Following is an excerpt from a lecture delivered by Mr. S. A. Salam (late) on July 9, 1980 under the auspices of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Pakistan:–

"Byvirtue of this new Sub-section i.e., Sub-section (3) of Section 55, the ITO has been empoweredtoextendthedate of filing of returns by 15 days on his own and after that with the approval of the IAC. This is no doubt a good provision, but I submit that it is an insufficient provision. Under the Income Tax Act, 1922, the ITO was authorised to grant extension in time upto three months. It did not mean that you just applied and he gave you the three months' extension but he had the power; you could plead with him that 'my assessee is sick or his accountant is sick or this and that is the trouble. But in the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, surprisingly nobody had the power to grant even one day's extension. The CBR said that it will grant extensions. Nothing happened. Now they have been very kind to give you upto 15 days. But it may not mean that the ITO will give you 15 days at the first instance. First he will give you 5 days and then some more time and then the IAC's power is there that he can grant you further extension. In this respect you have your own experience and I have my own. There is a parallel provision in the American Law. I have not studied it in depth, but I was reading some Digest and there it was stated that in the United States of America, if you are out of the country, two months automatic extension is granted. Not that you are out of the country for 10 days and two months are given, if you are out of country for one month, one month's extension, so that you can settle your tax affairs in a better manner. But here in our Income Tax Law the provision is very meagre."

S. 120(1A)-Selection For Audit.-Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2005 dated July 5, 2005:–

"Law provides that where a taxpayer furnishes a complete return of income, it shall be taken for all purposes to be an assessment order issued by the Commissioner on the date the return was furnished.

In order to remove any doubts about the competence of the Commissioner to select a case for audit, sub-section (1A) has been inserted in section 120 which empowers the Commissioner in this regard. This provision shall take effect from tax year 2005."

S.120-Assessment.-Following is an extract from Circular No. 2 of 2012 dated July 27, 2012:-

"Time limitation within which Commissioner can issue notice for incomplete return of income filed by the taxpayer has been extended by 180 days. Previously, if a taxpayer filed an incomplete return on the last day of financial year no such notice could be issued, since no such notice can be issued after the end of the financial year in which the said return of income was filed by the taxpayer."

Default Surcharge.-Following is an extract from Circular No. 2 of 2012 dated July 27, 2012:-

"Prior to Finance Act, 2012, default surcharge under section 205 was payable at KIBOR plus 3 per cent per quarter. Through Finance Act, 2012, the same has been changed to 18 per cent per annum. Further no default surcharge shall be payable for the period the demand remained unpaid, beginning from the due date given in the demand notice issued at the time of giving appeal effect, if the taxpayer makes the payment in consequence to an appellate order passed by the Commissioner (Appeals) and does not file a further appeal to the Appellate Tribunal."

Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill 2005':-

"Seeks to provide for selection of a case for audit, after deemed assessment under Universal Self Assessment Scheme."

Selection on basis issued after filing of return.– In a detailed judgement announced on 24th September 2003 by honourable Mr. Justice Nasim Sikandar of Lahore High Court while disposing Writ Petition No. 9979 of 2003 and 97 other similar writs, it was held that selection of cases of the petitioners for process under normal law on the basis of the guidelines issued after filing of the returns could not be approved on any legal, moral or ethical basis. The selection for total audit on the basis of guidelines was held to be improper. The judgement has been approved for reporting.

Record keeping requirements.– Following is the text of CBR's letter No. 10(1)-M(TPE&F)/2002 dated July 1, 2003:–

"Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 shall come into force on July 01, 2002. The new income tax law is in plain simple language and is easy to understand. You can now prepare your income tax return and compute your tax liability without any difficulty.

2. The new income tax law will bring a complete change in the philosophy of income tax proceedings and it will make life easier. The salient features are:

- Henceforth, the assessing officer will not determine your income and compute your tax liability. Now you shall yourself declare your income and determine your tax liability.
- Your income tax return shall be accepted without any conditions. There will be no compulsory enhancement of tax liability over previous year to qualify for acceptance.
- Income tax return filed it-self will be an assessment order and your eligibility for refund will flow from your tax return.
- A certain percentage of returns filed shall be selected for tax audit on the basis of risk assessment to verify the accuracy and correctness of your income tax return.
- Tax audit shall not necessarily mean an amendment of the assessment originally made by you in your return of income.
- Your original assessment can only be amended on the basis of information acquired during tax audit or any other source.
- If selected for audit, there will be no pre-designated auditors to carry out audit. The officials making selection for audit will be different from those who do actual audit. In other words you will have no designated Income Tax Officer holding jurisdiction on you.

3. Thus universal self-assessment in its true sense will be available to all taxpayers irrespective of quantum, status, location or size. This is the first such experience in this part of the world.

4. The new law and the universal self-assessment system will take away the discretionary powers of the tax collectors and place great responsibility and obligation on you as a taxpayer and an honorable citizen.

5. The new Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 and its salient features, briefly explained above, cannot work without adequate records to support the items reported by you on the income tax return and allied statements.

6. The CBR is fully aware of your (small taxpayers) problems and difficulties in maintaining adequate records. Therefore only bare MINIMUM books of account; documents and records that you generally maintain to run your business have been prescribed. Details may be seen in the enclosed brochure. The benefits you will get from maintenance of records are much more than the effort to maintain these easy records.

7. Effective 1st July 2002 our teams in collaboration with the representatives of your trade association shall visit various groups of taxpayers and provide assistance and guidance that you may require for maintenance of adequate records. It is categorically stated that the purpose of the visit to individual taxpayers will be only to provide you assistance and guidance. No punitive action shall be taken in the initial phase.

8. The Government has discharged its obligation of providing a simple law based on genuine self-assessment concepts. Now it is your turn to respond positively by faithful recording of your business transactions, declaring your income and discharging your tax liabilities.

(5) Where, in response to a notice under sub-section (3), the taxpayer has, by the due date, fully complied with the requirements of the notice, the return furnished shall be treated to be complete on the day it was furnished and the provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply accordingly.

(6) No notice under sub-section (3) shall be issued after the [1][expiry of one hundred and eighty days from the end of the financial year in which return was furnished], and the provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply accordingly.]

[2][(7) For the purposes of this section,-

(a) "arithmetical error" includes any wrong or incorrect calculation of tax payable including any minimum or final tax payable.

(b) "an incorrect claim apparent from any information in the return" shall mean a claim, on the basis of an entry, in the return,-

(i) of an item, which is inconsistent with another entry of the same or some other item in such return;

(ii) regarding any tax payment which is not verified from the collection system; or

(iii) in respect of a deduction, where such deduction exceeds specified statutory limit which may have been expressed as monetary amount or percentage or ratio or fraction.]

9. Let us join hands to achieve our common goals, which are: -

- Simple tax laws
- Taxpayer friendly environment
- Honest and efficient tax administration
- Broadening of taxpayer base
- Reduction in appeals / disputes

Miscellaneous issues.– See footnotes after section 122 titled "Sections 120 to 122 – Misc."

Short notices and waste of time.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 13 ITP/1951, dated May 28, 1951, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

".....the time allowed, in notice for submission of accounts and evidence is often very short,sometimes,adayonly.Areasonabletime should be given in all cases and the Income Tax Officer should be able to judge what the reasonable time is in a particular cases."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 4(6)IT-3/88 dated February 17, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that sometimes the time gap between the date of issuance of a notice by an Income Tax Authority and date of its compliance is unreasonably short. This period gets further curtailed by delay in service of such notice. Such a situation rightly gives a cause of grievance to the tax-payers.

2. I am directed to request that instructions may be issued to the assessing officers that they should always allow reasonable time for compliance of statutory notices issued by them."

Revision of income by 20% for acceptance of audit cases.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 1(1)S.(ITAS)2004 dated July 28, 2004:–

"I am directed to refer to the subject. It is stated that in order to facilitate the non-corporate taxpayers selected for audit it has been decided to provide them an option of revising their income tax returns by paying 20% higher tax as compared to the tax payable on their original return provided there is no definite information against them.

2. In view of above it is requested that the subject taxpayers may be offered the above option and upon acceptance, audit in their cases may be closed."

Issue of cyclostyled letters and attendance notices.– Following is the text of Circular No. 10 of 1975 dated July 14, 1975, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Board has viewed with concern the growing tendency amongst the Assessing Officers to issue notices and cyclostyled letters calling for returns, statements and particulars without applying their mind to the requirements of each case. Recently aPakistani ambassador posted in a distant country was required to attend and produce certain documents within 12 days. In some wealth tax cases it was noticed that documents which had no bearing on the assessment were being requisitioned and senior officers of government were called to attend personally without any justification. In some other cases the time allowed u/s 34 of the Income Tax Act was curtailed to a week or ten days apparently without any reason. Complaints have also been received about the intemperate and threatening language used in letters to assessees, including ladies. The only inference from such instances is that the Assessing Officers blindly sign papers without realising the damage which may be caused tothe prestige of the Department, apart from other serious consequences that it may entail.

2. Board desires that immediate instructions may be issued to the Assessing officers to:

(a) stop using cyclostyled letter forms unless the same have been approved by the Commissioner;

(b) study the case properly before calling for detailed particulars so that unnecessary or superfluous information is not demanded;

(c) abstain from calling ladies and salaried persons to office unless it is unavoidable for the purposes of assessment;

(d) allow 35 days' time to furnish the return of income and not curtail this time without prior approval of the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner;

(e) allow sufficient time for production of records and documents;

(f) ensure that letters addressed to assessees are invariably couched in polite language."

Planning of assessment proceedings.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 4(6)IT-3/88 dated February 17, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that tax-payers have to wait for long durations outside the Income Tax Offices before they get a chance to represent their case. Besides unnecessary details are called for in a piecemeal manner which hinders the normal business routine of the tax-payers.

2. I am directed to say that whereas the Board appreciates that spacing of time for appearanceoftax-payersisnotalwayspossibleanddetailshavealsotobeobtainedincertain cases, it cannot also be denied that with proper planning and methodical handling of cases the delays and the repetitive notices can be avoided.

3. It is, therefore, expected that instead of issuing only a routine notice for hearing, the officer should also inform the tax-payers regarding the details/clarifications required by him at one go. The number of cases fixed should be such as can be easily attended to. The officers should properly space their work and should see to it that they attend to other routine work only when the hearing of cases is over and no tax payers are waiting for being heard.

4. These instructions may kindly be brought to the notice of all concerned."

Correct recording of designation and names on notices/orders.– Following is the text of Circular Letter C. No. 1(3)IT-9/82(3), dated April 6, 1983, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has come to the notice of the Board that some assessing officers do not record their correct designations or at times omit to mention their name while issuing notices, assessment orders or official correspondence.

I am directed to say that it may be brought to the notice of all assessing officers that they should record their designations correctly, i.e. 'Assistant Income Tax Officer' or 'Income Tax Officer' or 'Special Officer' whatever the case may be. Similarly name of the officer signing the document should also invariably be typed so that identity of the person signing the notice/order or any other official correspondence is known."

Procedure in account cases.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 11 of 1993 dated July 7, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A proviso has been added to sub-section (1) of section 62 to the effect that where the assessee produces books of account as evidence in support of the return, the assessing officer shall, before discarding such accounts, give a notice to the assessee of the defects noted in the accounts to provide an opportunity to the assessee to explain his point of view and record such explanation and the basis of computation of total income of the assessee in the assessment order. This is in line with judicial decisions on the subject. With the introduction of this provision following such a procedure has become mandatory." [Ref:93 ITC 11 p. 38*]

Agreed assessments.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 17 of 1990 dated December 20, 1990, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Generally the assessment of income by the Department, in case it is substantially higher than the income returned, is disputed by the taxpayers in appeal. Recovery of demand thus becomes difficult if not altogether impossible. Similarly, in some cases concealment is detected but it cannot be established in black and white for one reason or the other. Recovery of enhanced demand in such cases becomes possible only if the Department does not press the penal provisions.

2. In all such cases unnecessary disputes can be avoided and prompt collection of tax ensured through the system of "agreed assessment". It was because of these considerations that agreed assessments were permitted and instructions in this regard were issued vide Circular No. 17 of 1979 dated December 23, 1979.

3. Over a period of time however the assessing officers developed a tendency to resort to this procedure even in cases where proof of concealment of income was available on record. This circumventing of instructions on the subject led the board to discontinue the practice through Circular No. 15 of 1989.

4. Various representations have since been received, both from taxpayers and tax advisors that the system be reintroduced as it obviously leads to quicker decisions early collection and fewer disputed assessments. In view of the following, the Board has reviewed the situation and decided to allow making of "agreed assessments", subject to the following conditions:–

(i) In a case where there is evidence of clear and definite concealment, assessment should not be made on agreement basis;

(ii) Order should be approved by the IAC in cases of income upto Rs. 200,000/- (Rupees two lacs) and by Commissioner if it is more;

(iii) The entire payment of tax should be secured before the agreement;

(iv) The assessing officer should discuss the facts of the case and incorporate a comprehensive footnote to the assessment order showing the computation of income agreed upon;

(v) Brief facts and circumstances leading to the agreement should be typed on the order sheet and should be signed by assessee, ITO and IAC or in cases involving income exceeding Rs. 200,000/- by ITO, IAC, CIT and the assessee;

(vi) Before making agreed assessments internal and external sources of information should be utilized to the maximum possible extent."

Payment of tax before agreed assessment.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. 7(3)/DT-14/90 dated February 7, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to draw your attention to para 4(iii) of Circular No. 17 of 1990, issued vide Board's C. No. 7(3)/DT-14/90 dated 20th December, 1990, wherein it had been provided that in the case of agreed assessments the entire payment of tax should be secured before the agreement.

2. The issue was discussed in the Commissioners' Conference 1990, and, keeping in view the practical difficulties which may arise in the finalization of such cases, it was decided that:–

"The highest authority involved in the agreed assessment, if it so desires, may defer the payment of demand. In such cases it shall record reasons for so doing on the file."

3. This decision may be brought to the notice of all assessing authorities."

Following is an extract from CBR's Letter C. No. 7(3)/DT-14/90 dated February 19, 1991 which is with reference to para 4(iii) of Circular No. 17 of 1990, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"2. This is to clarify that "securing" means obtaining of a firm commitment for payment from the tax payers. It could be through an instrument such as a pay order or cheque or otherwise. Payment in cash, before the assessment is made, is not the condition as is obvious from the authorisation for deferring the payment even after the making of the assessment given by the Board vide letter of even number dated February 7, 1991."

Agreed assessment in concealment cases.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 17 of 1990 dated December 20, 1990, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In a case where there is evidence of clear and definite concealment, assessment should not be made on agreement basis".

Agreed assessments, capitalisation of intangible additions.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. ITA. 1(12)99(3) dated September 25, 1989, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No. M/68 dated 24-6-1989 on the above subject and to say that the Board is of the view that additions made in the trading account in agreement with the assessee would not qualify to be incorporated in the books of account."

Following is an extract from Letter No. 337/89 dated November 18, 1989 from Lahore Tax Bar Association addressed to the Chairman CBR, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In reply to a query from one of the tax consultants, the CBR vide its letter C. No. ITA-1(2)/99(3) dated September 25, 1989 has expressed "the view that additions made in the trading account in agreement with the assessee would not qualify to be incorporated in the Books of Account." This view is erroneous and is an attempt to deprive the cooperative and compromising assessee from his legitimate right of getting benefit of intangible additions made in agreement. Even the Self Assessment Schemes for 1982-83 to 1987-88 contained provisions with respect to non-self assessment cases that "The trading account additions made in agreement with the assessee would qualify for incorporation in the books of accounts."

Sometimes for agreed additions the assessees revise their returns declaring revised higher profits/incomes, this aspect seems to have been ignored. Even otherwise the Courts have held intangible addition as real income for which the assessee is entitled to take credit in capital account (reference: (1987) 37 Taxation 204 (Karachi High Court), (1964) 51 ITR 755 (Indian High Court) and (1988) 58 Taxation 35 (Tribunal). Such benefit was even allowed in Martial Law Declarations for 1958 and 1969.

In view of the above it would be clear that the opinion expressed in CBR's letter is erroneous."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. 7(5) DT-14/1990 dated June 13, 1990, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to clarify that instructions given by the Board vide C. No. 1(12)99(3), dated 25th September, 1989 relate to incorporation of amounts represented by intangible addition on account of agreed assessment.

2. These instructions may not be applicable where the assessee exercises his legal right given under Section 57 of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(32)S.Asstt/92 dated January 29, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to invite your attention to Board's clarification C. No. ITA.1(12) 99(3), dated 25.09.1989 on the above subject and to state again that additions made in the trading account in agreement with the assessee would not qualify to be incorporated in the books of account." *[ref: 95 ITL 4 p. 2]

Assessment in 2 hearings.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(2)DT.14/94 dated July 3, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Reference is invited to Board's letter even number dated 01-02-1994. The undersigned is directed to say that it has been decided to restrict the number of hearings for completion of assessment to two instead of three. The second notice for hearing, therefore, would be clearly marked as "SECOND NOTICE, FINAL CALL". For issuance of third notice approval of the Inspecting Additional Commissioner concerned shall be required. However, other instructions on the subject, conveyed earlier vide above referred letter, shall also be followed accordingly in letter and spirit.

2. This decision may be brought to the notice of all the officers of your region. It may be noted that as per decision of the Cabinet the assessing officers would be held accountable for non-observance of these instructions and defiance thereof would be treated as "Misconduct" for which the defaulting officers will be proceeded against under the Efficiency and Discipline Rules, 1973." [Ref:94 ITL 39 p. 56*]

The earlier instructions vide letter of even number dated January 24, 1994 read as follows:–

"I am directed to say that it is generally alleged that inordinate delays occur in finalization of assessment proceedings which creates harassment amongst the tax payers. The matter has been considered in the Board. The following instructions are being issued for strict compliance by the field officers.

(a) The first notice under section 61 of the Income Tax Ordinance 1979 or Section 16(4) of the Wealth Tax Act 1963 may always be issued after scrutiny of the return and the notice may specifically indicate the details, documents and books of Accounts which the assessing officer wishes to examine while processing the case. The general practice of calling of information piecemeal and calling for "all books of accounts and details" in a stereotyped manner may be discontinued.

(b) Adjournments allowed or made in the proceedings may be recorded in writing and there may be no occasion to allow oral adjournments.

(c) Once the documentation and examination of books of account is complete, discrepancies, if any, and the proposed additions may be confronted to the assessee,inwriting,throughaformalnoticeundersection62 and the assessment proceedings be finalized in accordance with law. Under all circumstances such proceedings may be completed within 3 (three) hearings and not more.

2. The Inspecting Officers will report in their notes as to whether these instructions were followed by the assessing officers. Any violation of these instructions will be viewed seriously. These instructions may be circulated amongst all the officers and the tax Bar Associations."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(2)DT-14/94 dated February 1, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In continuation of Board's instructions contained in its letter of even number dated 24-1-1994theundersignedisdirected to convey following further directions on the subject:–

i) It has been decided that the following procedure should be followed in assessment proceedings:–

a) The first notice of hearing should specify the details and information and the account books that are required to be produced by the assessee. A clear period of 15 days may be given for compliance. The notice may conspicuously indicate that this is FIRST call.

b) Only those details documents, books of account and information should be requisitioned which are necessary for making an assessment, unnecessary details which are generally examined or utilized in assessments may not be requisitioned.

c) Fifteen clear days period be allowed for compliance.

ii) If the requisitioned details, documents books are not complete, the order sheet entries should indicate the details produced and the time given for production of remaining details documents or books etc. It may be emphasised that the order sheet is intended to be a complete record of the proceedings, including discussions and conclusions, if any drawn so far.

iii) If the tax-payer does not appear on the given day or the details furnished are lacking in any respect, a second notice may be issued specifying the remaining details/documents still required. The notice should conspicuously indicate that it is SECOND NOTICE.

iv) If the second notice is not complied with, a third notice may be issued with the approval of IAC/CIT, and should be clearly marked "FINAL CALL".

v) Once the details have been furnished the assessee may not be called upon to appear more than twice and the case may be finalised accordingly.

2. These instructions may be brought to the notice of all the officers of your region. The assessing officers would be held accountable for non-observance of these instructions.

3. The taxpayers are also being advised through the Press to bring instances of inordinate delays in the decision of their cases, to designated officers." [Ref:94 ITL 10 p. 7*]

Quality of assessment orders.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(2)DT.14/94 dated January 24, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to the above and tosaythatithasbeenobservedthatquality of assessment orders is deteriorating very rapidly. Assessments are being made in a slipshod manner causing grave harassment and inconvenience to the tax payers. Resultantly, besides wastage of efforts and loss of revenue it brings a bad name to the department.

2. In order to overcome this, it has been decided to allot code numbers to the assessing officers for evaluating their performance in this regard. In future the performance of an assessing officer will also be judged from the fate of the assessment orders passed by him in appeal. If during one year, 50% of the assessment orders passed by any officer do not stand the test of appeal an adverse inference will be drawn regarding performance of such officer and proceedings may have to be initiated.

3. This may be brought to the notice of all concerned." [Ref:94 ITL 10 p. 7*]

Quality of assessments, common defects.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(22)DTO-1/94 dated October 19, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been observed that a large number of assessment orders fail in appeal. An analysis recently carried out reveals certain common causes of these failures which are summarized below:–

i. Many of the cases which are about to get barred by limitation on 30th June are hastily decided exparte and adequate opportunity is not allowed to the assessees to explain their cases. Instances have been brought to the Board's notice that at times even the service is fictitious.

ii. The estimates of income are bald-there being no grounds to support them. The orders are generally not what can be said to be a speaking order.

iii. Assessing officers have on some occasion found to have made incorrect statements about dates of services as well as the fact of service of notices.

iv. Assessment orders are not passed and only demand notices are prepared and served. This has been observed even in cases where demand has been raised.

v. Cases which qualify for acceptance under the Self Assessment Scheme are many a times assessed exparte due to carelessness of the assessing officers.

vi. Some assessment orders finalized in the month of June were found to have been served after the lapse of more than six months.

vii. Even where appellate authorities issued specific directions these are not followed by the assessing officers.

2. I am directed to request you to please issue necessary instructions in this regard to the officers subordinate to you. The Inspecting Additional Commissioners be particularly instructed to keep in view the above observations while carrying out casual inspection." [ref:94 ITL 50 p. 63*]

Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 1(23)IT-I/77 dated January 1, 1977 as reported in the Third Edition (1988) of CBR's Income Tax Manual Part V, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Perusal of appellate orders has shown that a large number of appeals are lost before the Appellate Assistant Commissioners or the Tribunal.

(2) Assessing officer should, while framing assessments, take particular note of the following matters:–

(i) Where an assessment is made for default of service of a notice it has to be ensured whether the notice was properly served. Utmost case should be exercised in filing, issuance and service of notices. Before he signs notice, the Income Tax Officer should satisfy himself that there is no defect in the notice.

(ii) An order sheet should reflect a detailed and faithful record of the day to day proceedings mentioning the documents filed, books produced and examined, the books not produced, the queries made from assessee etc. If any omissions are observed, the relevant entry should be made by the Income Tax Officer over his signature. The entries should be explicit and meaningful. There should be no uncovered time gap between two entries.

(iii) An assessment order being a quasi-judicial order, the findings recorded therein should be precise and well-reasoned. In cases where accounts are rejected, the orders mustrecord in detail the reasons for rejecting the accounts. The defects in the accounts should be specified with instances or a signed admission regarding these defects be obtained from assessee/authorised representative. Before rejection of accounts, the explanation of the assessee be obtained and reasons for its being not acceptable should be recorded. If accounts are not to be accepted, the rejection must be stated in so many words. The responsibilities of the assessing officer do not end with rejection of accounts. He still has to estimate the sales, rate of profit or work out other appropriate additions to the trading results. These estimates and additions have to be fully justified. It may be remembered that the onus of justification of the adopted results or additions is on the assessing officer. The principles relating to disallowance or curtailment of an item of expenditure are same as those obtaining in rejection of accounts.

(iv) Opportunity to explain.– Before an adverse inference is drawn, the assessee should be afforded an opportunity to explain. Most of the appeals against the department succeed as no opportunity is afforded to the assessee. It can be done by a notice under section 62 or an entry on order sheet. If an assessee accepts a defect and the consequent adverse inference, an admission may by recorded on order sheet and got signed by assessee or his authorised representative and a reference be made in the order.

(v) Reasons of rejection of explanation.– If an explanation is not found to be acceptable, cogent reasons for its rejection have to be recorded. Without such reasons, the appellate authorities are likely to accept such explanations.

(vi) Substantiation of allegations.– If any defects are mentioned or any other allegations are made in the order like unvouchedness of purchases/sales or inflation in expenses, suppression of receipts etc. instances must be quoted or in the alternative signed admission of assessee/authorised representative be recorded. Similarly, non-maintenance of any books or records must be backed by such a signed admission by assessee. In a very large number of cases, the assessee do produce such record/books at the appeal stage, which the order says were not maintained.

(vii) Past history.– (a) In absence of any reasons to the contrary, the treatment meted outtoanassesseeoughttobeinlinewiththe past history of the case. If any departure is to bemade,therehavetobe very strong reasons for the same and material evidence has to be placed on file for the same. Results shown by another assessee or acceptance of a certain treatment by another tax-payer alone is no justification for departing from past history.

(b) The converse of this problem is that an expenditure is disallowed in one assessment year and while the appeal against this addition is still pending, the same expenditureisallowednextyearoraccountsarerejectedinoneyearandacceptedinthenext yearinthepresenceofsamedefects.Naturallywhenthe appeal against first order is heard, the assessee cites the subsequent assessment and gets the relief. Such inconsistencies should be avoided and Commissioners of Income Tax should take particular note of them.

(viii) Parallel cases.– Where any action is taken on the basis of a parallel case, the NTN of the case must be mentioned in the main body of the order and its full name and address in the "Note not for assessee". Secondly, before a parallel case is cited it should be ensured that it is "on all fours" with the case in question.

(ix) Acceptance of over-ruled judgements.– Very often, assessing officers accept an explanation of the assessee on the basis of a judgment cited by the assessee which has been over-ruled by still superior courts. Similarly, assessee's claims are allowed on the basis of judgements of ITAT or High Court against which the department is in appeal. No claim should be accepted on basis of a cited case without satisfying oneself that the judgment cited has not been over-ruled or has not been appealed against. In cases of doubt, higher authorities should be consulted.

(3) Iamalsodirectedtostatethat in future the emphasis of the department is going to be quality of assessments and non-observance of the instructions noted above shall be seriously viewed. The Commissioners of Income Tax/Inspecting Assistant Commissioners are also expected to ensure strict observance of these instructions."

Enquiries and spot visits.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(35)DT.14/92 dated December 11, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Please refer to the above.

2. I am directed to say that the process of selection of cases for "Audit" for the assessment year 1993-94 would be completed soon. As already emphasized the contribution of officers in such cases would be closely watched. The officers, on the other hand are free to proceed to make such enquiries as the circumstances may warrant, including spot visits. It should, however, be ensured that the officers remain courteous, patient and alert while visiting assessees premises. It should also be ensured that all enquiries and visits remain within the legal limits and no subordinate official is associated with such visits. All visits must be made with the prior approval of the Commissioner who may allow more than one officer to make the visit, if he considers it necessary. A comprehensive report of the visits describing interalia, the material discovered, verification conducted and books impounded etc., if any, must be submitted to the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax with in twenty four hours of such visits." [Ref:93 ITL 100 p. 69*]

Following is the text of CBR's letter C. No. 7(15)DT-14/94 dated June 19, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Please refer to Board's instructions contained in its C. No. 7(35)DT-14/93, dated 11-12-93. It has been brought to the notice of the Board that despite the instructions that the Inspectors/subordinate officials should not visit the assessees premises, the unwarranted visits have not abated.

2. It is once again requested that appropriate instructions be issued in this regard and it should be ensured that no subordinate official/inspector visits the assessee's premises except when he is accompanying his I.T.O. or Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or other Senior Officer.

3. These instructions may please be brought to the notice of all concerned for strict compliance. It may please be clearly made known that violation of these instructions would be considered a 'misconduct' attracting 'major penalty' under the Efficiency and Discipline Rules, 1973.

4. Please acknowledge receipt." [Ref:94 ITL 27 p. 45*]

Undue harassment of tax payers.– Following is the text of RCIT, Central Region Lahore's letter No. 1600 dated September 28, 1989, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Recently the Prime Minister was pleased to preside over the Export Trophy Award organized by the Federation of Pakistan Chambers of Commerce and Industry. During the course of her presentation, the President of the Federation complained that as soon as the Export Awards are announced, the Tax officials start harassing the Prize Winners.

The Prime Minister was pleased to advise that harassment may be avoided in such cases.IwouldaccordinglyrequestyoutopleasedirectalltheOfficers in your Zone to refrain fromcausingharassmenttotheAwardWinnerswhomayhappentofallintheirjurisdiction."

No account cases, scrutiny of.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 1(49)-II-1/76 dated September 16, 1976 as reported in the Third Edition (1988) of CBR's Income Tax Manual Part V, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Thereseemstobea general tendency amongst the assessing officers to dispose of no-accountcaseswithoutanyseriousefforttogointothefacts.Itisgenerallypresumedbythem thatthesenо-accountcases fall in the lower income brackets and do not, therefore, deserve the time and attention given to the account cases. It has also been seen that a no accounts case continues to be assessed as such until a chance discovery of the books of accounts is made or some other piece of information indicating a sizeable business necessitating the maintenance of some sort of accounts reaches the Income Tax Officers. On the other hand experiencehasshownthatano-accountcaseisnotnecessarilyamarginallytaxablecaseand that a very sizeable number of quite well to do assessees earning income in the higher brackets are escaping taxation under the garb of being no-account cases.

(2) While the Board has no intention of causing any difficulties or harassment to all genuine cases of petty shopkeepers, professionals and the like who do not in fact maintain any accounts, the Income Tax Officers will nevertheless be well advised to make a reappraisement of the no-account cases assessed in their charges. In this connection the following broad guidelines may be kept in mind.

(3) Where the extent or nature of the trade or business is such that the maintenance of some sort of accounts is unavoidable, the Income tax Officers should normally issue notice under section 61 specifying quite clearly the books of account which should normally be maintained by the particular assessee whose case is in hand. For instance, a broker in cotton and cotton-seed and oil cakes acts for known parties and arranges forward contracts of delivery etc. In such cases, the conduct of business without accounts will not be believable. A surprise visit to the premises of the brokers will in most cases, result in the discovery of some record with the help of which the assessment of the case can reasonably proceed. Similarly, even the small transporters owning one or two vehicles cannot continue to be in business without requiring the running staff to render periodically some sort of accounts. If such assessees do not produce the accounts under section 61 they expose themselves to ex-parte assessment which the appellate authorities will not normally upset if some material is given in the order of the assessment that the maintenance of books of accounts was indispensable for the conduct of business.

(4) The next class of no-account cases to which attention is also to be paid are those of well-to-do retailers with premises in commercially important areas. In their case, a surprise visit of Inspector/Income Tax Officer would result in the discovery of books not only of the current year but of the preceding years also. It will, however, be better for the Income Tax Officer to undertake the surprise visits after an assessee has not complied with notice under section 61.

(5) In the rest of the cases, the Income Tax Officers will be the best judge as to whetherthenon-maintenanceofaccountsisgenuineandtheincomesofarassessed dos not needtobedisturbedinanysubstantialway.Hemust,however,eitherobtainaformalwealth statement under section 58 or record the assessee's statement specifically questioning him about the value of stocks, the properties, if any, standing in his name or in the name of his wife and dependents, the monthly expenses including rent, electricity and other expenses of similar nature and finally the fixed obligations like payments of insurance premium etc. Details of personal expenses may be obtained in the prescribed proforma.

(6) The Board's intention in issuing the foregoing instructions is that the Income Tax Officers will periodically test the position of the no-account cases in order to ensure that there is no abuse of the lenient treatment given by the assessing officers to the genuine-no-account cases. The Board considers that a periodical issue of section 58 notices in all such cases should be useful practice to follow."

Assessment of cotton ginners.– Following is an extract from RCIT Central Region's Letter No. J-30/89-90/7209/RC dated May 2, 1990, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The Central Board of Revenue advises that the method of estimating income on the basis of Net Profit rate per bale may be discarded. Secondly, where discrepancy is found between declared stock value as per books of account and the value estimated for purposes of pledge of stock with Banks, necessary inference according to the legal & factual position should be taken. Since this issue is pending before the I.T.A.T. it is not desirable to pre-empt the Judicial Process."

Assessment of foreign commission receipt.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 80(4)/DTP-I/94(CC) dated July 6, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to say that the issue of assessment of foreign commission receipts was examined during the recent Budget exercise. It was observed that proper attention was generally lacking in this vital area of assessment. M(IT) has therefore shown concern over it, and has desired to ensure that proper assessments are made in these cases, after careful scrutiny, particularly the indepth examination of expenses claimed." [ref: 94 ITL 33 p. 53]

Assessment of textile mills.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C.No. 13(51)IT-1/76, dated April 27, 1977 as reported in the Third Edition (1988) of CBR's Income Tax Manual Part V, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been represented to the Board that:–

(i) theIncomeTaxOfficers determine the production capacity of the textile mills on the basis of standard production as laid down in the Textile Industry Capacity Committee Report, 1966 (Awan Committee) without going into the merits of individual cases;

(ii) the percentage of wastage is rejected arbitrarily; and

(iii) the hedge transaction losses are rejected without cogent reasons.

(2) Instructions regarding assessment of textile mills were issued in the past by the Director of Inspection (Taxes) vide his letter No. DIT-5(11)-MLR/70 dated 8th April, 1971 and 30th June, 1971. The intention of these letters was to provide guidelines to the assessing officers for proper assessments of textile mills. These letters do not contain any instructions that if the results shown by textile mills do not conform to production formulae mentioned in these instructions, the accounts should be rejected and income computed on the basis of said formulae.

(3) It is emphasised that each case is to be examined on its own merits and circumstances. Therefore, the accounts should be rejected only if patent defects in such accounts are discovered and the assessee's explanation for under-production is not found satisfactory. It is only in such cases that the basis provided in the Textile Industry Committee Report, 1968 (Awan Committee) may be considered as a guideline for determination of production. Similarly, the percentage of wastage shown by an assessee's explanation for claiming higher percentage of wastage is not found satisfactory. The quantum of additions on account of excessive wastage, lower production etc. should be based on the peculiar facts of the case, taking into account the quality of raw material, the type and age of machinery, history of the case, the results shown by parallel cases etc. These need not be in accordance with any standard formula. Regarding hedge transaction losses, the facts should be properly verified before rejecting such losses."

Disposal of loss cases.– Following is the text of Circular No. 2 of 1962, dated January 20, 1962, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has come to the notice of the Board that loss cases are being neglected by the Income Tax Officers and such cases are kept pending until the assessments are about to be time barred. As the losses of one year are to be carried forward for set off against the profits of the subsequent years, the assessee feel embarrassed for non-completion of earlier years assessments. This is very unhappy state of affairs. The importance of a case does not depend on the amount of profit declared in the return. It depends on the nature and magnitude of the business. The Income Tax Officers should give equal attention to loss cases and take them up for hearing and disposal regularly. In future the Income Tax Officers should keep record of cases in which returns showing losses are filed and dispose of these cases in the usual course."

Transfer of Assessing Officers.– Following is the text of Circular No. 4 of 1962, dated January 20, 1962, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that the assessment proceedings, particularly in important cases, are very much delayed on account of transfer of officers, and that even though an officer has almost finally completed the examination and investigation of a case he leaves the assessment uncompleted when he is transferred to another circle. As a result, his successor starts examination of the case afresh causing unnecessary inconvenience and harassment to the tax payers. The Income Tax Committee recently examined this complaint of the taxpayers and found it to be substantially correct. This is a highly unsatisfactory state of affairs. The Board directs that at the time of transfer of an Income Tax Officer assessments in all the part heard cases should be completed by him before he makes over charge. If for any special reason an assessment cannot be completed he should, with the approval of the IAC, leave a detailed note of his examination for his successor to start proceedings at the stage it is left by him. At the time of transfer of officer IACs should particularly ensure this."

Disposal of total audit cases.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's Circular No. 18 of 1988 dated March 2, 1988, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979: –

"As a result of computerised random ballot, some cases in which assessment for the immediate preceding or the next preceding assessment has been completed after total audit are also picked up for total audit for the current assessment year. In such cases, it is unjust to subject the assessee to repeated appearances. Since the basis of assessment has once been determined after detailed examination, such cases should be finalised more expeditiously. The following instructions are issued for expeditious disposal of such cases:

1. In the case of individuals, who are not engaged in business, if there is no material change in Wealth Statement and the net wealth is reconciled with the earlier statement and the income declared is more or less the same as before, the case may be finalised immediately preferably in one hearing.

2. In case of individuals engaged in business, if–

(i) the conditions of para (1) above are satisfied, and

(ii) the results declared for the current assessment year are more or less the same as assessed for the preceding year after detailed scrutiny and the assessee agrees to be assessed on the same basis, the assessment may be finalised immediately in agreement with the assessee.

(iii) In case the assessee is in appeal against the last total audit assessment, in absence of any reasons to the contrary, the same treatment may be repeated after cursory examination.

3. In the case of other assessees engaged in business, the instructions at para 2(ii) and (iii) may be followed.

Instructions in this behalf may be issued to all IACs/ITOs."

Non-genuine commercial exporters, method of enquiry, etc.– Following is an extract from RCIT Central Region's letter No. 239, dated July 11, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"With the liberalisation of import policy lot of persons have got themselves registered as importers and are drawing licences which they sell in the open market. These licences are being utilised by existing importers who do not declare profits earned on such imports which are made in the name of the licence-holders. Likewise, the existing importers have also managed to get non-existing persons registered as importers and are utilising the licences issued in these fictitious names.

On the Income Tax side such "non-genuine" importers are filing returns under the Immunity clause and after paying a nominal amount of tax are obtaining huge refunds. Recently three such importers approached me through their common A.R complaining against non-issuance of refunds. When local enquiries were made it was found that they never existed at the addresses available on record. The* were obviously "ghost importers".

The modus operandi for this type of business is that these ghost licence-holders sell theirlicencestotheexistingimporters,whoutilisetheselicences.Noweveryimporter,which isissuedalicencehasadesignatedbankbranch through which he applies and receives the licencesfromtheCCI&E.Healsomakesthese imports ordinarily through the same branch. Butwhenhesellsalicenceto another party, the said party gets the licence transferred to a bank branch of his choice where a new account is opened in the importer's name and the goods are imported there.

This is necessary until the goods are received every transaction is to be done in the name of the seller of the licence, who is seldom trusted by the persons purchasing the licences.Thusallimportsmadethroughabankotherthanthe designated branch represent licences sold by the holders. In this behalf the following instructions must be carried out:–

(1) Inspectorsshouldbedeputedtovisitthebusinesspremisesavailableon record to ascertain whether the commercial importers, who received refunds last year or appliedforsuchrefundsdidactuallycarryonbusinessonthesaidpremises.Those who did not exist should be identified and information to be placed on their file. This exercise must be completed before 31.7.1987, when the returns are due.

(2) Even if the returns are filed under the immunity clause, the immunity should not be granted because these are ghost importers.

(3) Efforts should be made to ascertain the designated bank branch of such importers from the office of the Chief Controller of Imports & Exports.

(4) Bank branch may be asked to furnish information regarding the licences received and the licences transferred to other branches.

(5) Bank account of the assessee may be obtained from the said branch.

If the above enquiries are made it will be easy to establish that the importer did not actually import the goods but had sold his licences. From these enquiries it will also be possible to find out as to who was the actual importer.

Whatever be the result of the enquiry no refund shall be issued to commercial importers this year without obtaining a photo-copy of the identity card of the person obtaining the refund.

The receipt of this Circular may please be acknowledged."

Scrutiny of personal expenditure.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1973 dated August 1, 1973, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"While determining the income of an individual for purposes of income tax assessment, it is important to take note of his personal expenditure. If his expenditure, savings, investments and taxes in any year exceed his income of that year, he has to account for the excess. It is regrettable that so far such enquiries were either not made at all or only in a cursory manner. Board desires that in future enquiries into the personal expenditure of every individual assessed in the Companies Circles and Special Circles should be invariably made every year. In other circles such enquiries may be made in such cases as may be considered necessary. For this purpose the form appended to this circular should be used. All personal and household expenses are not listed in the form. The main purpose of the form is to obtain a broad idea of the standard of living of the tax payers and the Income Tax Officer should make such field enquiries in appropriate cases as he may consider desirable. After the return of income is received, the Income Tax Officer should send the assessee the form under a covering letter which may read somewhat as below:–

"Dear Sir,

Your return of income for the assessment year 19.....19.... has been received. I am enclosing herewith a form requiring particulars of personal expenditure incurred by you during the year to which the return relates. It is requested that the form may be filled in and returned to the undersigned within 4 days of the receipt of this notice.

Yours faithfully

Income Tax Officer, Circle.....".

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No.. 7(7)DT-14/90 dated 24th March, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

Reference is invited to Board's Circular No. 8 of 1973 on the subject whereby proforma for expenditure statement was circulated. Information regarding personal expenses, if obtained on that proforma, can be effectively utilized in making assessments.

2. I am, therefore, directed to request that all assessing officers may be asked to obtain annual expenditure statements on that proforma (a copy attached for ready reference) alongwith the wealth statement in all "Audit" cases of individuals.

3. The expenditure statement alongwith the statement under section 58 should be kept in a separate permanent folder. the forms of personal expenditure should be kept on the left hand side and the wealth statements on the right hand side of the folder. The inspecting officers should at the time of inspection note as to whether these statements were called for in all "Audit" cases of individuals, intelligently scrutinized and properly made use of by the Income Tax Officer, in completing the assessments.

Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 13(68)-IT/76, dated November 17, 1976, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Reference is invited to Board's Circular No. 8 of 1973 on the above noted subject. The instructions contained in that circular should be kept in view while examining the personal expenditure of an assessee.

(2) Generally speaking personal expenditure of persons in the film industry is very high. Since their returns of income are usually unreliable, the assessing officer has to make recourse to provision of section 32 of the Ordinance for purposes of computing their income. The assessing officer's estimates of income would gain strength if these are backed by proper estimates of assessee's personal expenditure of the year."

Below taxable limit returns.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(22)/DT-14/90 dated December 29, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Kindly refer to Board's letter C. No. 7(22)DT-14/90 dated 24-3-1991 on the above subject.

I am directed to say that instructions contained in the letter referred to above will also apply for the assessment year 1991-92."

Following is an extract from CBR's Letter No. 7(22)/DT-14/90 dated March 24, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"2. In the Conference of Commissioners of Income Tax the implications of the decisions had been discussed and it was agreed to focus attention on the assessment of important revenue yielding cases. Accordingly it has been decided that:–

(a) Normally all below taxable limit cases should be accepted as such, and

(b) Cases where last assessed income was more than Rs. 100,000 but income now declared is below taxable limit should be completed with the approval of Assistant Commissioner."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. 7(22)DT-14/90 dated November 1, 1990, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A random analysis of the return of income received this year shows that in a number of cases where income last assessed/declared was taxable, returns for assessment year 1990-91 have been filed at income less than the maximum amount which is not chargeable to tax. This phenomenon calls for a closer examination. It has accordingly been decided that assessment in all such cases will be completed by the Income Tax Officer in consultation with the respective Inspecting Assistant Commissioner."

Proceedings filed cases.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. 248. IT-INF/91 dated April 15, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Proceedingsinalargenumber of cases are filed every year as the tax payers in these cases are either dead or are untraceable having discontinued their business/profession without leaving a clue as to their whereabouts. No returns are filed in these cases. The presence of such a large unproductive burden in a Circle greatly distorts the position of record the reporting system and the working of the Circle office, besides contributing to excessivepressureonworkingspace,cleanlinessandgeneralefficiencyoftheoffice.Inorder to improve the efficiency of Income Tax Circle office it is essential that this dead weight is removed from these units.

2. I am directed to say that, with the view of achieving the above stated objectives, the following action in respect of such cases, may please be taken.

Step One: Lists of all such cases, indicating name and address, where:

(a) no returns have been filed for the last five years,

(b) proceedings have been filed for the last five years, and

(c) There are no arrears outstanding may be prepared by the ITOs and sent to the Commissioner by 1 June, 1991, The CIT will consolidate these lists into one list of their Zone and send a copy of this list in July, 1991 to DPC for statistical purposes.

Step Two: Commissioner should make arrangements by 30 June, 1991 for centralised keeping of the record in such cases till such time these are removed from NTN and destroyed.

Step Three: The ITOs should send records in such cases to the CIT by 31 July 1991. For all intents and purposes these cases then cease to exist on the records/registers or statements of the Income Tax Circle Office.

Step Four: Action may be taken by the ITOs for the recovery or write off of arrears in the remaining dead cases with them between July and December, 1991.

Step Five: In future the same steps may be followed for cases which satisfy the conditions (a) and (b) as stated in step one ante."

Denovo assessment of annulled assessments in appeals.– Following is an extract from CBR's Letter C. No. 1(3)DT-14/91, Pt. dated May 26, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Barring some cases, annulled assessment can also be taken up if not hit by limitation."

Cotton ginners, application of Section 80D.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 2(4)WT/91 dated December 28, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter dated 13-12-1992 on the subject and to say that the agreement with Cotton Ginners Association referred to in your letter was subject to the provisions of section 80D of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 as is apparent from the said agreement. Your contention that tax under section 80D is liable only on the sales of cotton lint is not correct."

Shopkeepers of flood affected areas.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. ITJI-1(21)/85 dated October 20, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to acknowledge the receipt of the copy of your letter dated 8-10-1992 addressed to the Prime Minister of Pakistan, which has been endorsed to the Board and to say that;

a) The genuine business losses sustained by the tax payers are duly taken care of under the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 in the computation of incomes. The damage caused by the floods would be duly considered by the Income Tax Department in the relevant year of assessment.

b) The losses to property used for business purposes shall also be taken care of as provided for under the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979."

Windfall gains of Cement & LPG dealers.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No 7(1)DT-14/93 dated April 10, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In continuation to Board's earlier letter of even number dated 4.01.1993, I am directed to say that during recent past a sudden upward trend in the prices of cement and Liquid Petroleum Gas has been observed. This increase might have resulted in abnormal profits to the cement dealers/Gas dealers. The assessing officers should therefore be directed to keep this fact in mind while making assessments in such cases."

First assessment by Survey Dept.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 16(11)IT. INF/93 dated February 16, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Consequent upon jurisdiction order notified vide SRO 87(I)/93 dated 31 January, 1993 I am directed to state that:–

i. Each ITO working in CIT (Survey & Registration) may be assigned not more than 80 cases of persons other than companies and registered firms, discovered on the basis of internal survey and pertaining only to the station at which the officer is posted.

ii. The cases to be assigned to ITO (S&R) shall be transferred by RCsIT to respective Commissioners of Income Tax (Survey & Registration).

iii. The ITO (S&R) shall exercise jurisdiction on such cases upto decision of the first appeal. After decision of first appeal the concerned Regional Commissioner shall transfer the jurisdiction of such a case to the respective Zonal Commissioner of Income Tax.

iv. The same procedure shall be continued to be followed in future.

v. TheofficerintheSurvey&Registrationorganizationshallsubmitformalmonthly performance reports alongwith regular reports already being sent by them." [Ref:93 ITL 15 p. 9*]

Excise duty record, estimation of sales.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(1)DT-14/93 dated January 4, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In a number of industries, the Central Excise department has fixed duty on the basis of capacity of plants. It has been generally observed that actual production is invariably higher than that fixed by the Excise authorities for duty purposes. In these circumstances, the fixed capacity formula is not binding on the Income Tax Department. Directions may be issued to the assessing officers that while making assessment in such cases, total income may be calculated on the basis of actual production rather than the capacity formula fixed by the Excise authorities and for this purpose qualitative and quantitative analysis should invariably be analysed by the assessing officers for arriving at the real quantum of income of the tax-payer.

2. I am further directed to say that at times there is sudden fluctuation in the prices of certain items, raw material or expenses connected therewith which results into abnormal profits to the manufacturers/businessmen. The assessing officers should keep themselves abreast of such situations to ensure that these abnormal profits do not go untaxed." [Ref:93 ITL 1 p. 1*]

Audit procedure, guidance to assessing officers.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular letter C. No. 7(DT)-14/91 dated January 8, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Self Assessment Scheme pre-supposes the acceptance of returned income. The acceptance is not a licence for the taxpayer to do whatever they please. To ensure that the voluntary declarations are correct the Scheme has certain built in checks. One of these is the procedure of examination of a small number of returns filed under the Scheme. This examination has to be thorough and effective, and those found evading proper taxation, have to be brought to book if the check is to work satisfactorily.

2. Unfortunately our practice regarding this check, previously known as "detailed scrutiny" and now as "audit" has been to make only routine assessments in such cases by estimating sales and applying prevailing GP rates. The fear of being caught, and of accompanying punishments, has thus completely been eliminated. Assessments based merely on estimation of sales and application of GP rates cannot be termed 'audit' in any sense of the word. In international parlance audit implies examining of all accounts, supporting documents and vouchers accompanied by physical checking and verification of assets and stocks.

3. The Board desires that our audit may also confirm to those norms. In this connection the officers may not remain desk-bound and may not always insist on books of accounts, sales Inspectors, letter informing their Inspecting Assistant Commissioners may visit the business premises of the tax payers, get conversant with their system and style of operations sit in their accounting offices and examine and verify their accounts and documents there. This will facilitate the taxpayers as they will not be required to transport huge loads of accounting documents to multistoried Income Tax Buildings. It will also spare them the bother of sitting outside the income tax offices waiting for their turn for examination of their books of accounts, vouchers and allied documents.

4. I am, therefore, directed to request that the above instructions may kindly be brought to the notice of all assessing officers and some adequate arrangement may also be made to ensure that these are followed in their true spirit to have better results in the current financial year.

5. These instructions can be followed with equal efficiency in cases with income of Rs. 200,000 and above which do not qualify under Self Assessment Scheme."

FollowingisthetextofCBR'sCircularC. No. 7(41)DT-14/91 dated February 17, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"With reference to Board's Letter C. No. 7(41)DT-14/91 dated 8.1.92 on the above subject, I am directed to clarify that the purpose of the instructions issued is neither to create an atmosphere of harassment for the tax payers neither it is intended to be used indiscriminately. The only intention is to make fair and judicious assessments and to curb the tendency amongst the assessing officers to complete assessment in a routine manner by sitting in their offices and estimating the sales, purchases, G.P. rates, production results even in those audit cases relating to such businesses or trades of which they have no practical knowledge and are not even conversant with their system of operations. In such cases not only that harsh assessments are made which lead to unnecessary appeals but sometimes cases involving substantial revenues do not get proper attention that they deserve, due to ignorance of various vital factors.

2. As already stressed in the circular adequate arrangements need to be made to ensureproperappraisementoffactsand circumstances prevailing in the nature of business conductedbythetaxpayersandeffortsshouldbemadetominimisetheelementofdiscretion and guess-work by the assessing officers so that judicious and fair assessments are made.

3. These instructions are to be followed in their true spirit as outlined above and without causing un-necessary concern in the business community. The visits need to be carried out only where considered necessary and no official may visit (as already instructed) without proper written permission of the concerned IAC or the Commissioner.

4. These clarification may also be brought to the notice of all assessing officers for strict compliance."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular Letter No. 1(9)IT-1/80, dated March 13, 1980, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"3. Thepurposeofthiscircularistoprovidegeneralguidancetothe assessing officers intheconductofthisdetailedscrutiny.Althoughspecific trades/professions like contractors, real estate developers, doctors etc. have specific areas of investigation, in respect which instructions will be separately issued, the points which need special attention generally in all cases, irrespective of the nature of trade or profession are briefly discussed hereunder.

4. The income which is not reported to the Department is disposed of in either of the two ways.

(a) Appears in books or investment in property etc.

(b) Disappears-having been consumed or hidden away in cash/deposits/ valuables.

The black money which does appear may do so in any of the following forms:–

(i) Cash credits in fictitious names (including remittances from relatives abroad.)

(ii) Additions in capital (shown mostly as sale of jewellery),

(iii) gifts/inheritance received,

(iv) exempt income like income from agriculture, poultry farming, winnings of prize bonds.

(v) investment in property (the actual investment being far more than shown).

5. The money which disappears also leaves traces behind. The major areas to be probed in this behalf are personal and house hold expenses, marriages of children, travels abroad etc. The money going into undisclosed bank deposits is sometimes utilized as security against business loans.

6. Apart from total concealment of income the other broad category of evasion is diversion of income i.e. the income is recorded and declared but is done in the name of a person other than the real owner or beneficiary. This type of evasion is achieved by one of the following methods.

(a) Bogus firms.

(b) Business established or income yielding investments made in the name of family members, dependents or relatives (including where such persons are made benami partners in other firms).

(c) Creation of selling/purchasing agencies owned by relatives/dependents of the owner of main manufacturing concerns.

Detailed instructions in respect of examination of such cases are contained in separate annexures detailed as under:–

	Subject	Annexure
(a)	Cash credits.	I
(b)	Additions in capital account.	II
(c)	Exempt income.	III
(d)	Investment in property.	IV
(e)	Personal expenses.	V
(f)	Bogus firms.	VI
(g)	Benami Business.	VII
(h)	Wealth statement.	VIII

7. As stated above, these instructions are for general guidance and are only illustrative and not exhaustive. Apart from the areas of enquiry mentioned in the annexures, if any other useful information is available to the assessing officer from the records or otherwise it should also be utilized.

8. Detailed scrutiny/enquiry is a tedious process and in such circumstances, the assessees are bound to be evasive and non-cooperative. They are also likely to employ delaying tactics. It is, therefore, imperative that assessing officers should be avoided at all costs. Besides, it is easier to detect concealment than to establish in the assessment order in such a way that it is not upset in appeal. This requires collection of maximum evidence and affording the assessee maximum opportunity to explain his position. And last though not the least, is the importance of proper and systematic presentation of the case in assessment order. A good many cases of proven concealment have been lost in appeal because of poor drafting.

9. If, after completion of scrutiny, concealment is established, maximum penalties should be levied and prosecution filed (after approval by the Board.). In case concealment is not established but material defect in accounts are discovered warranting rejection of accounts, efforts should be made to make a lumpsum addition to the declared income keeping in view (a) past history of the case (b) capital employed in business (own and borrowed) and income shown as compared with capital employed and income assessed last year (c) any ad-hoc addition made in the return by the assessee voluntarily for self assessment etc. Such addition should be made as far as possible with the consent of the assessee. Estimate of sales and application of routine rate of profit should be avoided as far as possible.

Note: Ordinarily tax payers understate their turnover but show higher rate of profit to conform to the rate ordinarily applied in their trade. If an assessee declares correct (or at least higher) turnover but lower rate of profit then in such a case estimate of sales, based on higher turnover shown, and application of the usual rate of profit would cause hardship. Hence the insistence upon relating the lumpsum addition to the income declared and capital employed this year and income assessed in the earlier year. The anxiety is that if an assessee himself shows higher turnover or income for self-assessment, he should not be punished for it.

10. If as a result of the scrutiny, neither concealment is established nor any major defects are discovered, the accounts and income should be gracefully accepted and petty P & L account additions in such cases should be avoided as far as possible.

11. The undersigned is directed to state that in the cases selected for detailed scrutiny, the instructions contained in this Circular are to be complied with. The Directorate of Inspection has been directed to carry out inspection of such cases on their completion. Disciplinary action will be taken for violation of these instructions.

12. Similar instructions about specific trades and professions like contractors, forest contractors, real estate developers etc. medical practitioners and mine-operator shall be separately issued by the Directorate of inspection (Taxes)."

[8]Inserted by Finance Act, 2010 dated June 30, 2010. Earlier this amendment was made by Finance (Amendment) Ordinance, 2009 dated October 28, 2009.

"As to Abdul Ghafoor, he has withheld evidence and has allowed best judgment assessment to be made in terms of sub-section (4) of Section 23 of the Income-tax Act. Such an assessment must exhypothesi be made on inadequate materials, therefore, it is a judgment in the sense of being a well-considered conclusion not dishonest, vindictive or capricious. Attempts have been made to show that some of the expressions used and observations made in the orders are open to criticism. Such attempts are themselves unjustified, because whatever vagueness or uncertainty is found to exist in the orders is the result of the conduct of the assessees who withheld evidence. A best judgment assessment "must be to some extent arbitrary". See C.I.T. v. Laxminarain Badridas".

S. 121(3)-Time Limitation in Case of Best Judgment Assessment.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 15 of 2022, dated 21 July, 2022, explaining the amendment:-

"Currently time limit of 5 years has been prescribed for best judgment assessment. This limit has been enhanced to 6 years in line with other time limitations prescribed under law."

S. 121(3)–Limitation where a return is voluntarily filed for past years.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1982, dated July 8, 1982, explaining the corresponding provisions of the repealed Ordinance:–

"A person can voluntarily file return of income for any of the past years. In the present law, however, there was no provision for making an assessment if such return was filed after the expiry of two years from the end of the year in which the income was first assessable.

In order to remove this lacuna section 64 has been re-drafted. Sub-sections (1) and (3) contain the old provisions, sub-section (2) lays down that assessment in cases where return is filed voluntarily after due date would be made within two years from the end of the financial year in which the said return is filed."

S. 122-Amendment of Assessment u/s 122.-Following is an extract from Circular No. 2 of 2012 dated July 27, 2012:-

"The power of the Commissioner to amend assessment of taxable income under section 122(1) has been extended to amend provisional assessment under section 122C. The revisional power of the Commissioner under section 122(5A) has also been extended to allow him to make or cause to make such enquiries as he may deem necessary."

S. 121(2)-Substitution.-Before substitution it read as follows:-

"(2) An assessment order shall only be amended under subsection (1) within five years after the Commissioner has issued or is treated as having issued the assessment order on the taxpayer."

S. 122(2)&(4)-Limitation for amendment of Assessment.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Sub-sections (2) and (4) of section 122 of the Ordinance have been amended to provide a uniform timeline of five years reckoned from the end of the financial year in which the Commissioner has issued or treated to have issued the assessment order to the taxpayer for amendment of assessment. Previously such limitation for finalization of assessment was to be worked out with reference to the date of filing of return which had created difficulties in ascertaining the limitation period in different cases where returns were filed on different dates during the tax year."

S. 122–Amendment of Assessments.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 10, dated July 16, 2010:–

"The following amendments have been made in section 122 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001:-

(i) Sub-section (4) of section 122 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 has been amended. This sub-section provides for further amendment of assessments amended already under sub-section (1) and subsection (3) of section 122 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001. In certain situations assessments amended under sub-section (5A) are also allowed to be further amended now under sub-section (4) of section 122. These amendments are aimed at streamlining the functions of assessment for safeguarding revenues.

(ii) Through insertion of sub-section (5AA) the Commissioner has been empowered to amend an assessment order under sub-section (5A) and such coverage operates retrospectively, from 1st day of July, 2003."

S. 122–Additional assessment.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 10 of 1979, dated October 1, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Provisions of section 65 stipulate that the Income Tax Officer may issue a notice to assessee containing all or any of the requirements of a notice under Section 56 or Section 58. The reference to section 58 which relates to filing of wealth statement is likely to create unwanted complications and difficulties. The reference to Section 58 has been omitted from the provision by a notification issued under Section 167 of the Ordinance."

(4) Where an assessment order (hereinafter referred to as the "original assessment") has been amended under sub-section (1) [1][,] (3) [2][or (5A)], the Commissioner may further amend [3][, as many times as may be necessary,] the original assessment within the later of–

(a) five years [4][from the end of the financial year in which] the Commissioner has issued or is treated as having issued the original assessment order to the taxpayer; or

(b) one year [4][from the end of the financial year in which] the Commissioner has issued or is treated as having issued the amended assessment order to the taxpayer.

[5][(4A) In respect of an assessment made under the repealed Ordinance,nothing contained in sub-section (2) or, as the case may be, sub-section (4) shall be so construed as to have extended or curtailed the time limit specified in section 65 of the aforesaid Ordinance in respect of an assessment order passed under that section and the time-limit specified in that section shall apply accordingly.]

(ii) total income has been under-assessed, or assessed at too low a rate, or has been the subject of excessive relief or refund; or

(iii) any amount under a head of income has been mis-classified.]

[*]after the amendment the comma had become superfluous.

Issues raised in audit to be confronted before making amended assessment.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 7 of 2003 dated July 11, 2003:–

"It has been made obligatory on the Commissioner to obtain taxpayer's explanation on all the issues raised in any audit before passing an order amending the assessment under section 122 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001."

Removal of ambiguity.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 14 of 1992 dated July 1, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Through a retrospective amendment in section 65 of the Ordinance, the Income Tax Officer has been empowered to re-assess the income assessed earlier under the self-assessment scheme or simplified procedure of assessment or deemed to have been so assessed under sub-section (1) of section 59 or 59A read with sections 80B, 80C and 80CC. This provision aims at providing a remedy against the possible loss of revenue on account of acceptance of declared incomes without scrutiny and verification."

Limitation for completion of additional assessment.– Sub-section (3) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, was substituted and a new Sub-section (3A) was added by the Finance Ordinance, 1982. These amendments were explained in Circular No. 8 of 1982, dated July 8, 1982, an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"Under section 65(3) additional assessment can be made upto ten years from the end of assessment year in which total income was first assessable. This gave little time for completion of assessment if proceedings were initiated in the 10th year. A new sub-section (3A) has been added to the effect that once a notice under section 65 is served, proceedings would be completed within one year from the end of the financial year in which it was served. This amendment will be applicable to the notices issued on or after 1-7-1982."

Assessments completed under the repealed Ordinance.– Following is the text of CBR's letter No. F. 4(75)/ITP/2002 dated June 28, 2003:–

"The undersigned is directed to refer to your letter dated June 23, 2003 on the subject and to state that by virtue of an amendment in sectioin 122(1) through Finance Ordinance, 2002 the provisions of the said section may be invoked in assessments completed under section 59, 59A, 62, 63 or 65 of the repealed Ordinance. Through Finance Act, 2003, the limitation period as contained in section 65 of the repealed Ordinance has also been provided in section 122 through insertion of sub-section (4A).

2. As regard the provisions of rule for the purposes of section 111 it is stated that rule 228 of Income Tax Rules, 2002 contains the procedure of valuation of assets."

Re-opening, conditions.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 6 of 1987 dated July 5, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Certain amendments have been made in section 65. Until now an assessment could be re-opened if:–

(i) definite information had come into the possession of the Income Tax Officer, or

(ii) previous approval of the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner had been obtained.

Sub-section (2) of section 65 has been amended to provide that an assessment can be reopened only when definite information comes into possession of the Income Tax Officer and he has obtained previous approval of the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner.

An Explanation has also been added to sub-section (2) ibid, which clarifies that the term 'definite information' shall include any information:–

(i) in respect of sales and purchases, made by the assessee, of any goods,

(ii) regarding acquisition, possession or transfer, by the assessee, of any money, asset or valuable article;

(iii) in respect of any investment made by the assessee; and

(iv) in respect of any expenditure made by the assessee.

The period during which an assessment can be reopened has also been reduced from ten years to five years, through an amendment in sub-section (3) of section 65. After the 30th June, 1987, a notice under sub-section (1) of section 65, in respect of any income year, can be issued within five years from the end of the assessment year in which the total income of the said income year was first assessable. It is, however, clarified that the said amendment shall not affect any proceedings, in respect of any income year, taken in pursuance of a notice under sub-section (1) of section 65 issued on or before 30th June, 1987."

Following is an extract from Circular No. 3 IT of 1967, dated April, 1967, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to say that in the case known as Commissioner of Income Tax v. Ahmed Ali Bros., Karachi, the High Court of West Pakistan, Karachi Bench, Karachi, has held that the information that the Municipal Corporation has fixed Annual Letting Value higher than that fixed by the Income-tax Officer does not constitute "definite information...."

The provision has been further explained by the CBR in its Circular letter C. No. 20(8)IT-1/84 dated February 7, 1985, the text of which is as follows:–

"In sub-section (3) of section 65 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, as it stood originally, a period of limitation at ten years for completion of additional assessment had been provided. In 1982, through an amendment in the Ordinance, sub-section (3) was substitutedandanewsub-section(3A)wasinsertedwhichprovidedaperiodoflimitationfor additional assessment at one year from the end of financial year in which the notice under sub-section (1) of section 65 was served. This provision was intended to be effective from 1st of July, 1982 i.e. in those cases where assessments were reopened after 30th June, 1982 as was explained in Board's Circular No. 8 of 1982 describing provisions of Finance Ordinance, 1982 relating to Income Tax.

A division bench of the Lahore High Court, however, held in writ petition No. 3590 of 1982 that the re-assessment orders passed after 30th June, 1982 in all cases where assessments had been re-opened before 30th June, 1981 had become barred by time since the inserted sub-section (3A) was of procedural nature and applied retrospectively to all pending cases also. As a result of this order re-assessments completed after the 30th June, 1982 in all cases where notices under sub-section (1) of section 65 had been served prior to the 30th June, 1981 became void and of no legal effect.

Sub-section (3A) was again substituted retroactively with effect from the 14th June, 1982 through the Finance Ordinance, 1984 and the substituted sub-section (3A) has specifically been made applicable to only those cases where notices under sub-section (1) were or are issued on or after 1st July, 1982. Through this substitution of sub-section (3A), the period of limitation for additional assessment stands restored at ten years in cases where notices under sub-section (1) were issued before 1st day of July, 1982.

In the context of cases where the re-assessment proceedings completed after 30th June, 1982 were held to be void and of no legal effect by the order of the High Court in the above-mentioned writ, the following questions have been referred to the Board:–

(i) Whether proceedings under section 65 can again be initiated in such cases,

(ii) Whether proceedings under section 65 left incomplete after the judgment of the learned Lahore High Court can again be started from the stage at which these were left incomplete in respect of cases re-opened on or before the 30th June, 1981.

The issues have been examined and it is clarified that:–

(i) Proceedings under section 65 can again be initiated by issuing a fresh notice under sub-section (1) in cases where additional assessments were declared to be void and of no legal effect provided period of limitation of ten years, as provided in the original sub-section (3), is still available. However, in such cases period of limitation for completion of additional assessment in pursuance of a fresh notice under sub-section (1) shall be one year from the end of financial year in which such notice is served as provided in the sub-section (3A) after the 1984 amendments.

(ii) Proceedings, in cases which were left incomplete can again be started from the stageatwhichthesewereleftincompleteandthelimitationtocompleteadditional assessmentinsuchcaseswouldbetenyearsaswasbefore the 1982 amendment."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1995 dated July 9, 1995:–

"Sub-Section (4) of Section 65 empowered CBR to specify cases or classes of cases for additional assessment proceedings. This power has been withdrawn by repealing sub-section (4). Thus, the additional assessment proceedings can be initiated only if:

a) assessing officer is in possession of definite information; and

b) previous approval of the IAC has been obtained." *[ref: 95 ITC 4 p. 3]

8-73-20-07-10

Comments.– Sub-section (4) had in fact become redundant in view of the change in the system to process self-assessment cases. Under the Self-Assessment Scheme of 1980-81, all cases were firstly to be assessed u/s 59(1) and then on selection for detailed scrutiny, these were to be re-opened. For such re-opening section 65(4) provided that the condition of definite information or approval by IAC would not apply.

Following is an extract from Circular No. 15 of 1980, dated June 26, 1980:–

"Two important amendments have been made in this section:

(a) At present there is no time limit for reopening of an assessment made under self-assessment scheme. A limit of 10 years which obtains in the case of normal assessments has been prescribed for self-assessment cases also.

(b) The self-assessment scheme envisages that, out of the cases accepted under the scheme, a certain number of cases may be selected by C.B.R. for detailed scrutiny. The amendment dispenses with the condition of definite information or approval of IAC in such cases."

The above extract explains the effect of substitution of sub-section (4) by Finance Ordinance, 1980.

Re-opening with prior approval of IAC instead of CIT.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's letter No. RCIT/165/J87-88/1373, dated September 5, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A case has come to the notice of the Board where the Income Tax Officer re-opened an income tax case on the directions of the CIT without obtaining prior approval of the IAC. On appeal the assessment framed was cancelled by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal causing loss of public revenue. The Board therefore has desired that all the Officers in your jurisdiction may kindly be apprised of the requirements of law for re-opening an assessment. Particularly in cases where higher Officers have ordered reopening of the assessment, before starting proceedings the Assessing Officers must observe strictly all the formalities as required under the law.

I am therefore directed to request you to kindly bring the observations/instructions of the Board to the notice of each officer in your jurisdiction.

All assessing officers may please be accordingly informed."

Show cause notice without IAC's approval.– Following is the text of CBR's letter No. 7(29)/S.Asstt/01, dated January 7, 2002, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to enclose a copy of Federal Tax Ombudsman's (FTO) order in complaint No. C711/2001 dated 29.12.2001 whereby the Honourable FTO has observed that the practice, prevailing in the department of issuing Pre-Show Cause Notice u/s 65 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 is completely illegal and unwarranted. It is stated that department may call it a pre-notice but, in fact, it amounts to initiations of proceedings u/s 65 of the said Ordinance. Such an action without obtaining prior approval, in writing of the Inspecting Additional Commission (IAC) is illegal, void and without any jurisdiction.

2. The matter has been examined in the light of the observations and recommendations of learned FTO and it has been decided that hence-forth Show Cause Notice prior to the issuance of notice u/s 65 of the Ordinance would not be issued. Any action, required u/s 65 of the Ordinance, must not be initiated without obtaining the prior written approval of the IAC. In view of above I am accordingly directed to request that all such pre-show cause notices issued earlier be withdrawn and cancelled and action if deemed necessary be taken u/s 65 after observing the legal requirements including approval of the IAC."

S. 122(5A)–Upward revision by CIT of assessment prejudicial to revenue or erroneous.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003 dated July 11, 2003:–

"Sub-section (5A) has been inserted to section 122. It empowers the Commissioner to amend an assessment order if the said order is erroneous in so far as it is prejudicial to the interest of the revenue. Such action, however, is to be completed within the time limit specified in sub-section (2) or sub-section (4) of section 122. However, where an assessment order was earlier passed under section 65 of the repealed Ordinance, the limitation contained in the section shall neither be curtailed nor extended by the provisions of sub-section (2) or sub-section (4) of section 122."

Invocation of the provisions.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter U.O. No. 316/96-Law, dated January 13, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Reference Central Board of Revenue's U.O. No. F.66(1) ITP/94, dated the 4th February, 1996, on the subject noted above.

2. I am directed to inform you that a person cannot be a judge of his own cause. On the same principle when an Inspecting Additional Commissioner acts as assessing officer, he cannot, in respect of such assessment, exercise the powers of revision under section 66A of the Income Tax Ordinance 1979. In that case, as provided under Section 5(1)(c) of the Ordinance, read with section 66A ibid, the revisional power shall be exerciseable by the Commissioner of Income Tax." [Ref:97 ITL 2 p. 1*]

Following is an extract from Circular No 9 of 1959 dated 15 April, 1959, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"This is a new provision of law. It gives Inspecting Assistant Commissioners power to review the order of Income-tax Officer. The powers so given to Inspecting Assistant Commissioner are very wide and in a way this new section vests in them all the powers of an Appellate Assistant Commissioner with the significant difference that an Appellate Assistant Commissioner can reduce or enhance an assessment or penalty only when appeal has been filed before him while an Inspecting Assistant Commissioner can pass an order under the new section of his own accord. It should, therefore, be obvious that while exercising such wide powers, the Inspecting Assistant Commissioners should exercise great care and caution. It is desirable that there should be no conflict of opinion between Appellate Assistant Commissioners and the Inspecting Assistant Commissioners. The Inspecting Assistant Commissioner should not take up any case for enhancement of the income where an appeal is pending before the Appellate Assistant Commissioner or the Tribunal. In such cases, the material on which the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner thinks that there is a case for enhancement of the income should be brought to the notice of the Appellate Tribunal or the Appellate Assistant Commissioner, through the Income tax Officers who should be directed to move these authorities to exercise their power to enhance the assessment. It is only in cases where no appeal proceedings are pending that the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner should take action under section 34A. Since this is a new section, the Board desires that every Inspecting Assistant Commissioners should get the approval of the Board of the first five of their orders under section 34A."

Revision of the assessment order.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1991 dated June 30, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Section 66A provides that where an order passed by the Income Tax Officer is found to be erroneous in so far as it is prejudicial to the interest of revenue, the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner (IAC) may revise such order. However, no such order could be revised by the IAC against which an appeal was filed by the assessee. Resultantly, frivolous appeals were sometime filed in order to protect the erroneous orders against any future revision by the IAC.

Section 66A has now been amended as a result of which its provisions shall apply even if any appeal has been filed under sections 129, 134 and 137 or a reference has been made under section 136. Where an appeal or reference has been decided, the revision of erroneous order of Income Tax Officer will still be possible in respect of a point or issue which was not the subject matter of such appeal or reference."

Revision of orders passed without lawful jurisdiction.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 14 of 1992 dated July 1, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"This provision has been brought to safeguard the interest of revenue where, through collusive arrangement or otherwise, an assessment is made without there being lawful jurisdiction over the case."

Restrospectivity or otherwise.– Following is the text of Circular Letter C. No. 1(48) IT-1/79, dated February 17, 1981, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It would be recalled that Section 34A of the repealed Income Tax Act, 1922 provided that the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax could re-open an assessment made by the Income Tax Officer if it was erroneous so far as it was prejudicial to the interest of revenue. No order could, however, be made under the said section after expiry of four years from the date of order sought to be revised. A corresponding provision was not available in the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 at the time of promulgation. However, Section 66A was inserted through Finance Ordinance, 1980 which corresponds to the provisions of Section 34A of the repealed Income Tax Act, 1922.

2. Certainquerieshavebeen made from the Board raising the following questions:–

(i) Whether the proceedings under Section 34A of the repealed Act pending on 1st July, 1979 have lapsed on repeal of the said Act;

(ii) Whether it is possible to revise assessments completed after the promulgation of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 but before the insertion of Section 66A in 1980.

3. The undersigned is directed to say that principle applicable in such cases is given in Section 6 of the General Clauses Act, according to which the repeal does not affect the proceedings already commenced unless the repealing Act otherwise intends. The repeal does not revive anything not in force or existing at the time the repeal takes effect. Hence the proceedings which were pending under the repealed Act may continue under that Act. However, if proceedings under Section 34A had not been initiated when the old Act was repealed Act (Sic). Similarly Section 66A does not have retrospective application. The assessments finalised before 1st July, 1980 cannot be reopened under Section 66A of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

(6) As soon as possible after making an amended assessment under [2][sub-section (1), sub-section (4) or sub-section (5A)], the Commissioner shall issue an amended assessment order to the taxpayer stating –

(a) the amended taxable income of the taxpayer;

(b) the amended amount of tax due;

(c) the amount of tax paid, if any; and

(d) the time, place, and manner of appealing the amended assessment.

(7) An amended assessment order shall be treated in all respects as an assessment order for the purposes of this Ordinance, other than for the purposes of sub-section (1).

(8) For the purposes of this section, "definite information" includes information on sales or purchases of any goods made by the taxpayer, [3][receipts of the taxpayer from services rendered or any other receipts that may be chargeable to tax under this Ordinance,] and on the acquisition, possession or disposal of any money, asset, valuable article or investment made or expenditure incurred by the taxpayer.

[1]Earlier, vide Notification No. SRO 633(I)/2002 dated September 14, 2002 issued u/s 240, it was provided that in making any assessment for the year beginning on the first day of July 2002 or making any deduction or collection of tax for the year beginning on the first day of July 2002, the Ordinance shall have effect as if after sub-section (5), sub-section (5A), as under, was inserted:–

"(5A) where a person does not produce accounts and records, or details of expenditure, assets and liabilities or any other information required for the purposes of audit under section 177, or does not file wealth statement under section 116, the Commissioner may, based on any available information and to the best of Commissioner's judgement, make an amended assessment."

This notification was later rescinded by Notification No. SRO 608(I)/2003 dated June 24, 2003. This provision has not been made part of section 122 by Finance Act, 2003 but has been incorporated in section 121 which is substituted by Finance Act, 2003. The sub-secton (5A) inserted by Finance Act, 2003 is different.

4. The undersigned is further directed to say that if there is any difficulty in applying this principle in a particular case, it may be referred to the Board for advice."

Judgement of Honourable Supreme Court of Pakistan on section 66A: In Glaxo Laboratories v Inspecting Assistant Commissioner and others [1992 SCC 910] the Honourable Supreme Court held that "the fact that in 1991 sub-section (1A) was added authorising IAC to initiate action u/s 66A even if appellate and revisional order has been passed, supports the contention that such a power did not exist earlier".

IAC's power, though involved in actual assessment work.– Following is an extract from a lecture delivered by Mr. S. A. Salam on July 9, 1980 under the auspices of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Pakistan, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Now this 66A is nothing but 34A of the Income-tax Act, 1922. It was omitted when the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, was promulgated. The authors thought that it was not required. Thus I.A.C. had no power to revise the order of the Income Tax Officer. When they (I.T.O. and I.A.C.) started making assessments last year we found that it was a wise decision. Because why should the I.A.C. revise the order of an I.T.O. when he himself is writing the order of the I.T.O. in many cases. Now

[1][(9) No assessment shall be amended, or further amended, under this section unless the taxpayer has been provided with an opportunity of being heard [2][:]]

[3][Provided that order under this section shall be made within one year of issuance of show cause notice or within such extended period as the Commissioner may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, so however, such extended period shall in no case exceed ninety days. This proviso shall be applicable to a show cause notice issued on or after the first day of July, 2021:

Provided further that any period during which the proceedings are adjourned on account of a stay order or Alternative Dispute Resolution proceedings or agreed assessment proceedings under section 122D or the time taken through adjournment by the taxpayer not exceeding sixty days shall be excluded from the computation of the period specified in the first proviso.]

[1]Sub-section (9) inserted by Finance Ordinance, 2002 dated June 15, 2002.

[2]Substituted for full stop by Finance Act, 2021 dated June 30, 2021.

[3]Provisos substituted by Finance Act, 2025 in force from July 1, 2025. Earlier these were inserted by Finance Act, 2021 dated June 30, 2021.

almost in all big and even medium cases the I.A.C. (in some Zones even the C.I.T.) is involved in the actual assessment work. But inspite of that the power to revise has now been given to the I.A.C. Here my humble suggestion to the practitioners is that we should adopt the same 'practice' which we used previously that when an I.T.O. passes an order and even if it pleases you but there are certain additions, please file an appeal before the A.A.C. even if it is likely to be rejected, because this 66A will be excluded (see various rulings of the Tribunal)."

"Provided that order under this section shall be made within one hundred and [1][eighty] days of issuance of show cause notice or within such extended period as the Commissioner may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, so however, such extended period shall in no case exceed ninety days. This proviso shall be applicable to a show cause notice issued on or after the first day of July, 2021.

Provided further that any period during which the proceedings are adjourned on account of a stay order or Alternative Dispute Resolution proceedings or agreed assessment proceedings under section 122D or the time taken through adjournment by the taxpayer not exceeding sixty days shall be excluded from the computation of the period specified in the first proviso."

Sections 120 to 122–Misc.

Mobile phone subscribers.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 7(5)/s.Asstt./95 dated April 2, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to refer to the correspondence resting with the Board's letter of even number dated 15-01-1995 on the above subject and to request that the assessing officers may be directed that while corresponding with the mobile phone subscribers to confirm their tax status/NTN, the source of the information i.e. Paktel etc. should not be mentioned in such correspondence." *[ref: 95 ITL 13 p. 6]

Copy of 'order sheet' and inspection of record.– Following is the text of Circular No. 15 of 1958, dated October 8, 1958 explaining corresponding provisions of the repealed Act, 1922:–

"It has been represented to the Board that some Income-tax Officers do not grant to assesseecopiesoftheentriesmadeintheorder-sheets.The assessee's right to obtain a copy ofsuchentriesintheordersheetasarerelevanttohisassessmentorpenaltyproceedinghas alwaysbeenrecognizedbytheDepartment.TheBoard is of the view that in fairness and in law, this practice should continue and the Income-tax Officers should, on application from assessees grant copy of extracts of such entries in the order sheet as are relevant to the assessment or penalty proceedings; for example, entries relating to Incomes-tax Officers order directing issue of notices under Section 22(2) and Section 34 or those under Sections 22(4) and 23(2)are entriesrelevanttotheassessmentproceedings.Similarly,the entries,in theordersheetrelatingtotheissueof a notice under sub-section (3) of section 28, the entry relating to the submission of the record to the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner for the approval of the penalty and the entry relating to the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner's approval of the penalty are entries relevant to a penalty proceeding. Entries in the order sheet which are of a confidential nature and which are in respect of matters essentially betweentheIncome-taxOfficerandhissuperiorofficersorhissubordinatesorother Income tax Officers, should be treated as purely departmental record and a copy of the entries of this nature should not be given. In fact, such entries should be recorded in a separate file altogether. In this connection attention is invited to Board's Circular No. 51 of 1942 dated the 30th of October, 1942, which states inter alia:–

".....all correspondence and notices of discussions between the Income-tax Officer and his superior officers including the Board itself and the Excess Profit Tax Adviser (excepting such correspondence as may relate to the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner's statutory functions) should be kept in a separate confidential file which should in no case accompany the record either to the Appellate Assistant Commissioner or the Tribunal. So far, therefore, as the Appellate Authorities at the High Court are concerned, the assessment or other order appealed against would be the order of the Income-tax Officer".

It appears that these instructions are not being followed. The Board, therefore, directs that a separate file and a separate order-sheet should be maintained for entries of a confidential or departmental nature. Apart from saving the Income tax Officer's time, which he would have to spend otherwise in determining the entries in respect of which he can grant copies, this would also ensure secrecy of the contents of the entries which are of confidential nature.

2. Copy of the order sheet or of extracts therefrom is chargeable to court fee under Schedule I of Article 6 of the Court Fee Act. Such copy or copies should, therefore, be issued on payment of the proper court fee and copying fee.

3. Attention is also invited to the following instructions contained in the Board's Circular No. 32-C(2) IT-28, dated 23rd March, 1928:–

"The assessee cannot be held to have any right to inspect his assessment file either in person or through a representative. There may be cases in which it would be unreasonable to refuse the assessee or his representative access for the purpose of reference to original documents filed in the case, of which the assessee is entitled to have copies, specially if they are very bulky (e.g. balance sheets), or such that a copy would not serve the purpose completely".

These instructions are still in force and should be followed."

FollowingisthetextofCircularLetterNo.IT.JI-13(10)/83 dated September 30, 1985, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Taxpayersareentitledtoobtaincopiesofsuchdocumentsavailableintheirassessment records as are of an unconfidential nature on payment of prescribed fees. Once payment of the required fee has been made by the taxpayer concerned it is obligatory on the Income Tax Office to issue the requisite documents to the applicant within a reasonable time.

2. Instances have come to the notice of the Board where copies (in such cases) were not issued promptly forcing the taxpayers to seek the intervention of administrative/ appellate authorities for the purpose. Delay in the provision of copies of documents is not only improper but also amounts to denial of justice to the taxpayers.

3. It may, therefore, be brought home to all concerned that copies of documents may be issued within a reasonable time after the payment of requisite fees. Delay in issuance of copies may be avoided. Inspecting officers may keep a watch over this aspect of work and take appropriate corrective action wherever required."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C.No. 3(9)IT-IV/78, dated March 28, 1978 as reported in the Third Edition of CBR's Income Tax Manual Part V, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to say that it has come to the notice of the Board that some officers are not clear about an assessee's right to the inspection of the order sheet in his income tax file. It is accordingly clarified that an order sheet being a record of day to day proceedings in the case, is not, as such a privileged document and its inspection cannot be refused to the assessee or his counsel, if so applied for by them in the prescribed manner. The assessee is also entitled to take copies of the entries in the order sheet.

(2) Where, in consequence of any confidential information, an assessment already completed is reopened and it is not considered advisable to disclose to the assessee the confidential information, the Income Tax Officer should not bring such confidential information on the order sheet. He should, however, record on the order sheet the reason within the meaning of sub-section (1) of section 65 for initiating the proceeding. In this regard, all that the assessee is entitled to know is for which of the reasons mentioned in section 65(1) has the Income Tax Officer initiated the action."

Income tax proceedings, proper opportunity to assessees.– Following is the text of Circular No. 19 of 1957, dated August 17, 1957, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In course of a recent judgment Amin Ahmad (C.J.), of the Dacca High Court made the following observations:–

"We fail to understand why the assessee should be made to pay much higher than what was warranted by the accounts produced by him on the basis of confidential enquiry by the Income tax authority without giving him an opportunity to place his case or explanation. It is of course open to the authorities to assess on the basis of the records and other information and enquiry but in doing so the authorities cannot rely on material which are not disclosed or kept unknown to assessee without giving him hearing in respectofthesame".(In the matter of Mr. Gopi Mohan Saha-Reference case No. 1 of 1955).

This obvious principle of natural justice has been emphasized time and again by competent Courts. In Seth Gurmukh Singh vs. C.I.T., Punjab (1944-ITR-393), Din Mohammad (J), remarked; "but all the same as remarked by me in Ganga Ram Balmakund vs. C.I.T., he (I.T.O.) is required to proceed without bias and give sufficient opportunity to the assessee to place his case before him as well as to meet the case made out against him." "More emphatic is the language used by Kania (C.J) in the well known Bombay High Court's decision in Sarupchand Hukamchand's case (1945-ITR-249). The learned Chief Justice observed "in fairness and in law it is a duty of the authority entrusted with the task of recording its finding to give every opportunity to the other side to meet the case which the authority thought was in existence" (Page 256).

2. The Board has noticed with some disappointment that the principle of law which has so often been emphasized is sometimes ignored by Income-tax Officers. When assessment is made or some other order is passed in disregard to this principle, there is little chance of its success in appeal. Set aside of such assessment or order by the Appellate Authorities is almost inevitable. And set-aside of an order or an assessment can only mean waste of every body's time and delay in the collection of the tax. The Board, therefore, desires that the Commissioner and the Inspecting Assistant Commissioners should impress on the Income-tax Officers, the importance of observance of this rule.

3. A question has also been raised how far this principle can be given practical application when accounts are rejected and profits are estimated on the basis of comparable cases. In other words, should the Income-tax Officer, in these circumstances, disclose to the assesse all the details regarding the comparable cases, which have formed the basis of the estimate of the profits? The Board is of the view that in such cases the principle laid downby the Madras High Court in Gadiredy Peda Narasimhula Naidu & Sons vs. Commissioner of Income Tax, Madras (1952-21-ITR-70) should be followed i.e. only such details in respect of the comparable cases should be supplied to the assessee as can possibly be disclosed without infringing the provisions of section 54 of the Income Tax Act."

RCIT's approval to assessment.– Following is the text of RCIT, Central Region's Letter No. S-610/J/4888 dated January 19, 1988, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Recently various investigations were being conducted by various officers on directions of this office. In such cases valuable informations had been directly received by this office and the utilization of the said information is expected to generate substantial revenue. It is desired that in all cases where investigations/ inquiries are initiated on the directions of this office, the assessment order should be got approved from this office before being released. The instructions may please be brought to the notice of all officers in your charge."

Preparation of IT-30 Forms.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. 4(6)IT-3/88 dated February 18, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that inspite of repeated instructions, issued from time to time, the assessing officers/staff are not exercising do care while preparing/signing IT-30 forms. Some of the common deficiencies noted are:–

(i) Casting errors mostly in favour of the department.

(ii) Omitting to allow credit for tax payments under section 53 and 54.

(iii) Omitting to allow statutory compensation under section 53(4).

(iv) Omitting to allow credit for tax deducted and paid at source under section 50.

(v) Allowingcreditfortax paid through deduction at source u/s 50 only to the extent of tax demand and leaving the balance amount unadjusted without any reason.

(vi) Omitting to determine refunds.

(vii) Omitting to fill in all relevant columns of IT-30 form.

(viii) Preparations of assessment forms and demand notices carelessly resulting into illegible copies.

2. I am directed to request that the assessing officer may kindly be instructed to exercise due care in the preparation of IT-30 forms. It may be ensured that supervisors duly check the IT-30 forms. They may be held responsible for deficiencies, if any, detected later through inspection or otherwise."

Service of orders.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 4(6)IT-3/88 dated February 17, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that officers are sometimes not vigilant about service of such orders as provide relief to the tax-payers or do not require payment of further tax demand. Legally proper service of all orders is essential.

2. I am directed to say that instructions may please be issued to all officers that they should strictly observe the law. Service of an order and demand notice should be ensured in each case irrespective of the fact whether it carries any tax demand or not.

3. The concerned Inspecting Assistant Commissioners should also take into consideration this aspect while making casual inspections."

Accountability of assessing officers.– Please see CBR's Circular No. 16 of 1994 dated July 26, 1994 [ref: 94 ITC 16 p. 39] under footnote titled "Payment of 50% tax before appeal" given after section 134.

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 2(105)DTP-II/94 dated October 19, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Please refer to your letter No. S.O.II.50(3-A) 94-95/1238 dated 21-9-1994.

2. The undersigned is directed to refer to CBR's Circular No. 16/1994 (Income-tax) wherein it has been provided that the disciplinary proceedings shall be initiated against an assessing officer if five of his assessments are reversed by the appellate authorities for the reasons that the orders were passed in perfunctory manner without bringing any supportive material evidence on record. The intention behind the issuance of aforementioned circular was to eliminate the abuse of discretion by assessing officers and to ensure fair and judicious assessments. The intention is not to curb the legitimate initiative of the assessing officers in proper determination of income profits and gains in any case. It may be added that the circular equally emphasizes rewarding assessments that are framed with care and caution that yield additional revenues.

The basis on which the said five assessments are to be selected has been clearly spelled out in the circular. Such cases are to be identified by the respective Zonal Commissioner for disciplinary action."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1991 dated March 10, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to state that it is one of the most persistent complaints that assessing officers often make very harsh and arbitrary assessments. Although these are rectified in appeal yet such assessments and the consequent recovery proceedings create much suffering for the tax payers. However, no action is taken against the officers making such assessments.

2. The problems was discussed during the Commissioner's Conference and it has been decided that all Commissioners of Income Tax shall examine all those cases in which substantial relief is allowed in appeal. In case the relief allowed is considered justified, the case will be reported to the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax who may call upon the assessing officer to explain his position. Suitable action shall be taken if the explanation is unsatisfactory. The Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) may also taken note of unjust assessments in their orders."

Compulsory detection of concealment cases.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 11/91-S (DOT-II) dated January 7, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It is essential that the habit of paying correct taxes is inculcated in the taxpayers. Whereas this can be encouraged on the one hand by placing confidence in them, such as through the Self Assessment Scheme, on the other it can be done by building up a deterrence against incorrect reporting of income through the detection of cases of concealment of income and coming those to their logical conclusions.

2. The Board has viewed with serious concern that very little efforts in that direction are being made by the assessing officers. It has, therefore, been decided that every assessing officer shall be required to give a minimum of five concealment cases this year. These cases should be such in which prosecution proceedings can be initiated.

3. I am directed to say that all assessing officers may be informed in this regard. Their efforts in this behalf shall be duly recorded in their ACRs for 1991."

Approval of concealment cases from the RCIT.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Regions' Letter No. RCIT/J-52/89-90/2890 dated January 26, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to invite your kind attention to Board's letter C. No. 5(8)IT.Inf/90 dated 12.5.1990 on the subject whereby it has been required that in order to make assessments fit for launching prosecutions against tax dodgers, cases involving suspected concealment of Rs. 1.000 million or more may be decided by the assessing authority only with the prior approval of this authority.

I am further directed to clarify that the Board's above referred letter does not envisage approval of cases involving valuation u/s 13(2) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979. Such orders may be approved by the CITs or the IACs if so desired by a Zonal Commissioner. However, the Commissioner can seek guidance of this office on case to case basis, if they so desire."

Visits of inspectors.– Following is the text of an urdu pamphlet issued by the CBR's vide C. No. 7(5) UT-14/93 dated June 26, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"An assessing officer could frame a provisional assessment where a concealed asset:–

i) is impounded by a government agency; or

ii) comes to the knowledge of the assessing officer.

With the amendment of section 60A(1) the assessing officer can now make a provisional assessment only in the event described at (i) above." [Ref:97 ITC 6 p. 6*]

S. 124(1)–Limitation of assessment in certain cases.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The provisions of this section are similar to those contained in section 34 of the repealed Act. However, a new provision has been made in respect of the assessments set aside in full or in part by the Appellate Assistant Commissioner or the Tribunal. Where no urther appeal has been filed against such order, the re-assessment shall be completed within one year from the end of the financial year in which such order is received by the Income Tax Officer. Previously, there was no time limit on completion of set aside assessments. The provision has been inserted to remove the genuine grievance of the assessees that set aside assessments were not finalised expeditiously."

S. 124(2)-Assessment giving effect to an order.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 10, dated July 16, 2010:-

"Since the Commissioner appeal is no more empowered to set-aside an assessment, therefore necessary amendment in sub-section (2) of section 124 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 has been made to delete the reference pertaining to "setaside orders"."

Disposal of set aside cases.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 3 of 1962, dated January 20, 1962, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The Board therefore directs that all assessments set aside on appeal should be disposed of within six months from the date of the appellate order."

(3) Where an assessment order has been set aside or modified, the proceedings may commence from the stage next preceding the stage at which such setting aside or modification took place and nothing contained in this Ordinance shall render necessary the re-issue of any notice which had already been issued or the re-furnishing or re-filing of any return, statement, or other particulars which had already been furnished or filed.

(4) Where direct relief is provided in an order under section 129 or 132, the Commissioner shall issue appeal effect orders within two months of the date the Commissioner is served with the order.

[1][(4A) Where the Commissioner (Appeals), Appellate Tribunal, High Court or Supreme Court has confirmed the tax payable as determined in the order appealed against no appeal effect order will be required to be issued and the Commissioner shall proceed to effect recovery.

(4B) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) where the Appellate Tribunal, High Court or Supreme Court has partly set aside the order and confirmed or modified the order on some other issues that were subject matter of the appeal, the Commissioner shall issue an appeal effect order on the prescribed form determining the tax payable as a result of the confirmation or modification by the Appellate Tribunal, High Court or Supreme Court and excluding the tax payable on the matters that have been set aside or remanded and the tax payable on the basis of the issues that have been confirmed or modified shall be paid or recovered under the provisions of the Ordinance.]

S. 124(2)- Providing Limitation on Commissioner (Appeals) to make Order in Cases Set-Aside by ITAT.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circualr No. 5 of 2008 dated July 05, 2008:-

"No limitation for making a fresh order by Commissioner (Appeals) was provided in sub-section (2) of section 124 where an order has been set-aside by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal for re-adjudication by CIT (A). Such cases were generally not decided by the Commissioner (Appeals) promptly, causing unnecessary hardship to the appellant taxpayers.

12.2 Limitation period as provided in sub-section (2) of section 124 of the Ordinance for making order consequent to directions of the Tribunal, would now be applicable to CIT (A) as well for making order remitted back to him by ITAT. This amendment would mitigate the grievance of the taxpayers."

Limitation in case of further appeal or reference against setting aside Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2005 dated July 5, 2005:-

"Section 124 implied that even in cases where the Department or the taxpayer had gone into second appeal or reference against the order setting aside the original assessment (full or partly), the Commissioner would have to complete the reassessment within the limitation period of one year. This created unnecessary workload and hardship for taxpayers and at times led to multiplicity of appeals. A proviso after section 124(2) has been added which envisages that limitation provided under this sub-section shall not apply, if an appeal or reference has been preferred against the order by any authority, tribunal or court of setting aside the assessment."

S. 124(3)–Assessment after appellate decision.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 6 of 1987 dated July 5, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A new section 62A has been introduced which provides that where an assessment or re-assessment or any order made under the Ordinance has been annulled, set aside, cancelled or modified, further proceedings may commence from the stage next preceding the stage at which such annulment, setting aside, cancellation or modification took place and it would not be necessary to issue any notice which had already been issued or require the tax payer to again furnish or file such return, statement or other particulars which had already been furnished or filed by him. In many cases, however, the situation may demand that the assessee be given a further opportunity before the finalisation of the post-appeal proceedings. In such cases the requisite notices may invariably be issued."

(5) Where, by any order referred to in sub-section (1), any income is excluded –

(a) from the computation of the taxable income of a taxpayer for any year and held to be included in the computation of the taxable income of the taxpayer for another year; or

(b) from the computation of the taxable income of one taxpayer and held to be included in the computation of the taxable income of another taxpayer, the assessment or amended assessment relating to that other tax year or other taxpayer, as the case may be, shall be treated as an assessment or amended assessment to be made in consequence of, or to give effect to, a finding or direction contained in such order.

(6) Nothing in this Part shall prevent the issuing of an assessment order or an amended assessment order to give effect to an order made under Part III of this Chapter by the Commissioner (Appeals), [1][if the value of the assessment or, as the case may be, refund of the tax does not exceed twenty million rupees,] Appellate Tribunal, High Court, or Supreme Court.

[2][(7) The provisions of this section shall in like manner apply to any order issued by any High Court or the Supreme Court in exercise of original or appellate jurisdiction.]

[3][124A.Powers of tax authorities to modify orders, etc.–(1) Where a question of law has been decided by a High Court or the Appellate Tribunal in the case of an assessee, on or after first day of July 2002, the Commissioner may, notwithstanding that he has preferred an appeal against the decision of the High Court or made an application for reference against the order of the Appellate Tribunal, as the case may be, follow the said decision in the case of the said assessee in so far as it applies to said question of law arising in any assessment pending before the Commissioner until the decision of the High Court or of the Appellate Tribunal is reversed or modified.

[3]Section 124A inserted by Finance Ordinance, 2002 dated June 15, 2002.

Comments:– In the Finance Act, 1987, a new section 62A was inserted giving the assessing officers power to start the case next preceding the stage at which any assessment or any order was annulled, set-aside, cancelled or modified. In Circular No. 6 of 1987 the CBR explained that opportunity already given to the assessee need not to given for finalising the post-appeal proceedings. The provision was made inapplicable by virtue of clause (7) Part IV of the Second Schedule after a number of representations were made that it violates the principles of natural justice. This provision has now been made live for reasons best known to the CBR. The main objection against this kind of post-appeal powers to the assessing officers is that it violates the principle of opportunity of being heard and observation of due procedure of law.

S. 124A–Powers of tax authorities to modify orders.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 13, 2002 dated August 9, 2002, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A new section 62BB has been added which provides that where a question of law, in the case of assessee, has been decided by the High Court or the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, on or after July 1, 2002, the DCIT may follow the said decision on similar issues at the time of framing any pending assessment of such assessee notwithstanding the fact that a reference application against the order of ITAT or an appeal against the order of the High Court has been filed. In case, the decision followed by the DCIT is reversed or modified, the assessment framed on the basis of earlier decision of the High Court or Appellate Tribunal, can be modified accordingly within one year from the date of receipt of the final decision."

(2) In case the decision of High Court or the Appellate Tribunal, referred to in sub-section (1), is reversed or modified, the Commissioner may, notwithstanding the expiry of period of limitation prescribed for making any assessment or order, within a period of one year from the date of receipt of decision, modify the assessment or order in which the said decision was applied so that it conforms to the final decision.]

125. Assessment in relation to disputed property.– Where the ownership of any property the income from which is chargeable to tax under this Ordinance is in dispute in any Civil Court in Pakistan, an assessment order or amended assessment order in respect of such income may be issued at any time within one year after the end of the financial year in which the decision of the Court is made.

126. Evidence of assessment.– (1) The production of an assessment order or a certified copy of an assessment order shall be conclusive evidence of the due making of the assessment and, except in proceedings under Part III of this Chapter relating to the assessment, that the amount and all particulars of the assessment are correct.

(2) Any [1][order] of assessment or other document purporting to be made, issued, or executed under this Ordinance may not be–

(a) quashed or deemed to be void or voidable for want of form; or

(b) affected by reason of any mistake, defect, or omission therein, if it is, in substance and effect, in conformity with this Ordinance and the person assessed, or intended to be assessed or affected by the document, is designated in it according to common understanding.

S. 127(2)–substitution–Before substitution by Finance Act, 2021 read as follows:–

"(2) No appeal under sub-section (1) shall be made by a taxpayer against an order of assessment unless the taxpayer has paid,–

(a) the amount of tax due under sub-section (1) of section 137, and

*[1][/(b) No appeal under sub-section (1), shall be made by a taxpayer [2][/against] an order of assessment unless the taxpayer has paid the amount of tax due under sub-section (1) of section 137./]]"

*The apparently intended substitution is of entire sub-section (2) instead of only clause (b) of sub-section (2). Thus there is duplication of wording, i.e. the wording of opening sentence of sub-section (2) combined with that of clause (a) is identical to that of clause (b).

[1]Clause (b) substituted by Finance Act, 2004, w.e.f. July 1, 2004.

[2]Substituted for "again" by Finance Act, 2014 dated June 26, 2014.

S. 127–Substitution of sub-sections (1) & (2)–. Before substitution by Finance Ordinance, 2002 read as follows:–

"(1) Any person dissatisfied with any proceeding under this Ordinance in which an order has been issued by a Commissioner of Income Tax (other than the Commissioner (Appeals)) or a taxation officer may prefer an appeal to the Commissioner (Appeals) against the order."

"(2) No appeal may be made by a taxpayer against an assessment unless the amount of tax due under the assessment that is not in dispute and fifteen per cent of the disputed tax has been paid by the taxpayer."

Sub-section (2), Clause (b).– Before substitution by Finance Act, 2004, read as follows:–

"(b) an amount equal to–

(i) fifteen percent of the amount of tax assessed as is in excess of the tax due under sub-section (1) of section 137, or

(ii) twenty percent of the amount of tax assessed for the immediately preceding tax year, and where a person has not been assessed to tax for that tax year, thirty percent of the amount of tax mentioned in clause (a), whichever is less."

S. 127–Appeals to the Commissioner (Appeals).– Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 7 of 2011 dated July 01, 2011:–

"The existing provisions of section 127 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 do not specify the eligibility of a taxpayer to file an appeal before the Commissioner (Appeals) against a provisional assessment framed under section 122C. However, after the receipt of assessment order of a provisional assessment, taxpayers tend to abate provisional assessment by filing an appeal. Therefore, to strengthen the return filing requirement, through this express amendment, "provisional assessment" has been excluded from the purview of appellate jurisdiction of the Commissioner (Appeals)."

S. 127(1) & (4)-Filing Of Appeal Before The Commissioner Of Income Tax (Appeals).- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Sub section (1) of section 127 has been amended providing that if an order giving effect to any findings or directions to any order is made under Part III of Chapter X by the Taxation Officer and the taxpayer is not satisfied with the order passed, the tax payer may again contest such order before the CIT (Appeals). It was a lacuna in law which has been removed. This amendment will help the taxpayer to contest the legal issues before the appellate for a, even if no tax liability is involved in the order passed by the Taxation Officer.

Further, previously a taxpayer was not allowed to file appeal against charge of additional tax u/s 205 of the Ordinance. Now after amendment in sub-section (1) of section 127 the taxpayer can file appeal against such order u/s 205. Sub-section (4) has also been amended to fix appeal fee at Rs. 1,000/- instead of determining the fee in relation to the tax assessed."

S. 127(2)–Relief from payment of disputed tax demand for filing appeal.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 17 of 2004 dated July 17, 2004:–

"The condition of payment of 15% of disputed tax demand or 20% of tax assessed for the last tax year etc. has been omitted. It would be applicable in respect of appeals filed before Commissioner (Appeals) on or after July 1, 2004 irrespective of the year of assessment."

Following is an extract from the Finance Minister's Budget Speech of June 12, 2004:–

"Elimination of mandatory payment in cases of disputes: Our Government is conscious of administering speedy justice and fast dispute resolution process. Mandatory payment of 15% of disputed tax demand for the filing of first appeal has been found to be bottleneck in this process. It is, therefore, proposed to remove the condition of mandatory payment of tax, which would facilitate dispensation of justice."

Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill, 2004' explaining the amendment:–

"Seeks to remove the condition of mandatory payment of 15% of disputed tax or 20% of tax assessed for immediate proceeding tax year for filing of appeal to Commissioner (Appeals)."

Appeal against recovery on non-collection or non-deduction.– Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill, 2004' explaining the amendment:–

"Seeks to provide right of appeal to persons from whom tax was not collected or deducted and order for recovery is passed by the Commissioner."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 17 of 2004 dated July 17, 2004:–

"Section 162 of the Ordinance empowers the Commissioner to recover the amount not collected or deducted from the person from whom tax should have been collected or to whom the payment was made. Such person is not provided a remedy for redressal of his grievances, if any, by way of filing appeal against such order. Section 127 of the Ordinance has been amended to provide for filing of appeal by such person against Commissioner's order."

Sub-section (1)–Appealable orders.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The provisions of the new section are similar to those of old Section 30. However, the following orders of the Income Tax Officers have also been made appealable:–

1. Refusal to allow refund under Section 98 or 99.
2. Levy of penalty on liquidator under Section 114.
3. Levy of penalty for obstruction under Section 115.

Electronic filing of appeal.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 02 of 2021 dated July 01, 2021:-

"The mechanism of online filing of appeals has been made available to taxpayers.

However, enabling legal provisions were lac king which have been introduced through section 127 in the Ordinance."

8-159-15-07-2021

4. Levy of penalty for failure to give evidence under Section 148.

5. Treating a resident as agent of a non-resident under Section 78.

6. An order under Section 156 rectifying the mistake apparent from record if the order enhances the tax or reduces the refund.

It may be pertinent to point out that orders involving provisions of Section 84 (Sections 44E and 44F of the repealed Act) are still appealable as these are part of order under Section 62 or 63 which is appealable."

Appeal by a person held in default under section 127(1).– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 6 of 1987 dated July 5, 1989, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Under section 52, if a person fails to deduct or collect, or fails to pay, tax under section 50, he is deemed to be to an assessee in default in respect of such tax. Until now, such person was not provided with a right of appeal against an order passed under section 52 holding him to be an assessee in default. He has now been given a right of appeal through an amendment in section 129."

Appeal against add backs u/s 127.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 15 of 1980, dated June 26, 1980, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"While making an assessment under self-assessment scheme u/s 59 an Income Tax Officer, is authorised to make certain adjustments and add-backs. However, no appeal is provided against any un-warranted adjustments and add-backs. An appeal has now been provided for such an eventuality."

Appeal against penalty for obstruction.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1982, dated July 8, 1982, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"By the Finance Ordinance, 1980 section 115 was amended to assign the power of imposing penalty for obstructing any income tax authority to the Commissioner. Reference to section 115 in section 129 has been omitted. However, relief against the order under section 115 can be sought in revisionary jurisdiction from the Regional Commissioner under section 138."

Appeal against refusal to rectify a mistake.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 10 of 1979, dated October 1, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Section156provides that where no action is taken on an application by the assessee by end of the financial year next following the year in which such application is made, the mistake sought to be rectified shall be deemed to be rectified. Difficulty arises where application of the assessee is unjustly rejected, as no remedy is provided in law against such eventuality. In order to remove this difficulty, Section 129 has been amended by a notification under Section 167 to provide appeal against such order of refusal to rectify."

Appeal against order u/s 7.– Following is an extract from Circular CBR's No. 16 of 1986 dated July 22, 1986, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In the case of shipping and air transport business of non-residents, no right of appeal existed against the order passed by the Income Tax Officer under sections 80 and 80A. Section 129 has been amended and henceforth orders under sections 80 and 80A have been appealable."

Sub-section (2)–Mandatory tax payment before appeal.– It has been held by a Division Bench of the Lahore High Court (Rawalpindi Bench) that the provision of section 129(2) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, requiring deposit of 15% tax, as pre-condition for filing of an appeal, is unconstitutional and without lawful authority. (Ref: M/s. Medicinal Management (Pvt.) Ltd. W.P. No. 1882/2002, decided on October 24, 2003.

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 3 of 2001, dated May 25, 2001, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The Board has received queries seeking clarification of provisions of sub-section (2) of section 129 relating to payment of 15% tax on filing of appeals, which were introduced through the Finance Ordinance, 2000, apply to all appeals under section 129 on or after 1st July 2000 or only to the appeals relating to assessment year 2000-2001.

2. The matter has been examined by the Board. It is clarified that as laid down by the Lahore High Court in Essential Industries versus Central Board of Revenue 1969 PLD 24, the 15% tax payable under sub-section (2) of section 129 on filing of appeals under that section is payable in respect of appeals relating to assessment year 2000-2001 and onwards."

Following is the text of CBR's letter No. F. 129(1)DTP/94, dated 14th May, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to say that under sub-section (2) of section 129 of the Income Tax Ordinance payment of 15% of tax assessed is mandatory for admissibility of first appeal. Clarifications, in this regard, covering various situations were issued vide CBR's letter of even number dated 24th August, 1994.

2. Instances have been brought to the notice of the Board where creation of superfluous tax demand caused hardship to the taxpayers as 15% mandatory payment of such assessed tax, had to be made for filing of an appeal. In some such cases mistakes glaringly apparent from record could be rectified thereby reducing tax liability and, consequentially, the amount of 15% payment for appeal. Allowing rectification applications in such cases to remain pending for considerable periods adds to the problems of taxpayers unnecessarily.

3. In view of the foregoing, it is requested that suitable instructions may kindly be issued to the assessing officers to avoid creation of superfluous demand, and to process the rectification applications in such cases in accordance with law, as soon as possible.

4. It is essential that remedial action in such cases is taken promptly to provide relief, wherever due, to the taxpayers."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 10 of 1996 dated 16th July, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The requirement of mandatory payment of 15% and 50% of assessed tax for the admission of an appeal at first and second stages of appeals, respectively, has been discontinued. The amendment shall be effective from assessment year 1996-97." [Ref:96 ITC 10 p. 25*]

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 16 of 1994 dated July 26, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"1. Amendments have been made in section 129 and section 134 of the Income Tax Ordinance,1979,by virtueofwhich,paymentofacertain minimum amount has been made obligatory for admittance of appeals before the AAC/CIT (Appeals) and the Appellate Tribunal. Now onwards a tax-payer shall have to pay at least 15% and 50% of the amount of tax assessed, prior to filing of appeals before the two forums, respectively.

2. Whereas the new enactment is expected to curb the general tendency of filing frivolous appeals, it also places and added responsibility on the assessing officer to pass fair and judicious assessment orders. Creation of bogus tax demand would not only result in unnecessary hardships for the genuine tax payer but the revenue shall also stand to lose, as an additional amount @ 15% per annum shall also have to be paid alongwith the refund of excess tax paid, if the assessees appeal is accepted by the Appellate Tribunal.

3. Taking cognizance of this fact, it has been decided that whereas good assessments framed with care and caution which yield additional revenues to the Government, would be adequately rewarded, disciplinary proceedings shall be initiated against an assessing officer if five of his assessments are reversed by the Appellate

Authorities for the reasons that the orders were passed in a perfunctory manner without bringing any supportive material evidence on record.

4. In thisviewofthematter,theassessingofficerswouldbewell advised to be mindful of the fact that this amendment should in no way be taken as a license to create harassment and every effort should be made to pass balanced orders, likely to stand the test of appeal.

5. Respective Zonal Commissioner shall closely monitor this aspect and cases of misuse of power be recorded in their Annual Confidential Reports and brought to the notice of the Board recommending disciplinary action for "misconduct" under the Efficiency and Discipline Rules. Pending such action the officer would also be shifted from the assessment charge."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 129(1)DTP-1/94 dated September 28, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No. 6306/7-8/94 dated September 15, 1994 on the subject and to say that the newly introduced condition in section 129 regarding mandatory payment of tax applies to all orders being appealed against under section 129(1), which inter-alia include an order under section 52. The condition of mandatory payment will therefore, be applicable to impugned orders under section 52."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 129(1)DTP-1/94-PL-i dated October 19, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to enclose copy of Income Tax (Fourth Amendment) Ordinance, 1994 promulgated by the President on October 16, 1994 adding the following proviso in sub-section (2) of section 129:

1. "Provided that the total amount payable under this sub-section shall not exceed by twenty per cent of the total tax assessed for the preceding year."
2. The upper limit for mandatory payment has been imposed in order to alleviate hardship in genuine cases. It carries the following implication:
   (i) Thestayofdemand under section 85 will continue to remain effective to the extent of 85% of the demand, in case appeal is filed under section 129; But
   (ii) thebalanceamount not covered by mandatory payment will by recoverable.
3. In supersession of earlier instructions on the subject, it is further clarified that the provisions relating to mandatory payment introduced through Finance Act, 1994 and Income Tax (Fourth Amendment) year 1994-95 and onwards."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 129(1)DTP-1/94 Pt-I dated October 19, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to enclose copy of Income Tax (Fourth Amendment) Ordinance, 1994 promulgated by the President on October 16, 1994 adding the following proviso in sub-section (2) of section (129):

"Provided that the total amount payable under this sub-section shall not exceed by twenty per cent of the total tax assessed for the preceding year."

2. The upper limit for mandatory payment has been imposed in order to alleviate hardship in genuine cases. It carries the following implications:

(i) The stay of demand under section 85 will continue to remain effective to the extent of 85% of the demand, in case appeal is filed under section 129; But

(ii) the balance amount not covered by mandatory payment will be recoverable.

3. In supersession of earlier instructions on the subject it is further clarified that the provisions relating to mandatory payment introduced through Finance Act, 1994 and Income Tax (Fourth Amendment) Ordinance, 1994 are applicable to proceedings relating to assessment year 1994-95 and onwards."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 129(1)DTP-1/94 dated November 10, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No. CLAR/FA/MISC-94, dated October 20, 1994 on the subject and to comment on various queries raised by you, as under:

(i) "Whether the tax u/s 129(2) is payable on additional tax levied in addition to liability u/s 54?"

"Tax" includes "additional tax" as defined in section 2(43).

(ii) "Whether tax deducted u/s 50, 53 or paid u/s 54 is in excess of admitted liability or a refund of previous year can be adjusted against tax u/s 129(2) and fee u/s 130(1)?"

The refund assessed for preceding years can be got adjusted against tax payable under impugned order but not against appeal fee.

(iii) "Whether payment of tax u/s 54 and fee u/s 130(1) entitles an assessee to file an appeal u/s 129 foregoing his right of automatic stay u/s 85 due not/short payment of tax u/s 129(2)?"

"This query is vague and needs elaboration."

(iv) Whether in the case of an explicit computing error in preparation of I.T.-30/Demand Notice, such mistake shall be deemed to have been rectified for the purpose of payment of tax u/s 129(2) and fee u/s 130(1). For instance;

i) Agricultural Income is shown and entered but its credit (rebate) is not worked out.

ii) Adjustment of tax paid u/s 50, 53, or 54 is either less made or totally ignored.

iii) An excessive rebate or adjustment is allowed.

The amount appearing in I.T.30 form will be the basis of calculation of tax payable.

(v) "Whether the appellant shall be given sufficient opportunity to make up deficiency if the reply to above query under Sr. No.4 is in negative?"

The law does not provide for extension in time.

(vi) "Whether the replies given against the above queries shall also apply in appeal cases u/s 134 and 138?"

This is a query of general nature. Hence, precise reply cannot be offered."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 129(1)DTP-1/94 dated December 4, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No. Nil dated October 31, 1994 on the subject and to clarify that:

(i) Tax payable compulsorily will be 15% of the tax exclusive of tax paid under Section 54 i.e. 15% of (100,000 - 1,000) 99,000 - 14,850/-

(ii) Tax compulsorily payable will be calculated @ 15% of total tax assessed through the impugned order, subject to the upper limit correlating the same with the tax of the last year."

Payment of tax u/s 113.– The I. T. Dept's view is that since the minimum tax liability is included in tax payable with return, the appeal does not lie unless tax liability u/s 80D of the ITO, 1979, is paid. Please see RCIT Central Region's letter dated January 19, 1994. [ref:94 ITL 4 p. 2*]

"(a) in the case of an appeal against an assessment, [1][one thousand rupees];"

[1]Substituted for "the lesser of one thousand rupees or ten per cent of the tax assessed" by Finance Act, 2009 dated June 30, 2009. The Finance Act 2010 erroneously seeks to omit the words "or ten percent of the tax assessed" while these do not exist any more.

AAC under the administrative control of CBR, request for taking it to the Justice Ministry.– Following is an excerpt from a letter dated March 30, 1981 from Mr. S.A. Salam, then President Lahore Tax Bar Association, Lahore, addressed to the Secretary, Ministry of Justice, Islamabad:–

"The last point relating to the cadre of Appellate Assistant Commissioner is in the nature of let us say separation of judiciary from the executive. At present Appellate Assistant Commissioners are under the administrative control of Central Board of Revenue and are part and parcel of the Income Tax Department. This position might have been allowed to be continued for some more time but due to increasing interferences by the high authorities it is imperative that the matter may be taken up with the Federal Government for putting the Appellate Commissioners and Appellate Assistant Commissioners of Income tax under the administrative control of the Ministry of Law like the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal. The Members of the Tribunal may look after the day-to-day working of the A.A.Cs. This demand requires immediate attention in view of the recent developments in the Income Tax Department like asking the A.A.Cs for compilation of monthly lists of reliefs given by them to the assessees and deputing certain A.A.Cs to the duty of Departmental Representatives to represent the department before the Tribunal. It means that A.A.C. is both a judge and prosecutor. Such type of decisions, though administrative in character, shake the confidence of the assessees and a bar in the judicial discharge of functions of the Appellate Assistant Commissioners. Your Honour would agree that justice can only be dispensed with when the presiding officer is free from any fear in so far as the extent, volume and quantity of relief or disposal is concerned. The Bar will be grateful to you if steps are taken to give material shape to this suggestion."

S. 127(3)(4)(5)–Rate of appeal fee.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 10 of 1996 dated July 16, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The rates of appeal fee have been reduced w.e.f. assessment year 1996-97 as under:–

STAGE	APPEAL FEE

I.T. Tribunal.	Rs. 2,500 or 10% of the tax levied, whichever is less. Where no tax is levied, appeal fee shall be Rs. [1][2,000] for limited companies and Rs. 500 in other cases.

Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. F 134(1)DTP-I/94, dated January 8, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to clarify that in para 12 of Circular No. 10 of 1996 (Income Tax) dated 16th July, 1996, figure of appeal fee may be taken at "Rs. 2000" instead of Rs. 2500", in case of appeal beforeIncomeTaxAppellateTribunal,for companies, where no tax is levied."

[1]Figure "2,500" originally mentioned in Circular was later on corrected as "2,000" through CBR's letter No. F. 134(I)/DTP-I/94 dated January 8, 1997.

Increase in appeal fee.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 6 of 1994 dated July 10, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Fees for filing of income tax appeals before the Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) and revision petitions under section 138 were fixed at Rs. 25 in 1940. Similarly, appeal fee for filing of appeal before the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal was fixed at Rs. 100 in mid-sixties. Such low appeal fees have been an incentive for filing of appeals in most of the cases where the taxpayers intended to delay their tax payments. In order to discourage filing of infructuous appeals, the appeal fees have been increased by amending sections 130, 134, and 138 ……"

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 129(1)DTP-1/94 dated January 2, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No, Nil dated December 28, 1994 on the subject andtoclarifythattheappeal/revisionfeeasrevised through Finance Act, 1994 is applicable to the appeals filed on or after July 01, 1994 irrespective of the year of assessment."

The ITAT has held in a case reported as PTCL 1995 CL 273 that the enhanced appeal fee for appeal to ITAT would be applicable for appeals for assessment year 1994-95 onwards. Please also see notes to section 131.

S. 127(5)–Substitution.–Sub-section (5) before substitution by Finance Ordinance, 2002 read as follows:–

S. 128–Procedure, hearing by officer involved in assessment.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 3(22)M(IT Jud)/90 dated March 27, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Kindly refer to the above subject.

2. I am directed to state that occasionally cases come up for hearing before the appellate authorities wherein they have approved the assessment in their capacity as assessing officers, Inspecting Additional Commissioners or Commissioners of Income Tax. These should not be heard at all. Hence it may be ensured that such cases are referred to the Central Board of Revenue by name, so that their jurisdiction is changed immediately.

3. The responsibility of pointing out such cases lies both on the departmental authorities as well as on the assessees. However we should not wait for the assessee to point it out."

S.129-Disposal of Appeal by Commissioner (Appeals).-Following is an extract from Circular No. 2 of 2012 dated July 27, 2012:-

"After insertion of a proviso in sub-section (4) of section 129, through Finance Act 2009, two separate time limitations for disposal of appeals by CIR(A) were available in the statute. One under the aforesaid proviso and second under sub-sections (5), (6) and (7). To remove this anomaly, sub-sections (5), (6) and (7) have been omitted."

S. 129–Decision in Appeal, substitution of 1(a).–Clause (a) before substitution by Finance, Act 2005 read as follows:–

"(a) in the case of an appeal against an assessment order –

(i) make an order to set aside the assessment order and direct the Commissioner to make a new assessment order in accordance with any directions or recommendations of the Commissioner (Appeals); or

(ii) make an order to confirm, modify or annul the assessment order; or"

Power to set aside.-Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill 2005':–

"Seeks to divest the Commissioner (Appeals) of the power to set-aside an assessment."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2005 dated July 5, 2005:–

"Clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 129 has been substituted and Commissioner (Appeals) has been divested of the option to set-aside an assessment. After amendment Commissioner (Appeals) would be able only to modify, confirm or annul the assessment after making (or getting conducted) enquiries or examining the books of accounts etc. as he deems fit. This will bring relief to the taxpayers and also stop unnecessary deferment of revenue. The provision of said clause will be applicable in case of appeals filed on July 1, 2005 and onwards."

129. Decision in appeal.– (1) In disposing of an appeal lodged under section 127, the Commissioner (Appeals) may –

[1][(a) make an order to confirm, modify or annul the assessment order, after examining such evidence as required by him respecting the matters arising in appeal or causing such further enquiries to be made as he deems fit; or]

(b) in any other case, make such order as the Commissioner (Appeals) thinks fit.

(2) The Commissioner (Appeals) shall not increase the amount of any assessment order or decrease the amount of any refund unless the appellant has been given a reasonable opportunity of showing cause against such increase or decrease, as the case may be.

[1]Clause (a) substituted by Finance Act, 2005 dated June 29, 2005.

S. 129–Disposal of appeals.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 17 of 1957, dated August 12, 1957, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

".....ordinarily it should be possible for the Appellate Assistant Commissioner to pass an order under Section 31 within one week of the date of the hearing of the appeal and also despatch the order to the appellant within three days of the date of passing of the order. Under no circumstances, anappeal should remain undisposed of for more than fifteen days from the date of its final hearing. If, however, there is a change in jurisdiction of A.A.C., all appeals which have been finally heard must be disposed of before the transfer of the charge or jurisdiction."

Following is the text of Chairman CBR's letter No. 1549-PS/CH/86, dated April 24, 1986 addressed to all RCs, CITs, CITs (Appeals) and AACs, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to my notice that some of the appellate/revisional authorities are reluctant to pass firm orders of their own in matters coming up before them for adjudication: instead they remand cases back to lower formations even after stating in detail the two sides of the case and even their own opinion in respect thereof; but without passing the final order.

2. In this connection, a copy of a case reported as 1983 (48-Tax-6) (Trib) is enclosed. The portion marked 'A' is of special interest.

3. This communication is not meant to interfere in any way with the judicial discretion of the appellate or revisional authorities but is only meant to suggest that, as a rule, appellate/revisional authorities should desist from remanding cases unnecessarily to lower formations, and should try to pass firm orders of their own."

The portion from the case, referred above is as follows:–

"The learned Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) should have taken pains to consider and decide the issues on merits instead of leaving the appellant's fate in the hands of the assessing officer. It is also patent from the record that the assessing officer has drawn inferences against the appellant without carefully taking into consideration or rebutting the explanations given at the assessment stage, which prima facie, appear to have resulted in harsh assessments. In any case, when the matter was carried before the learned Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) he failed to exercise his powers properly in as much as instead of redressing the grievance of the appellant by disposing of the appeals on merits, he simply set-aside the orders and remitted the matter to the assessing officer with the directions to re-examine the position and pass fresh orders on merits and without any prejudice or favour. Keeping in view the facts and circumstances under which the assessments were made, we feel compelled to vacate the order of the learned Commissioner of Income Tax (Appeals) and proceed to dispose of the appeals on merits on the basis available on record and the submissions made by the parties."

(3) Where, as the result of an appeal, any change is made in the assessment of an association of persons or a new assessment of an association of persons is ordered to be made, the Commissioner (Appeals) may authorise the Commissioner to amend accordingly any assessment order made on a member of the association and the time limit in sub-section (2) of section 122 shall not apply to the making such amended assessment.

(4) As soon as practicable after deciding an appeal, the Commissioner (Appeals) shall [1][specify in the order the amount of tax upheld and] serve [2][ ] his order on the appellant and the Commissioner [3][:]

[3][Provided that such order shall be passed not later than one hundred and twenty days from the date of filing of appeal or within an extended period of sixty days, for reasons to be recorded in writing by the Commissioner (Appeals):

Annulment/cancellation of orders.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's letter No. 588/PS/4100 dated December 19, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"While disposing of an appeal against an assessment order, an appellate authority is competent to (a) confirm (b) reduce (c) enhance, (d) set-aside or (e) annul the assessment.

An assessment is set aside where an assessee is not afforded a proper opportunity of being heard or presenting his case or where facts are not properly ascertained. A set aside assessment has to be completed within one year from the end of the financial year in which the appellate order is received by the ITO (as stipulated by Section 66(1)(c) of the Ordinance). However, where an appeal or a reference is filed either by the Department or the assessee, there is no limit on the completion of re-assessment.

An assessment is annulled where:–

(a) the notice u/s 56 or 65 has been issued without jurisdiction (by a wrong officer),

(b) the notice has not been properly served,

(c) a wrong notice has been issued e.g. a notice u/s 56 instead of 65 or vice-versa),

(d) assessment has been framed on the wrong person,

(e) assessment has been made in the wrong assessment year,

(f) assessment has been made in respect of an income which is not income or such income is exempt from tax etc.,

(g) assessment was framed when it was barred by time.

There is a common misconception prevailing that once an assessment is annulled, no re-assessment can be made. This situation obtains only in the cases mentioned at (f) and (g) above i.e. where a proper notice is served on the correct person by a correct officer for the correct assessment year but the income was either not income or is held to be otherwise exempt or was made when it was already barred by time. In all other cases re-assessment can be made by issue of a proper notice by the proper officer, served on the proper person for the proper assessment year (as the case may be). The only limitation is the one imposed by Section 65. Since the assessment proceedings finalized are nullified ab-initio, the situation for re-assessment would be exactly the same as if no assessment had earlier been made and an assessment is being made for the first time. If the period of limitation has not expired, fresh notices can be issued.

Sometimes, the appellate order, instead of annulling the assessment, cancels it. Although the term used is inappropriate, yet effect is exactly the same as if it is annulled.

Provided further that any period during which the hearing of an appeal is adjourned at the request of the appellant or is postponed due to any appeal or proceedings or stay order, remand or alternative dispute resolution proceedings or for any other reason, shall be excluded in the computation of the aforementioned periods.]

[1]Sub-sections (5) to (7) omitted by Finance Act, 2012 dated June 26, 2012.

In certain cases, the appellate order proceeds towards setting aside the assessment yet in the operative part of the judgment, the assessment is annulled (often inadvertently). In such cases an application under section 156 may be moved. In case it is rejected (or delayed) further appeal or reference may be filed.

One of the very common appellate decisions relates to additions made u/s 13 where statutory approvals have not been obtained from the IAC. Such additions are straight away omitted and not set aside. In most of the cases, the Department does not file any appeal nor is any effort made to re-assess the same. In such cases, the Department has the option either to go in appeal or to re-start the proceedings to assess the amount after fulfilling the statutory requirements.

In case re-assessment proceedings are barred by time., an appeal may be filed to the ITAT on the ground that the assessment should have been set aside on this issue instead of deleting the addition. Seeking of IAC's approval for an addition u/s 13 is as much a statutory obligation of an ITO as issue of a notice u/s 61 before making an assessment u/s 62. In the case of Sant Baba Mohan Singh V. CIT 1973) 90 ITR 197, the Allahabad High Court held that a proceeding is nullity when the authority taking it has no power to have seisin over the case. The omission of the ITO to issue a notice u/s 61, (which is his statutory obligation), does not affect the ab-initio jurisdiction enjoyed by him in respect of the proceedings. In the case of such a failure, the AAC could only set aside the order. The same ratio applies to the case of failure to obtain the approval of the IAC.

In case action u/s 65 is not barred by time, notice u/s 65 may be issued to re-asses the amount omitted and the re-assessment be completed after meeting the statutory objection. Deletion of the addition u/s 13 would constitute escapement of income for the purposes of Section 65.

Where for any year, there is no income other than income deemed u/s 13, the assessment is most probably annulled, which means that the assessment order does not exist ab-initio. In such cases, proceedings can be re-started by issue of a notice u/s 61, if return is available or notice u/s 65 has been served.

Similarly, in the case of a penalty under Chapter XI imposed without approval of IAC, the orders are being cancelled by the appellate authorities. In such case proceeding may be re-started by issuing a notice under Section 116 and final order may be passed after approval of the IAC.

S. 129(4)–Written final appellate orders.– Following is the text of Chairman CBR's Circular letter No. 6461-CH/CBR/85, dated September 16, 1985, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has come to my notice that in a number of cases, written final orders passed by Appellate/Revision authorities whether on the Custom side or the Central Excise side or Income Tax side or Sales Tax side or Wealth Tax side are not made available to the parties concerned immediately after the final hearing or oral announcement of the final order. This is to advise that written orders should be made available to the parties by the Appellate/Revision authorities immediately after the final hearing or the oral announcement of the final order. Time lag between final hearing or the oral announcement of the judgment on the one hand and the physical availability of the final order to the petitioner, is fraught with dangerous possibilities and must be avoided under all circumstances. Further, no case (Appeal/Revision) should be shown as disposed of, unless a copy of the finally announced order becomes available to the parties concerned."

S. 131 and 133.-Appeal to the Appellate Tribunal [Section 131] and Reference to the Honourable High Court. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2024-25, dated July 29, 2024:-

"After introduction of section 126A and substitution of section 133 through the Tax Laws (Amendment) Act, 2024, appeals against those orders could be filed with the Commissioner (Appeals) where the value of assessment or as the case may be, refund of tax does not exceed twenty million rupees. Sub-section (1) of section 133 stipulated that within thirty days of the communication of the order of the Appellate Tribunal or, as the case may be, the Commissioner (Appeals), the aggrieved person or the Commissioner may file a reference before the High Court. Hence, appeal against the order of the Commissioner (Appeal) would lie before the High Court. However, the existence of the words, "Commissioner (Appeals)" in sub-section (1) of section 131, indicated that appeal against the order of the Commissioner (Appeals) could also lie before the Appellate Tribunal.

In order to remove this anomaly, the expression "or Commissioner (Appeals)" has been omitted from sub-section (1) of section 131 which made it clear that all appeals decided by the Commissioner (Appeals) or the Appellate Tribunal shall lie before the High Court. There cannot be a situation where second appeal against the decision of the Commissioner (Appeals) is filed before the Appellate Tribunal.

Regarding cases which were pending with the Commissioner (Appeals) at the time of commencement of the Tax Laws (Amendment) Act, 2024 and which were subsequently decided by the Commissioner (Appeals), the issue requiring attention was what would be the appellate authority where the impugned order of the Commissioner (Appeals) is contested in case where such order was communicated after the date of commencement of the Tax Laws (Amendment) Act, 2024. In this regard, an explanation has been added in sub-section (1) of section 133 to clarify that references against order of the Commissioner (Appeals) communicated after the commencement of the Tax Laws (Amendment) Act, 2024, will lie before the High Court, even if proceedings were pending before the Commissioner (Appeals) prior to the commencement of the Tax Laws (Amendment) Act, 2024.

A new sub-section (18) has been inserted in section 239 which states that for decisions, received prior to the commencement of the Tax Laws (Amendment) Act, 2024, the period of limitation for filing of appeals before the Appellate Tribunal or the High Court shall be the same as it existed prior to the commencement of the said Act."

S. 133.-Rationalization of Appeal Filing before Appellate Forum.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2025-26 dated August 02, 2025:- [section 133]

"In order to lessen the extra burden and references on questions of facts in High Courts resulting from amendments of 2024, the criteria of monetary threshold for filing appeal either before CIR (Appeals) or ATIR have been withdrawn. Now the taxpayer can exercise its discretion to file appeal to the CIR (Appeals) or directly before the ATIR.

Some corrective provisions have also been incorporated in section 133 of the Ordinance:

i) Now a taxpayer can file an appeal before High Court within sixty days of the receipt of judgement of ATIR

ii) only question relevant to law arising out of the judgment of ATIR can be filed before the High Court."

8-185-15-09-2025

(c) accompanied, by the prescribed fee specified in sub-section (3); and

(d) preferred to the Appellate Tribunal within thirty days of the date of service of order on the taxpayer.

(3) The prescribed fee shall be twenty thousand rupees in case of a company and five thousand rupees in case other than a company.

(4) The Appellate Tribunal may, upon application in writing, admit an appeal after the expiration of the period specified in clause (d) of sub-section (2) if it is satisfied that the person preferring appeal was prevented by sufficient cause from filing the appeal within that period.

(5) Notwithstanding that an appeal has been filed under this section, tax shall, unless recovery thereof has been stayed by the Appellate Tribunal, be payable in accordance with the assessment made in the case:

Provided that on filing of application in a particular case, the Appellate Tribunal may after affording an opportunity of being heard to the Commissioner having jurisdiction, for reasons to be recorded, stay the recovery of tax for ninety days:

Provided further that the stay order shall cease to have effect, and the Commissioner shall be entitled to recover tax, if the taxpayer does not adhere to the hearing schedule for the appeal, as determined by the Appellate Tribunal in accordance with the rules made under sub-section (2) of section 130:

Provided also that where an appeal is not decided within the statutory period by the Appellate Tribunal, the stay order under the second proviso shall not cease to have effect till finalization of the appeal by the Appellate Tribunal.]

[1][Provided that if on filing of application in a particular case, the Appellate Tribunal is of the opinion that the recovery of tax levied under this Ordinance and upheld by the Commissioner (Appeals), shall cause undue hardship to the taxpayer, the Tribunal, after affording opportunity of being heard to the Commissioner, may stay the recovery of such tax for a period not exceeding one hundred and eighty days in aggregate [2][:]

[2][Provided further that where recovery of tax has been stayed under this section, such stay order shall cease to have effect on expiration of the said period of one hundred and eighty days following the date on which the stay order was made and the Commissioner shall proceed to recover the said tax:]

[3][Provided further that in computing the aforesaid period of one hundred and eighty days, the period, if any, for which the recovery of tax was stayed by a High Court, shall be excluded.]"

S. 131–Appeal against set aside order u/s 131(1).– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 6 of 1994 dated July 10, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The order passed by an Additional Commissioner of Income Tax under section 66A, setting-aside income tax assessment made by an Assessing Officer for denovo proceedings, was not appealable. This appeared to be a drafting omission. Section 134 has, therefore, been amended in a manner that all orders passed by an Additional Commissioner of Income Tax u/s 66A have now become appealable." S.131(5)-Stay of Demand by Appellate Tribunal-Following is an extract from Circular No. 2 of 2012 dated July 27, 2012:-

"The provisions regarding grant of stay by Appellate Tribunal have been substituted to remove ambiguities and bring clarity. Tribunal can now grant stay for a period not exceeding one hundred and eighty days after providing an opportunity of being heard to the relevant Commissioner. However, while computing the above period of 180 days the period for which the recovery was stayed by the High Court shall be excluded."

Filing of departmental appeals, CBR's instructions.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 1(114)/IT-J/91, dated August 24, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979: –

"I am directed to say that all officers may please be asked not to file appeals against the orders of the appellate authorities in the following types of cases:–

(i) Where relief allowed by appellate authorities in tax demand does not exceed Rs. 1000/–;

(ii) Where orders of annulment in respect of exparte assessments made in the month of June, 1991 have been passed and where no basis for such exparte orders is apparent from record; and

(iii) Where, on some basis available for fresh assessments, exparte orders have been set-aside by appellate authorities for denovo proceedings."

Policy for Departmental appeals.– See footnotes u/s 134.

Departmental appeals filing only in fit cases.– Following is the text of Circular letter No. IT. Jud.II. I(180)/85, dated November 11, 1985, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been noticed that proper care and caution is not being observed while filing second appeals before the Tribunal. Sometimes cases set aside at the first appeal stage and involving verification of facts for re-assessment are taken to the Tribunal without much justification

2. In order to eliminate unnecessary litigation, it is desired that before filing appeal in the Tribunal, the Zonal Commissioners should carefully examine themselves whether a particular case is fit for a second appeal or not.

3. The Zonal Commissioners may please be advised accordingly."

Fee for filing of Appeal before Appellate Tribunal.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Upon recommendations of the committee on harmonization of different tax laws, amendment has been made in sub-section (3) of section 131 to fix the appeal fee at Rs. 2,000/- instead of determining the fee in relation to the tax assessed."

Enhanced appeal fee, applicability.– The ITAT has held in a case reported as PTCL 1995 CL 273 that the enhanced appeal fee for appeal to ITAT, as envisaged through Finance Act, 1994, would be applicable for appeals for assessment year 1994-95 onwards.

Withdrawal of petty appeals.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter D.O.No.1(26)IT-I/94 dated June 27, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"You are aware that quite a large number of appeals are pending with the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal for adjudication. In a number of appeals though the revenue involved is quite insignificant, yet the Department has filed appeals. There is an urgent need to bring down the pendency before the ITAT.

2. I would, therefore, suggest that the withdrawal of appeals involving revenues of upto Rs. 2000/– may be given serious consideration. All such cases where the appeals have been filed by the Department may please be reviewed by a committee consisting of the concerned Zonal CIT and the CIT (Appeals) and if no legal issue is involved, these may be recommended for withdrawal from the ITAT. Relevant particulars of such cases may be maintained in the office of RCIT, as well." *[ref: 94 ITL 35 p. 54]

Destruction of second appeals filed by the Department.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's letter No. RCIT/SI/(411), dated December 22, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"With reference to the subject notice above, I am directed to say that it has been brought in the knowledge of worthy Regional Commissioner of Income Tax, Central Region, Lahore that second appeal papers filed by the Department are being tampered with by certain elements. The result of this exercise on part of these elements would be that Departmental appeals may never come up for hearing at the loss of revenue and with ultimate benefit to the tax-payers. It may be difficult to keep the track of all such second appeals. One way to counter-check the loss of appeals in this way would be the maintenance of proper record of all second appeals in every circle and the CIT's office and to have periodic cross verification with the Tribunal's records.

In view of the above, necessary instructions may please be given to all the assessing Officers in this regard."

Departmental appeals, intimation to the assessees.– Following is an extract from CBR's Letter C. No. 3(16)M(IT. Jud)/93 dated July 6, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979: –

"2. The Department and the assessee can both go into second appeal before the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal which holds appellate jurisdiction against the orders of the Commissioner of Income Tax/Wealth Tax (Appeals) or Appellate Additional Commissioner of Income Tax. The assessee however has an option, that of filing an application for revision under section 138 before the member (Judicial – Income Tax), who holds revisional jurisdiction. It often happens that the assessee is unaware of the Department's second appeal, and avails of his option. On the other hand, the provisions of clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 138 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 debars a hearing for revision in-cases where the order has been made the subject matter of an appeal to the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal. In fact, if for some inadvertent reason, a conflict arises, the "appellate jurisdiction" would prevail over the "revisional" jurisdiction".

3. As such, applications for revisions under section 138 in cases where the department is in second appeal, are not being entertained by this office. The applicants/ assessees are being informed accordingly.

4. This is being brought to your notice so that necessary measures are adopted for timely intimation to the assessees regarding filing of second appeal by the department, who would otherwise be faced with the problems of limitation." *[ref: 94 ITL 36 p. 54]

S. 131(5)-Stay of Demand by the Appellate Tribunal.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

However, stay order shall in no case remain operative for more than 180 days."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003 dated July 11, 2003:–

"The Appellate Tribunal has been empowered to grant stay of recovery of tax demand for a period of three moths. However, stay of demand shall not exceed a period of six months in aggregate. Accordingly, sub-section (5) in section 131 has been added for this purpose."

[1]S. 134 titled "Appeal to Supreme Court" omitted by Finance Act 2005 dated June 29, 2005.

S. 133–Reference to High Court.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 6 of 1997, dated the 15th July, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"ITAT is the highest appellate forum on question of fact. The questions of law could earlier on be referred to the High Court by the Tribunal on an application made by the assessee or the department inviting a cumbersome procedure. By amending section 136, both taxpayers as well as the Department can now file an appeal directly to the High Court on questions of law." [Ref:97 ITC 6 p. 6*]

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 10 of 1985 dated August 18, 1985:–

"According to sub-section (1) of section 136 the assessee or the Commissioner on receipt of an order of the Appellate Tribunal under section 135 may, within ninety days of such receipt, require the Tribunal to refer to the High Court any question of law arising out of the order. In sub-section (1) of section 66 of the repealed Income Tax Act, 1922, the period for filing such a reference application before the Tribunal was sixty days. An explanation has now been added to sub-section (1) of section 136 which clarifies the intention of the law that the limitation of ninety days in the sub-section would apply to any reference application filed before the Tribunal on or after the 1st July, 1979, irrespective of the assessment year to which the application relates.

A new sub-section (2A) has also been inserted in section 136 which allows the assessee or the Commissioner to apply to the High Court in case of the rejection of a reference application by the Tribunal on the ground that it is time-barred. The application to the High Court is to be made within three months of the service of the rejection by the Tribunal and if the High Court is not satisfied with the Tribunal's decision it may require the Tribunal to treat the application as within time."

Undertakings by legal advisors.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 2(160)IT-J/93 dated December 14, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to say that instances have come to the notice of the Board that Legal Advisers/Counsels representing the Department before various courts do not consult the Department or seek instructions in matters relating to stay of recovery of demand or issuance of exemption certificates. Often they give undertakings for not taking any action for recovery of the impugned demand. This frustrates the time limit prescribed in Article 199(4A) of the Constitution and, in fact, results in an indefinite stay of recovery proceedings. Continuation and issuance of certificates on the other hand usually involves substantial revenues by way of withholding taxes that may become difficult to recover later. Besides it amounts to conceding the grant the very relief the Department is opposing in the proceedings.

2. The counsels appearing for the Department should, therefore, be instructed to oppose the stay application and requests for grant of instalments by the courts and the issuance of certificates of exemption during the pendency of proceedings before the courts; if the counsel feels otherwise, be must seek instructions before making any commitment before the court."

S. 134–Appeal to Supreme Court, omission.–S. 134 before omission by F.A. 2005, read as follows:-

"Appeal to Supreme Court.-(1) An appeal shall lie to the Supreme Court from any judgment of the High Court delivered on a reference made or question of law framed under section 133 in any case which the High Court certifies to be a fit one for appeal to the Supreme Court.

(2) The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (V of 1908), relating to appeals to the Supreme Court shall apply, so far as may be, in the case of an appeal under this section in like manner as they apply in the case of an appeal from decrees of a High Court.

(3) Where the judgment of the High Court is varied or [1][reversed] in appeal under this section, effect shall be given to the order of the Supreme Court in the manner provided in sub-section [2][(12)] of section 133 in the case of a judgment of the High Court.

(4) The provisions of sub-sections (11), (12) and (13) of section 133 shall apply in the case of an appeal to the Supreme Court made under this section as they apply to an appeal to the High Court under section 133."

Report of proceedings before H.C.s and S.C.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 9(8)IT.J/93 dated September 26, 1993:–

"It has been observed that important cases are frequently fixed before the High Court and Supreme Court but report on the proceedings is not submitted to the Board and presumably not to the department either. All legal advisors on departments panel be requested to invariably send a report of the proceedings on each date in all cases in which they represent the department to the concerned Commissioner and the Central Board of Revenue. The cases in which standing counsel and/or Deputy Attorney General appear on behalf of the Department/Central Board of Revenue, a similar request may be made in such cases.

2. A report on the present position of constitutional petitions involving section 80C, 80CC and 80D may please be sent to the Board latest by 5th October, 1993."

"It has been noticed that Commissioners are not adopting uniform policy regarding references to the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal and High Courts or appeals to the Supreme Court. Due to this position, odd situations have arisen in numerous cases where even adverse decisions against the department were not contested in the higher courts due to misconceptions.

2. In order to avoid such eventualities, it has been decided that henceforth:

(a) Upon receipt of ITAT's order in appeal or the decision of the High Court, the Commissioner will always inform RCIT as to whether any question of law arises or not out of the ITAT's order, or this is a fit case for appeal to Supreme Court.

(b) In case a question of law arises and the same or similar question of law has already been referred to ITAT or a Court in the same case or in another case, the RCIT will accord approval to move reference under the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 or the Wealth-tax Act, 1963, as the case may be.

(c) In case a question of law is said to arise which has never before been referred to ITAT or a High Court, or Supreme Court, approval to move such a reference to the Tribunal or appeal to the Supreme Court will be sought from the Board.

(d) In case there is difference of opinion between RCIT and CIT, the matter for second opinion will be referred to the Board.

(e) Whenever approval of the Board is required, the documents will be forwarded to the Board at least 15 days before the expiry of limitation.

(f) When action has been completed by the Commissioner regarding filing of reference or appeal, as the case may be, copies of all the relevant documents will be forwarded by the Commissioner to the Second Secretary (Judicial) of the Board for circulation of the question of law and facts of the case to all RCsIT for future reference.

(g) Copies of the judgments of the High Court and the Supreme Court will invariably be sent to the Board and the RCIT by the concerned Commissioner.

3. These instructions may please be circulated among all the Commissioners."

Strengthening Alternate Dispute Resolution Mechanism.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 02 of 2021 dated July 01, 2021:-

"In order to reduce litigation and disputes, the mechanism of ADRC has been strengthened. Necessary changes have been made in section 134A of the Ordinance to the effect:

a) Time limit to constitute committee has been curtailed to 30 days from 60 days.

b) Time limit to decide cases has been curtailed to 60 days from 120 days by committee.

c) In case of failure to decide, powers to constitute second committee have been provided.

d) The committee can be constituted even if criminal proceedings have been initiated in a case or mixed question of fact and law is involved."

S.134A-Revamping of Alternate Dispute Resolution Mechanism.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 15 of 2022, dated 21 July, 2022, explaining the amendment:-

"Through the Finance Act, 2022, the mechanism of alternate dispute resolution has been revamped. Major departure points from previous regime are highlighted as under:

a) Disputes involving tax liability of one hundred million or above only can now be brought for settlement. Previously, there was no such bar for filing of application under this mechanism.

b) Disputes involving question of fact and law both can now be brought by a taxpayer for settlement by the committee subject to the condition that decision by the committee will not be cited or taken as a precedent in any other case or in the same case for a different tax year. Previously, disputes involving interpretation of question of law having effect on other cases were specifically excluded from the purview of dispute resolution committee.

c) The scope of initial proposition has been expanded which now includes proposal from the taxpayer to settle the matter, including an offer for payment of tax which cannot be withdrawn.

d) The choice available to a taxpayer to appoint a member of dispute resolution committee has been enhanced. Now a taxpayer can nominate a member from a panel notified by the Board in this regard or an Officer of Inland Revenue Service who has retired in B S21 or above or a reputable business person as nominated by a Chamber of Commerce and Industry. The third member of the committee will be selected through consensus by Chief Commissioner Inland Revenue (being other member of the committee) having jurisdiction over the case and taxpayer's nominee member jointly from the panel notified by the Board in this regard.

e) Taxpayer and the Chief Commissioner Inland Revenue having jurisdiction over the case either individually or both as the case may be, will withdraw their appeal pending before a court of law or appellate authority after the constitution of committee but before commencement of proceeding by the committee. Previously, there was no requirement of withdrawal of appeal and the taxpayer could choose to pursue his appeals in case he did not accept the committee's decision.

f) The committee members will decide the dispute pending before the committee through majority. Earlier, consensus decision by committee members was required for dispute resolution.

g) The decision by committee will be binding on both the taxpayer and Chief Commissioner Inland Revenue having jurisdiction over the case. Previously, it was binding on Chief Commissioner only after it had been accepted by the taxpayer though withdrawal of appeal.

The changed procedure of dispute resolution will ensure that it is focused on high revenue yielding cases and does not result in wastage of time and resources for the taxpayer as well as field formations by being an effective alternative and not a parallel mechanism to the appeal process."

S. 134A(3)-Substitution-Before substitution it read as follows:-

"(3) The committee constituted under sub-section (2) shall examine the issue and may, if it deems necessary, conduct inquiry, seek expert opinion, direct any officer of Income Tax or any other person to conduct an audit and make recommendations in respect of the resolution of dispute as it may deem fit."

S. 134A-Alternative Dispute Resolution.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Through an amendment in section 134A(1) of the Ordinance, following conditions have been inserted which would make the section inapplicable.

a) Where prosecution proceedings have been initiated.

b) Applications which require interpretation of various question of law having effect on identical other cases.

Further sub-section (3) has been substituted to provide that ADRC shall submit its recommendations within 90 days of its constitution. The Committee shall be dissolved by the FBR in case it fails to submit its recommendations within the stipulated period. In such cases the Board shall then constitute another committee and the reconstituted committee will be required to submit its recommendations in 90 days. If there is no decision the taxpayer may revert back to the appellate forum where the case is pending.

Previously no time limit was specified for FBR to pass order on the recommendations made by the ADRC. Now FBR is required to pass an order as it deem appropriate within 45 days of the receipt of recommendations of ADRC."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2006 dated July 1, 2006:–

"Under the existing scheme, a taxpayer can apply to the Central Board of Revenue for resolution of any hardship relating to income tax. Amendment has been made to specifically restrict the jurisdiction of such Committees to pending issues only meaning thereby that closed matters fall outside the ambit of ADRCs."

"Seeks to make an editorial correction."

"Seeks to clarify the scope of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)."

S. 134A(2), (5) and (6)-Rationalization of provisions.-Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2005 dated July 5, 2005:–

"The purpose of introduction of Alternate Dispute Resolution mechanism was to provide a separate stream for dispute resolution apart from the normal appeal process. An apprehension was expressed by stakeholders that the language of sub-section (6) was ambiguous and not in consonance with the intent of the law.

To clarify the ambiguity, sub-section (6) has been omitted and a proviso to sub-section (5) has been added which provides that if a taxpayer is not satisfied with the order of the Board, he may continue to pursue his remedy before the relevant authority, tribunal or court as if no order under this section had been made by the Board."

S.134A(6)-Omission.–Sub-section (6) before omission by Finance Act, 2005 read as follows:–

"(6) In case the aggrieved person is not satisfied with the orders of the Central Board of Revenue, he may file an appeal or reference with the appropriate authority, tribunal or court under the relevant provisions of this Ordinance within a period of sixty days of the order passed by the Board under this section has been communicated to the aggrieved person."

Following are extracts from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill 2005':–

"(a) Seeks to provide for constitution of a panel rather than notification of panel for the purpose of Alternate Dispute Resolution;"

(b) Seeks to clarify that the taxpayer who is aggrieved with the order of the Central Board of Revenue with regard to "Alternate Dispute Resolution" may continue to pursue his remedy before the Appellate Forum;

(c) Seeks to omit a provision which conveyed an incorrect impression vis-a-viz a person's right to pursue remedy in appeal even if he is in ADR.

Procedure for alternate dispute resolution.– See rule 231C of the Income Tax Rules, 2002.

Formation of Committees.– Following is an extract of CBR's Circular No. 20 of 2004 dated September 4, 2004:–

"Seeks to provide due date for payment of minimum tax on turnover @ 0.75% by individuals and association of persons opting for presumptive taxation against normal taxation."

Date of payment on extension in date for filing of return.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's Circular No. 19 of 1988, dated March 27, 1988, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Under Section 54 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 every assessee who files a return of his total income has to pay the tax payable on the basis of his return on or before the date on which he is required to furnish such return. This year the dates for filing of returns were extended by the Central Board of Revenue. Where the due date is extended the extended date becomes the due date.

In a number of cases the tax payers filed the returns before the due date or the extended date but either did not pay the tax with the return or the tax paid by them was short. However, the due tax was paid before due date or the extended date. In short, both the returns and the tax was paid before the due/extended date. In such cases there is no default by the assessee and the return as well as the tax is paid within time.

It has been reported that a number of Assessing Officers are disqualifying the returns from "immunity" or Self Assessment Scheme on the ground that the tax was not paid alongwith the return. There is no provision of law that tax must be paid alongwith the return. All that the law requires, is that the return must be filed by the due date and the tax must be paid by the due date. If both the actions have been completed before the extended date, there is no default by the assessee. The Assessing Officers should be instructed accordingly."

S. 137(2)-Due date for Payment of Tax.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 5 of 2008 dated July 05, 2008:-

"Before the amendment of sub-section (2) of section 137, a taxpayer was required to pay the amount of tax due to him within 30 days from the date of service of demand notice. In order to secure early recovery of tax due from taxpayers, the period of 30 days has been curtailed to 15 days."

Time for payment of tax.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 13-ITP/1951, dated May 28, 1951, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Assessees are alleged to have been asked to make payments of tax within such short period as seven days of the date of assessment. Normally 30 days should be allowed for payment of tax. This time may, however, be curtailed in cases of assessment made in the closing months of the year, particularly where the delay in assessment is due to late submissionofreturnsandaccounts.The mere fact that an assessment has been made near the end of the financial year does not justify the Income-tax Officer in substantially cutting down the period within which payment should be made and it should not be curtailed by more than 15 days except in special circumstances. The assessment may be delayed in some cases to suit the convenience of the assessee, in such cases a warning should be given to the assessee in the course of the proceedings that he may be asked to make payment at a very short notice."

S. 137(2)–Substitution.–Before substitution by F. Act, 2003, read as follows:–

"(2) Where an assessment order or amended assessment order is issued by the Commissioner, the tax payable under the order shall be payable within fifteen days from the date *of the assessment order is issued."*Word "of" appears to be superfluous.

Demand Notice in 'Nil Demand' cases.– Following is the text of Circular No. 18 of 1959, dated September 25, 1959, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to the notice of the Board that certain tax payers are being kept completely in the dark about their tax affairs as the Income-tax Officers, do not send any intimation in what are generally known as "Nil Demand" cases i.e., cases where an assessment does not result in a demand of tax, because of the amount of tax due having already been paid or deducted at source. The Board directs that in such cases, the tax payer concerned should be informed that for a particular year (for which he had filed a return of income), no tax was found to be due from them."

S. 137(4)–Stay of demand and instalments.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Previously, under old Section 45, an Income Tax Officer could stay the demand in any case. No specific provision has been made in the new Section 85. However, to save hardship to assessees, instructions have been issued to the field officers to withhold recovery in suitable cases or recover demand in suitable instalments. In either case additional tax would be chargeable for the period the tax is not paid. It may be mentioned that in cases where disputed demand is omitted or reduced in appeal no interest is chargeable on the demand omitted or reduced. It may also be mentioned here that the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal has been specifically authorized to stay the demand in any case under appeal with the Tribunal [Section 134(6)]."

However sub-section (2) was added in section 85 by the Finance Ordinance, 1980 bringing the provision at par with section 45 of the repealed Act regarding stay of demand. The insertion of Sub-section (2) was explained in Circular No. 15 of 1980, dated June 26, 1980, an extract wherefrom is as follows:–

"Under the repealed Act, an Income Tax Officer could stay any demand or grant instalments. In order to reduce the discretionary powers of Income Tax Officer this power was withdrawn in the Ordinance. Since no other income tax authority is now empowered to stay demand or grant instalments the cases of genuine hardship cannot be accommodated Inspecting Assistant Commissioner has now been empowered to grant stay or instalments. Additional tax would, however, be chargeable in either case."

(a) attachment and sale of any movable or immovable property of the taxpayer;

S. 138–Tax as a debt due to Govt., substitution.– The section before substitution by Finance Ordinance, 2002 read as follows:–

"138. Tax as a debt due to the Federal Government.– (1) Any tax due under this Ordinance by a taxpayer shall be a debt due to the Federal Government and shall be payable in the manner and at the place prescribed.

(2) Any tax that has not been paid by the due date may be sued for and recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction by the Commissioner acting in the Commissioner's official name.

(3) In any suit under sub-section (2), the production of a certificate signed by the Commissioner stating the name and address of the taxpayer and the amount of tax due shall be conclusive evidence of the amount of tax due by such taxpayer."

Recovery from insolvents.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No.. ITB-2(4)/87 dated February 7, 1988, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Recently, in a case it was claimed by a taxpayer, declared as insolvent by a competent court, that his outstanding tax arrears may also be written off in view of insolvency decree passed in his favour. This issue has been examined by the Board in consultation with the Justice Division and I am directed to clarify the position as under:–

(a) Where the taxpayer has not impleaded Income Tax Department as party during the insolvency proceedings before the competent court, and

(b) where the taxpayer has not included the name of Income Tax Department as creditor in the list legally required to be submitted to the competent court in such cases the insolvency decree granted to such a taxpayer would not have any bearing on the right of the Income Tax Department with reference to recovery of Income tax arrears outstanding in that case.

2. The above clarification may please be brought to the notice of all concerned."

S. 138.-Change in Modality for Recovery of outstanding tax dues.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2025-26 dated August 02, 2025:- [sections 138, 140]

"Sub-sections (3A) and (6A) of section 138 and 140 have been introduced respectively with fast track recovery of outstanding tax dues. The dues will become immediately payable for recovery by the Commissioner Inland Revenue, subject to the conditions that the department has won the case in all three appellate forums from CIR (Appeals) to High Court, if the amount of outstanding dues exceeds rupees two hundred million.

Recovery in case of property under charge.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 22 of 1950, dated October 31, 1950, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The Board is now advised that irrespective of whether property sought to be made liable for a Crown debt remains with debtor or passes on to the third party any Crown debt has no priority over debts secured by a provision of law."

Sale of property only after decisions in appeals.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular letter No. 63 (236)/IT/IV/76-PT, dated September 26, 1978, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"As I had indicated in the Regional Commissioners Conference, effective use of the Tax Recovery Organization in Lahore Zone 'A' and Rawalpindi Zone have had a salutary effect on the recovery of taxes. So far this effort has not been made as purposefully in other Zones.

There are chronic defaulters in every Zone in whose cases demands have now become settled by the process of appeals etc. but they still do not pay the due taxes. There is no reason to show them any further leniency. Where such defaulters do not come out with reasonable terms for the payment of taxes immediately recovery may be enforced by attachment and auction of property or under any other coercive measure provided in law.

2. Effective use of the recovery powers makes tax-payers realise that they cannot let tax demands go unattended. While to law abiding tax-payers all reasonable facilities for payment of taxes may be allowed, the chronic defaulters should be handled with firmness and promptitude. It may however be ensured that sale of property for the realisation of disputed taxes is not undertaken till appeals are decided."

Recovery through Receiver.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's Letter No. R-225/7422 dated May 14, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, in response to a representation of Lahore Tax Bar Association:–

"Complaints are being received from individual tax payers, traders associations and Lahore Tax Bar Association that Receivers are transgressing the powers as stipulated in Law/Rules. They have been found in possession of arrears lists and following the assessees even upto their residences and some of them resorting to unfair practices including carrying of arms to the premises of assessees.

2. It may be reminded that receivers are appointed only for a specific purpose – management of business or immovable property of a tax defaulter under Rules 158 & 159 respectively.Under Rule 160 the Tax Recovery Officer is required to take possession of the business or immovable property and then hand it over to the management of the Receiver conferring upon him necessary powers. The Receiver's job is to receive the profits or rents as the case may be. Under Rule 160(3) every Receiver upon appointment is required to furnish such security as the Tax Recovery Officer thinks fit to duly account for what he shall receive in respect of the business or property. The Receiver shall also submit his accounts at such periods and in such form as the TRO directs.

3. On the other hand the Tax Recovery Officers are not making appointments of Receivers as per provisions of law stated above. The orders appointing receivers do not clearly lay down what business or which immovable property is to be managed. The appointment orders remain vague. The Receivers are asked to recover arrears which is the function of the Inspectors of the Department.

4. It has further been learnt that a heavy rate of remuneration ranging from 10-20% is being allowed to the Receivers which constitutes a very heavy cost in the collection of taxes. The scale of remuneration is required to be a graduated one ensuring minimum cost.

5. Receipts are not being issued by some of the Receivers and the recovery does not find way into the Govt. Treasury.

6. This Office has not come across any case in which appropriate security has been obtained by the TRO from the Receiver and the latter is also being required to maintain and render accounts to ensure safety of Government money. The Receivers are private individuals and are not under our control and the cases in which they are engaged involve revenue worth millions of rupees. Thus if they are not made to comply with the requirements of rule 160(3), it amounts to a serious lapse on the part of the Tax Recovery Officers.

7. The CsIT are requested to ensure that appointment of a Receiver in each case is made as per requirements of Rule 160. The appointment of Receivers in which the aforesaid requirements of Law/Rules have not been met with may be reported immediately to safe-guard the public money.

The receipt of this latter may be acknowledged."

Following is the text of representation mentioned above, vide Letter dated May 6, 1995 from the then President Lahore Tax Bar Association, Sheikh Asif Salam, addressed to the RCIT Central Region:–

"It is respectfully submitted that the appointment of receivers in a large number of cases is causing harassment and hardship to the assessees and is bringing a bad name to the Department. Moreover, the provisions of law are not being adhered to in the process of appointment and recovery through receivers. Some common complaints made by our members are summed up as under:–

i) Rules 158 and 159 of the Income Tax Rules, 1982 specifically provide for the purpose for appointment i.e. to manage the business and to manage the immovable property of the defaulter assessee. The orders appointing receivers do not clearly lay down what business or which immovable property is to be managed giving vague and arbitrary scope to the receiver. Sometimes, like in many salary cases, there is neither any business in operation nor is there any immovable property yielding rent or other revenues but still a receiver is appointed who in some cases, attempts to dispossess the assessee of his movable property to enforce recovery.

ii) A heavy rate of remuneration at a flat 10% is generally fixed for the services of the receiver. A graduated scale like one in case of valuers under Rule 208 is most desirable since in cases where the amount involved is substantial and/or the recovery may not be difficult, payment of a very high fee would not be commensurate with the services.

iii) The remuneration of the receiver is being recovered from the assessee while there is no provision in the law authorising any such recovery. Under Rule 160(4) only the "expenses of management" can be adjusted/recovered from the assessee. These have to be restricted to actual expenses and cannot be converted into a levy or fee without there being a law to this effect.

iv) The receivers on their own take actions which under Rule 160 have to be backed by an order of the TRO like dispossessing from immovable property.

v) Security is not being obtained from the receivers in spite of mandatory requirement under Rule 160(3)(a).

vi) No system has been developed for ensuring maintaining of accounts by receivers (ref. Rule 160(3)(b).

vii) Sometimes the receivers do not issue any receipt for the amounts recovered.

viii) Due to lack of checks and balances and lucrative remuneration, the Receivers are generally resorting to unfair practices including carrying of arms to the premises of the assessees.

The matter requires your urgent interference in view of the recovery drive in the month of May and June, 1995. The Association shall be highly obliged to you for an early and kind action."

Recovery by arrest of defaulters.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular Letter C. No. IT-T. 3(26)/86, dated May 6, 1986, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been agitated before the Board that, in order to effect collection, warrants of arrest are being issued by the Tax Recovery Officers in cases where appeals against the demandraisedarependingatvarious appellate forums. Trying to recover disputed demand throughsuch coercive measures amounts to harassment of the taxpayers. The issue has been considered and it has been decided that as a rule defaulters may be arrested only as a last resort. In cases when appeals are still pending such an action may only be undertaken with the prior clearance of the Commissioner of Income-tax/Wealth-tax."

Please also see notes after section 95 under the heading "Section 93 to 95-Recovery of tax".

Recovery of tax.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 1(7) REV.BUD/93 dated September 23, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Please find enclosed herewith a copy of Prime Minister's directive on the subject mentioned above. Immediate action with total earnestness may please be taken with regards to matters pertaining to recovery of demand, collection on account of withholding taxes and reconciliation of collection figures with audit. As already desired, the Performance Report for the first quarter as faxed to your office vide Board's letter No. 3 (22) Rev. Bud/93 dated 22.9.1993 may under all circumstances be faxed on 30.9.1993. The summary in this regard is to be prepared by us and discussed by the Chairman with the Finance Minister on 2.10.1993 at 8.30 a.m." [Ref:93 ITL 83 p.59*]

Prime Minister's Directive.– Following is the text of Prime Minister Secretariat's Letter U.O. No. 3698/AS/EAF)/93 dated September 19, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am glad to know that the Central Board of Revenue (CBR) has published the list of tax payers. The public expects the Government to deal with the tax defaulters also effectively. It is, therefore, extremely important for our credibility that the CBR launches an effective campaign for recovery of taxes due from the defaulters. In this behalf, I direct the Ministry of Finance and the Central Board of Revenue as follows:–

(1) I understand that there are arrears of about Rs. 3.5 billion outstanding against the Income Tax assessees. The Income Tax Department has necessary legal powers to effect recovery and punish the defaulters. The powers have not been invoked in the past. There would be no complacency in applying the law and recovering the amounts of tax in arrears against the assessees. I would like the Chairman, CBR to show positive results within next two weeks.

(2) I also understand that there are large number of appeals under adjudication in the Income Tax Tribunals and Superior Courts. These should be vigorously pursued. The Ministry of Law should set up additional Income Tax Tribunals in order to dispose of appeal cases expeditiously.

(3) It has come to my notice that recoveries made by various Government and autonomous agencies on account of withholding tax under section 50 of the Income Tax *Act are not being promptly credited to the Government account, concerned Commissioners of Income Tax should be made responsible to ensure submission of proper accounts of recoveries made and evidence of depositing the amounts in the Government Treasury.

(4) It has also come to my notice that there are discrepancies in the amounts of collection reported by the CBR and the audited actuals of receipts in the Government account. The discrepancy may arise due to over statement of collection or delay in encashment of cheques deposited by the assessees. Chairman, CBR, should analyse the difference between the two figures and make immediate corrective measures."

*This should have been "Ordinance" instead of "Act".

Cabinet Decision.– Following is text of CBR's Letter C. No. 1(19)-Rev.Bud.94.Pt.I dated April 9, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Subject: Cabinet decision No. 142 (IV)/07/95, dated 27.3.95 Recovery of Tax Arrears.

I am directed to say that in pursuance of Cabinet decision dated 27.3.1995, criminal action against tax defaulters will be initiated in consultation with law Division through CBR.

2. All officers concerned may please be informed, accordingly." [Ref:95 ITL 14 p. 7*]

Recovery from Co-operatives.– Following is the text of CBR's letter No. F. 1(86)DTP-II/94 dated May 9, 1994:–

S. 139(1), (2) & (3)–Liability in case of a private company.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The provisions of this sub-section are same as those of the old Section 43B except that approval for proceeding to recover tax of the company from the shareholders is to be granted by the Commissioner instead of Central Board of Revenue."

"In supersession of the instructions contained at para 24 of the Circular No. 4 of 1979, it is clarified that tax can be recovered under Section 77 from a director of a private company even if he holds or held less than 10% of company's paid up capital. In case of a director the share limit is irrelevant. The provisions "owning not less than 10% of its paid up capital" is applicable in case of shareholder only."

The provision was further clarified in Circular No. 9 of 1980, dated April 27, 1980, the text of which is as follows:–

"In continuation of Circular No. 6 of 1980 (Income Tax), dated 3rd March, 1980 it is further clarified that provisions of Section 77 read with section 166(2)(k) of Income Tax Ordinance,1979 can be invoked for recovery of arrears demand created after promulgation of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 relating to assessment years prior to 1979-80. Similarly, arrears demand created under the repealed Income Tax Act, 1922 can be recovered by invoking the provisions of said Section 77 against any director irrespective of his share holding and shareholder owning not less than 10% of company's paid up capital."

S. 140(1)–Recovery notices to public utilities.– Following is the text of RCIT Central region Lahore's letter No. 3581 dated January 12, 1987, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It has been brought to my notice that certain Officers are issuing notices under Section 92 to public utilities like Electricity Department, Telephone Department and SNGPL Ltd. for payment of tax due from assessees in default out of the securities deposited by the defaulters with them. Although any advance or security deposited by the defaulter with any other person falls within the purview of Section 92, yet securities which are against the use of equipment particularly against running bills, deserve to be given a different treatment. Firstly, on a precise date a public utility cannot ascertain how much the consumer owes to the Institution by way of the services already utilised. Secondly, the moment the security deposit is paid to the Income Tax Department, the connection of the consumer has to be severed by the Institution. Thirdly, where the services are being utilised by the defaulter, the business is obviously being carried on by him. There are, therefore, other avenues available to the Department to realise the tax dues. Finally, there is much force in the argument advanced by the public utilities that money deposited by a consumer becomes due to the consumer only when the contract between the public utility and the consumer is terminated and after all outstandings against the consumer have been settled by him.

(6) Any person who has paid any amount in compliance with a notice under sub-section (1) shall be treated as having paid such amount under the authority of the taxpayer and the receipt of the Commissioner constitutes a good and sufficient discharge of the liability of such person to the taxpayer to the extent of the amount referred to in such receipt.

[1][(6A)) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Ordinance or any other law or any rule, any decision or judgment of any court, forum or authority, the tax payable under any provision of this Ordinance or any assessment order shall become immediately payable subject to the following conditions-

(a) that the case has been decided in the favor of the department at three appellate forums including the High Court;

(b) that the recovery under this section shall only be made to the extent of lowest amount of demand which has been confirmed by any of the three appellate forums; and

(c) that the tax payable exceeds rupees two hundred million,] and the Commissioner shall proceed to recover the said amount irrespective of the time provided under any other provision or the said decision or judgment.]

The limits of Rs. 50,000/– and Rs. 25,000/– were raised to Rs. 100,000/– and Rs. 150,000/– respectively by the Finance Ordinance, 1984. S.147.-Payment of Advance Tax. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2024-25, dated July 29, 2024:-

"Advance tax for a company or an association of persons is computed as per formula contained in sub-section (4) of section 147 subject to computation of higher advance tax under sub-section (4A) and lower under sub-section (6) of section 147. As per formula contained in sub-section (4), advance tax is computed by multiplying turnover for the quarter with ratio of tax assessed for the latest tax year with the turnover for the latest tax year. The resultant amount can be reduced by the tax paid in the quarter for which credit is available under section 168. In cases where, turnover for the quarter is not known or the taxpayer fails to provide turnover for the quarter, one-fourth of one hundred and ten percent of the turnover of the latest tax year for which a return has been filed is taken. Through the Finance Act, 2024, where turnover for the quarter is not known or not furnished by the taxpayer, it shall be taken to be one-fourth of one hundred and twenty percent of the turnover for the latest tax year for which return has been filed.

A new sub-section (6B) has been introduced in section 147 to provide that where a taxpayer has filed estimate under sub-section (6) that the tax payable by him is likely to be less than the amount he is required to pay, the taxpayer shall furnish estimate containing turnover for the completed quarters of the relevant tax year, estimated turnover for the remaining quarters, supporting evidence of expenses or deductions in computing income, evidence of tax payments and tax credits and computation of estimated taxable income. Where the Commissioner is not satisfied with the documentary evidence provided or where an estimate of tax payable is not accompanied by details mentioned in the said sub-section, the Commissioner may reject the estimate after providing an opportunity of being heard and the taxpayer shall pay advance tax according to the formula contained in sub-section (4) or (4B), as the case may be.

Further, through Finance Act, 2024 a new non-obstante provision namely sub-section (6C) has been introduced in section 147 as per which the withholding agents specified in sub-sections (1), (3), (3B) and (3C) of section 154 shall, at the time of realization of foreign exchange proceeds, or realization of the proceeds on account of sale of goods or export of goods or at the time of making payment to an indirect exporter, or clearing of goods respectively, deduct or collect tax at the rate of one percent of such foreign exchange proceeds, or exports, or payment, in addition to tax collectible or deductible under section 154. Hence, the withholding agents will collect two percent tax on export proceeds [one percent minimum tax under section 154 and one percent adjustable advance tax under sub-section (6C) of section 147."

Payment under the repealed 'turnover' basis.

Ratio of turnover tax on payments of advance tax.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 2 of 2004 dated May 25, 2004:–

"Queries have been received on the issue as to what would be the tax turnover ratio to be applied for payment of advance tax for each quarter under section 147 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001.

2. The issue has been examined in the Board. Instructions contained in Para 13(b) of CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1979 dated August 23, 1979 envisage that advance tax shall be payable on the basis of latest assessment completed upto 15th September and this basis shall not change throughout the income year on account of completion of an assessment of a later year thereafter. The provisions of sub-section (4) of section 147 provides a formula for computation of the amount of advance tax to be paid for a quarter. The tax-turnover ratio is to be determined on the basis of assessment of the latest tax year. The introduction of Universal Self-Assessment Scheme (USAS) coupled with the legal provisions that assessment would be treated to have been made on the date the return is filed and the fact that assessment so completed or assessment of earlier tax year may be amended during the currency of the tax year have rendered the instructions contained in para 13(b) of Circular No. 4 of 1979 as redundant. Accordingly, instructions of the said para being no more applicable are hereby rescinded.

3. It is clarified that the tax – turnover ratio for each quarter would be the one which exists prior to the prescribed date of payment of advance tax for the relevant quarter.

4. It is also clarified that in case of taxpayers having special income year, the credit for payment of advance tax shall be allowed in respect of the quarters falling within such income year e.g. in case of a company closing its accounts on December 31, 2004, the credit of advance tax shall be allowed for tax year 2005 in respect of advance tax paid for the quarters ending March 31, 2004 June 30, 2004, September 30, 2004 and December 31, 2004."

"Section 53 has been amended to clarify that in the case of companies and RFs, advance tax liability would be determined on gross turnover including income from securities on which tax is deducted under sub-section (2) of section 50. Payment by companies & registered firms.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 13 of 1997 dated September 29, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Certain queries have been raised regarding computation of advance tax payable by companies and registered firms under the amended section 53.

2. The method of computation has already been explained through circular No. 6 of 1997 dated 15th July, 1997. It is, however, clarified that for purposes of computation of advance tax, the turnover which constitutes presumptive income under section 80C and 80CC and the income from securities from which tax under sub-section 2 of section 50 is deducted, is to be excluded. Consequently, the tax withheld under section 50 in respect of such income shall neither be included in the amount of"tax assessed" nor shall such tax be accounted for as payment of quarterly advance tax instalments. The "tax assessed" to "turnover assessed" ratio shall, therefore, be computed accordingly.

3. It is further clarified that the expression "turnover" as used in section 53 has the same meaning as understood in common parlance, including the "explanation" contained in section 80D of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, and in relation to banks and financial institutions includes such receipts as interest, gains, discounts, return, mark-up, rent commission, exchange and brokerage, and receipts from sale of investments etc.

4. It is also clarified that industrial undertakings covered by the Schedule to the Protection of Economic Reforms Act, 1992 (Act XII of 1992) are not liable to pay advance tax under section 53 as they enjoy exemption in terms of the relevant clauses of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979." [Ref: 97 ITC 13 p. 35]

S. 147-Advance Tax Paid by the Taxpayer.– Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 7 of 2011 dated July 01, 2011:–

"In view of the problems reported by the taxpayers in payment of advance tax on Capital Gain on disposal of securities within prescribed time limit of seven days for payment, this limit has been increased to twenty-one days after the close of each quarter. However, the payment pertaining to the fourth installment of advance tax in June is to be paid by 30th June each year."

S.147(4A)-Substitution.- Before substitution by F. Act, 2015, it read as follows:-

"(4A) Any taxpayer who is required to make payment of advance tax in accordance with sub-section (4), shall estimate the tax payable by him for the relevant tax year, at any time before the last installment is due. In case the tax payable is likely to be more than the amount he is required to pay under sub-section (4), the taxpayer shall furnish to the Commissioner an estimate of the amount of the tax payable by him and thereafter pay such amount after making adjustment for the amount (if any) already paid in terms of sub-section (4)."

"Section 53 has been substituted. The following are the effects of this change:–

(i) Now, companies and registered firms have to pay advance tax in respect of their income (excluding the income to which sections 27, 80C, 80CC, or sub-section (2) of section 50 applies) on the basis of ratio of tax to assessed turnover for the latest assessment year in respect of which the tax payable has been determined under sections 59, 59A, 60, 62, 63 or 65, as reduced by the tax already paid under section 50 in the financial year. The following is an example:–

Example:

Turnover assessed for the latest assessment year e.g. A/Y = 1996-97 = Rs. 1,000,000

Tax determined for the A/Y = 1996-97 = Rs. 40,000

Ratio = Tax assessed / Turnover assessed = 40,000 / 1,000,000 = 4%

Advance Tax Liability for Financial Year 1997-98.

	Turnover	Ratio	Advance Tax Payable	Payment due by
1st Quarter =	400,000	4%	= Rs. 16,000	7th Oct. 97
2nd Quarter =	500,000	4%	= Rs. 20,000	7th Jan. 98
3rd Quarter =	300,000	4%	= Rs. 12,000	7th Apr. 98

Tax for 4th Quarter

a) Turnover for the period 1st Aprilto 30th May = Rs. 400,000

b) Turnover for 1st June to15th June = Rs. 50,000

c) Turnover for 16th to 30th June to betaken equal to (b) = Rs. 50,000

Turnover of 4th Quarter = Rs. 500,000 4% = Rs. 20,000 15th Jun. 98"

"iii) In the case of non-resident assessees, dividend income shall be excluded from the total income for the purposes of payment of advance tax.

S. 148.-Imports. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2024-25, dated July 29, 2024:-

"As per sub-section (1) of section 148, the Collector of Customs shall collect advance tax from every importer of goods on the value of goods at the rate specified in Part II of the First Schedule. As per sub-section (6), the provisions of the Customs Act, 1969, in so far as relevant, shall apply to collection of tax under section 148. The value of goods was defined in sub-section (9) to mean value of goods as determined under the Custom Act 1969, as if such goods were subject to ad valorem duty increased by the custom-duty, federal excise duty and sales tax, if any, payable in respect of import of the goods. However, in case of goods chargeable to tax at retail price under the Third Schedule of the Sales Tax Act, 1990, the value of goods means retail price of such goods increased by the sales tax payable in respect of the import and taxable supply of such goods.

Through the Finance Act, 2024, a new sub-section (6A) has been inserted in section 148 which empowers the Board to determine the minimum value of goods for the purpose of collection of advance tax under section 148 through notification in the official Gazette. Clause (c) has been added in sub-section (9) whereby value of goods means minimum value as notified by the Board under sub-section (6A) as if such goods were subject to ad valorem duty as increased by the custom-duty, federal excise duty and sales tax payable in respect of the import of goods."

"Under the erstwhile provisions of section 148, withholding tax rate was 5% on imports. Tax so deducted was final tax in respect of commercial importers. However, withholding tax @ 1% on raw material and capital goods imported for own use, collected from manufacturers was adjustable, subject to the provisions of the Ordinance. The direct and indirect exporters covered under the DTRE scheme and manufacturer exporters could import goods without payment of withholding tax. There were consistent complaints of misuse of exemption certificate and low withholding tax rate for manufacturers who reportedly sell the imported goods in open market instead of their own use putting the commercial importers in a disadvantageous position.

15.2 The withholding tax regime has been reviewed as a whole and a uniform rate of 2% withholding tax has been provided for commercial as well as manufacturer importers, being final tax in the case of former and adjustable in the case of latter. It will not only curb the tendency of misuse of this facility by the manufacturer resulting in the loss of revenue but would also provide a level playing field to all the stakeholders.

15.3 For the convenience of the importers, relevant provisions of Part II, III and IV of the Second Schedule to the Ordinance are explained hereunder to state the changes brought about in the WHT regime for imports:-

15.3.1 Under clause (9) of Part II of the Second Schedule, tax under section 148 was payable @ 1% on the import of fibers, yarn and fabric, but, "pure cotton or its yarn or its fabrics" were exempt from this levy. To give equal treatment to various items in textile sector, tax at a uniform reduced rate of 1% shall also be collected on the aforesaid items i.e. pure cotton or its yarn or its fabrics, at import stage.

15.3.2 Under clause (13) of Part II of the Second Schedule, tax under section 148 was payable @ 1% on the import of capital goods and raw material imported exclusively for own use by a manufacturer registered with Sales Tax Department. The aforesaid clause has been omitted. Now the importer of capital goods and raw material even if imported for own use by a manufacturer shall be liable to WHT @ 2%.

15.3.3 Under clause (13A) of Part II of the Second Schedule, providing reduced rate of 1% on the import of phosphatic fertilizer has been omitted to collect WHT @ 2% at import stage.

15.3.4 Clause (13B) of Part II of the Second Schedule providing 2% levy on import of certain items has been omitted because it had become redundant as general rate on import has been fixed at 2% instead of 5%.

15.3.5 Under clause (13G) of Part II of the Second Schedule, tax payable @ 1% on the import of the items mentioned at sub-clauses (i) to (xxiv). The sub-clauses (i) to (iii) and (viii) to (xxiv) have been omitted. Tax @ 2% shall be collected on the items, falling under the aforesaid clauses (i) to (iii) and (viii) to (xxiv) instead of reduced rate. However, gold, mobile telephone sets and silver imported under sub-clauses (iv) to (vi) respectively shall continue to pay tax @ 1% of the import value.

15.3.6 Clause (13H) of Part II of the Second Schedule has been omitted because reduction in general rate on import from 5% to 2% has rendered this clause redundant.

15.3.7 Clause (56) of Part IV of the Second Schedule has been substituted. The provisions of section 148, regarding withholding tax on imports shall not apply to the following items:-

(i) the goods classified under Pakistan Customs Tariff falling under Chapters 27, 86 and 99.

(ii) goods imported by direct and indirect exporters which are covered under sub-chapter 7 of Chapter XII of Pakistan Customs Laws read with SRO.450(I)/2001 dated June 18, 2001.

(iii) goods temporarily imported into Pakistan for subsequent exportation are exempt from income tax which are exempt from customs duty and sales tax under SRO.1065 (I)/2005 dated October 20, 2005."

Withholding Tax on imports.-Withholding tax on 2% additional sales tax at import stage.- Following is the text of Circular No. 1 of 2008 dated January 18, 2008:-

"Attention of the Board has been drawn towards the issue of withholding tax on 2% additional Sales Tax charged to commercial importers at import stage. The situation has been clarified by Sales Tax Wing vide its General Order No.3 of 2007, that 2% additional tax charged to commercial importer at import stage, is in lieu of value addition at local supply stage, hence it should not be included in the value for determining of withholding tax under section 148."

Substitution of sub-section (2).-Before substitution by Finance Act 2007, itread as follows:-

"(2) This section shall not apply to –

(a) the re-importation of re-usable containers for re-export qualifying for customs-duty and sales tax exemption on temporary import under the Customs Notification No. S.R.O. 344(1)/95*, dated the 25th day of April, 1995; or

(b) the importation of the following petroleum products –

"Motor Spirit (MS), Furnace Oil (FO), JP-1 and MTBE"."

"Seeks to issue exemption certificate of 0.5% of the value of goods imported for person not liable to tax."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2007 dated July 2, 2007:-

"Previously, advance income tax @ 6% of the value of goods was collected on import (except edible oil) which was;

(i) adjustable in the case of manufacturer; and

(ii) final tax liability for commercial importers.

The salient features of amended withholding tax regime under section 148 are:

(i) the standard rate of withholding tax on import has been reduced from 6% to 5% of the value of goods;

(ii) sub-sections (3) and (4) relating to issuance of exemption certificates to manufacturer importers on the basis of payment of withholding tax or advance tax under section 147 during the year, have been omitted.

Similarly, clauses (vi) and (ix) of SRO.593(I)/91 dated 30th June 1991 have also been omitted;

(iii) the commissioner shall issue a reduced rate certificate to a person whose income is not subject to final taxation and is not likely to pay any tax (other than tax under section 113), allowing payment of tax collectable under this section at a reduced rate of 0.5% [section 148(4A)]

(iv) the expression "value of goods" shall include Federal Excise Duty which shall be deemed to have always been included;

(v) a uniform adjustable withholding tax @ 1% on import of capital goods and raw material imported exclusively for its own use, has been introduced for a manufacturer registered with sales tax department [clause (13), Part II];

(vi) manufacturer exporters registered with Sales Tax department will not be subject to WHT at import stage in respect of capital goods and raw material. For this purpose a new sub-clause (xxii) has been inserted in Part IV of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001;

(vii) tax collected from the manufacturers of motor vehicles on import of all types of motor vehicles (in CBU condition) shall not be treated as discharge of final tax liability [section 148(7)(c)];

(viii) on import of edible oils including crude oil imported as raw material for manufacturer of ghee or cooking oil the withholding tax rate has been reduced from 3% to 2% [clause (13H), Part II];

(ix) withholding tax has been reduced to 2% on import of following items:

(a) energy saver lamps;
(b) bitumen;
(c) fixed wireless terminal;
(d) pesticides and wedicides
[clause (13H), Part II]

(x) section 148(2) has been substituted empowering the Board to exempt any goods, class of goods or persons or class of persons from the applicability of section 148(1).

Misc. clarifications.–Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 5 of 2002 dated April 11, 2002: –

"In view of the hardship faced by importer-cum-supplier on payment of withholding tax @ 6% of value of goods imported and further withholding tax @ 3.5% out of payment for supplies of imported goods, (5% in the case of Non-NTN holders), the Board issued a notification No. SRO 97(I)/2002 dated 12th February, 2002, providing that the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 50 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, shall not apply in respect of payments received by a resident person for supply of such goods as were imported by the same person and on which tax has been paid under sub-section (5) of section 50 of the said Ordinance.

2. The Board has received queries regarding procedure to be followed for implementation of the concession allowed under the said notification. It has also been enquired as to whether any exemption certificate is required for not deducting the tax on such supplies. Apprehension about misuse of the concession and safeguard for the "payers" have also been expressed by certain quarters.

3. The matter has been examined in the Board in the light of these queries. After considering the suggestions, and apprehension of the "payers", it is emphasized that the primary responsibility in this regard rests with the Withholding Agents ("Payers") who have to ensure that no hardship is caused to the "Suppliers" and also that the facility extended on this account is not misused by unscrupulous suppliers.

4. Acknowledging the merit of these representations received in the Board seeking advice as to mechanism for implementation thereof, the following broad parameters are enunciated for the guidance of the "Payers" and the "suppliers":–

[1]Sub-sections (3) and (4) omitted by Finance Act, 2007 dated June 30, 2007. Sub-section (4) was earlier substituted by Finance Act, 2003 dated June 17, 2003.

[2]Sub-section (4A) omitted by Finance Act, 2008 dated June 27, 2008. Earlier it was inserted by F.A. 2003 and substituted by F.A. 2007.

(i) Exemption certificate under section 50(4) of the Income Tax Ordinance is not required by the suppliers where the supplier has paid tax under section 50(5) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, on the goods supplied, except in cases where the certificate is obtained by the assessees under SRO 593(I)/91 dated 30.06.1991.

(ii) Tax on supplies will not be deducted by the payers only if goods are imported in the supplier's name and supplied in the same state and no value addition is involved. For this purpose, the supplier may give a written undertaking to the effect that the item mentioned in the invoice has been supplied without any value addition and tax under section 50(5) of the Ordinance has been paid thereon.

(iii) It is the responsibility of the "payer" to ensure that supplies received by him do not require deduction of tax under section 50(4). For ascertaining the fact that the supplier is himself the importer, goods supplied are the same which were imported and on which tax under section 50(5) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, was paid as commercial importer, the payer/withholding agent may require furnishing of import document such as original Bill of Entry. He has also to ensure that there is no addition to the value of goods supplied.

5. The Board takes the opportunity to request the tax payers and the withholding agents to faithfully observe the above instructions so that at the time of audit by the Departmental officers no embarrassment is caused."

Sub-sections (3) & (4)-Omission. Before omission by Finance Act, 2007, the sub-sections read as follows:-

"(3) Where a manufacturer imports raw materials (other than edible oils) exclusively for the manufacturer's own use, the Commissioner may certify a reduction (of up to [1][seventy five] per cent) of the rate of advance tax applicable under this section if the aggregate of tax paid or collected in a tax year equals the amount of tax paid by the manufacturer in the immediately preceding year.

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-section (3), a person being a manufacturer who is liable to pay advance tax under section 147, imports raw materials (other than edible oils) exclusively for his, or as the case may be, its own use, the Commissioner shall upon application in writing by such person, issue an exemption certificate effective from the date on which the certificate is issued to the 30th day of June next falling:

Provided that where the person to whom an exemption certificate has been issued fails to pay any installment due, the Commissioner may cancel the certificate."

[1]Substituted for "one hundred" by Finance Act, 2006 dated July 01, 2006.

Before substitution by Finance Act, 2003, it read as follows:–

"(4) A certification of a reduction of tax under sub-section (3) shall not be made in the first year of a manufacturer's business."

Sub-sections (4A), omission. Before omission by F. Act, 2008, it read as follows:-

"(4A) Where, in the case of a person whose income is not subject to final taxation, the Commissioner is satisfied that such person is not likely to pay any tax (other than tax under section 113), the Commissioner shall, upon application in writing made by such person, issue certificate allowing payment of tax collectable under this section at a reduced rate of 0.5%."

(5) Advance tax shall be collected in the same manner and at the same time as the customs-duty payable in respect of the import or, if the goods are exempt from customs-duty, at the time customs-duty would be payable if the goods were dutiable.

(6) [1][Subject to sub-section (6A), the] provisions of the Customs Act, 1969 (IV of 1969), in so far as relevant, shall apply to the collection of tax under this section.

[2][(6A) The Board may, by notification in the official Gazette, determine the minimum value of goods for the purpose of collection of advance tax under this section.]

[3][(7) The tax [4][required to be] collected under this section shall be [5][minimum] tax [6][ ] on the income of the importer arising from the imports subject to sub-section (1) and this sub-section shall not apply in the case of import of [7][goods on which tax is required to be collected under this section [8][ ] by an industrial undertaking for its own use.]

Adjustable for auto and fertilizer manufacturers.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2006 dated July 1, 2006:–

"Under the existing regime, withholding tax is collected @ 6% at the time of import in case of commercial importers and tax withheld is the final tax under the presumptive tax regime. Manufacturers of cars and fertilizers are also importing cars and fertilizers as finished goods and marketing them in the country. Since these are considered as commercial imports being imported finished goods, tax withheld is not adjustable and is their final tax liability.

Amendment is introduced to prescribe that tax withheld on import of cars in CBU condition and fertilizers in the case of manufacturers of cars and fertilizers will be adjustable against the final tax liability of such manufacturers."

S. 148.-Withholding Tax on Imports for Industrial Undertaking.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 15 of 2022, dated 21 July, 2022, explaining the amendment:-

"Following changes have been incorporated with regard to WHT on import under section 148 of the Ordinance.

a) Withholding tax on imports collected at 1% and 2% on goods falling under Part I and II of Twelfth Schedule to the Ordinance respectively is adjustable for an industrial undertaking if goods have been imported for own use. In numerous circumstances, goods imported by an industrial undertaking for own use may fall under Part III of Twelfth Schedule to the Ordinance on which tax at 5.5% is collectible at import stage. This resulted in a situation whereby tax collected at 5.5% on import of goods by an industrial undertaking for its own use became minimum tax. For the purpose of streamlining, tax collectible from an industrial undertaking on import of all goods for own use has been made adjustable.

b) Tax collectible under section 148 on import of edible oil, packaging material, paper and paper board, and plastics has been made minimum tax whether imported by an industrial undertaking for own use or by a commercial importer.

c) The rate of withholding tax on import of goods falling in Part II of Twelfth Schedule of the Ordinance has been enhanced from 2% to 3.5% for commercial importers, which shall be minimum tax.

d) Certain goods have been shifted from Part II to Part I of the Twelfth Schedule. The goods included in Part I are subject to tax @ 1% irrespective of import by industrial undertaking or commercial importers."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 14 of 2004 dated July 1, 2004:–

"Withholding tax on import of edible oil both by commercial and industrial importers previously treated as minimum tax has been converted into final tax by amending sub- section (8) of section 148 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001. Further, the manufacturers of cooking oil or vegetable ghee or both has been provided a reduced rate of 1% on local purchase of edible oil which too shall constitute final discharge of tax liability of such local purchases. For this purpose a new clause (13C) has been inserted in Part II of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001.

[1]Explanation omitted by Finance Act, 2020 dated June 30, 2020. Earlier it was inserted by Finance Act, 2006 dated July 01, 2006.

S. 148(9)-"value of goods".-Before substitution by Finance Act, 2007, it read as follows:-

"value of goods" means the value of the goods as determined under section 25 of the Customs Act, 1969 (IV of 1969), as if the goods were subject to ad valorem duty increased by the customs-duty and sales tax, if any, payable in respect of the import of the goods [1][; and]"

[1]Substituted for full stop by Finance Act, 2004, w.e.f. July 1, 2004.

S. 9-Explanation-Omission.- Before omission by Finance Act, 2020, it read as follows:–

"Explanation.- For the purpose of this section the expression "edible oils" includes crude oil, imported as raw material for manufacture of ghee or cooking oil."

Following is an extract from Finance Minister's Budget Speech of June 12, 2004:–

"Rationalization of minimum tax for edible oil units: Ghee/cooking oil units pay minimum tax at the rate of 3% on import of edible oil which is adjustable against final tax liability but if the final tax is less than 3% the minimum tax liability remains 3%. It is proposed to treat the same as final discharge of tax liability. To encourage local production of oil it is proposed that the ghee/cooking oil units may pay minimum tax at the rate of 1% as final discharge of tax liability. It will encourage local production of edible oil and act as an incentive for the ghee mills to purchase locally produced edible oil."

Import of edible oils.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1999 dated July 27, 1999:–

"i. A presumptive tax regime has been introduced for manufacturers of vegetable ghee/oil who import edible oils as raw materials for their own use. Such manufacturer importing edible oils for their own use would be liable to pay 2% tax at the import stage under section 50(5).

ii. The first proviso to sub-section (5) of section 50 and notification S.R.O. 593(I)/91 dated 30th June, 1991 have also been amended so that no certificates of exemption from payment of tax under this sub-section can be issued by the RCIT or the CIT to such manufacturer-cum-importers.

iii. The method of calculation of 2% tax is the same as laid down in sub-section (5) of section 50 for imported goods.

iv. The tax rate applicable to commercial importers of edible oils, other than manufacturers importing it for their own use, will remain the same i.e. 5%." [Ref:99 ITC 9 p. 9*]

[1]Section 148A omitted by Finance Act, 2020 dated June 30, 2020. Earlier it was inserted by Finance Act, 2015 dated June 30, 2015.

S.148A--Omission.– Before omission by Finance Act, 2020, it read as follows:–

"148A. Tax on local purchase of cooking oil or vegetable ghee by certain persons.- (1) The manufacturers of cooking oil or vegetable ghee, or both, shall be chargeable to tax at the rate of two percent on purchase of locally produced edible oil.

(2) The tax payable under sub-section (1) shall be final tax in respect of income accruing from locally produced edible oil."

S.148(9)-Definition of "Industrial undertaking", omission.– The definition before omission by Finance Act, 2005, read as follows:–

> "Industrial undertaking" means an undertaking which is set up or commenced in Pakistan on or after the 14th day of August, 1947, and which employs (i) ten or more persons in Pakistan and involves the use of electrical energy or any other form of energy which is mechanically transmitted and is not generated by human or animal agency; or (ii) twenty or more persons in Pakistan and does not involve the use of electrical energy or any other form of energy which is mechanically transmitted and is not generated by human or animal agency and which is–
> (i) engaged in–
> (a) the manufacture of goods or materials or the subjection of goods or materials to any process, which substantially changes their original condition;
> (b) ship-building;
> (c) generation, transformation, conversion, transmission or distribution of electrical energy, or the supply of hydraulic power; or
> (d) the working of any mine, oil-well or any other source of mineral deposits not being an undertaking to which the Fifth Schedule applies; or
> (ii) any other industrial undertaking which may be approved by the Central Board of Revenue for the purposes of this clause."

Misc.-Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 9 of 2002 dated June 29, 2002:–

"The Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, as amended through Finance Ordinance, 2002, will come into force w.e.f. 1st July, 2002. The withholding provisions of the new Ordinance will also become operative on the aforesaid date. Resultantly, tax shall be withheld by the withholding authorities under the provisions of the new Ordinance.

2. The repealed Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 contained provisions regarding powers of the Departmental officers for issuance of exemption certificates to various categories/ classes of persons. Detailed instructions in this regard were notified through SRO 593(I)/91, dated 30.6.1991. This SRO will remain valid after enforcement of the new Ordinance from 1st July, 2002, in view of the provisions of section 239(10) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001.

3. In the past, the Board's policy of exemption certificates was at times subject to criticism by concerned quarters at various forums. While the Board had all along been pleading the misuse of facility by certain unscrupulous taxpayers as one of the important reasons for formulating a stringent procedure for the purpose, yet it is hardly defensible to unnecessarily delay the issuance of exemption certificates due to lengthy departmental procedures and flimsy objections raised by the tax authorities.

4. The matter has been reviewed. In furtherance of the instructions of the Finance Minister on the subject, it has been decided to fast track the issuance of exemption certificates. Henceforth, the Commissioners of Income Tax shall issue the exemption certificates in the following categories within 24 hours of receipts of a complete application which should initially be valid for at least 6 months:–

(i) Import of raw material by such exporters who have their own manufacturing facility, and more than 80% of their sales are exports; and

(ii) The manufacturers who import raw materials for their own consumption and plant, machinery, fixture, fittings and other equipment for their own use.

5. It will not be out of place to mention here that prompt issuance of exemption certificates to the aforesaid category of persons in the above manner does not mean that the other taxpayers are to be denied of their rightful claims for issuance of exemption certificates. Instructions contained in SRO 593(I)/91, dated 30.6.1991 are still valid. In the cases covered by the said SRO, except those mentioned at para 4 above, exemption certificates shall be issued within 72 hours of fulfillment of requisite formalities for such certificates.

6. All Commissioners of Income Tax are advised to follow these instructions in letter and spirit and any lapse in this regard shall be seriously viewed. To avoid the processing delays by the Department and for timely issuance of exemption certificates, the taxpayers are advised to ensure that the applications filed for the purpose are complete in all respects."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 10 of 1996, dated July 16, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Importers engaged in supply of goods imported by them had been agitating that the tax is collected from them twice; once @ 4% at the time of import and again @ 2.5% at the time of supply. Through the insertion of clause (9B) in Part IV of the Second Schedule such importers can now opt out of the presumptive tax regime provided that their total tax liability in respect of such goods shall not be less than 4% of the value of goods supplied, i.e. the sale price. Such reduction in tax rate will be admissible only to those importers who make the supply of imported goods under the same business name and style. Goods subject to special rates remain excluded from the concession. The presumptive tax regime can, however, apply to "the importer-supplier of goods subjected to concessional rates" if they opt for it by filing on irrevocable declaration to the effect with the return of income under section 55."

Reductions in rate and exemptions under Second Schedule.– See following clauses of Part II of Second Schedule:–

(9) for 3/4th rate on imports under Afghan Transit Trade;

(13) for 3% rate on import of edible oils and condemned ships for breaking;

(13A) for 1% rate for import of DAP fertilizer;

(13B) for 2% rate on import of certain goods (see Circular No. 8 of 2004 for details);

See following clauses of Part IV of the Second Schedule for exemption on imports:–

(16) for imports by Agha Khan Development Network;

(26) for imports by HUBCO contractors and sub-contractors;

(27) for import of motor vehicle or support equipment by a disabled person;

(28) for imports by certain hospitals, educational, research and other institutions;

(29) for to imports by certain direct and indirect exporters;

(30) for imports of jewellery industry;

(31) for import of mobile telephones;

8-149-15-07-2020

(31A) for import of plant, equipment and machinery subject to exemption of customs duty or 5% customs duty;

(31B) for import of agricultural tractors in CBU condition;

(44) for imports by indirect exporters;

(52) prohibiting relief by way of exemption certificate under SRO 593(I)/91 for manufactures of vanaspati ghee or oil.

Exemption on import of certain goods.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 8 of 2004 dated July 1, 2004:–

"Under section 148 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, tax on imports was collectable @ 6% of the import value as increased by customs duty and sales tax, if any, payable thereon. In the case of goods imported for commercial sales, the tax so collected constituted final discharge of tax liability in respect of income arising form such imports.

2. A new clause, (13B) has been inserted in Part-II of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, through Finance Act, 2004 whereby withholding tax shall be collected at the reduced rate of 2%, with effect from July 1st 2004, in respect of items falling under HS Codes 801.1100, 801.3200, 802.1200, 802.9010, 902.4010, 902.4090, 904.1110, 907.0000, 908.1000, 3702.3100, 3705.2000, 3707.9000, 4011.2090, 50.04, 50.05, 50.06, 6301.1000, 8204.0000, 8301.1000, 8511.1000, 8525.4000, 8529.9010 and 9004.1000 of First Schedule to the Customs Act, 1969 (IV of 1969).

Exemption certificate without paying advance tax before due date.– Following is an extract from CBR's letter C. No. 1(2)WHT/2000, dated July 9, 2003:–

"The undersigned is directed to refer to your letter No. RBC/01/03 dated 2.7.2003 on the subject and to say that under the newly substituted sub-section (4) of section 148 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, a manufacturer who is liable to pay tax under section 147, is entitled to obtain exemption certificate. Payment of advance tax before it becomes due is not the prerequisite for issuance of such certificate. However, the Commissioner is empowered to cancel the certificate, in case the person fails to pay any installment of advance tax on due date."

Issuance of exemption certificates.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 6 of 2003 dated July 9, 2003:–

"Previously validity period of exemption certificate under section 148 was governed by administrative instructions issued from time to time. Further, such certificate was to be issued on fulfillment of certain conditions. In order to facilitate the taxpayers, Section 148 has been amended to allow swift issuance of exemption certificate for full one year to manufacturers importing raw material, plant and machinery etc., for their own use. In this regard, a separate Circular No.02 of 2003 dated 18.06.2003 has already been issued explaining in detail the new provisions."

Commissioner's certificate for exemption or lower rate.– See section 159.

Exemption from withholding.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 2 of 2003 dated June 18, 2003:–

"In order to meet the persistent demand of manufacturers for streamlining the procedure and swift issuance of exemption certificates, amendments have been made in section 148 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001, through the Finance Act, 2003. These amendments include substitution of sub-section (4) and insertion of a new sub-section (4A).

2. As a result of these amendments, the following three categories of manufacturers are entitled to exemption certificate under section 148 for the import of raw materials (other than edible oils), plant, machinery and equipment for their own use in an industrial undertaking:–

(a) Manufacturers who are liable to pay advance tax under section 147.

(b) Manufacturers who are not liable to pay advance tax under section 147 but have paid tax equal to the amount of tax paid in the immediately preceding year.

(c) Manufacturers who are not likely to pay any tax due to exemption of income, depreciation allowance or brought forward loss.

3. The Commissioner of Income Tax is obliged by law to issue exemption certificate to the aforementioned three categories of manufacturers. Following instructions may be followed by the Commissioner of Income Tax for issuing exemption certificates to the said manufacturers:–

(i) The certificate shall be issued for full one year valid till the 30th day of June next falling.

(ii) The certificate shall not be Letter of Credit specific.

(iii) The certificate shall be issued within 24 hours of the receipt of the application.

(iv) The Commissioner of Income Tax shall not insist on furnishing of irrelevant documents which may cause delay in the issuance of exemption certificate.

(v) In case of refusal to issue exemption certificate, the Commissioner shall pass a speaking order after affording opportunity of being heard to the applicant.

4. The Commissioner of Income Tax, however, is empowered to cancel an exemption certificate where the manufacturer fails to pay any installment of advance tax due under section 147.

5. In case, the manufacturer sells the goods imported against an exemption certificate, the goods so sold shall be treated as commercial imports and charged to tax accordingly.

6. The Commissioners of Income Tax are advised to follow these instructions so that manufacturers in the country are facilitated. The taxpayers may also be advised to file complete applications with necessary information (as per annexture) so as to avoid any delay and inconvenience to the taxpayer.

7. The provisions of Notification S.R.O.No.593(I)/91 dated 30th June, 1991 stand modified to the extent as provided in section 148 and explained in this circular."

Exemption Certificates.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 1(8)/WHT/96 dated November 27, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"As per the existing procedure copies of the exemption certificates u/s 50(5) issued by various CITs have to be endorsed to the respective RCIT. It is obviously not meant to be a mere formality. The basic intention is to keep a constant check on the veracity of the exemption claims and justification for issuing such certificates.

2. Complaints have been received about the inordinate delays in issuance of such certificates and about the cases which did not qualify for any exemption but were issued exemption certificates u/s 50(5).

3. Iamthereforedirectedtorequestyoutoundertakea comprehensive inspection of allexemptioncertificatesissuedu/s50(5)w.e.f.1-7-1996 in your region keeping in view the above referred deficiencies. The exercise should be completed by 10-12-1996 and results intimated to CBR by 15-12-1996."

"I am directed to refer to your letter C. No. RCCR/J-I/7/97-98/1413 dated 20-01-1998 on the above subject and to say that basis for issuing exemption certificate should be the tax liability in cases where the assessment has been completed for the immediately preceding year, but where such assessment is pending the tax deducted/collected in the immediately preceding year should be the basis. However, in such cases assessments should be completed on priority basis."

Check against misuse of exemption Certificates.– Following is the text of CBR's Letters C. No. 1(38)WHT/91 dated May 19, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Presently, the non-commercial importers whose income is not likely to be chargeable to tax enjoy exemption from withholding tax under section 50(5) of the Income Tax Ordinance on issuance of an exemption certificate by the relevant Commissioner of Income Tax. It has been brought to the notice of the Board that this facility is being misused by some industrial importers who sell the imported goods meant for consumption in industries set up in the tax exempt areas in the open market. This practice gives a clear competitive advantage to the holders of exemption certificates over other commercial importers who have to pay withholding tax on importation of the same goods.

2. In order to check the misuse of the exemption certificates, it has been decided that in future, such exemption certificates, will be issued with a condition that these would be valid only if the goods for which these certificates are meant are cleared from the Customs at the station of their actual consumption in a tax exempt area.

3. These instructions may please be circulated amongst all the officers for strict compliance."

Following is the text of CBR's C. No. C(WHT)/50(5) dated August 30, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Please refer to the detailed instructions already issued on the subject vide Board's letter of even number dated 28-7-1995.

2. In continuation of para 4(a) of the above referred letter, it is desired that letters may be written to the assessees that validity of the exemption certificates u/s 50(5) will expire on 30th September 1995; and that the assessees, if they so want, apply for re-validation/renewal after providing the specified details.

3. For issuing any fresh exemption certificate the applicant may be required to furnish the following information:–

(a) Quantitative details of each item imported during the financial year 1994-95 & the quantities of different materials desired to be imported in 1995-96.

(b) Consumption certificates issued by the Central Excise Deptt, if any

(c) Certificate of production capacity issued by Chief (Survey & Rebate) CBR (for cases enjoying concessionary customs duty); if any

(d) Monthly/quarterly statements required to be furnished under Central Excise/Sales Tax rules, if any.

4. The zonal CITs shall maintain a regular record of quantities of each item imported and consumed during the year in the case of each such applicant.

5. As already indicated in para 4 of the Board's letter dated 28-7-1995, exemption certificates u/s 50(5) should only be issued on half yearly basis.

6. The exemption certificates u/s 50(5) should clearly indicate the items/goods which can be imported and that the exemption certificate should be valid only for clearance of such goods.

7. It should also be mentioned in the certificate that the imports covered by the exemption certificate will be cleared at the specified port/dry port only. This port/dry port shall be the one which is nearest to the location of the factory where imported material will be consumed. Necessary instructions are also being issued from the Customs Wing of CBR for this purpose.

8. The above instructions may please be conveyed to all zonal CITs for strict compliance."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 1(38)WHT/94, February 1, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to Board's instructions issued from time to time on the above subject and to say that henceforth the condition of clearance of import consignments from the specified/nearest port may not be insisted upon. However, in order to effectively check the misuse of such exemption certificates. The following information/details may be obtained from the applicants as before:

(a) Installed reduction capacity and actual production of each item during the a/c year immediately preceding (e.g. 1995-96).

(b) Quantitative details of each imported item (L/C-wise).

  (i) During a/c year immediately preceding (e.g. 1995-96).

  (ii) During the current a/c period, todate.

  (iii) During the remaining period of current a/c year.

2. I am also directed to say that the following instructions issued from time to time may also be strictly followed:

(a) The exemption certificate should clearly indicate:–

  (i) Basis for grant of exemption/issuance of exemption certificate/ reduced rate certificate.

  (ii) Particulars of goods for which the certificate is valid.

  (iii) Period of validity of the exemption certificate/reduced rate certificate (Not exceeding six months in any case).

(b) Applications seeking exemption or reduction of rate of deduction u/s 50(5) must be disposed of within seven days of their receipt without exception. The applicants should be required to make up the deficiencies, if any, immediately upon receipt of their applications so that these can be disposed of within the seven days deadline.

(c) In order to ensure that no evasion of tax takes place through misuse of the exemption certificates, factory premises of such units shall be inspected at least once during the a/c period to ascertain, beside other things, the actual production of various items and consumption of tax exemption imports.

(d) The quantitative details specified under para 1(b) above shall be duly utilized at the time of assessment and discussed in detail in the main body of the assessment order. Irrespective of the fact whether it is a taxable or exempt unit.

(e) Details of all imports exempted u/s 50(5) by the customs authorities (whether on the basis of exemption certificates or otherwise) shall be obtained every month by the monitoring offices from ports/dry ports located in the region of the purposes of exercising effective control and cross-verification.

(f) RCITs shall continue to maintain a complete record of all such certificates issued in their respective regions for the periodical inspections.

3. The above instructions may please be brought to the notice of all officers concerned for strict, compliance."

Exemption for nearest port and specified quantities.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular letter C.No. ITJI-I(S)/84.Pt.II, dated June 30, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Reference is invited to CBR letter C. No. 3(9)G-WHT/95 dated 4-12-1995 on the above subject (copy enclosed for ready reference).

I am directed to state that the requests for relaxation of the condition of clearance of imported material at the nearest port may not be considered henceforth and all such cases, including cases of edible oil import, wherein this facility has so far been granted may also be regretted with effect from 1st July, 1996.

Secondly, in all exemption certificates u/s 50(5) the names of imported material and quantities (upto which the certificate will be valid) must be mentioned in the certificate." [Ref:96 ITL 11 p. 8*]

Businessmen Hospital Trust, Lahore.– Notification No. SRO 840(I)/79, dated September 12, 1979 specifies this Trust to be a person to whom the provisions of Clauses (a) and (b) of Section 50(5) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, shall not apply.

Exemption in case of industrial undertakings set up in tax holiday areas in the Country.– It was explained in CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 5(32)IT-6/78-VI, dated April 6, 1983 addressed to the President Chamber of C&I, Karachi that certificate from the Commissioner under Clause (iv) of SRO 658(I)/81, dated June 25, 1981 would have to be obtained for availing exemption.

Payment at Karachi for Industrial Importers of AJ&K.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 13 of 1998 dated October 2, 1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Azad Jammu & Kashmir Council Secretariat has informed that the assessees of Azad Jammu & Kashmir who make imports through Karachi Port have to pay withholding tax under section 50(5) but they are not allowed credit of this withholding tax at the time of assessment by Azad Jammu & Kashmir Income Tax Authorities due to the reason that the tax collected under section 50(5) is not transferred to Azad Jammu & Kashmir Income Tax Authorities by Pakistan Income Tax Authorities.

2. Inameetingheld between the authorities of CBR and AJ&K Council Board of Revenueitwasdecidedthattheidealarrangementtoovercomethisproblemcouldbetohave a Dry Port in Azad Jammu & Kashmir. However, for the time being the amount equal to tax under section 50(5) should be deposited by the importers of Azad Kashmir in designatedbranches of National Bank of Pakistan in AJ&K which may be treated as proper and valid deposit of tax for the purpose of section 50(5) and on the strength of these challans of tax payment, Commissioner of Income Tax AJ&K should be empowered to issue a certificate to the effect that the amount due under section 50(5) has been paid by the importer of AJ&K into a National Bank Branch in AJ&K.

3. It has, therefore, been decided that Customs Authorities in Pakistan will honour the certificate issued by the Commissioner of Income Tax, Azad Jammu & Kashmir to the effect that the amount equivalent to tax under section 50(5) has been paid by the importer and such certificate is accompanied by a copy of challan of said tax."

Calculation of tax on imported goods.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. ITJI-1(8).Pt. dated 16th May, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No. CRA-III/Audit/Br. VIII/96-97 dated 25th February, 1997 and to say that advance tax under section 50(5) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 has to be computed by the customs authorities on goods imported on the basis of the value of such goods as increased by the customs duty and sales tax, if any, 'levied' thereon.

8-151-15-10-2020

The word 'leviable' was substituted by the word 'levied' by Finance Act, 1995. Therefore, the position before 1-7-1995 was that value of goods were to be increased by customs duty and sales tax 'leviable'. However, with the substitution of the word 'levied' advance tax under section 50(5) shall be calculated on the value of goods imported as increased by the customs duty and sales tax actually 'levied'."

Re-import of goods produced in Pakistan.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 14 of 1997 dated October 20, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979: –

"A number of exporters have represented against imposition of withholding tax under section 50(5) on re-import of those goods which were exported by them but were rejected by the foreign buyers or unsold consignments sent abroad for display/sale were brought back. Technically re-import of such goods cannot be termed to be the "imports" proper. It has, therefore, been decided that goods produced or manufactured in and exported from Pakistan qualifying for customs exemption under section 22 of The Customs Act, 1969 would not be liable to withholding tax under section 50(5) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, at the time of their re-importation in Pakistan."

Reduced rate for manufacturers.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 1996, dated July 1, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Income tax is withheld on imported goods under section 50(5). This provision has been amended to provide for issuance of a certificate by the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax for deduction of tax at a reduced rate in respect of raw-material imported by a manufacturer exclusively for his own use. This reduction may be allowed by 50% of the applicable rate if the tax-payer requests for such a certificate and fulfills the following conditions:–

i) the aggregate of tax paid or collected under section 50(5) during that year equals the amount of tax paid by such assessee in the immediately preceding year; and

ii) the certificate is not issued during the first year of assessee's business." [Ref:96 ITC 7 p. 12*]

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 10 of 1996 dated 16th July, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"On fulfillment of the required conditions such certificate shall be issued invariably. However, this concession will not be available during first year of business of an assessee.

The exemptions already available under this sub-section would continue. This is an additional concession to redress certain hardships.

Through the insertion of second proviso, exemption from advance collection of tax under sub-section (5) of section 50 of the Ordinance has been provided to such re-importers of re-usable containers as qualify for customs and sales tax exemption on their temporary import under Customs Notification SRO. 344(I)/95 dated April 25, 1995 on the terms and conditions, specified in the said Notification. In case of misuse of this exemption the re-importer will be treated as an assessee in default and the relevant provisions of the Ordinance, penal or otherwise, shall apply." Goods imported by residents of tribal areas.– Following is the text of Circular Letter C. No. 63(I)/IT-6/80, dated November 27, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to say that the importers residing in the areas where Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 is not applicable are liable to deduction at source under section 50(5) of the said Ordinance. However, in cases where the sale of such imported goods takes place in the area to which the Ordinance is not applicable refund will be claimed from the Income Tax Department for the tax paid at the import stage. In this connection following three situations can arise:–

(a) The importers belonging to the tribal areas may sell their Licences to the persons residing in the taxable territory.

8-151-15-10-2020

(b) The goods imported by the residents of the tribal areas may be sold in the taxable territory.

(c) The goods imported by the residents of the non-taxable territory namely tribal areas, etc, may sell imported goods in the non-taxable areas.

2. As regards situation mentioned at (a) and (b) above the profits will be taxable.

As regards the situation mentioned at (c) above the profits will not be chargeable to tax. Before accepting the position as at (c), it will be necessary to verify whether the goods have actually been sold in the tribal areas. In this connection at the time of scrutiny of refund claims of such persons due care will have to be taken. While examining such cases the following documents/informations in particular may be called for and examined:–

Salary, seafarers on board foreign ships.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 18 of 2000, dated July 20, 2000, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The letter from Central Board of Revenue of even number dated 30th August, 1999 on the above subject addressed to the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax, Southern Region, Karachi, was misconstrued and misinterpreted by certain quarters.

2. For removal of all doubts it is hereby clarified that taxability of income chargeable under the head "salary" is subject to determination of residential status under provisions of section 2(40) read with section 12(1) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979. Salary received by Pakistani seamen in or outside Pakistan in lieu of work aboard the foreign flagships is not earned in Pakistan and will not be taxable if the conditions stipulated in section 2(40) read with section 11 of the said Ordinance are not fulfilled.

3. Since residential status of Pakistani seamen working aboard foreign flagships cannot be determined before the expiry of the income year, shipping agents are not required to withhold tax under section 50(1) on salary paid to such Pakistani seamen."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular letter C. No. 7(40)S. Asstt/99, dated August 30, 1999, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to refer to CIT Zone 'F', Karachi's report bearing No. JUD/CIT/ZF/1999-2000 dated 23.07.1999 and to state that salary of Pakistani seamen employed aboard foreign flagships constitutes income which accrues or arises in Pakistan. Foreign flagships are extensions of territories of the state whose flags they fly. Consequently, such income is not subject to tax withholding under section 50(1) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979. The notices issued to shipping agents asking them to withhold tax under section 50(1) may, therefore, be withdrawn. However, information about such seamen may be obtained and communicated to the concerned circles in order to enable them to make proper assessments in the event such seamen are found to be 'resident' in Pakistan, during the relevant year, under the Income Tax Ordinance."

The earlier instructions giving an opposite interpretation were vide Letter of even number dated November 23, 1994.

S. 150.–Withholding tax on dividend.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 9 of 2019 dated July 30, 2019:-

"After amendments in Division I of Part III of the First Schedule, there are now two withholding tax rates on payments of dividends 7.5% and 15% for persons whose names are appearing on the active taxpayers' list. It is 7.5% if the dividend is paid by IPPs where the dividend is a pass through item under an Implementation Agreement or Energy and which is required to re-imbursed by the CPPA-G or the CPPA-G's successor or predecessor. Withholding tax rate is 15% for other dividends."

S. 150-Tax deduction by Non-resident Companies from Dividends.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Previously only resident companies were required to deduct tax at the time of making payment of dividends. By virtue of amendment in section 150, now a non-resident company will also be required to deduct tax from the gross amount of dividend paid, since remittance of after-tax profits of a branch of a non-resident company is also treated as dividend."

S. 150–Deduction of tax from dividend, gross or net.– Following is the text of Joint Secretary KSE (Guarantee) Ltd. No. RSE/ dated January 12, 1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"This has reference to the deduction of tax on dividend income in accordance with sub-section 6A of section 50 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

The Karachi Stock Exchange had taken up the matter with CBR for deduction of withholding tax on dividend income on the balance amount i.e., after deduction of zakat and not on gross amount. The CBR had instructed the Regional Commissioners of Income Tax accordingly. However, some companies still continue to deduct tax on gross dividend.

In this respect, we are enclosing herewith a clarification from the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax in reply to a representation made by M/s. Matiari Sugar Mills Ltd. The clarification issued by the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax indicates that withholding tax on dividend income should be levied on the balance amount, which remained after deduction of zakat. Photocopies of the representation made by the company vide letter dated March 3, 1997 and the clarification issued by the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax, Corporate Region, Karachi, vide letter dated March 19, 1997 is enclosed herewith for information.

In view of the above all the listed companies are advised to deduct withholding tax on dividend income on the balance amount after deduction of zakat."

This letter was based on clarification issued by the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax, Corporate Region Karachi, vide letter No. RCCR/JI/26/1997/ 2147, dated 19-3-1997, which was later on withdrawn/rescinded. The RCIT vide letter No. RCCR/J-I/26/1997-98/838, dated 10-11-97 opined as under:–

"The Central Board of Revenue has vide an advertisement dated 4-7-1991, clarified that tax is to be deducted from gross amount of dividend before deduction of Zakat. Photo-copy of the advertisement is enclosed. Somewhat, similar directions were issued vide a booklet containing directions for deductions u/s 50 in July, 1995. Photo-copy of the relevant page is enclosed. In view of the clear cut directions of the higher authority (CBR) on the subject the clarification issued by this office may be considered withdrawn/ rescinded. You are directed to deduct tax from dividend in the light of CBR's clarification."

This rendered the letter of Joint Secretary KSE dated 12-1-1998 ineffective, though it is interesting to note that he issued it after the RCIT rescinded its earlier letter. For further discussion see comments at 97 ITL 21.

Non-residents have also been excluded from the purview of section 50(3) in respect of payments made to them under the following heads:–

Therefore, now the tax will be withheld from non-residents under the respective provisions like residents i.e. as required under sub-section (4A) and (7A) of section 50."

S. 152.-Payments to Non-Residents. Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2024-25, dated July 29, 2024:-

"Under sub-section (4A) of Section 152, the Commissioner, on application by a recipient of payment referred to in sub-section (1A) of section 152 having P.E in Pakistan or by a recipient of payment referred to in sub-section (2A), where tax deductible is not minimum, could allow any person to make payment without deduction of tax or with deduction of tax at a reduced rate. After amendment made through the Finance Act, 2024, the Commissioner cannot issue a 100% exemption certificate and can only issue a reduced rate certificate but such reduction shall not exceed 80% of the rate specified in Division II of Part III of the First Schedule."

Commissioner's certificate for exemption or lower rate.– See section 159.Withholding Tax on payments to non-residents.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 6 of 2003 dated July 9, 2003:–

"A person, who intends to make payment to a non-resident person without deduction of tax, is required under sub-section (5) of section 152 to furnish a notice to the Commissioner before making the payment. However, law was silent on the responsibility of Commissioner to respond to such notice. In order to resolve this, a new sub-section (5A) has been inserted in section 152 making it obligatory on the Commissioner to respond to such notice either, accepting payer's contention or pass an order under sub-section (6) sking the payer to deduct tax from the payment to a non-resident."

(a) Payments to branches of non-resident insurance companies; (b) obligation to furnish declaration by agents of non-residents; and (c) furnishing of information about payments to non-residents etc.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1999, dated July 27, 1999, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"i. The second proviso to sub-section (3) of section 50 has been amended to exclude payments to branches of non-resident insurance companies, like non-resident banking companies, from the purview of tax withholding under this clause.

ii. The new provisions added to the law provide that where a person claims to be an agent of a non-resident, he must file a declaration to that effect, with the concerned Deputy Commissioner of Income Tax, before making any payment to such non-resident. Similarly, new provisions also provide that where a person does not intend to deduct tax from any payment falling within the ambit of sub-section (3), to a non-resident except payment on account of imports of goods or remittances on account of educational and medical expenses in accordance with the State Bank's regulations, he must furnish particulars of such non-resident and the nature and quantum of such payments to the concerned Deputy Commission of Income Tax.

iii. The new provisions further provide that where a person notifies that he does not intend to deduct tax from a non-resident but the Deputy Commissioner has reason to believe that the payment is chargeable to tax under the Ordinance, he may direct such person to deduct tax from such payment at the rates specified in the First Schedule or such lower rate as he may specify by a written order."

Payments made to branches of non-resident companies.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 11 of 1998 dated July 25, 1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"As a result of amendment of second proviso to sub-section (3) of section 50, the exemption from withholding tax under the said sub-section, in respect of branches of non-resident companies, would now be available only to branches of non-resident banking companies. Other non-resident companies may, as provided in the law, obtain certificate of exemption or deduction at a reduced rate from the concerned Deputy Commissioner of Income Tax." [Ref: 98 ITC 11 p. 13]

Deduction from payments to non-resident banks.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 4 of 1995 dated July 9, 1995, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Non-resident foreign companies operating in Pakistan are subjected to withholding tax under section 50(3) when they receive various types of income/receipts. This provision was found to be burdensome for branches of non-residents operating in Pakistan. Exception was, therefore, provided in section 50(3) in respect of interest paid to Pakistani branches of non-resident banking companies. This treatment has now been extended to all payments made to Pakistani branches of non-resident companies. The proviso to section 50(3) has been suitably modified to incorporate this change.

In 1987 before the amendment regarding bank interest, disallowances for the first time were made on account of non-deduction of tax from interest/return on finance to Pakistani branches of foreign banks, such disallowances were, however, held by some Commissioners of Income Tax (Appeals) as against the provisions of the Ordinance. S. 152(5)–Withholding Tax On Payments To Non-Residents Covered By Avoidance Of Double Taxation Treaty.– Following is an extract from FBR's Circular letter No. 5 of 2008 dated July 05, 2008:–

"Before the amendment of sub-section (5) of section 152 of the Ordinance, any person making payment to a non-resident person without deduction of tax, was required to give, complete particulars of the non-resident as well as nature and amount of the payment, to the Commissioner, for allowing him to make payments without deduction of the tax.

Such exercise, however was, futile where Avoidance of Double Taxation Agreements provide exemption or a reduced rate of tax for a particular payment.

17.2 The said provisions have been amended. Now these would not be applicable where payments are subjected to "nil" or "reduced tax rate" as per the provisions in the Avoidance of Double Taxation Treaty. This measure would reduce the unnecessary hassle of the taxpayers of getting exemption certificate for remittance of such amounts with deduction of tax or deduction as per the provision of the treaty."

Sub-section (5A)–Procedure for payments to non-residents without tax deduction.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 17 of 2004 dated July 17, 2004:–

"Sub-section (5A) of section 152 has been amended to make it obligatory for the Commissioner to pass order within 30 days of the receipt of notice under sub-section (5) of the said section."

Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill, 2004' explaining the amendment:–

"Seeks to provide thirty days limitation for passing an order by the Commissioner on receipt of notice regarding payment to a non-resident without deduction of tax."

Rate of deduction.– Following is a modified summary of Letter No. SG/15/1166, dated October 6, 1980 from M/s. S. A. Salam & Co., CAs, addressed to the Member (Taxes-I) CBR:–

The rate of deduction of tax at source in case of non-residents is 30%. Thus 100% of the payments received by non-residents are being treated as income. In case of residents the rate is 3% (S. 50(4)) of the gross payments, the same rate should be made applicable in case of non-residents.

S. 152(5A).- Automatic issuance of exemption certificate.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 2 of 2023 dated July 26, 2023, explaining the amendment made by the F. Act, 2023:-

"For ease of doing business, automatic issuance of exemption certificate has been provided under sections 159 and 153 of the Ordinance. However, the same facilitative measure was missing in section 152. For achieving the purpose of ease of doing business also for resident persons who intends to make time bound payments to non-resident persons, a new proviso has been inserted vide Finance Act, 2023 in sub-section (5A) of section 152 of the Ordinance whereby an application filed by a taxpayer for issuance of exemption certificate will be deemed to have been granted after expiry of 30 days from the date of application where the Commissioner Inland Revenue fails to pass an order within said period of 30 days.

For computing the above mentioned period of 30 days, the adjournment period sought by the applicant will be excluded. Furthermore, Commissioner Inland Revenue has been empowered to modify or cancel the certificate issued automatically by Iris on the basis of reasons to be recorded in writing and after providing an opportunity of being heard to the taxpayer to whom exemption certificate has been issued automatically."

S. 153.- Introducing Tax Regime for E-commerce.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 01 of 2025-26 dated August 02, 2025:- [clause (17C) and (19AA) of Section 2, Sections 153, 165C, 181 and 182]

"The changing dynamics of retail market in Pakistan along with the fact that a large number of population of sellers connected with on-line marketplace or working through their e-stores are not registered and operate informally encouraged to design a framework to register these sellers, assign them National Tax Numbers through a simplified process and to ensure that a contribution to tax on every digitally ordered transaction is collected through placing a workable withholding tax regime.

For taxing domestic e-commerce transactions, a charging section 6A has been introduced which stipulate that every payment received for digitally ordered goods or services using an online market place (OMP) or website shall be charged to tax. Corresponding changes for ensuring upfront withholding tax collection has been introduced in section 153(2A) whereby payment intermediary (banking company, financial institution, licensed dealer of foreign exchange and payment gateways) and courier involved in Cash on Delivery (CoD) are made responsible to collect withholding tax @1% and 2% on gross amount of receipts respectively at the time of remitting payment to the seller. The differential in tax rate between these withholdings is for encouraging the use of digital means for payment to meet overall national objective of transforming to cashless economy. The tax collected under the scheme is a final tax u/s 6A on the income derived by the seller from local e-commerce transactions and the export transactions. However, withholding under section 154 and 154A will fall outside the ambit of taxation under this regime. For the purpose of clarity, the terms relevant to this scheme such as e-commerce, digitally delivered services, online marketplace, payment intermediary and courier service have been incorporated in the Ordinance.

Payment intermediary and courier have to collect tax in the name of each seller, deposit it in the treasury on the monthly basis beside filing the prescribed WHT statement in this regard. The payment intermediary and courier service are required to file a prescribed withholding statement containing information of all transactions of every seller making sales through OMP and or e-stores.

Every seller has been required under the law to get itself registered in income tax and OMP and courier service are also now barred to offer their services to any unregistered sellers. OMPs are obligated to file statements about the vendors using their platforms.

Penalties have been prescribed if compliance is not made with respect to filing of statutory statements. Penalties on online marketplace and courier service have also been placed in case of default to withheld tax or to comply with registration requirement of the seller.

Regarding the responsibility of collecting tax under this section, it is clarified that in the case of vendors being e-stores and similar mobile applications where payment is made online, the acquiring bank will be the payment intermediary for the purpose of this provision and shall be responsible to collect tax. On the other hand, in the case of vendors being e-stores and similar mobile applications where payment is made on Cash on Delivery (CoD) basis, the courier which could be an aggregator, providing service to the e-store or mobile application of delivering goods and collecting cash at the doorstep of the buyer shall be responsible to comply with all the statutory obligations in this regard.

Further, in case a vendor sells goods through Online Market Place (OMP) and payment is made online, the bank or financial institution of OMP in the second and final arm of transaction settling the payment between vendor and buyer shall be the payment intermediary for the purpose of the collection of tax. It may be noted that the issuing and acquiring banks in the first arm of transaction could not be the payment intermediaries as they are involved in settling transaction between the buyer and OMP, which is acting as an agent for the vendor/seller and not a seller in real sense. On the other hand, in case a vendor sells goods through OMP or otherwise and payment is made on Cash on Delivery (CoD) basis, the courier, which could be an OMP in case vendor is using its services; or the aggregator who indirectly provides such services to e-store; or the courier directly providing those services to the e-store or mobile application of delivering goods and collecting cash at the doorstep of the buyer shall be responsible to comply with all the statutory obligations in this regard."

Prescribed person, status of AOP with respect to withholding tax.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 1(17)WHT/91-Pt dated August 29, 2002:–

"I am directed to say that queries have been received in the Board about the status of an AOP with respect to withholding of tax under section 153 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001. The issue has been examined in the light of provisions of sub-section (9) of section 153 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001.

2. It is clarified that an ordinary A.O.P. which is created by an agreement, does not fall within the definition of the "Prescribed Person" given in sub-section (9) of section 153 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001. Only those AOPs which are created by, or under the law, which would be very few are liable to deduct tax as withholding agents under section 153 of the said Ordinance."

S. 154-Export of services.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 15 of 2022, dated 21 July, 2022, explaining the amendment:-

"A special regime u/s 154A for export of IT and IT enabled services was introduced though Finance Act, 2021 whereby 1% final tax was collected on realization of export proceeds of these services. Moreover, hundred percent tax credit was available against this final tax to the exporters of IT and IT enabled services u/s 65F upon fulfilling few conditions mentioned therein.

In order to simplify the tax regime for exporters of IT and IT enabled services, the 100% tax credit regime under section 65F has been withdrawn and a reduced rate of final tax of 0.25% has been provided for exporters of IT and IT enabled services who are registered with the Pakistan Software Export Board (PSEB). Corresponding changes in section 65F have been made accordingly. Furthermore, scope of definitions of IT services and IT enabled services contained in clause (30AD) and clause (30AE) of section 2 of the Ordinance has been clarified and widened through the Finance Act, 2022.

Previously, the amount of foreign commission due to an indenting commission agent was charged to tax, at the rate of 5%, under sub-section (2) of section 154 of the Ordinance. Now, this rate has been reduced to 1% by incorporating clause (da) in sub-section (1) of section 154A of the Ordinance. Corresponding changes have been made in section 154 accordingly.

Moreover, provisions of Tenth Schedule will not apply on tax collectible under section 154A of the Ordinance. Necessary change has been incorporated in rule 10 of Tenth Schedule in this regard."

S.154-Collection of Tax from Exporters receiving export proceeds in cash.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circulars No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Under section 154 of the Ordinance, every authorized dealer in foreign exchange is required to deduct tax at the time of realization of foreign exchange proceeds on account of export of goods. There is a special arrangement for export of goods to Afghanistan whereby goods are exported without Form "E" and export proceeds are directly received by the exporters in local currency. Such exports are allowed in terms of para (7) of SRO 759(1)/2008 dated 18.07.2008. Since the export proceeds are not realized in foreign exchange through authorized dealers, therefore, no tax is collected thereon.

In order to cover the above situation, a new sub-section (3C) has been inserted which provides that in respect of goods exported without Form "E" the Collector of Customs shall collect tax @ 1% at the time of clearing such goods for export."

Export of tribal residents.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 1(14)WHT/92 dated February 22, 1993:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter dated 2nd November, 1992 on the subject and to say that the Board has examined your request. The foreign exchange proceeds of Cattle exported by you are subject to tax under section 50(5A) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.No exemption is available to residents of Tribal Areas in respect of aforesaid receipts." [Ref:93 ITL 19 p. 11*]

The clarification appears to be erroneous, see footnotes u/s 149.

Taxation of export buying houses and indenting agents.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 03 of 2000, dated February 17, 2000:–

"In continuation of the Board's Circular No. 13 of 1999 dated 25.08.1999, it is clarified that clause (2A) inserted in Part II of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, vide SRO 1052(I)/99 dated 17.09.1999 and subsequently amended vide SRO 313(I)/99 dated 30.11.1999, provides that the tax chargeable in respect of commission received by an export indenting agent or an export buying house shall be at the rate equal to the rate of tax applicable to the exporter on export of goods to which such commission relates.

2. In view of the foregoing, the general rate of withholding tax for indenting commission remains 10% as per paragraph CCCC of Part I of the First Schedule to the Ordinance, but the reduced rate applicable in respect of commission received by an export indenting agent or an export buying house shall be 0.50% or 0.75% or 1.00%, depending on the goods exported to which such commission relates." [Ref:2000 ITC 4 p. 3*]

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 13 of 1999, dated August 25, 1999, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Under sub-section (5A) of section 50, tax was, previously, withheld by the banks at the time of realization of foreign exchange proceeds on account of export of goods by an exporter. Through the Finance Act, 1999, foreign exchange proceeds on account of commission due to an indenting commission agent, have also been brought within the purview of this sub-section.

2. The tax from indenting commission mentioned above is to be deducted by the bank @ 10% of the foreign exchange proceeds as per paragraph CCCCC of Part I of the First Schedule inserted through the Finance Act, 1999. Tax so deducted will be the full and final discharge of tax liability of the indenting agent in respect of such income under section 80C.

3. The banks responsible for deduction of tax under this sub-section are under legal obligation to furnish annual statement as prescribed under Rule 201A of Income Tax Rules, 1982, to be filed by 1st September each year, regarding foreign exchange proceeds and tax deducted therefrom. They should use the same statement to separately report the payments on account of foreign exchange proceeds made to indenting commission agents and the tax deducted therefrom." [Ref:99 ITC 14 p. 23*]

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1999 dated July 27, 1999, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Sub-section (5A) of section 50 has been amended to provide presumptive taxation of commission received in foreign exchange from foreign principals by indenting agents. The tax would be withheld @ 10% by banks. The tax deducted @ 10% shall constitute final discharge of tax liability in respect of such income from assessment year 2000-2001." S. 154A.- Export of services.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 2 of 2023 dated July 26, 2023, explaining the amendment made by the F. Act, 2023:-

"(i) An exporter of IT & ITeS is charged to concessionary final tax rate of 0.25% on export proceeds realised if such exporter is registered with and duly certified by the Pakistan Software Export Board (PSEB). The exporters of IT & ITeS can avail above referred concessionary final tax rates after fulfilment of conditions listed in sub-section 2 of section 154A of the Ordinance. One such condition was filing of sales tax returns if required to be filed. Needless to say that this relaxation is for availing reduced rate of 0.25% under section 154A of the Ordinance, and does not by itself absolve the exporter to file Sales Tax return under respective statutes if required to be filed.

(ii) Furthermore, in order to provide certainty of tax rates for exporters for IT & ITeS, an amendment has been made in Division IVA of Part III of First Schedule to the Ordinance through Finance Act, 2023 whereby the concessionary final tax rate of 0.25% will continue for tax years 2024, 2025 and 2026."

2. In view of the above provision of the income tax law, withholding tax under section 50(7B) is deductible in the cases where annual rent of a property exceeds Rs. 100000/-. In the case mentioned by you, an advance rent for five years, amounting to Rs. 400000/- has been received. Withholding tax is not liable to be deducted under the aforesaid section of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, from this payment as annual rent of the property does not exceed rupees one lac (Rs. 100000/-) per annum."

Exemption for certain assessees.– See clause (47) of Part IV of Second Schedule.

[1][156A. Petroleum Products.– (1) Every person selling petroleum products to a petrol pump operator shall deduct tax from the amount of commission or discount allowed to the operator at the rate specified in Division VIA of Part III of the First Schedule.

(2) The tax [2][deductible] under sub-section (1) shall be a final tax on the income arising from the sale of petroleum products to which sub-section (1) applies.]

[1]Section 156A inserted by Finance Act, 2004, w.e.f. July 1, 2004.
[2]Substituted for "deducted" by Finance Act, 2012 dated June 26, 2012.

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 6 of 1990 dated July 15, 1990:–

"A new sub-section (7C) has been inserted in section 50 of the Ordinance which requires deduction or collection of advance tax from any payment of Rs. 25,000 or more (or value thereof) to any person by way of a prize on prize bond or on account of winnings from a raffle, lottery or a cross word puzzle. Paragraph CC of Part I of the First Schedule further provides that such a payment whether in cash or in kind will be treated as a separate block of income and subjected to final withholding tax at the rate of 7.5%".

Withdrawal of limit of Rs. 25,000.– The withdrawal of limit of Rs. 25,000 by Finance Act, 1998 rendered all prizes subject to withholding tax w.e.f. 1.7.1998 @ 7.5%. It appears inappropriate for recipients of small amounts to suffer the tax.

S. 156A-Petrol pumps, presumptive taxation.– Following is an extrzct from Finance Minister's budget speech of June 12, 2004:–

"Moreover, no tax is collected on commission income of petrol pump operators. With significant growth in the industry administrative convenience warrants a simpler regime. It is proposed to collect advance withholding tax on their commission income at the rate of 10% and treat the same as final discharge of tax liability."

Following is an extract from 'Notes on Clauses of Finance Bill, 2004' explaining the amendment:–

"Seeks to provide for withholding tax on commission income from sale of petroleum products by petrol pump operators as final discharge of tax liability."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 11 of 2004 dated July 1, 2004:–

"A new section 156A has been introduced through Finance Act, 2004 requiring every person selling petroleum products to a petrol pump operator to collect tax from the amount of commission or discount allowed with effect from 1st July, 2004. A corresponding amendment has been made in Part III of the First Schedule to the Ordinance by adding Division VIA, providing the collection of tax @ 10%. The tax so collected shall be the final tax on the income arising from the sale of petroleum products.

2. The provisions of section 156A shall be equally applicable to commission or any discount allowed to the petrol pump operators, whether mentioned in the bills or not. The responsibility to collect such withholding tax lies on "every person", irrespective of its status. Thus, commission paid or discount allowed to petrol pump operators on purchases of petroleum products from any person including oil companies, wholesalers, distributors or retailers would be liable to withholding tax under this provision of law.

3. Situations may arise wherein petrol pump operators may have to suffer tax deduction under section 153(1)(a) of the Ordinance in respect of the sale of same petroleum products where the commission or discount has already been subjected to withholding tax under section 156A. It is likely to create hardship for such petrol pump operators. To remove this hardship, the Commissioner of Income Tax may issue exemption certificate under section 153 (4) of the Ordinance in cases where tax is being collected @ 10 % under section 156A of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001."

"158. Time of deduction of tax.– A person required to deduct tax from an amount paid by the person shall deduct the tax at the earlier of–

(a) the time the amount is credited to the account of the recipient; or

(b) the time of* amount is actually paid."

Clarification regarding Adjustment of payments through Ledger Account.- Following is the text of FBR's Circular No. 1 of 2009 dated February 20, 2009:-

"Under clause (b) of section 158 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 2001 (hereinafter referred as "Ordinance"), a person is required to deduct tax from an amount paid by the person at the, time the amount is actually paid. It has, however, been noticed that some inter-account adjustments of receivable/collectable against payable are carried out through ledger accounts or journals maintained by the persons and such "adjustments" are not construed as "payments" or "actually paid" and no tax is withheld therefrom.

2. Though the word "adjustment" has not been defined in the Ordinance yet it as a matter of common prudence that it is at par with the word "paid", because by such "adjustment" the payables are reduced which amounts to "actual payment" by other means.

3. The matter has been examined. According to Black's Law Dictionary, "adjustment" amounts to "an arrangement; a settlement". This obviously means that payable settled by payment or inter-account adjustment of receivables against the payables tantamount to "actually paid" and thus attracts the provisions of clause (b) of section 158 of the Ordinance, whenever any such adjustment is made. It is, therefore, clarified that in such circumstances, the person who is making such inter-account adjustments is required to withhold tax under the relevant provisions of law at the relevant rates and in case of any default, provisions of the Ordinance shall apply accordingly."

New provision.-Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 1 of 2005 dated July 5, 2005:-

"A new section 156B has been introduced making it mandatory for pension fund manager making payment from individual pension accounts, maintained under an approved pension fund, to deduct tax at the rate specified in sub-section (6) of section 12 from any amount.–

(a) withdrawn before the retirement age;

(b) withdrawn, if in excess of 25% of his accumulated balance at or after the retirement age:

Tax shall not be deducted in case, the balance in the persons' individual pension account is invested in an approved income payment plan of a pension fund manager or paid to a life insurance company for the purchase of an approved annuity plan or is transferred to another individual pension account of the taxpayer maintained with any other Pension Fund Manager under Change of Pension Fund Manager option specified in the Voluntary Pension System Rules, 2005."

S. 161–Amendment of recovery order for failure to collect or deposit tax by a withholding agent.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 9 of 2019 dated July 30, 2019:-

"As per sub-section (1) of section 161, where a withholding agent fails to collect or deduct tax or deposit tax, the withholding agent shall be personally liable to pay the amount of tax and the Commissioner may pass an order to that effect and proceed to recover the defaulted tax. However, there was no provision to amend the order under sub-section (1) of section 161 in case where the order was prejudicial to revenue. Through the Finance Act, 2019, a new sub-section has been added in section 161 which authorizes the Commissioner to amend the order under sub-section (1) of section 161 after making, or causing to be made such enquiries as deemed necessary if the Commissioner considers that the order under sub-section (1) of section 161 is erroneous in so far it is prejudicial to interest of revenue."

S. 161-Recovery from withholding agent.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 19 of 1999, dated September 14, 1999, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The Board has received certain queries seeking clarification that if tax has already been recovered from buyer as an assessee in default, will the seller still be liable to pay the said amount of tax to the Income Tax Department.

2. The matter has been examined. Although, this stands clarified by Board's Circular No. 8 of 1999, it is again clarified that the primary responsibility to deduct/ withhold tax rests on the buyer/payer. If he is treated as an assessee in default and the tax has been fully recovered from him, the said tax shall not be recovered again from the seller/recipient."

S. 164A-Automated System of Collection and Deduction of Withholding Taxes.- Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 15 of 2022, dated 21 July, 2022, explaining the amendment:-

"Currently, withholding agents are required to collect and deduct tax at the time of making payment and deposit the same in government treasury within the prescribed time period. Similarly, withholding agents are required to file quarterly and annual withholding statements which consumes time and resources of taxpayers leading to increased compliance cost. Moreover, certain large withholding tax agents like banks, DISCOs, TELCOs, Government institutions etc. are still depositing tax through a single payment receipt for multiple taxpayers. In order to streamline withholding tax collection and deduction mechanism, enabling provision for the placement of a fully automated system by the name Synchronized Withholding Administration and Payment System (SWAPS) has been introduced under section 164A of the Ordinance. A withholding agent notified under section 164A will be called a SWAPS agent. The notified SWAPS agent will be integrated with Board and withholding tax will be deposited in government treasury on real time basis simultaneously at the time of making third party payment processed through SWAPS by the SWAPS agent. It will also result in auto populated withholding statements thereby saving time and reducing cost of compliance for the business.

SWAPS Payment Receipt (SPR) will be generated upon deposit of tax in this manner which will be a valid document for the purpose of claiming credit against tax payable under the provisions of this Ordinance. In case if a notified SWAPS agent fails to integrate with the Board in the manner prescribed, the said agent will not be eligible for credit under Part X of Chapter III of the Ordinance and exemption under any of the provisions of the Ordinance. All other provisions of the Ordinance not specifically dealt with in newly inserted section 164A will mutatis mutandis apply on a notified SWAPS agent. Corresponding changes have been made in section 164 of the Ordinance."

Legal implication of the judgement of the Supreme Court – clarification regarding – sections 169 & 113: – Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 2(98)ITJ/94, dated 11th December, 1997, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

The Honourable Supreme Court in its judgement dated 4-6-1997 dismissed 294 civil appeals challenging the validity of minimum tax u/s 80D, presumptive tax u/s 80C and 80CC of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

2. The issues arising out of the said judgement were referred to the Law and Justice Division for clarification. The questions so referred and the opinion expressed by the Law and Justice Division are being reproduced below for the sake of standard application and adherence.

	Questions referred	Opinion of the Law & Justice Division.
(i)	"Whether the judgement of the honourable Supreme Court allowing exemption from minimum tax under section 80D to tax holiday units is applicable only to those cases who had contested these provisions before the Supreme Court or other taxpayers qualifying for such tax holiday will also enjoy the benefits of this decision although they were not in appeal before the Supreme Court?	There is nothing to debar the Government to extend the judgement of Supreme Court, for allowing exemption from minimum tax under section 80D to tax holiday units in those cases who were not party in appeal before the Supreme Court.
(ii)	Whether the aforesaid judgement is retroactive in nature i.e. its application would be from the dates section (80C) and (80D) were inserted in the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979?	The judgement of the Supreme Court, is not retrospective in nature.
(iii)	Where a taxpayer did not file appeal or petition, would be entitled to relief on filing application u/s 156 for rectification in order to claim refund of minimum tax already paid u/s 80D?	The taxpayers who had not filed appeal or petition, are not entitled to claim refund of minimum tax already paid u/s 80D.

(iv) The Supreme Court had granted stay on the condition that the appellants would pay additional amount to the extent of 2% over and above the bank rate for the period of stay. Whether the additional tax shall be charged only at the rate of 2% above the bank rate for the period of the stay granted by the Supreme Court or at the rates prescribed in sections 88 and 89 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979?

The additional tax shall be charged only @2% above the bank rates as per directions by the Supreme Court."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C.No. 2(98)IT-Jud/94, dated 18th January, 2000, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In continuation of Board's letter of even number dated December 14, 1997 on the subject, the undersigned is directed to state that the aforementioned letter was challenged in the Lahore High Court, so the matter was again taken up with the Law & Justice Division. In view of the decision of the Superior Courts and Law Division's advice it has been decided that the benefit of the decision of the Supreme Court should be given to all persons to whom the said decision, on the basis of the facts of the case and the law laid down by the Supreme Court, squarely applies, whether or not any such person has obtained an order from the court. The Supreme Court of Pakistan's decision (reported as PLD 1997 Supreme Court 582 in the case of M/s. Ellahi Cotton Mills Ltd. and others) should be taken as a model and claims due must be satisfied."

Deemed income in case of certain suppliers, contractors, and importers.– The constitutionality of sections 80C, 80CC and 80D was the subjectmatterof several appeals before the Supreme Court of Pakistan, earlier the Lahore High Court had held the provisions to be legal Aisha Spinning Mills Ltd. Vs. Federation of Pakistan PTCL 1995 CL 155. The Supreme Court has pronounced final judgment, 1997 SCC 1097 = (1997) 76 Tax 5 (S.C. Pak), the gist of which is as under:

1. Allthethreeprovisions are constitutionally valid and tax liabilities arising since their coming into force are legally correct and must be discharged by the taxpayers. The Apex Court has vacated the stay orders granted with the announcement of this decision.

2. The appeals filed by the petitioners against the judgement of the Honourable Lahore High have been dismissed with no order to cost. However, the following clarifications are made by the Honourable Apex Court:–

(A) Section 80D not applicable to tax holiday units covered under S.R.O. 1283(I)/90 dated 13th December 1990

Tax holiday units which have been granted exemption by the Income Tax Department under repealed clauses (118 C), (118D), (118E), of Part I of the Second Schedule to the Ordinance will be exempt from the levy of minimum tax u/s 80D, during the period specified in those clauses.

(b) "Turnover" shall not include Sales Tax & Central Excise

The term "turnover" as used in Section 80D shall not include sales tax and central excise duty. This interpretation has been conceded by the CBR in its Circular No. 3 of 1996. This treatment would be available with effect from assessment year 1991-92 when section 80D became operative for the first time. The assessees who fullfil the conditions laid down in para 3 and 4 of CBR's Circular No. 3 of 1996 are entitled to this treatment since assessment year 1991-92.

3. No conflict between Section 35 & Section 80D

Section 80D is held to be an overriding provision of law, but other provisions of law such as section 35 which are not inconsistent with section 80D continue to apply even to the cases covered by section 80D. Assessees are entitled to claim business loss or to carry forward the same under section 35 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 from year to year and this entitlement is not affected by the levy of half per cent tax under section 80D.

4. Section 80C(4) & 80C (5) are not contradictory

If an assessee makes profit more that what is subject to tax under section 80C(1), the Revenue has no power to charge tax on the additional income earned by him on account of the transactions. However the protection of sub-section 80C(4) will be available to him if he can, on the basis of reliable evidence, prove the excess profit (more than imputable income) to the satisfaction of forums provided under the Ordinance. In case he fails to discharge this onus, section 80C(5) can be invoked.

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1991 dated June 30, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"(iv) The tax deducted or collected at source shall be deemed to be final discharge of tax liability in respect of all persons including companies and registered firms who have no other receipts or source of income.

(v) Such persons shall not file the prescribed returns of income. They will, however, be required to furnish simplified statements of their deemed income and presumptive tax as will be prescribed under section 143A.

(vi) Since a person having no other income shall not be required to file his return of income nor any assessment in his case shall be made, a provision has been made whereby an order under section 59A shall be deemed to have been made in respect of such deemed income without making a formal assessment."

However, measures shall be taken so that the refund, if any determined in consequence of the assessment, is paid to them expeditiously."

Filing of wealth statement.– Following is an extract from CBR's letter No. 4(20)TP-1/91.III dated March 14, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to clarify that as the assessee coming within the purview of section 80C are not required to file returns, they will also not file any wealth statement for the relevant period because as per section 58(2) of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 wealth statement is to be furnished alongwith the return of total income."

Conversion of presumptive withholding taxes into adjustable.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 5 of 2001, dated July 4, 2001, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"(i) The tax deducted from commission and brokerage under section 50(4A) was the final discharge of recipient's tax liability. Clause (ia) of sub-section (2) of section 80C has been amended and from assessment year 2002-2003 the tax deducted under sub-section (4A) of section 50 shall be adjustable against final tax liability. The tax withholding rate would, however, remain 10 per cent."

Payment of advance tax.– Following is an extract from CBR's Letter No. 4(2)TP-1/91.Ii dated March 14, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to clarify that an assessee whose only source of income is covered under section 80C will not pay any advance tax under section 53 as his deduction under the relevant provision of section 50 will be treated as full and final discharge of tax liability. However, where a portion of his total income is not covered by section 80C, he shall be liable to pay advance tax on the said balance income."

Refund of excess deduction u/s 148 & 153.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 18 of 1993 dated October 30, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979: –

"Section 80C of the Income-tax Ordinance, 1979 provides for presumptive tax in case of certain contractors, suppliers and importers which are liable to deduction of tax under sub-sections (4) & (5) of section 50 of the said Ordinance. In these cases the amount of tax deducted under the said sub-sections of section 50 in accordance with the relevant rates prescribed in the First Schedule constitutes their final tax liability.

2. Apprehensions have been shown in such cases that the amount of tax deducted in excess of the rates prescribed under the relevant sub-sections of section 50 is not refundable on the grounds that sub-section (3) of section 80C debars issuance of any refund in cases covered under that section 80C.

3. The issue has been examined and the Board is of the view that the amount of tax chargeable under sub-section (1) of section 80C is the amount deductible/deducted under sub-sections (4) and (5) of section 50 in accordance with the rates specified in the First Schedule. In this view of the matter the tax liability of a person under section 80C would be restricted to the extent of tax deductible under sub-sections (4) and (5) of section 50. Any amount deducted or collected in excess of the requisite amount of tax under section 80C would constitute the amount of tax paid by or on behalf of the assessee in excess of the amount with which he was properly chargeable under the Income-tax Ordinance for the said year. The provisions of section 96 of the Income-tax Ordinance duly entitle such assessees to refund of the excess amount so paid."

Assessment of income over and above imputable income.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 4(20) TP-I/91 dated September 1, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Queries have been received regarding treatment of book profit in excess of the income worked back under sub-section (5) and (6) of Section 80C and Section 80CC in cases where the only business is supplies, execution of contracts, imports or exports and the assessee is required to file statement under Section 143B or a simplified statement of his deemed income and presumptive tax.

2. The matter has been considered in the Board. It is hereby clarified that the law specifies the limit upto which credit for presumptive tax will be available. The assessee is not debarred from declaring actual income over and above the deemed income on presumptive tax. In such a situation return of total income under section 55 should be filed. However, such returns, though not "immune" from tax audit, would fall under the normal regime of assessment and would deserve to be accepted unless there is something in the statement of accounts which warrants examination. And that, even in those cases, such assessment would be approved by the Commissioner of Income Tax."

Option to manufacturers on annual basis.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 4(20)TP-I/91 dated September 7, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No. Misc/93-101 dated 19th August, 1993 on the subject and to say that option under clause (9) of Part-IV of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 is to be exercised alongwith return of income filed for each year."

Treatment of receivables in accounts.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's Letter C. No. RCIT/J-21/22/92-93/1006 dated September 9, 1993 addressed to M/s S. A. Salam & Co. CAs, Lahore, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Iamdirectedtoreferto your representation dated 17.5.1993 addressed to Chairman, CBR, Islamabad on the subject and to say that liability u/s 80C being deductible at the time of payment, the question of liability on account of accrual does not arise."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 4(32)TP-I/93 dated July 31, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your letter No. SG/15/551 dated 17th May, 1993 on the subject and to request you to please contact the Regional Commissioner of Income, Tax, Lahore for resolution of the issue raised in your letter. In case there still remains any issue un-resolved, CBR will be pleased to examine the matter."

Following is the text of Letter No. SG/15/551 dated May 17, 1993 from M/s. S. A. Salam & Co. CAs, Lahore referred to above, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"It is respectfully submitted that the provisions of section 80C of the Income Tax Ordinance are not unambiguously worded for taxability of supplies in a specific year. While sub-section (1) inter alia refers to an amount accrued, sub-section (2) refers to amount of payment on which tax is deductible u/s 50(4). The position of receivables is therefore being confused by some assessing officers though the spirit of section 80C is that tax deducted at the time payment is to be the final discharge of tax liability, regardless of the method of accounting or accounting year, and the accrual concept in sub-section (1) appears to be in the context where settlement is made not by physical payment but by some adjustment etc. However, some officers are seeking to recover tax u/s 80C on the receivables, ignoring that the receivable when actually received subsequently would again suffer taxation u/s 50(4)/80C, this would necessitate creation of a demand and a refund, thus an unnecessary complication.

It is, therefore, requested that necessary clarification may please be issued at an early date."

Clarification of important issues.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 7 of 1992 dated March 18, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A number of queries have been made in respect of certain cases required to be dealt with under section 80C in the light of Board's Circular No. 12 of 1991 dated the 30th June, 1991. Clarifications are, therefore, issued as under:–

(1) Cases with income year different from financial year.

Whereanassesseehasregularlyemployedthemethodofaccountingonaccrualbasisfor allsuppliesorimportsforthe whole of the income year which is different from the financial year preceding the assessment year 1991-92, provisions of section 80C may be applied to that income year and not the financial year 1990-91 preceding the said assessment year. In that case, credit of tax deducted or collected under sections 50(4) and 50(5) should continue to be allowed on the income year basis followed in the past. However, where credit of tax had been allowed on July to June basis, the assessee may be required to pay the difference of tax if the deduction or collection on financial year basis is less than the tax worked out on the income year basis. In the case of excess amount of tax deduction or collection, refund may be claimed by the assessee and allowed in the ordinary manner.

(2) Option to manufacturers.

Manufacturers of goods allowed to exercise final and irrevocable option under clause (9) of Part-IV of the Second Schedule do not fall within the purview of section 80C only in respect of payments made to them on account of the supply of their own manufactured goods. This option was not available to the manufacturers who had regularly sold/supplied any part of raw material meant for their own consumption or regularly sold/supplied any goods or materials not related to their manufacturing process or activity. However, if such raw material had been sold as a stray incident, it shall be covered by the option exercised by the assessee.

(3) Persons maintaining mercantile system of accounting. Where accounts are based on mercantile system and the assessee has already paid full amount of tax due on payments (onaccrualbasis)whichwereliabletodeductionundersection50(4)andwere duly accounted forpriortotheassessmentyear1991-92,nofurtheradditionofincomeshouldbe made merely becausepaymentswerereceivedby the assessee during the subsequent period or deduction of tax under section 50(4) had not been made during the period relevant to the assessment year 1991-92. In such cases, the same income cannot be taxed twice and if any refund has become due, it may be claimed by the assessee and allowed in the ordinary manner.

(4) Importers having opening and closing stocks

Openingstock,importsandsalesmadeduringtheincomeyear and closing stock at the end of the accounting period may be considered in such a manner that a fair amount of deemed income is determined for the assessment year 1991-92 in respect of all imports on which tax had to be collected under section 50(5) and treated as full and final discharge of the tax liability of the assessee. However, where the opening or closing stocks has been satisfactorily explained, no further addition to the said deemed income may be made.

(5) Income from indenting commission and brokerage

Where income from imports/supplies is inseparable from indenting commission or brokerage receipts and the assessee cannot prove the extent of overhead expenses relating to the said receipts, allocation of expenses may be made on a pro-rata basis in the same ratio as the commission receipts not covered by section 80C bear to the gross profit on sales and supplies. In other cases, the assessee may be required to produce books of accounts and supporting evidence to claim actual expenses attributable to income from indenting commission or brokerage.

(6) Payments to Workshops etc

Workshops doing repair jobs and units engaged in value-addition process for others (vis: dyeing and calendaring) are not receiving payments for any service rendered to their clients within the meaning of the expression used in section 50(4). They are the recipients of payments for the execution of contracts and are covered under section 80C."

Relief to certain classes of cases.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 29 of 1991 dated August 28, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"With the introduction of section 80C through the Finance Act, 1991, tax deducted under section 50(4) has become the final discharge of tax liability in certain cases as explained in Board's Circular No. 12 of 1991 dated the 30th June, 1991.

2. However, in certain hardship cases, the Board has reduced rates of tax deduction under section 50(4) as under:–

(i) Payments on account of supply of raw hides and skins at the rate of one per cent vide SRO 600(I)/91, dated 2nd July, 1991;

(ii) Payments on account of supply of cotton lint at the rate of one per cent vide SRO 632(I)/91, dated 8th July, 1991;

(iii) Payments on account of supply of raw wool at the rate of one per cent vide SRO 672(I)/91, dated 21st July, 1991; and

(iv) Paymentsonaccountof transportation of goods through goods transport vehicles at the rate of two per cent vide SRO. 827(I)/91, dated 24th August, 1991.

3. Sincetheschemeof section 80C is effective from the assessment year 1991-92, it wouldcreateproblemin those special cases where reduced rates of tax deduction have now beenmadeapplicable.Ithas,therefore,beendecidedthat in such cases the final tax liability undersection80Cinrespectoftheassessmentyear 1991-92 will be determined on the basis of the special rates applicable to them (as mentioned in paragraph 2 above) as if these reduced rates were in force in the income year relevant to the assessment year 1991-92.

4. Any excess amount of deduction of tax under section 50(4) shall be refunded on the basis of final liability determined at special rates applicable in each case.

5. Accordingly, a notification under section 14 has been issued inserting clause (10) in Part III of the Second Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979."

Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 20 of 1999, dated September 14, 1999, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Through the Finance Act, 1999, provisions of section 80C has been amended and a new sub-section (5A) has been inserted which provides that where an assessee derives tax liability worked out as if the said section was not applicable, the difference in tax shall be payable by the assessee.

2. The Central Board of Revenue has received queries seeking clarification whether companies which are covered by the presumptive tax regime and filing statements under section 143B would be required to submit their accounts and file returns of income.

3. The matter has been examined by the Board and it is clarified that the provisions of sub-section (5A) of section 80C would be attracted only where a taxpayer declares income or claims credit for income which is higher than the imputable income. As far as filing of returns by such companies in concerned, it is clarified that the limited companies file returns even though a part of their income may fall u/s 80C in respect of which they could file a statement u/s 143B. In cases where a company does not have any income other than that covered by presumptive tax, a separate return u/s 55 would not be required unless the case falls within the ambit of sub-section (5A) of section 80C."

Exemption to certain rice dealers etc. from 80C for assessment year 1991-92.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 32 of 1991 dated August 31, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Consideringtheproblemsfacedbythe ricemillers and dealers who have supplied rice to the Rice Export Corporation of Pakistan during the period 1-09-1989 to 30-08-1990, it has been decided that for the assessment year 1991-92 their cases will not attract the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 80C and assessments for that year shall be made under [*]normal law. Accordingly, a notification No.SRO 860(I)/91, dated 31st, August, 1991 has been issued."

Credit for imputable income.– See Sindh High Court order reported as Prince Glass Works Ltd. Vs. CBR (1991) 71 Tax 227 (H.C. Kar.).

Illustrations.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 12 of 1991 dated June 30, 1991, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"2. Provisions of this section are also applicable to the payments received and imports made during the financial year 1990-91 relevant to the assessment year 1991-92. The treatment for the various types of business activities is explained []the following paragraphs:

(1) Where business consists of local purchases and supplies covered by section 80C and other sales or income.

(a) Supplies covered by Section 80C shall be treated as separate block of income and taxed @ 2.5%. If full tax has been deducted, no payment is required to be made. Where full deduction has not been made by the payer, the balance shall be paid by the recipient with the return.

(b) Income not covered by Section 80C, shall be assessable in the normal manner.

(c) Expenses debitable to the manufacturing/trading account and expenses debitable to P & L Account shall be admissible only against income not covered by 80C in the same ratio as sales not covered by 80C bear to the total sales.

[*]The term "normal law" as used here does not refer to assessment u/s 62/63 even if the case qualifies for self assessment etc. It refers to assessment under the relevant provisions as may be applicable to the case. This is as per CBR's Circular No. 34 of 1991 dated October 7, 1991.

(a)	Deemed income representing supplies.	=	25,00,000
(b)	Tax on supplies @ 2.5%	=	62,500
(c)	Less paid u/s 50(4) @ 2%	=	50,000
(d)	balance payable	=	12,500

(h)	Net Profit	=	1,12,500

The resultant income shall constitute total income and the tax shall be computed depending upon the status of the assessee.

Likewise, if there is income from other sources e.g. commission agency etc. it shall be charged to tax in the ordinary manner. However, overhead expenses as relate to such source of income shall be allocated on a prorata basis.

(Note: If there are any add backs in the trading or P & L Account, these shall be added to the Gross Profit or P & L expenses before these are prorated).

(2) Where purchases consist of imports and sales are non-supplies

Where the assessee's only source of purchases is imports and the sales are not supplies covered u/s 80C, he is not required to file any return but a statement u/s 143B. If tax was paid at import stage @ 2%, no further tax is payable. However, if it was paid @ 1.5% and tax was also paid u/s 53, tax shall be calculated @ 2% on the landed cost and shall be adjusted against tax paid u/s 50(5) and 53. If the total amount paid is less than the tax payable, the balance shall be paid with the statement u/s 143. If it is in excess, refund shall be claimed and allowed.

(3) where purchases consist of imports and sales are partly supplies and partly non-supplies.

Where an assessee's only source of purchase is imports on which tax has been deducted u/s 50(5) @ 2% and the sales consists partly of "supplies" on which tax has been deducted @ 2% and partly of sales not covered by section 80C, the treatment shall be as under:–

EXAMPLE-II

Results as shown	Rupees
(i)	Sales/supplies	=	45,00,000
(ii)	Imports	=	40,00,000
(iii)	Net Profit	=	2,00,000

(b)	Tax @ 2% on imports	=	80,000
(c)	Deemed income representing supplies	=	25,00,000
(d)	Tax @ 2.5% on supplies	=	62,500
(e)	Less paid u/s 50(4)	=	50,000
(f)	Balance payable	=	12,500

There shall be no tax on "other sales" amounting to Rs. 20,00,000. The tax paid at import stage is deemed to be full and final discharge of liability. No return u/s 55 is required to be filed in this case. Only a statement u/s 143B alongwith copy of challan for payment of tax amounting to Rs. 12,500 shall be filed.

4. Where the purchases consists of imports and local purchases and turnover consists of supplies and other sales.

Where an assessee has imported certain goods on which tax has been deducted under section 50(5) at the rate of 2% and he has also made certain purchases locally while his turnover consists of supplies on which tax has been deducted @ 2% and partly of sales not covered by section 80C, the treatment shall be as under:

EXAMPLE III

		Results Declared	Rupees
(1)	Local purchases	=	20,00,000

(g)	Less tax paid u/s 50(4) @ 2%	=	60,000
(h)	Balance payable	=	15,000	B

As regards "other sales", there could possibly be four situations. The treatment in each situation is described below.

(i) Where it can be established that the goods sold (other sales) consisted entirely of imports:

No tax shall be payable in respect of such sales.

(ii) Where it can be established that the goods sold (other sales) are entirely out of local purchases:

The income from these sales shall be determined and taxed in the ordinary manner. The G.P. and P & L expenses shall be pro-rated (as given below):

			Rupees
(a)	Other Sales	=	20,00,000
(b)	Proportionate G.P. (Other sales – Total Sales x G.P.)	=	2,00,000
(c)	Less proportionate expenses (Other sales – Total Sales x P&L Expenses)	=	1,20,000
	Net Profit (2,00,000 - 1,20,000)	=	80,000

Note: If there are any add backs in the trading a/c, or P & L a/c these shall be added to the G.P. and P & L expenses before pro-ration).

The resultant income shall be taxed in ordinary manner depending upon the status of the assessee.

(iii) Where such sales are partly out of imports and partly out of local purchases and the proportion is determinable.

Sales relating to imports shall not suffer any further tax and the remaining sales shall be taxed in the manner laid down at (ii) above.

(iv) Where "other sales" are partly out of imports and partly out of local purchases and the ratio is not determinable.

In such cases, the amount of "other sales" shall be proportioned in the same ratio as the imports bear to the local purchases (i.e. 25,00,000 : 20,00,000). The sales of imports (Rs. 11,11,112) shall suffer no tax but income from the remaining sales (Rs. 8,88,888) shall be computed in the manner described at (ii) above.

Imputing Income Under Sub-section (5) of Section 80C Through Working Back From Tax Paid.

Sub-section (5) of section 80C provides for the method of determining the amount of which an assessee (who has been deriving income which is subject to tax in accordance with the provisions of this section) can take credit of while explaining the nature and source of any sum, investment, money, valuable article, excess amount or expenditure referred to in section 13. It has been laid down that in such a case, the income shall be taken to be that amount on which the tax works equal to the amount of tax paid under section 50(4) or 50(5) without investment allowance.

EXAMPLE IV

Case of an individual		Rupees
Payment received u/s 50(4) on contracts	=	20,00,000
Deduction @ 3%	=	60,000

Under sub-section (5), he would be allowed credit of an amount worked out as under:

At the income tax rates applicable to an individual, a tax liability of Rs. 60,000 will result in an income of	=	3,08,571

In this case the assessee would be allowed a credit of Rs. 3,08,571. Any sum in excess of that would be treated as his unexplained investment in accordance with the relevant provisions of section 13.

EXAMPLE V

Case of a Registered Firm		Rupees
Payments received by a registered firm	=	20,00,000
Presumptive tax paid	=	60,000
Income, which if taxed at normal rates, would have resulted into a super tax liability of Rs. 60,000.	=	3,60,000

This registered firm would be allowed a credit of Rs. 3,60,000. Any sum in excess of that amount would be treated as its unexplained investment in accordance with the relevant provisions of section 13.

EXAMPLE VI

Case of a Private Limited Company.		Rupees
Contract Payment received.	=	20,00,000
Presumptive tax paid	=	60,000
Income, which if taxed at normal rates, would have resulted into a liability equal to the aforesaid amount of Rs. 60,000.	=	1,09,090

This company would be allowed a credit of Rs. 1,09,090. Any sum in excess of that amount would be treated as its unexplained investment in accordance with the relevant provisions of section 13.

EXAMPLE-VII

Case of multiple deduction:		Rupees
Imports.	=	60,00,000
Deduction at source.	=	1,20,000
Supplies	=	20,00,000
Deduction at source	=	50,000
Total deduction	=	1,70,000
Presuming it to be a case of individual income, which if taxed at normal rates would have resulted into a tax liability equal to the aforesaid amount of Rs.170,000	=	3,22,857

Credit for the purposes of section 13 shall be available to this tax payer to the extent* Rs. 3,22,857."

Credit in books for business capital.– Following is an extract from CBR's Letter C. No. 7(1)DT-14/91 dated July 13, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"(3) A new assessee filing statement u/s 143B cannot claim his business capital three times of the amount of his income. Procedure of working back of the income is provided in Section 80C (5)."

Calculation of imputable income on aggregate basis.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 80(3) DTP-1/94(C) dated September 5, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

Cotton ginning & Oil Mills.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C . No. 1(4)DT-14/91 dated June 27, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The undersigned is directed to state that in pursuance of an offer made by the Pakistan Cotton Ginners Association, it has been agreed with them as follows:–

*Word "of" seems to be missing in the Circular.

(i) The rate of with-holding tax u/s 50(4) on supplies of cotton seed oil shall be increased from 0.75% to 1.5% with effect from 1-7-1994.

(ii) The tax deduction on supplies of cotton lint shall continue to be made @ 1%.

(iii) No separate addition in income shall be made on account of sales of cotton seed and oil cakes.

2. A notification bearing No. SRO. 629(I)/94, dated 27-6-1994 (copy enclosed) has consequently been issued to bring about the aforesaid change in rates (effective from 1-7-94). The deducting agencies may please be informed accordingly.

3. It has been represented by the Association that under the previous agreement with them, income from sale of cotton seed and oil cakes was covered by the amount of tax deducted on supplies of cotton lint and cotton seed oil. As a result "Cotton Seeds" were exempted from the with-holding tax under SRO.631(I)/91 dated 8-7-1991.

4. The matter has been examined by the Board and it has been decided that in the pending assessments of cotton ginners, no additions be made on account of income from sale of cotton seeds and for oil cakes in the case of oil mills.

5. These instructions may please be brought to the notice of all concerned."

Method of proration of profits between export proceeds falling u/s 169 & local sales.– Following is the text of CRB's Circular No. 5 of 2000, dated March 6, 2000, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Section 80CC of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, read with paragraph-CCCC of Part-I of the First Schedule to the Ordinance provides for presumptive taxation of income of Exporters and where the assessee has no income other than the income referred to in sub section (1) of section 80CC in respect of which tax has been deducted under sub-section (5A) of section 50, the tax so deducted is deemed to be the final discharge of his tax liability and assessee is not required to file the return of total income under section 55 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979. However, return of income is to be filed in case the assessee derives income from any other source e.g., commission brokerage or local sales etc. CBR, vide Circular No. 20 of 1992, dated July 1, 1992, has provided special treatment to Exporter's maintaining books of accounts, which is as under–

i) Local sales of goods (manufactured for export) as well as waste material not constituting more than 20% of such production, may also be treated as export sales if the assessee opts to pay tax on such sales at the rate applicable to export sales under section 80CC.

ii) Where income from exports is inseparable from commission, brokerage and other receipts and the assessee cannot prove the extent of overhead expenses relating to non-export receipts, allocation of expenses may be made on a pro-rate basis in the same ratio as the receipts not covered by section 80CC bear to the gross profit on the export sales.

2. Queries have, however, been raised as to what would be the method of proration of profit, between export proceeds falling under section 80CC and local sales. It is clarified that prorating of profits between export sales and local sales in respect of assessee maintaining books of account has to be done in accordance with rule 216 of the Income Tax Rules, 1982."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1999, dated July 27, 1999, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"By virtue of amendments made in section 80CC, the tax collectable from commission received in foreign exchange by indenting agents under section 50(5A) and the tax collectable from indirect exporters under section 50(5AA) shall constitute final discharge of tax liability in respect of such income. Consequently, amendments have been made in the First Schedule." [Ref:99 ITC 9 p. 9*]

Indirect exporters to be taxed like direct exporters of goods.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 8 of 1999, dated July 27, 1999, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

Calling for complete accounting records in the cases of exporters.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular 1 of 1996, dated 7th February, 1996, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Pursuant upon the discussion held by the Chairman CBR with the representatives of the Exporters, it has been decided that the assessing officers should not call for "Complete" accounting records in the case of exporters. Only the relevant record may be requisitioned. Complete record can only be called for in cases where normal assessment or total audit or concealment proceedings are in hand."

Clarifications re: exports.– Following is text of CBR's Circular No.14 of 1993 dated 19th August, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Severalissuesraisedin connection with the provisions of section 80CC of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 have been examined in the Board, and are explained as under:–

1. Provisions of section 80CC are applicable only to the export proceeds realized on or after July 1, 1992. Consequently, taxable income in respect of export proceeds realised prior to July 1, 1992 shall be determined on a basis other than presumptive basis of income/tax computation.

2. Where a taxpayer's income year relevant to the Assessment Year 1993-94 is other than the financial year (say, calendar year or a special year), such person shall account for his exports for the whole year according to the method of accounting regularly employed. While the exports covered by section 80CC read with section 50(5A) shall be assessed as a separate block of income, other sales shall be taxed under normal law. Expenses debitable to the Trading, Profit and Loss Account shall be pro-rated in the ratio of exports covered under section 80CC and other exports. The income computed in respect of exports not covered u/s 80CC shall be entitled to export rebates admissible under First Schedule. Further, in case of Firms and AOPs, share of partner or member thereof shall be taxed in accordance with law.

3. Tax deducted under section 50(5A) in respect of exports effected prior to June 30, 1992 but realised on or after July 1, 1992 and already considered by computing income for part of the accounting period not covered under section 80CC shall be adjusted/refunded as provided in Circular No. 20 of 1992, dated July 1, 1992.

4. Duty draw-backs (i.e. Customs rebates, compensatory rebate, export exchange difference, etc.) in respect of exports already subjected to withholding tax under section 50(5A) shall not be considered as additional receipts. The amount of such duty draw-backs shall be deemed to have been covered, for tax purposes, under presumptive tax regime under section 80CC.

5. Advance payments received in lieu of future exports shall be deemed as 'export proceeds realized' and subject to tax deduction under section 50(5A).

6. Assessees with no other source of income except exports shall file a simple statement showing their export proceeds, tax deducted u/s 50(5A) and/or any other related information on a statement similar to the one required u/s. 143B.

7. Tax returns of exporters, due on July 31, 1993, which could not be-filled by the due date for whatever reason, may be filed by August 31, 1993. Revised returns of income tax may be filed only as permissible under section 57 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979."

Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 20 of 1992 dated July 1, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"(a) Authorised dealers in foreign exchange are required to deduct income tax at source from all foreign exchange proceeds realised on or after July 1, 1992, on account of goods exported at any time by an exporter.

(b) Tax is to be deducted under sub-section (5A) of section 50 from all proceeds realised without any monetary threshold.

(c) The foreign exchange proceeds will comprise invoice value of goods exported, customs duty, freight and insurance and other charges collected from the foreign buyer to the credit of the exporter's bank account. The whole of such amount received by the exporter shall be deemed to be his income chargeable to presumptive tax with effect from assessment year 1993-94.

(d) Thestandardrateofwithholdingtaxaswellaspresumptivetaxhasbeenspecified at one per cent of the total foreign exchange proceeds converted into Pakistani rupees according to the exchange rate prevalent at the time of realisation of such proceeds. However,the standard rate of tax has been reduced in the case of exporters who prove that reductionintaxonaccountofthegoodsexportedwasavailableto them previously as under:–

	Goods exported	Reduced tax rate
(i)	Where the exporter was entitled to 50% reduction in tax on export of manufactured goods including refined/treated salt, barytes, granite blocks, heat insulating bricks, and magnesite refractories.	0.75%
(ii)	Where the exporter was entitled to 75% reduction in tax on export of value-added goods like leather & textile garments, engineering and electrical goods, cutlery, ceramic tiles, sports goods, surgical goods and pharmaceuticals etc.	0.50%

The list of various items of export eligible for rebate or reduction in tax at different rates under the normal law is annexed.

(e) The provisions of withholding tax as well as the presumptive tax will not apply in respect of exports made by those manufacturers whose total income is already exempt from tax. For this purpose, formal notification of exemption will be issued separately.

(f) The tax deducted at source by the authorised dealers in foreign exchange shall be deemed to be full and final discharge of tax liability in respect of all exporters, including companies and registered firms, who have no other receipts and source of income.

(g) Such persons shall not file the prescribed returns of income. They will, however, be required to furnish simplified statement of their deemed income and presumptive tax for the assessment year 1993-94 onward.

(h) Since a person having no other receipts or income shall not be required to file his return of income nor any assessment in his case shall be made, an order under section 59A shall be deemed to have been made in respect of such deemed income without making a formal assessment.

(i) All the provisions contained in sub-sections (5) & (6) of section 80C shall be equally applicable to cases covered under section 80CC.

2. Since the provisions of section 80CC will become applicable from assessment year 1993-94, exporters maintaining books of account may be given special treatment as under:–

(i) Local sales of goods (manufactured for export) as well as waste material not constituting more than 20% of such production, may also be treated as export sales if the assessee opts to pay tax on such sales at the rate applicable to export sales under section 80CC.

(ii) Credit for the tax collected on the amount of electricity bills under section 50(7E) may be given in computing the tax payable by the exporter in respect of all receipts and sources of income including the deemed income u/s 80CC. However, no other allowance or deduction against such deemed income will be admissible.

(iii) The share of a partner in the deemed income of the registered firm liable to be assessed on presumptive basis under section 80CC may not be subjected to further tax in his hands by virtue of exemption granted under clause (111A) of the Second Schedule. However, income not covered by section 80C will be assessable in the normal manner.

(iv) Where income from exports is inseparable from commission, brokerage and other receipts and the assessee cannot prove the extent of overhead expenses relating to non-export receipts, allocation of expenses may be made on a pro-rata basis in the same ratio as the receipts not covered by section 80CC bear to the gross profit on the export sales.

(v) Where deduction under sub-section (5A) of section 50 are made in respect of exports already accounted for and subjected to tax in the normal manner prior to the assessment year *1993-94, credit for such deductions will be given and refund, if any, claimed by the exporter will be allowed accordingly.

*Corrected for "1983-84" vide CBR's corrigendum.

Credit for income & deemed assessment.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 11 of 1993 dated July 7, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Sub-sections (4), (5) and (6) have been added to section 80CC to provide for the method of working out the amount of income for which credit shall be admissible in case of exporters and to provide for a deemed assessment in such cases on the lines of sections 80B and 80C." [Ref:93 ITC 11 p.38*]

Assessment of preceding years on presumptive formula.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter C. No. 652-SS(WHT)/92 dated October 4, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to above and to say that representations have been received in the Board from various quarters to the effect that pending assessments of exporters should be finalized on the basis of tax rates under sub-section (5A) of section 50 read with section 80CC.

2. It has been decided in the Board that Regional Commissioners of Income Tax may decide the matter at their own level by giving option of 80CC and 50(5A) rates of tax in such pending cases which they consider would be beneficial to the revenue instead of normal assessment. In the remaining cases normal law assessments may be made."

Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's Letter No. 3388 dated December 26, 1992:–

"In continuation of this office letter No. RCIT/ 3276 dated 19-12-1992 on the subject cited above, I am directed to say that in order to expedite disposal, B.F. assessments in cases of exporters may also be finalized on the basis of tax rates under sub-section (5A) of Section 50 read with Section 80CC. Only in exceptional cases involving sizeable loss of revenue assessees' request for assessments on this basis may be refused."

Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's Letter No. 3276 dated December 19, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to the RCIT's discussion with you on the above subject and to enclose a copy of Board's letter C.No. 652.SS(WHT)/92 dated 14.12.1992 alongwith the Board's earlier letter dated 04.10.1992 for allowing the exporters to exercise the option for finalization of their pending assessments in accordance with the instructions contained in Board's letter dated 04.10.1992."

Payment on negotiation of export bills.– Following is the text of CBR's letter C. No. 498-SS(WHT)/92 dated July 9, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to your fax of 6th July, 1992 and to say that payment made on discounting of export bills is in effect a payment against the export proceeds. Because if the exports had not been made there would have been no discounting of bills.

Double taxation is also not involved as tax is to be deducted at the applicable rate from the total amount of the export proceeds. If the amount against discounted bills covers the total amount of export proceeds, no further deduction shall be made later on but if it is less, deduction at the applicable rate shall be made to the extent of the difference on subsequent realisation."

Adjustment/refund of tax wrongly withheld u/s 50(5A)/80CC.– Following is the text of CBR's letter C. No. 1(25)WHT/91 dated August 4, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Representations have been received in the Board that in certain cases the banks are deducting income tax under section 50(5A) at rates higher than the rates applicable under the law. Since these deductions constitute discharge of final tax liability u/s 80CC it is causing hardship to such tax-payers.

2. The issue has been considered in the Board and it has been decided that in case of excess deduction of income tax under section 50(5A) refund may be claimed by the exporter which shall be issued by the Income Tax Department on production of sufficient evidence. Such refunds claims shall be decided with the prior approval of IAC and the refunds will be issued after countersignatures of the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax concerned."

(2) Tax shall be deducted at the time of discounting of export bills/documents as well as at the time of realisation.

(3) Yes. Tax shall be deducted by you as a reimbursing bank.

2. Proforma for the statement to be furnished on a fortnightly basis shall be notified in due course."

Treatment of international tenders sales.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter No. 4(19)TP-1/91. Pt. dated July 4, 1992 addressed to M/s. S. A. Salam & Co., Chartered Accountants, Lahore, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Please refer to your letter No. SG/15/530, dated 7th June, 1992 on the above subject.

2. I am directed to clarify that sales through international tender are in the nature of exports and as such they have to be treated as exports for the purposes of tax collection and assessment under section 80CC."

Following is the text of the above referred letter from M/s. S. A. Salam & Co., CAs, Lahore addressed to the Chairman, CBR:–

"Please refer to the provisions of the newly inserted Section 80CC and sub-section (5A) of Section 50 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979. The two provide for collection of tax at source from proceeds of exports of goods and for finality of tax liability in respect of the exports. In this connection it is respectfully submitted that supplies of goods against international tenders are treated as exports for the purposes of export rebate (vide the 2nd Proviso to clause (a) of Sub-paragraph (2) of Para A of Part IV of the First Schedule to the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979) and similarly for customs and other privileges vide executive instructions communicated by Circular No. 5(2)80-BIII/BI dated February 7, 1981 issued by the Ministry of Commerce. However, the wording of the newly inserted provisions do not take care of this aspect.

It is, therefore, requested that a clarification or statutory notification may kindly be issued to enable treatment of international tender sales at par with exports for the purposes of finality of tax collection and assessment u/s 80CC."

Calculation for credit in books of accounts.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 14 of 1992 dated July 1, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979: –

"All the provisions contained in sub-sections (5) and (6) of section 80C shall be equally applicable to cases covered under section 80CC."

Following is the text of letter No. SG/15/659 dated July 13, 1992 from M/s. S. A. Salam & Co., Chartered Accountants, Lahore addressed to the Chairman CBR, Islamabad:–

"Please refer to the newly inserted section 80CC which provides for presumptive tax at specified rates for export of goods. In this connection it is respectfully submitted that the provision does not deal with the amount to be taken credit for in the books of account as profit. The strict legal interpretation would be that the actual profit is to be taken credit for regardless of the presumptive tax, since the restricting provision similar to sub-section (5) of section 80C has not been made, and that in case the assessing authority at any stage is of the opinion that the claim of profit is higher than that found after scrutiny, the balance can be added to income u/s 13. The view, however expressed by the CBR, vide its Circular No. 14 of 1992 dated July 1, 1992, is that the provisions of sub-sections (5) and

(6) of Section80C would apply. This view, even if correct, requires further elaboration since different rates of presumptive tax have been prescribed with reference to the rates of export rebate applicable to the export, i.e., the profit to be booked should be not more than the amount which when taxed at the normal tax rates applicable to the three rebates classes would result in the presumptive tax, the following illustration would elaborate this view:–

	25% Rebate Tax @ 1%	50% Rebate Tax @ 0.75%	75% Rebate Tax @ 0.5%
Tax on Sales of Rs. 10,000,000	100,000	75,000	50,000
Income	256,410	288,462	384,615
Income Tax @ 52%	133,333	150,000	200,000
Less: Rebate	33,333	75,000	150,000
Balance Tax	100,000	75,000	50,000
Credit in books before tax	256,410	288,462	384,615
Credit in books after tax	156,410	213,462	334,615

Collection of tax at import stage, etc.– Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 1(38)WHT/91 dated November 11, 1993, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Under the Board's Circular No. 20 of 1992 dated 01.07.1992 the manufacturers whose annual exports are not less than the 80% of the production have also been made eligible for assessment under section 80CC of the Ordinance if they opt to pay tax on the local sales at the rates applicable to export sales. However, presently the law provides for issuance of exemption certificates under section 50(5) in respect of imported raw material to only those manufacturers which have 100% export sales and which furnish an undertaking to the concerned Commissioner of Income Tax that the imported raw material shall be exclusively consumed in the production of exportable goods.

2. Representations have been received in the Board requesting for grant of exemption certificates under section 50(5) to all manufacturers whose income is to be assessed under section 80CC. The matter has been examined and it has been decided that the cases of manufacturers having local annual sales of upto 20% of the total sales shall also be eligible for issuance of exemption certificate under section 50(5) in case they fulfil the conditions prescribed under Circular No. 20 of 1992 for assessment under section 80CC. The concerned CIT shall process such applications for issuance of exemption certificates. If found eligible, the assessees shall be issued exemption certificates initially for a period of three months renewable for subsequent periods not exceeding three months each. These instructions may please be brought to the notice of all Commissioners for compliance."

Earlier the CBR dealt with the issue differently in its Letters C. No. 1(14)WHT/92.Pt. dated August 19, 1992, C. No. 1(17)WHT/91 dated November 18, 1992 and C. No. 1(14)WHT/92.Pt.I dated April 24, 1993.

Exports already taxed.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular letter C. No. 1(22)WHT/91 dated August 8, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"iii) The exporter assessee can claim refund from the Income Tax Department by producing sufficient evidence that proceeds relate to exports made prior to 30 June, 1992 and have already been offered for tax."

Following is the text of CBR's Letter C. No. 1(14)/WHT/92. PT dated October 12, 1992, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The exporters have represented that because of introduction of section 50(5A), they would be required to pay tax twice for their exports upto 30-6-1992. The Board has accordingly decided that:–

PART VI

b) For export earnings received after the filing of returns, the tax payers can immediately file their claims of refunds on providing similar details as stated in para (a) above. The ITOs should be directed to immediately refund such deductions on production of details mentioned above."

Please also see section 148.

S. 170–Adjustment of refund.– Following is the text of CBR's Inter Tax Refund General Order, dated April 24, 2007:–

"A number of requests have been received by the Board from taxpayers for adjusting liabilities of one tax against refund of another. In order to facilitate taxpayers, the matter has been examined in the Board. It has been decided that any liability of customs duty, federal excise duty, sales tax or income tax payable by a taxpayer (whether current or arrears) may, on the written request of the concerned taxpayer, be adjusted against his refund of any of these taxes which has been sanctioned / approved by a competent authority. S. 170(4)- Time limitation to issue refund order.-Following is an extract from FBR's Circular No. 03 of 2009 dated July 17, 2009:-

"Previously, the time limitation to pass an order u/s 170 days was 45 days. It was felt that this time limitation is too short and, therefore, section 170(4) is amended to extend the limitation to 60 days."

S. 170(5)–Substitution.– Sub-section (5) before substitution by Finance Act, 2003, read as follows:–

"(5) A person dissatisfied with a decision referred to in sub-section (4) may challenge the decision only under Part III of this Chapter."

Income Tax Refunds.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 2 of 1998, dated February 16, 1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to state that lately the Board has been receiving a large number of complaints with regard to late/non-issuance of Income Tax refund. In continuation of Board's letter C. No. ITB-3(5)/86, dated 03-07-1994, the Board has decided to further streamline the procedure in this regard as under:–

(a) Rectification applications/appeal effects may be finalized within one month of receipt of such applications/appellate orders.

(b) Income Tax assessments may be completed within 12 months after the last date of filing of Income Tax returns. This would facilitate timely creation and recovery of tax demand coupled with expeditious disposal of brought forward assessments.

(c) The refund created in consequence of assessments completed (as well as outstanding refunds) may be serialized in order of date(s) of completion of assessments. Every Zone will prepare a list of cases where refund is due which will be affixed on the notice board on weekly basis in continuous serial number without mentioning the amount of refund due.

(d) All refunds will be issued on the basis of sequential serial numbers.

(e) No refund will be issued out of turn under any circumstances.

(f) Refunds of amounts below Rs. 200,000 in each case should be made immediately.

2. The above instructions may be brought to the notice of all officers of your Region who should be advised to complete the required formalities (like verification of payments/deductions etc.) during the assessment proceedings. Each Region may in turn prepare a consolidated list of refund cases in order to keep vigil on issuance of refunds in orderly and transparent manner.

3. Infringement of these instructions by any assessing officer shall be treated as "inefficiency" and "misconduct" and visited with strong penal action under the Government Servants (Efficiency and Discipline) Rules, 1973."

Income Tax Refunds.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular No. 2 of 2000, dated 8th February, 2000, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Lately the Board has been receiving large number of complaints with regard to late/non-issuance of Income Tax refunds. Even the Chief Executive took cognizance of the enormity of the problem and referred the issue in his address to the nation on 15th December, 1999. It was assured by him that refunds in future would be allowed within a specific period and in case of delay, the tax payers will be entitled to a return on the refunds.

2. Section 100 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 provides the issuance of refunds in cases where refund became due as a result of an order of assessment, appeal, revision or other proceedings under the Ordinance irrespective of the fact as to whether assessee has or has not made any claim. The said section also provides for a payment of additional amount as compensation at the rate of 15% per annum if refund became due as a result of decision of Income Tax Appellate Tribunal and the tax was paid under section 85 read with section 129. There is another provision under section 102 for additional payment for delayed refunds at the rate of 15% per annum of the amount of refund due, if assessee is not paid refund within three months of the date it became due. It may also be recalled as to when a refund "becomes due" has also been provided in section 102 and is as under:–

(a) in any case where the refund is required to be made in consequence of any order on an appeal or a revision or (an appeal) to the High Court or an appeal to the Supreme Court, on the date of receipt of such order by the Deputy Commissioner;

(b) in any case to which sub-section (5) of section 99 applies, on the thirtieth day of June of the financial year next following the date on which the application for refund was made; and

(c) in other case, on the date on which the refund order is made.

4. It however seems that the provisions of law are not being followed in letter and spirit with the result that the amounts of refund due have swelled up. It is accordingly directed that:–

(i) outstanding refunds may be issued expeditiously or at the most within three months of the date when they become due or are deemed to be due so that the Department does not have to incur the liability of payment of compensation and the tax payers also get their due refunds. It may be ensured that principle of first in and first out may be followed as far as possible while disposing the claims. Refunds of smaller amounts be issued on urgent basis so that the problems of small tax payers are addressed promptly;

(ii) since compensation on delayed refunds would be an extra burden on the exchequer and it might also in invite audit objections, the assessing officers should be advised to ensure that issuance of determined refunds are not delayed. The supervisory officers should regularly check this aspect during inspection of the Circles;

(iii) power to withhold refunds should be exercised sparingly and only in cases where there are genuine reasons to believe that tax payer is likely to disappear divesting himself of all assets making recovery impossible if the Department's appeal against the order giving rise to refund ultimately succeeds. The Commissioner must record the reasons in writing before granting approval for withholding of refund; and

(iv) refunds may be adjusted/issued expeditiously against demands under other taxes as and when referred by the tax payers or tax collectors in accordance with law for which detailed instructions have already been issued vide Board's letter No. 1(1)Ch.CBR/99, dated 17.12.1999.

5. Infringement of these instructions be any assessing officer shall henceforth be treated as "inefficiency" and "misconduct" entailing strong penal action under the Government Servants (Efficiency and Discipline) Rules, 1973." [Ref: 2000 ITC 2 p. 1]

Refunds as a result of interpretation by superior courts on a point of law.– FollowingisthetextofCBR'sCircularLetterNo.1(21)T&C/98datedAugust 18, 1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Chairman CBR has observed that we have not updated our laws in line with Supreme Court's decisions which has resulted into mis-information/harassment to the taxpayers and delays in refunds. The law is very clear that when a Supreme Court gives its decision in interpretation of the law, the Supreme Court's decision becomes the law and, therefore, it needs to be implemented. There are many outstanding cases of refunds where the cases have been decided against us by the Courts but we are not giving refunds because the orders of the Courts are not specified to the individual company. The law is very clear in this regard because Supreme Court's interpretation is the law and is applicable to all with identical situations.

2. In view of the fore-going, the Chairman has desired that all the Collectorates of Customs, Central Excise & Sales Tax and all commissioners of Income Tax should give out the refunds immediately where the courts have given verdict against us and where we are not in the appeal process. Every Collector/ Commissioner will be held responsible if the orders of the Courts are not complied with." [Ref:98 ITL 15 p. 12*]

Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter No.RCIT/R-18/97-98/5893, dated June 5, 1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to refer to Board's letters No.4(4)-Rev.Bud/97 dated 18-05-1998 and dated 25-5-1998 which were endorsed by this office vide No. 5605 dated 23-05-1998 and No. 5692 dated 26-05-1998 and say that confirmation report regarding adoption of instructions as laid down in Board's Circular No. 2 of 1998 has not been received so far".

The Board's Circular No. 2 of 1998 dated 16-02-1998, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979, speaks as under:

(a) All the rectifications/appeal effects must be given within one month of its receipt.

(b) All the assessments must be completed within 12 months of the last date of filing of Income Tax Returns to facilitate the disposal * the cases and recovery of tax demand.

(c) The refund must be serialized and every Zone will prepare a list of such refunds which should be fixed on Notice Board on Weekly basis.

(d) All refunds will be issued on the basis of sequential serial numbers.

8-122-31-08-16

(e) No refund will be issued out of turn under any circumstances.

(f) Refund of amount below Rs. 2,00,000/- in each case should be made immediately.

The verification of payments/deductions should be made during the assessment proceedings so that the refund may be issued in orderly and transparent manners. No infringement of these instructions by any Assessing Officer shall be treated as "inefficiency" & "misconduct" and visited with strong penal action under the Government Servant Rules, 1973.

The confirmation report on all the above issues as to be submitted to the Board but it is very mush regretted to note that no report has so far been received from any of the Zone of the Region which may please be submitted to this office by return of post/fax."

S. 170(1A)–Tax paid on loan treated as dividend by a shareholder to be refunded on repayment of loan.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular No. 7 of 2003 dated July 11, 2003:–

"A loan made by a private company to a shareholder is treated as dividend in the hands of the shareholder and taxed accordingly. Under the repealed Ordinance, on repayment of loan tax paid on this account was refunded to the said shareholders. Similar provisions have been made in the Income Tax Ordinance by inserting sub-section (1A) to section 170 on repayment of loan treated as dividend under section 2(19)."

S. 170(2)–Period for making a refund application.– Following is an extract from Circular No. 4 of 1979, dated August 23, 1979, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"The provisions of this section are same as those of the old Section 50 except that the period within which an application for refund can be made has been reduced. In cases, other than those covered under Section 96(2), the application has to be made within two years of the end of the assessment year to which it relates. Previously it could be made within 4 years of the last day of the financial year commencing next after the end of the previous year to which the income related. This curtailment of period is in line with the curtailment of period of assessment which was previously four years, after the end of assessment year but is now reduced to two years after the end of the assessment year."

Issue of Refund Voucher.– Following is the text of Circular No. 3 of 1978, dated February 2, 1978, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I have been directed to say that the Board has decided that where on assessment any refund is found due to any assessee, refund voucher "account payee only" should be sent to the assessee by registered post upon completion of assessment."

Following is the text of Circular No. 4 of 1983, dated April 16, 1983, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"In accordance with the provisions of Income tax Ordinance, any person would be entitledtorefundifhesatisfiestheIncomeTaxOfficerthattheamountoftaxpaidbyhimin anyyearexceedstheamountwithwhichheisproperlychargeable.The taxpayer is required tomakeanapplicationclaimingrefundwithintwoyearsoftheendoftheassessmentyearto whichitrelates.However,relaxation for admitting belated application can be granted with thepriorapproval of the IAC. The law further provides that an order on refund applicationshould be passed on or before 30th of June, of the financial year next following the date on which (application for refund is made), failing which the amount of refund claimed shall be deemed to be due to the assessee. In case a refund due to an assessee is not paid within three months of the date on which it becomes due a further sum at the rate of 1% above the bank rate becomes payable as additional payment to the taxpayer.

2. To monitor the implementation of the provisions a register for refund has been prescribed. It has been noticed that the register is not properly maintained. The supervisory officers do not appear to be paying serious attention to this lapse. All the refund claims which are received by the ITOs are not entered into the prescribed register. Non-issuance of refunds in time by the ITOs causes a great inconvenience and hardship to the taxpayers. To ensure expeditious disposal of all the pending refund claims the following instructions are issued:–

(i) The refund register should be up-dated immediately to record all claims which are pending with ITOs;

(ii) IAC should inspect the refund register as well as the relevant files to ensure that these registers are being maintained properly. They should also make sure that refunds are issued without delay;

(iii) In respect of pending claims, it has been decided that these must be disposed of by the 31st May, 1983 and a certificate to that effect be furnished to the C.B.R.

3. Statement to monitor the disposal of refund claims has been prescribed which is enclosed herewith. It will form part of the monthly performance statement for April 1983 and onwards.

4. C.B.R. would shortly issue an advertisement in dailies informing public that in case of non-receipt of refund voucher they should approach the tax authorities to obtain their refund voucher.

For issue of refund vouchers upto Rs. 1,000/-, the CBR issued Circular Letter No. 4(2)IT-7/80, dated January 16, 1982, the text of which is as follows:–

"It has been decided by the Central Board of Revenue that existing procedure of encashment of Income Tax refunds for amounts not exceeding Rs. 1,000/- shall be modified to the extent indicated below with immediate effect:–

(a) The refund vouchers upto amounts not exceeding Rs. 1,000/- duly crossed "Account Payee" shall be issued by the Income Tax Officer without advice note.

(b) A separate refund book for such refunds will be maintained in each Income Tax Office and the serial numbers of this particular book will be provided to the concerned paying bank/treasury.

8-122-31-08-16

Issuance of refund for payments made before 1st July, 1983.– Following is the text of Circular No. 3 of 1984, dated May 20, 1984, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Procedure for recording of collection of Income-tax by various Income-tax authorities had been laid down vide C.B.R. Circular No. 12 of 1983. Besides other details the said Circularassignedcollectionandaccountingofpaymentsthroughdeductionoftaxatsourceunder Section 50(4) and 50(5) to the Commissioner of Income Tax (Survey & Collation) on all-Pakistan-basis. This arrangement came into force with effect from 1st July, 1983.

2. It has been brought to the notice of the Board that problems are being faced in the issuance of refunds as the verification of payments having been made prior to 1st July, 1983 is not possible from CIT (S&C) who has no record of the relevant period as at that time the collection and accounting of payments under Section 50(4) had not been centralized with him.

3. The issue has been considered in the Board and it has been decided to modify the condition of verification laid down vide para 2(iii) of Circular No. 15 of 1983, for issuance of refunds in respect of payments made prior to 1st of July, 1984, to the extent indicated below, in cases where verification from Treasuries is otherwise not available.

(1) A separate order will be passed on each refund application by the Income Tax Officer either on the order sheet or otherwise;–

(2) In the case of

(a) Payments under Sub-section (5) of Section 50–

(i) Original challans and original bills of entry should be produced by the assessee before the Income Tax Officer.

(ii) The challans so produced in all cases be cancelled with the date and signature of the I.T.O.

(iii) The IAC/CIT concerned will satisfy themselves of the genuineness of the challan before admitting the said challan as proof of payment.

(b) Payment under Sub-section (4) of Section 50–

(i) Local payments shall be got verified locally within a period of 15 days from the date of filing of the refund application.

(ii) Out-station payments shall be got verified by the ITO through his counterpart at the other station within one month.

(3) The powers for issue of refunds in respect of the aforesaid cases shall be exercised as follows:–

(a) In Central Zones–

Refunds upto Rs. 100,000 with the approval of the IAC.

Refunds exceeding Rs. 100,000 with the approval of the CIT.

(b) In other Zones–

Refund upto Rs. 50,000 with the approval of the IAC.

Refunds exceeding Rs. 50,000 with the prior approval of the CIT.

(4) Wording of the Certificates submitted as proof of payment should be so changed by the deducting authorities that it should reflect that the tax deducted under Sub-sections (4) and (5) of Section 50 has already been paid into the government treasury.

4. The above mentioned instructions would only apply to cases involving payments made prior to 1st July, 1983. For payments made subsequent to that date instructions on the subject shall remain unchanged."

Following is the text of Circular No. 15 of 1983 dated December 24, 1983:–

"There has been a persistent demand from various forums of tax-payers that refunds, wherever due, should be issued promptly. This demand is justified. Prompt issuance of refunds not only helps the tax-payer in getting what is due to it but also helps the Department through the creation of a feeling of confidence and goodwill in the minds of the tax-payers.

2. With the enlarging of the scope of deduction of tax at source the prompt issuance of refunds has assumed greater importance. The Board has been reviewing the situation and issuing instructions on the subject from time to time. Following further instructions are being issued in continuation of Circular No. 4 of 1983 for strict compliance:–

(i) In case of salaried tax-payers application for refund may not be insisted upon. If the IT-II furnished by a tax-payer is complete, with relevant proof, and has been fully verified, refund may be issued straightaway;

(ii) In other cases tax-payers would file applications for refund on the prescribed form alongwith proof of payment of tax;

(iii) The Income Tax Officer would verify the claim for refund but would restrict his enquiry to deduction/payment of tax and its deposit in Government Exchequer. Assessment proper would not be subject to a fresh scrutiny. If there is material indicating concealment or under-assessment, separate proceedings under the law may be initiated without prejudice to the issuance of refund. This would equally apply to the counter-signature before the IAC.

It may be clarified that verification of deduction/payment of tax and its deposit into Government Exchequer has to be strictly done in accordance with Circular No. 12 of 1983. Original challans and 'to whom it may concern' certificates from deducting authorities, without being received from the CITs Treasury, would not constitute sufficient proof of payment.

(iv) The ITO will dispose of all refund claims by passing an order under Section 99;

(v) The ITO may withhold refunds under Section 103. In such cases formal approval of CIT may be obtained and the claimant duly informed promptly;

(vi) Ordinarily refund voucher/order should be issued within two months from the date of assessment/claim.

3. The IACs should check the refund registers regularly at least twice a month to ensure that the matters concerning refunds are being attended to promptly by the assessing officers."

Refund Voucher, counter-signature by IAC.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter No. ITB-3(5)/86, dated July 3, 1994, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Refund voucher, where the amount of refund exceeds Rs. 20,000/- (Twenty thousands) is required to be counter-signed by the Inspecting Additional Commissioner of Income Tax, concerned. This limit was fixed vide Board's endorsement No. ITB-3(5)/86 dated 29th August, 1990. The requirement of countersignatures, in the wake of increased number of refund applications invariably leads to delay in prompt issuance of refunds.

2. In order to remove this difficulty, it has been decided that countersignatures of the IAC of Income Tax will henceforth be required only in those cases where the amount of refund exceeds Rs. 50,000/- (Rupees fifty thousand) Zonal Commissioner may, however, fix upper limit of countersignatures of IAC of Income Tax beyond which administrative approval of the Commissioner shall be required.

3. AlltheexistinginstructionsoftheBoardinthesubjectshall stand modified to the extent indicated at para - 2 above.

4. All concerned may please be informed accordingly."

8-122-31-08-16

Refund Voucher, delegation of powers.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter No. 4(17)-Rev.Bud./2005-06, dated March 27, 2006:–

"I am directed to refer to CBR's earlier instructions contained in Board's letter C.No.ITB-3(5)/86 dated 3rd July, 1994 and to say that earlier lthere were limits for administrative approval. Now, all powers rest with the Commissioner of Income Tax, who may delegate powers as proposed hereunder for the sake of uniformity and quick disposal of refund claims:-

Income Tax Audotrity	Limits of Refund for approval
	Non Corporate	Corporate	LTU
Taxation Officer	Upto Rs.100,000	Upto Rs.500,000	Upto Rs.1,000,000
Additional Commissioner	From Rs.100,001 to Rs.500,000	From Rs.500,001 to Rs.1,000,000	From Rs.1,000,001 to Rs.2,000,000
Commissioner	Exceeding Rs.500,000	Exceeding Rs.1,000,000	Exceeding Rs.2,000,000"

Refund Voucher, delegation of powers.– Following is the text of CBR's Circular Letter No. 4(17)-Rev.Bud./2005-06, dated July07, 2006:–

"I am directed to refer to CBR's cadler instructions contained in Board's letter of even number dated 27.03.2006 on the subject and to say that in supersession of all previous instructions limit for contersignuature of refunds by Additional Commissioner is enhanced to Rs.100,000/-. It is further clarified that Commissioner may grant administrative approval where rfefund exceeds Rs.500,000/-.

Please acknowledge receipt."

Resort to re-opening u/s 65 in refund cases.– Following is the text of RCIT Central Region's Letter No. 177/PS dated December 11, 1989, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Recently several cases have come to the notice of this office, in which proceedings under section 65 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 were initiated at almost the same point of time when an application for issue of refund was made by the tax payers.

Insuchsituations,theDepartmentalofficersareaccusedofhavingactedinbadfaith,by resortingtore-openingoftheassessments,insteadofhavingissued the refunds. The Wafaqi Mohtasib has also castigated the Department for such action on the part of the Officers.

There is no denying the fact that the reasons for resorting to action under section 65 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 may be very forceful, but in order to avoid embarrassment in such a situation, it is suggested and desired that in all such cases, in which refunds have been determined above Rs. 25,000, may be reviewed, with the object of evaluating as to whether the income assessed is in order and whether facts exist for resorting to action under section 65. In the event, facts warrant invoking of action under section 65, then the said action may be initiated immediately, without waiting for refund application from the assessee, so that coinciding of the two events is avoided."

RCIT Central Region's instructions for issue of refunds.– Following is the text of instructions dated October 4, 1986 issued by the Regional Commissioner of Income Tax, Central Region, Lahore, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Complaints are being received daily from the Wafaqi Mohtasib and the Central Board of Revenue against non-issuance of refunds in the Region. When asked to explain, the reason usually advanced by the field officers is that the delay was due to their inability to verify the actual deposit of tax by the deducting authorities.

Examination of records in such cases shows the following:–

(a) A major portion of the tax deducted under Section 50(4) or (5) already stands adjusted against the demand created for the relevant year without any verification at all and only a small amount remains to be refunded which is sought to be verified.

(b) In most of the cases, tax deducted under Section 50(4) by Government and Semi-Government Departments and Agencies has been paid by book adjustment and cannot possibly be verified.

(c) In a large number of cases, the applicants are old existing assessees with substantial incomes and they are claiming only small amounts as refunds.

(d) Scrutiny of cases where refunds have been issued reveals that these have been issued without such verification as is being sought in cases where refunds are delayed. This dichotomy escapes reason.

(e) However, the worst part of the situation is that statutory certificates issued by the deducting authorities/payers (under Section 51 read with Rule 56) are also not being relied upon. As has been held by the Superior Courts, deduction of tax under Section 50 constitutes valid payment by the assessee even if the payers fails to pay the tax deducted into the Government Treasury.

In order to expedite issuance of refunds without prejudicing the interests of revenue, the following instructions are issued:–

1. Deductions u/s 50(4).

(1) New Assessees: i.e. where it is the first or the second return.

(a) Deduction by Government/Semi Government Departments/Agencies.–

Refundmaybeissuedonthebasisofastampedcertificateofthedeductingauthority.In case, the certificate has cuttings/erasings/ over-writings/interpolations, the assessee may be asked in writing to furnish a fresh certificate.

(b) Deductions by Companies.–

Refund may be issued on the basis of a certificate under Section 51 issued by the Company alongwith a photo-copy of the challan under which the Company deposited the amount after verification made from the Company directly.

(2) Existing Assessees: i.e., where it is the third or a subsequent return filed by the assessee:–

(a) Deduction by Government/Semi-Government Department/Agencies.–

As at (a) above.

(b) Deductions by Companies.–

Refunds may be issued on the basis of properly stamped certificates issued by the Company u/s. 51.

2. Deductions u/s 50(5).–

Refunds may be issued on the basis of the original challan/Bill of lading etc. produced by the assessee.

3. Where a refund is to be withheld pending decision of appeal, requisite order may be obtained from the Commissioner of Income Tax.

4. Where a refund is due in the case of R.F. and there is demand against its partners, the same may be adjusted. Assessments of the partners will have to be completed simultaneously. No refund of a R.F. may be with-held on the ground that the assessments of the partners have not been completed.

5. Where IAC is to approve the issue of a refund, the scrutiny will be confined to the correct calculation of refund and the requisite verification. Even if the IAC is of the view that there is a case of under-assessment warranting action under Section 65 or 66A, such action will be initiated after the issue of refund.

6. Where-ever a refund voucher is issued, necessary entries must be made in the Demand & Collection Register.

7. In order to ascertain the total amount of refunds due, the field officers should examine the DCRs and draw up list of cases where refunds are shown due. These lists may latter be checked up with the assessment record to ensure that these do not contain cases where although refund has been issued, yet no entry was made in the DCR. These lists must be finalised by the end of this month.

It may be brought to the notice of the Assessing Officers that a close watch shall be kept on the issue of refunds and where-ever a case of undue delay of refund comes to the notice of the higher authorities, disciplinary action will invariably be taken against the defaulting officer."

Verification of payments before assessment.– Following is an extract from Circular Letter No. ITB-3(21)/85, dated November 24, 1985, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Calculationsoftaxpayableare made on IT-30 form which is a part of the assessment order. While preparing IT-30, credit for the payments made by the taxpayer is required to be given. Credit for tax paid once given legally becomes final. Thus subsequently, tax already paid shown in the IT-30 cannot be challenged by the department nor can the department, for the purposes of refund, ask the tax-payer concerned to produce further evidence in support of the tax claimed and shown to have been paid.

After the recent amendment in section 100 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 the requirement of filing applications for issuance of refund stands dispensed with. Now the refundvouchershavealsotobeissuedalongwithdemandnotices. In this circumstances, the assessing officers will not be in a position to carry out any verification of payments if the same have been shown in the IT-30. The refund shown in IT-30 if any will have to be issued straight away.

The problem has been examined in the Board and I am directed to state that wherever any tax payment is claimed to have been made by the tax-payer it may be verified before giving credit for the same in the IT-30. Thus, in all cases, where in the returns tax payments are shown to have been made, effort must be made by the assessing officers to verify such payments before finalizing the assessment. No credit for unverified tax payment should be given in IT-30s. This should enable the Income Tax Officers invariably to issue refund vouchers alongwith the assessment orders, without delay in all cases where refunds have been created on IT-30s."

Refund where taxpayer does not supply information.– Following is an extract from CBR's Circular Letter No. ITB-3(23)/85, dated February 23, 1986, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"While processing refund claims of the taxpayers, an Income Tax Officer can ask for such particulars, documents, evidence, in support of the claim, as he may require. In some cases the taxpayer may choose not to furnish the requisite information. Such refund claims if not disposed of can remain unprocessed indefinitely. These could appear as pending in all statements submitted to higher authorities.

In cases where the requisite information is not provided by the taxpayer by a definite given date, inspite of a validly served notice to that effect, the claim of refund may be processed on merit and decided accordingly in order to avoid the delay in disposal of such refund claims. This will enable the Income Tax Officers to keep their work uptodate without undue pendencies in this regard."

Exempt income, refund without filing of return.– Following is an extract from Circular Letter C. No. ITB-3(6)/85 dated March 27, 1985, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"A question has been referred to the Board as to whether filing of return is necessary for claiming refund in cases where income is exempt under Income Tax Ordinance, 1979.

Theissuehasbeenexaminedand Iamdirectedtosaythatfilingof return solely for the purpose of claiming refund is not required. In such circumstances applications for refund under Section 99 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1979 can be given without filing a return."

Electronic processing and electronic issuance of Refunds by the Board.- Notwithstanding anything contained in section 170 of this Ordinance, commencing from tax year 2021, the Board may process and issue refund to the taxpayer who has filed the return of income without requiring refund application by the taxpayer to the extent of tax credit verified by the Board's computerized system as may be prescribed. [3][Provided that where there is reason to believe that a person has claimed the refund which is not admissible to him, the provision regarding the payment of such additional amount shall not apply till the the investigation of the claim is completed and the claim is either accepted or rejected.]

(2) For the purposes of this section, a refund shall be treated as having become due–

(a) in the case of a refund required to be made in consequence of an order on an appeal to the Commissioner (Appeals), an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal, a reference to the High Court or an appeal to the Supreme Court, on the date of receipt of such order by the Commissioner; [4][or]

(b) in the case of a refund required to be made as a consequence of a revision order under section [5][122A], on the date the order is made by the Commissioner; or

(c) in any other case, on the date the refund order is made.

[6][Explanation.-For the removal of doubt, it is clarified that where a refund order is made on an application under subsection (1) of section 170, for the purpose of compensation, the refund becomes due from the date refund order is made and not from the date the assessment of income treated to have been made by the Commissioner under section 120.]

Refund entries in registers etc.– Following is an extract from Circular Letter No. ITB-3(2)/80, dated November 14, 1985, explaining the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"Whenever an order results in the creation of refund, entries to that effect are made in the IT-30, the order sheet of the Miscellaneous Cover, the Demand and Collection Register and the Refund Register, while issuing refund voucher cross references indicating the particulars of the refund voucher issued, under the initials of the Income Tax Officers, are to be given against the relevant entries of the refund created in IT-30 of the year, Demand and Collection Register, Refund Register and order sheet of the Miscellaneous Cover of the taxpayer's file. This not only serves as a check against duplicate issuance of refund for the same year but also allows the ITO to know at a glance that refunds created in the DCR stand issued."

Bank advicefor issue of refund voucher.– Following is the text of letter No. 43-Audit II/50-82 dated January 21, 1986 from the Deputy Auditor General of Pakistan addressed to the Chairman CBR, under the corresponding provisions of Income Tax Ordinance, 1979:–

"I am directed to say that we have received a few complaints regarding delays in encashment of Income Tax refund vouchers by the State Bank of Pakistan on the ground that they had not received the supporting advice from the Income Tax Officer. It therefore appears that probably advice to the bank in support of payment of refund vouchers is not being furnished to the State Bank of Pakistan by the concerned officers promptly.
